Truman Cuts Off All Tariff Concessions to Red Countries

Washington, Aug. 1 — (AP) — President Truman today ordered an end to tariff concessions granted to Russia, communist China and certain satellite areas.

The White House said Truman signed an executive order which mentioned no countries by name but paved the way for official notification to be sent to the affected nations.

Washington, Aug. 1 — (AP) — President Truman is expected to cut off all American tariff concessions to communist Czechoslovakia shortly. The State Department yesterday announced the decision to take such action.

It would be the second time the United States has slapped out at Czechoslovakia in the past week. there last April of Associated Press/ correspondent William Wells. Delta recently was sentenced to 10 years in prison after a spy trial denounced here as a farce.

On June 2, the State Department announced a ban on travel by American citizens to Czechoslovakia.

The decision to cut off trade concessions was announced in a statement circulated among countries belonging to the general agreement on tariffs and trade. They are scheduled to meet at Geneva Sept. 17.

Lost Advantages

Under the proposed move, the Czechs would lose competitive advantages in American markets and American merchants would lose similar advantages in Czechoslovakia.

The State Department proposed: (a) withdrawal from Czechoslovakia of "the benefits of trade-agreement tariff concessions," and (b) termination of "all of the obligations existing" between the United States and Czechoslovakia through the general agreement of here and trade.

Whereas the ending of tariff concessions required only a presidential proclamation, the ending of obligations under the general agreement on tariffs and trade—mainly fair-trade commitments—require approval by the G.A.T.T. members. State department officials expressed confidence this approval would be given.

Leag Lies ic Charges

In its statement to the G.A.T.T., the state department gave a long list of charges against Czechoslovakia which, it said, demonstrated that political relations between the two countries have broken down to the point where economic contracts no longer have meaning.

"The property of American Nationals has been confiscated, has been confiscated without compensation or any serious attempt on the part of Czechoslovakia to settle this matter," the statement said.

"American firms have been persecuted and harrassed to such a degree that it is virtually impossible for them to do business with Czechoslovakia . . .

"American citizens have been imprisoned without justification."

Timmins Faces Financial Ruin Says Mayor Fay

Timmins, Ont., Aug. 1. (CP)—Mayor William Fay said yesterday that Timmins will face financial ruin if strike of 1,500 workers at Hollinger gold mines continues much longer.

The exodus of Hollinger miners is increasing at an alarming rate, the mayor said. Town debentures could not be sold despite greatly discounted values.

The miners, represented by the United Steel workers of America (CLC-CCL), have been on strike three weeks ago when mine management refused an across-the-board wage increase of 12 cents an hour and institution of the check-off under which the company would collect union dues from pay cheques.

Julian Timmins, president of Hollinger Mines, in a telegram to Mayor Fay made public yesterday, said he could only suggest withdrawal of the check-off demand as a solution to the strike.

Mr. Timmins, a former miner himself whose father, James Y. Timmins, founded Hollinger, was replying to a request from the mayor that he intervene in the strike.

Jeopardizing Welfare

In a telegram to Mr. Timmins Mayor Fay said company policy was "jeopardizing the welfare of the community. I am surprised you would encourage the management stand in opposition to the board of conciliation recommendations in the interests government's compromise suggestions."

In Toronto, Eamon Park, union publicity director, said the suggestion that the check-off was the only issue in the strike was "a calculated misrepresentation of the facts." He said there are seven other recommendations of the conciliation board covering matters affecting grievance machinery, vacations with pay, and statutory holidays which also remain unsettled.

Mr. Park discounted a statement made Sunday by C. H. Millard, union national director, that union leaders would "pull members from Timmins unless the strike was settled quickly."

Mr. Park said Mr. Millard's remarks merely were made in pressing in a speech largely devoted to a discussion of the strike issues.

TRUCE TEAMS SHOW NO SIGN OF PROGRESS

Joy Says Present Lines Good Defence Positions

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 1 — (AP) — United Nations and communist truce teams again today refused to budge from their opposing stands on where to establish a buffer zone across Korea.

It was the longest speech that has been made in the 16 Kaesong conference days.

The communists want a buffer zone back along the 38th parallel, the old artificial boundary line between North and South Korea, that is inferior terrain for military defences.

"Since this is a military armistice," they told the U. N. side yesterday, "we are interested only in military realities."

The U. N. insists that the cease-fire zone be established along present battle lines, where both armies would be in good defensive positions. .

Couldn't Understand Logic

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, deputy U. N. public information officer, told a press conference:

"Lt.-Gen. Clark, chief red delegate, seemed to understand the United Nations' position but couldn't appreciate the logic that we used to arrive at that position."

Joy quoted a definition from the Hague Convention to emphasize the logic of the U. N. position. The Hague agreement says:

An official communique said delegates "failed to make progress toward an armistice" in the 2½ hour and 25-minute session Wednesday. Nuckols said the two would not call the talks stalemated.

Negotiators agreed to meet again Thursday morning for the seventh session at which cessation of a buffer zone was the paramount issue. The meeting was set to start at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Wednesday, EST).

U. N. spokesmen say that the old political boundary between South and South Korea is militarily indefensible. The allies want the west of Wonsan, the U. N. communique, "a realistic demilitarized zone, equitable to both belligerents."

Mint Has Trouble Making Money

Birmingham, England, Aug. 1 —(AP)—Things are really getting tough when even a mint finds trouble making money.

Henry Sporborg, chairman of the Birmingham mint, told the shareholders meeting yesterday that shortages of copper, zinc and nickel have forced price reduction and customers are being rationed.

The mint's private plan makes coins for British, colonial and foreign governments.

SIGNIFICANT REDUCTION

Chicago, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Use of a special chemically-treated chewing gum after each meal brought a significant reduction in tooth decay in a test group of 30 persons, two dental researchers reported today.

The sugarless gum contained the chemical furadroxyl; a yellow crystalline substance credited with halting or slowing the growth of bacteria.

After 5-Day Savage Assault By Allied Infantry 'Fool Mountain' Stormed, Captured

By JOHN RANDOLPH

Eastern Korean Front, July 31 (Delayed) — (AP) — "Fool Mountain" was stormed by Allied infantrymen who knew they could be sacrificing their lives in the last days of the Korean War.

Some died, but the high ridges, from which the reds had been able to watch every Allied move, were taken.

Capture of this towering hill mass in East Korea Monday can be reported as one of the war's most savage actions — a five-day assault while truce talks droned on at Kaesong.

It was by far the largest action since the armistice conference began — in fact, the only bit of "real war" since the delegates first met July 10.

Why did the Allies take it?

From its heights, the reorganized and retrained North Korean army watched every move in the Allied lines and on the main supply route to them.

The hill had to be taken or life in Allied lines would be unbearable — and lives can be frittered away in bad positions as easily as in assault.

From their observation posts in the rocky crags, the Korean Reds continually called for mortar and artillery fire against the Allies, forcing all road traffic to run the gauntlet on its way to the front.

Worse, "Fool Mountain" had 3 crest.

Each hill was covered with pillboxes. For five nights in a row before the jump-off on July 26 the air force bombed and blasted the hill positions.

At dawn the infantry started up the guardian hills. They made 2,000 yards and then were stopped cold. Then began a see-saw fight that went on for five days and parts of five nights.

They had close support from tanks. Some of the enemy bunkers, built by Nazi infantry storm-fcing slit — and were defended to the death by North Koreans.

The infantry used grenades and flame throwers against some defenders. Finally the last assault position was reached late Monday.

Once again artillery blasted the craggy slopes and — as it sudden-ly became silent — infantry stormed upwards.

Allied guns lured the top of the hill. That did it. The attack by the crack troops swept up, broke the back of the resistance in 45 minutes and finally secured the

Morrison's 'Let's be Friends' Appeal Does Not Succeed In Changing Pravda's Views

London, Aug. 1 — (AP) Russia opened the iron curtain a little today to let the communist faithful read a "let's be friends" appeal from Britain's Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison.

The party newspaper, Pravda, published the Morrison statement and, in the same issue, lashed back with a bitter reply denouncing all he said as lies or distortions.

The unprecedented east-west exchange started from a speech made by Morrison last June during Pravda to print his views. Pravda agreed, provided the British press would give equal prominence to its reply. Six London newspapers printed the full text of the exchange today.

Said Morrison:

"We are a peaceful people who want to feel secure" but can't while Russia maintains "vast armed forces and military establishments."

Why not, he asked, topple the barriers set up by Russia across Europe and allow a free exchange of news, broadcasts and even tourists.

Called Warmongers

Oh, no, Pravda answered, the British and American warmongers who threaten the Soviet Union and we cannot allow Soviet men to "slaves, subversive agents, terrorists and assassins."

Morrison pleaded his appeal to the Russian people on the argument that ignorance breeds fear and fear leads to violence. He said the possibility of a third world war would be lessened if Russia lifted restrictions and permitted western views and visitors to circulate freely.

Meanwhile, Russia's new English language propaganda magazine, News, offered to open its columns to American writers for "exchange of opinions and friendly relations." The offer was directed specifically to the New York Times.

(In New York, the Times said it had no comment.)

In his 1,500-word statement, Morrison called untrue the Soviet propaganda line that Britain, in alliance with other European countries and the United States, is "arming to the teeth to attack the Soviet Union".

He said the real purpose of the Atlantic Pact is to avoid war and preserve the peace.

The Foreign Secretary said his government had inquded to devote its energies to the economic recovery of Britain, but was forced to switch to rearming when it realized that Russia had adopted a post-war policy "whose only purpose seems to be to keep the trouble and international tension."

Pravda, which has a circulation of more than 5,000,000 rejected Morrison's charge that there is no freedom in Russia.

"In no country is there such freedom of speech, and freedom of organization for workers, writers, and intellectuals as in the Soviet Union" it said in a 2,600-word rebuttal. But, the newspaper added:

Covers Wide Range

"In the U.S.S.R. freedom of speech, freedom of the press and freedom of organization does not exist for the enemies of the people, for the landlords and capitalists overthrown by the revolution. There does not exist for incorrigible thieves, for subversive agents, terrorists and assassins sent in by foreign secret services."

It said the prisons and labor camps in Russia exist "for all these criminals."

Boss of Minors Defends Rule Before Inquiry

Washington, Aug. 1 — (AP) — George C. Trautman, boss of the minor leagues, said today the minors will not limit the number of men on that now makes it almost impossible for one club to move a hundred players from another.

And thus, without even mentioning the Pacific Coast League by name, he knocked out the big middle of a congressional argument over baseball's reserve clause should expand to the west coast.

Even before Trautman took the stand to testify before the House of Representatives judiciary subcommittee studying baseball's complicated set-up, its chairman, Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem. N. Y.) told reporters:

The present major league baseball setup is illegal. The reserve clause in the east is "intolerable."

"Conditions are changes," he said. "And I'm going to insist on it. We can't have this iron-clad system forever."

Trautman contended in a statement to the subcommittee that baseball is a local business in the minors, and it its territorial rights are violated it would be sold up altogether.

He said a survey of 18 leagues last year showed that 65 per cent of the clubs were losing money.

Celler suggested another system which has attracted considerable congressional probing, also got a drubbing from Trautman.

He noted that less than 10 players now in the majors had no minor league experience. But, he said, the minors are a dead duck if the reserve clause ever is taken away from them.

"If these clubs do not have the protection of the reserve clause to give them continuity of playing personnel, there is no incentive of maintaining the clubs would be lost," he said.

BIGGER, BROADER AIR TRAINING PROGRAM CITED

More Schools Will Be Opened on Prairies

Ottawa, Aug. 1—(CP)—An even bigger and broader Canadian air training scheme, with more schools opening on the prairies, is in the wind.

Western European allies are clamoring to get Canada to train more and more of their fledglings. The scheme—widely gestated—has gone beyond present plans to train 3,000 Canadian and allied airmen annually.

The possibility is under construction at high levels here because it is recognized as one way Canada could make a fairly early and important contribution to Gen. Eisenhower's drive to close the gap between what strength western Europe has and what she needs to deter Russian aggression.

The Canadian government is under pressure from Dr. Eisenhower Headquarters and elsewhere to build a total of the other 11 Atlantic Pact powers are under pressure to do more.

Canada's plans call for the R. C. A. F. to train 1,700 Canadian and 1,300 pact fliers here annually. Of the 1,300 N. A. T. O. places for the pact fliers, 1,000 would be R. A. F. men are here now. About the same number of Europeans have received pilot and navigator training and gone home.

Qualified opinion here is that an expansion of the training scheme—a modest parallel of the wartime commonwealth scheme that trained 131,000 airmen—is one of the more likely methods for Canada to boost her pact contribution.

Year to Wait

This is so even though it will be a year yet before the R.C.A.F. really is in the advanced training business and currently is mainly giving only basic training.

The bulk of the advanced training program will have to wait until the Canadair-Avro jet factory at Montreal starts producing 500 T-33 two-seater jet trainer planes each, with the last of 2,000 slated for the shift from basic-training, propeller-driven Harvards to jet fighters such as the F86D Sabre and CF100 Canuck.

But the European countries, trying to build their air forces anew, are quite willing just to get basic training. The demand made by this fall Canada is expected to be in a good position to do more in that field.

There are several reasons, one is that war veteran airmen have reached a sufficient number to the bid for instructors. The other is that by fall new Harvard trainers, made in Canada, will be growing numbers.

Meanwhile, mainly on the prairies, warbuilt schools selected for the scheme as it now exists are being dug out of mothballs for operation. It was announced some months ago that seven prairie airfields would be reactivated to help train 1,700 Canadian and 1,300 pact airmen annually.

The bulk of training is to be given at Centralia, Ont., Claresholm and Penhold, Alta., and Moose Jaw, Sask., with the present basic centre at Gimli, Man., eventually switching to advanced training. Other advanced schools are to be at Saskatoon and Portage La Prairie, Man.

Navigation schools are at Summerside, P.E.I., and Winnipeg and there is to be an advanced gunnery school at MacDonald, Man.

Prices of Canadian Beef May Be Affected by U.S. Ceilings on Imports

Ottawa, Aug. 1. (CP)—A new, United States price ceiling on meat imports likely will have no effect on Canadian exports, but may affect prices in Canadian prices, an agricultural official said today.

He was commenting on a Washington dispatch last night which said the U.S. price stabilization office has issued new regulations affecting thousands of consumer items. One order forbids imports of Canadian and other meats at higher prices than the highest in effect in the U.S.

The order may have some effect on black-market meats but not on legitimate exports, the official said.

East-West Tension Slackening Says Pearson After Tour

Prospects World Relations Brighter Claims Minister

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 1 (CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, said today east-west tension is slackening and that prospects of improved world relations are perceptibly brighter.

But, he warned, the western countries must never relax their determination to establish lasting world peace and international understanding.

Pearson made the remarks at a press conference concluding his six-week diplomatic mission to England and the continent.

"The brighter outlook", he said, "is chiefly the result of developments in Korea—a situation which has been recognized "by the people on the other side."

He said the new Russian tactics are a tribute to the collective will of United Nations. It was essential, however, for the democracies to guard against the danger of being lulled into a state of complacency.

"We must never allow any relaxing or abandonment of our own efforts to bring about enduring peace," Pearson said. "We can do so much when we are strong but we must also know how to use that strength when we get it. Above all we must avoid the temptation of using it too soon."

Leaves For Home

Pearson, who leaves by air tonight for Ottawa, has disposed of a crowded agenda since his arrival in London June 18. While there he has been in almost daily conference with government officials on Atlantic Treaty and other matters.

After conferring with government officials of The Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, Pearson returned to London for further talks. He declined to say what other plans for his homeward journey.

Pearson said his trip to the continent was something in the nature of a foreign office "Cooks' tour". He had gathered frank, first-hand views on the main problems of the day and had found it a fund of valuable information.

In the Scandinavian countries particularly, he had found the people far from panicky about the world situation.

Unruly Whistle Embarrasses Rail Engineer

London, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Ever toot your auto horn and then not be able to shut it off?

Well, imagine how the engineer of a southern railway train felt yesterday.

He pulled the whistle chain at Chatham and the chain broke with the whistle valve open.

It took engineers there another 20 minutes to muffle it.

Another Jump In Living Costs Is Expected

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Biddle: When is shrinkage called inflation? Answer: When it's referred to by big costs.

A Bureau of Statistics official estimates that the purchasing value of the Canadian dollar has shrunk to less than 55 cents since 1939. He blamed the shrinkage on price inflation.

Call it what you will, soaring prices have had a tremendous impact on living costs.

Consumer prices, almost doubling since 1939, have shot the cost-of-living index up from 101.5 in 1939 to a record 184.1 in May, 1951. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

Tomorrow, when the bureau of statistics issues its index compilations for June, heaviest attention will be concentrated on the food sub-group.

For climbing food prices have been the main propelling force in the big index climb. In May food prices were running 213.3 times as high as in 1939. The sub-group had climbed to 239.8 from a pre-war 100.

The end is not in sight. Indications are that when tomorrow's index is issued, it will show another boost in food prices.

An official pointed out that the summer, controlled by popular belief, does not always bring food price relief.

Last year, for example, the food sub-group in June jumped to 214.3 from 208.6, climbed to 216.7 in July, rose to 218.8 in August and jumped again to 220.2 in September.

Neither is there encouragement to anticipate food price drops in the near future. The June bureau wholesale price index for June, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, climbed to 247.7 from 241.9 in May.

Another Election May be Called Says Ben-Gurion

Tel Aviv, Israel, Aug. 1.—(AP) Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion indicated today that new elections probably will be called if he fails to form a stable new government for Israel.

Ben-Gurion's party was defeated at the polls in January (labor) party, which won 46 of the 120 seats in the Knesset (parliament) in Monday's election, reiterated his belief that an absolute labor party majority is necessary for Israel.

Writing in the party newspaper, Davar, Ben-Gurion said the Mapai has been and will remain the pillar of the Israel government from all elections for the third Israel parliament."

The Mapai will have to form a coalition with some other party to get the parliamentary majority needed for support of a new cabinet.

Ben-Gurion's dilemma is where to find the needed support without compromising his party's program of strong government action of the country's economy. Failure to obtain it could make a new election necessary.

New Body Armor Will Deflect Bullet Fired at Point-Blank Range

Washington, Aug. 1. (AP)—Military personnel in battle zones soon may be wearing body armor that will deflect a 45-calibre bullet fired at point-blank range.

Progress in developing the armor was outlined by navy spokesmen to the appropriations committee of the House of Representatives during hearings on the 1952 military budget. The testimony was made public today.

Two types of armor are being developed. One consists of laminated plastic—known as Doron —panels in the lining of regular military uniforms.

The other type consists of thick nylon cloth jackets. Experimental jackets have stopped the 230 thicknesses of the cloth will stop a 45-calibre bullet at muzzle velocity.

The naval testimony also showed that the United States now has plans to start arming its own cargo vessels, and ships now operated by the merchant guard, for the first time since the end of the Second World War.

Trenton Councillor Threatens To Leave Municipal Position If 'Remote Control' Runs Town

Trenton—(Special)— Chairman of streets and sidewalks committee Ross Burti threatened to resign from office last night if, as he put it, "remote control" is to be run by remote control. "When anybody points a gun at my head it's time to resign", he stated. "There's still six months of my term left", he said, "but as long as I'm committee I'm ready to get out of council."

Councillor Burti has served as a councillor for 16 years, and because of his seniority, has been appointed to act for the mayor whenever His Worship is out of town or absent for any reason.

Councillor Burti was irked by the way the Parks Board treated the Recreation Commission. The Trenton Kinsmen Club, which the Board appointed by the council includes Senator William A. Fraser and Mr. C. G. Ayres, manager, Mrs. C. V. Wilkins and Mrs James Reddick.)

Council Gives Permission

The story starts on April 17. On that date, council gave permission to the Kinsmen to stage a midway show into town, to be set up on the baseball diamond in Memorial Park. Opening was for three days, Aug. 2, 3 and 4.

Last Sunday, March Midway shows arrived in town and, as arranged earlier, proceeded to the ball diamond on the waterfront. The show company, as explained to the Parks Board and police later, intended parking their loads on the ball grounds until Monday evening, when they would set up after the softball game.

Ordered From Premises

Not all the midway trucks had parked before the police were at the ball park with an order from the Parks Board to leave the premises at once. Some ruts had been cut into the park sodding and Chief Constable Ross collected $20 from Peter March for repairing the damage.

Owner March explained that he had a town permit to locate his midway show on the ball diamond, but Parks Board member replied: "move your vehicles by noon or there will be a charge of $10 per truck for the show evicted from town."

Owner March took no chances and moved his caravan of trucks to a free parking area near Frankford on Highway No. 33.

Call Meeting

A delegation from the Kinsmen Club approached the acting mayor with their complaint. Mr. Burti quickly summoned a meeting of the council members excluding His Worship, councillors Ryan and Banfield. Owner March attended to tell his side of the story. Mayor Couch said later he heard the midway had lifted the snow fence around the park, and that their trucks had sunk down in the sodding.

Mr. Vern Wannamaker, speaking for the Kinsmen, maintained that the midway had not broken the snow fence. He related that Mr. March was willing to settle for repairing the damage to the satisfaction of Mayor Couch. Interjected. I want the public to bear the facts", Mr. Wannamaker contended, that a public statement should be made clarifying the management of town affairs.

Relates Conversation

Councillor Burti felt that there was something wrong when a private citizen has the right to dictate to a service club. He related the previous conversation with owner March: "We're to open after the ball game," said Mr. March. "Please come down and define where we can locate. I don't know who is running this town but I must be a little Hitler or some body," he said. "I guess you are right as far as I'm concerned," answered Mr. Burti.

Mr. Wannamaker told council that the midway had set up on the property the town rented from the C.N.R. south of the downtown railroad station. He informed council that the midway could not change its location because it would cost too much money.

Mayor Couch asked: "What can we do to make this midway leave?" He said he was under the opinion that the ball diamond was under the jurisdiction of the Parks Board.

Operated By Committee

Councillor Burti maintained that the ball diamond was operated by the Recreation Committee.

Councillor Allore said he was chairman of the Recreation Commission when the Parks Board gave the Recreation Commission control of the ball diamond under a verbal agreement. Mr. Allore said he had endeavored to obtain a letter from the Parks Board effecting the transfer, but his efforts were to no avail.

Mayor Couch informed Mr. Wannamaker of the Kinsmen that he would get to the bottom of the matter. "I'm not going to be bullied," he said, "I want to see everybody get along.

Won't Live Long Enough

Mayor Couch remarked: "I don't think we'll have midway in town or a meeting conducted normally."

The H. J. McFarland Co. of Picton was granted permission to erect a sign for one year pointing out the location of the new public school on Sellers Avenue.

Enter Agreement

Acting town clerk Weaver was instructed to enter into a 30-day option agreement with Fred Brooks, York Road, for the purchase of eight and one quarter acres of land on the western end of the town for the sum of $15,000. It was agreed to put $100 down on the contract.

The site to be optioned has the approval of the majority of council to be used for the erection of 20 new bungalows under the government plan.

Councillor Don Sutherland, chairman of the project committee, showed council and visitors the plans of house proposed—a Central Mortgage bungalow, affording five rooms and a bath and has a full basement. Builders prices for a unit range from $8,700 to $8,250.

Provides 35 Lots

The land under consideration, it was explained, provides 35 lots and the remaining 15, after the project was completed, could be sold by the town.

The town clerk was instructed to send a letter to the proprietor of the Riverside Park to lodge complaints about the smoke nuisance from the plant smokestack.

Council consented to the erection of two signs at the approaches to the town. The proposed signs would be set in concrete piers and made of extra strong design. The fire-truck Reg had to be removed when they were badly damaged by pranksters throwing stones through them.

Act on Belleville Suggestion

Action was taken on a suggestion that the committee of management of the Belleville Exhibition Association be asked to meet with the Trenton Kinsmen Club to discuss the possibility of the Kinsmen taking over the midway at the Belleville Exhibition.

July Considerably Wetter Than Same Month Last Year

So you thing July was wet! As a matter of fact, it beat July 1950 for dampness hands down, but couldn't cast a shadow on 1945 or 1947.

Last month showed 4.85 inches of rain at the Sanitation plant, compared with a measly 1.19 inches for 1950. Third during July 1945, 6.07 inches of rain fell, considerably exceeding this year's total. And in July, 1947, there was even more—7.28 inches to be exact.

On the short end of the measuring stick, July, 1939, took the prize with 0.11 inch of really paltry month, with .59 of an inch being recorded.

Last month's maximum temperature was 82, with the minimum recorded at 52. The mean for the month was worked out at 69.2. For comparison, the figures for 1950's seventh month were 75, 48.5, and 67.4 lower on all counts.

Importance of Adequate Public Health Program Outlined to Club

The functions and aims of the Board of Health and the Medical Officer of Health were the subject of an address given by Dr. Alva Brooks, M.O.H. at the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday.

"Whatever program is set up in a community depends on the local board and the medical officer", said the speaker. "They try to fit the provisions of the Public Health Act to the needs of the community. It may be that one certain problem demands attention to the exclusion of another. The board decides how the time of the staff shall be spent and how the budget shall be allotted.

The five general parts to a complete public health program are communicable disease control; maternal and child hygiene, sanitation education and laboratory service.

The Provincial Department has taken over the provision of laboratory service to insure standardization. Communicable disease control includes the isolation, quarantine and isolation procedures. It is up to health department to see that quarantine and isolation on the cases or contacts.

Forced Examination

In addition to all the well-known diseases of childhood, control includes the measles, rubella and venereal diseases come within the sphere of the local board. Sometimes it is forced to have an examination and undergo treatment. No one, especially those in the food trade and physician, will claim that the minor diseases are controlled by the provisions laws. They feel that if children are immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough, smallpox, tetanus and pneumonia. They feel that the minor diseases are harmless and common that prevention is neither possible nor desirable. An outbreak of the communicable diseases certainly interferes with the education system and for this reason it is the duty of the board to prevent their spread is warranted.

Maternal and child hygiene is one of the important parts of the plan for Belleville, said Dr. Brooks. This operation with the family doctors and the V.O.N., our nurses will hold classes of instruction for expectant mothers and clinics where parents can get advice on health matters such as nutrition, immunization, and dental care. This is also to promote the health of expectant mothers and prevent unnecessary illness in young children of under school age."

"This type of program is one which utilizes existing services to our most important functions, to a great extent," concluded the speaker. "The education of the public in the proper techniques of food handling is by far the best way to force eating establishments to run a good house. Public demands are usually met.

"Sanitation plays a large part in our program. At present we have a sanitary inspector employed part time to investigate the many facets of environmental sanitation. This includes eating establishments, dairies and farms, complaints about nuisances, poor housing and a thousand and one other complaints. Many of these are not public health problems but it is our function to investigate them and redirect them if necessary.

Great Strides Made

"A study of the statistics of death and disease over the past two hundred years will show that great strides have been made in the conquest of communicable diseases. The greatest cause of death today are cancer, heart disease, infantile, and accidents. The question is, should health authorities turn their attention to these problems in an attempt to reduce death and illness?

"The answer is they should be added to a program which is accepted practice. They are not at the moment, but the time is not far distant when they will be included in every adequate public health program."

Following the address, Dr. Brouls, answered many questions that were asked him by the club members.

Dr. Brouls was introduced by Kiwanian Bill Sparks. He was thanked at the end of his address by Kiwanian Al Dryadale.

Kiwanian Mark Wanless led a sing-song during the course of the meal.

Impressed by Recovery

Pearson said he was greatly impressed by the physical and industrial recovery of Germany. The secret was that the German people were willing to face up to facts and were working realistically to get their country back on its feet.

"We would be well advised to recognize this as a basic concept in our own country and in Germany . . . Spurred by that spirit she will be a great power again," he said.

He said he believes a decision to let Germany rearm is the right one. Greece and Turkey in the western defence framework, North Atlantic pact, joint operations and some aspects of the German problem.

In his tour of the Canadian diplomatic missions on the continent, the minister said he was particularly impressed by the activities of the immigration offices. At Stockholm the rush of applicants for Canadian migration visas had been amazingly heavy. Prospective settlers were lining up at a rate of about 2,000 a week with more than one-half the applicants refugees from Finland.

The Netherlands and Germany he found the march of European migrants even greater. He said he went through an application line himself just to see how the system operated and was impressed by its efficiency.

Pearson said good headway has been made in completing details of the forthcoming visit to Canada of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. It is expected the official itinerary to be announced later this week.

Fuel Oil Prices Increased In Ontario Zone

Toronto, Aug. 1 — (CP) — Imperial Oil, Ltd., today announced price increases to cover the 15-per-cent increase in freight rates which became effective July 26.

The increases are in prices for gasoline and light fuel oils at points where the increased rail charges apply, and are effective immediately.

There are also increases in fuel oils where imports are a large factor in supply and this applies also to gasoline in British Columbia.

Officials of three other major oil companies, queried in Toronto, had no comment to make on the Imperial Oil increases.

Of the increases as a result of the import situation, Imperial comments:

High Demand

"These increases reflect higher costs resulting from the very large import requirements. Light fuel oil demands in the east and gasoline and fuel oil demands in the west coast exceed Canadian refinery capacity and have been rising rapidly. The prairie area is not affected by the import problem because it is economic self-sufficient."

In the case of gasoline the announced increases are at the wholesale level; that is, delivered to the service station. In the case of light fuel oils, the increases are at the retail level, or delivered to the householder.

No Gas Boost Here

The increases include:

Ontario — Light fuel oil up one cent a gallon with exception of eastern area where advances 7/10ths, and northern areas where increases range up to 1 8/10ths. Gasoline up 8/10ths in northern areas, but southern areas not affected.

Two Suspects Face Five Charges Bank Robbery

Toronto, Aug. 1 — (CP) — Frank Watson, 32, and Leonard Jackson, 39, stood in a police line-up — the biggest in Toronto police history — for three hours yesterday.

After more than 40 bank employees and customers viewed them, the pair was brought down to face five charges of bank robbery.

They were charged with the $4,200 hold-up last Thursday of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Bradford, Ont., and with twice robbing the Royal Bank of Canada at Woodbridge, Ont., of a total of $19,000.

Jackson is accused of a $10,000 hold-up at the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Colborne, Ont., and Watson faces a charge of robbing the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Pickering, Ont., of $2,200.

Taken to Barrie last night, the pair appeared before Elsie Switzer, justice of the peace, and was remanded to Aug. 7 without bail.

Watson momentarily broke away from his escorts yesterday after the line-up and, kicking wildly and dragging Jackson with him, charged newspaper photographers. The pair was quickly surrounded and put into the patrol wagon.

Police believe the two men are members of the "Numbers Mob," a gang that used walkie-talkie radios and football signals to rob five Ontario banks in five months.

Now that "the beat's on," police said they believe that the gang leader and possibly several members of the stick-up organization have fled to Western Canada.

THE SMITHS FALLS HOSPITAL

An increased appreciation of the short facilities at present being provided by Ontario hospitals for mental patients of a young age is indicated by plans for such an institution at Smiths Falls. The eastern Ontario hospital will have 2,400 beds, and will provide every facility for the training and care of mentally deficient children. The building will be constructed by the Ontario government, with the federal authorities contributing more than $3,000,000 toward the cost.

Training facilities to teach warped young minds the basic lore of many trades will be provided at the new institution. In other words, no children will be placed in a box, there to be treated catch-as-catch-can. Each child will be given an opportunity to learn something that may be of use to him later in life. In addition, full medical and surgical care, aided by physiotherapy treatment, will be provided. A hospital will also be operated, to make the institution partly self-sustitient and to provide those under care with something to work at.

The treatment of mental patients has come a long way through the centuries. Along with the physically deficient persons were those shunned as social lepers. They were removed from the eyes of society by cooping them up in deadly institutions, there to waste away their lives. They were given no treatment and no encouragement because people think their eyes and infirmities of the mind. A missing leg or arm was something to rate sympathy; a broken mind was a shameful affliction, and rated only laughs, sneers and disregard.

Ontario needs the Smiths Falls hospital. In these days, its existence is part of our social system, and the contribution it can make to the welfare of the province will not be measured in dollars and cents. It will be measured in hearts and minds.

THE ATLANTIC PACT'S STUMBLING BLOCK

Once more, the ridiculous situation in which members of the Atlantic Pact insist on placing themselves has brought discord to defence efforts. Canada, forced to do something to bring some order to a confused situation, has announced that she will not make any more shipments of arms to Atlantic Pact countries in Europe until the wrangle over standardization of weapons is settled.

At present, this country is sitting in the middle of the British-American debate. Britain favors and apparently will use a .280 calibre weapon. In the United States, the .300 calibre Garrand rifle is the favorite. And in Canada, the stores of countless depots contain .303 rifles, complete with ammunition. Weeks ago, this country made representations to both the United States and Britain to get standardization of the .280 calibre weapon, and the latest, together on the weapon front. The pleas went unheard, because nothing has been done to standardize the weapons as yet.

The problem, then, is as much of a stumbling block now as it was some time ago. Indeed, it must have become greater, since Defence Minister Brooke Claxton's statements can be taken as any indication of the situation. Mr. Claxton has said flatly that Canada will under no condition ship any major arms quotas to Europe. He insisted that the Garrands now in the country will be shipped to Europe, and no more will be accepted from the United States.

In Washington, this week, a meeting of the defence ministers of the United States, France, Canada and the United Kingdom is scheduled to clear the air. In view of the fact that both Britain and the United States are producing and have indicated that they will continue to produce their own types of weapons, the meeting's future does not appear too bright.

We have read a great deal in the past few weeks about the difficult job that faces General Dwight D. Eisenhower as he attempts to co-ordinate the forces of all the Atlantic Pact countries. Harried by shortages, promises and arguments, Eisenhower is doing his best to bring about a defensive ring that will protect freedom in a large scale. He is dealing on an international basis, and may expect to find red tape in any negotiations continue. But he should not be expected to put up with a situation in which three of the largest countries in the pact cannot agree on the basic weapon of the soldier.

Standardization of weapons is an old story. It has saved countless lives and minutes in past wars. It has been an integral part of every manufacturing process for years and years. Interchangeability of parts has always been one of the basic qualities of any industry. And here we have nations who cannot agree on the standardization of a rifle, while they are banding together to stem armed aggression. North Atlantic rearmament is vital. It should not be stopped by a mere rifle.

JUST FOLKS

DISILLUSIONED

"Yes," he said, "the wife's away.
Thought it would be fun to be Free with old-time friends to play—
Friends that seldom now I see.
None to question: 'Why so late?'
None to hear me bang the door.
Thought that would be pleasure great;
But it isn't any more.

Thought the boys of old would cheer
Just to learn that I was free.
And for old times' sake appear—
Glad to sit up late with me.

Yes, one night we had a game.
Some begged off who'd played before.
No, it wasn't quite the same;
And it isn't be any more.

Thought the boys would still be boys.
Now they're married, as am I.
All of us have wiser grown,
Cards don't interest now, as then.
So at home I stay
Wishing she were back again."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 1st., 1931

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Webster and their children, Joy and Joyce, have left to spend a vacation in England. Mr. Webster is manager of the J. & J. Cash Company here.

Miss M. M. Richardson of Prescott, formerly of this city, is spending a few days in town, enroute to Winnipeg.

Mr. Arthur Seymour is spending a month at his home in Athens, Ontario.

Mrs. Ella Ackerman of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. Fitzgerald, Harriet St.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armstrong and family are spending their vacation on a motor car trip in the United States.

Mr. Ross Robinson of Ottawa, formerly of Belleville, was in town today.

August 1st., 1921

A party of fifty boys and twenty two girls arrived at the Maximum Home on West Moira Street today from England. Homes for most of the boys and girls of the girls have been assured. There are a few boys and girls around the ages of ten and eleven, very still at the home.

The G. T. R. picnic at Massassaga Park was a great success. The steamers St. Lawrence and Belleville were kept busy all day and about 1975 people were conveyed to the park; many of them reached the park in automobiles; motor boats and sailing craft. Music for dancing was provided and there were foot races and a baseball game. The baseball game was between the York Nationals and the G.T.R team and resulted in a score of 9 to 3 in favor of the former team. The following composed the G. T. R. team: Smith, catcher, Weir, W. Mills, F. Goyer, Casey, Kelleher, Smith and Symons. The umpires were Chambers, Bates, strikes and balls, McConnell.

August 1st., 1911

The city fathers were in session until 2.15 o'clock this morning and even then were unable to complete the business necessary before adjournment can be made for the summer holidays. The estimates were passed and the tax rate set at 26 1-2 mills, which is 2 1-2 mills less than last year. The request from the school board for $35,000, were granted. As soon as the police office and cells are moved from the city hall to the new city market building, the quarters vacated will be put in condition to be used as offices for city officials. The following were present at the meeting: Mayor Harry Ackerman, Aldermen Adams, Bleecker, Boyle, Caldwell, Canning, Chown, Clarke, Gibson, McGie, Parks, Sills, Vermilyea, Woodley and Marshall.

50 YEARS AGO

August 1st., 1901

Mr. A. E. Fish went to Oshawa today.

Mr. Robert E. Lazier is in New York City on business.

Ex. Mayor J. J. Johnson and family are spending some time at the Sand Banks.

Mr. Harry Mackie is home on a visit from New York City.

Mr. Mack St. Aubin, of St. Paul, Minn., an old Belleville boy, is visiting relatives here.

During the heavy wind which prevailed yesterday the sailing yacht Isolator of the Bay owned a bar on the south side of the may below Camp Meeting Cove. The yacht was blown on shore and no inconvenience was experienced by the party of ladies and gentlemen.

Bugle Major McManus requests that all members of the Bugle and Drum Band meet him this evening at the city hall at the parade to discuss important matters.

The sailing yacht Norah, formerly of this port, now of Port Hope, entered the harbor here today.

England--Then and Now

By Fred Hart

(ARTICLE 18)

We are getting toward the end of our sojourn in England for we have bade a fond farewell to East Anglia. We left Bury St. Edmunds on this bright Summer morning via Canterbury to Surrey. Nearly 40 years have passed since last we saw this very old town in Huntingdonshire.

On the market square there is a fine statue of Oliver Cromwell with the inscription that he was "A Yeowoman of St. Ives."

The old town has changed hardly at all. Old familiar names greeted us, the same families of grocers and ironmongers whom I knew so well. We talked to several, but they can't recall any another generation for the old storekeepers had passed on to their rest. The old stone bridge over the River Ouse still stands and it is centuries old. The quaint old toll jutting riverward from the centre span, is still in splendid preservation. The new V-shaped concrete on either side for pedestrian traffic are very fine and handy. Traffic could for the road way is but 12 feet wide and totally inadequate for modern motor traffic.

Off to Market

As it was market day in St. Ives we hied over to the cattle market. On this particular Monday morning there was present no more than a few score of beef cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs and poultry. In many many days the dozens of pens were jammed with animals, principally cattle and sheep. Now the pens are weed-grown and the runways bare of animal traffic.

Yes, old St. Ives has fallen on barren days as far as its live-stock is concerned.

Then we embussed for Huntingdon, where by the way, a like arrangement made before leaving Canada, Frank Tulk, newsagents Clarke, Gibson, McGie, Parks, Belleville, and formerly electrical engineer at the Cement Plant, Point Anne.

Old Friends Meet

Our rendezvous was the George Hotel at noon and by the time we got there the party had arrived and was awaiting us. Now, Huntingdon was where he was born and lived for the first 18 years of his life and left for Canada, and this was the first time he had been back to his native land since that far off day.

He had not altered up that old High Street which has changed hardly at all. We walked on down to the old stone bridge over the Ouse which connects Huntingdon with the neighboring village of Godmanchester. It had a long talk with the proprietor of the book house, for we knew well in the old days—and we carried for a while at that sweet old riverside inn, The Three Horse Shoes, where we gazed across the great commons lands of Mort Hollows.

Then we walked back up town to the very house where Frank was born and into the school house where he was taught the three R's. We talked to the very few whom we met then, but never recognized this big chap who had left the old town a skinny lad of 17 years of age.

In the evening we sauntered out to Hartford, a village we both knew so well and which for me in particular, held so very many happy recollections.

Out of the Past

Returning townward we went to the Montague Club — a Tory stronghold — so-called after the Earls of Sandwich, for Montague is their family name. In the library we perused the old photos taken long since and with the aid of the very friendly steward we picked out many whom we remembered. Perhaps the photo which gave Frank the biggest thrill was that of his old school master, Mr. White. And we met Bill Joyce and George Sanson, old pals of us both.

Reminiscences were fast and entertaining with many laughs of the incidents of yesteryear. Yes, it was good to be with pals, two stout fellows again.

Locked Out

At 10.30 the Club closed and through the almost deserted High Street we returned to our hotel only to find it bolted and barred, for at 11 p.m. the respectable folk are supposed to be in their rooms and in the arms of Morpheus! After much ringing and pounding a sleepy youth gave us admittance, and so to bed, for we had had a busy day and happy in the knowledge that we had already seen much of the scenes of our youth.

Next morning, before 6.00 a.m. we were up and on our way to Cambridge, a journey that I had not undertaken more than half a mile from our hotel.

As we walked along the old Brampton Road toward main part of Huntingdon, thoughts of many landmarks which were there then —and not now. It is amazing how much we knew them, as we walked through the gates and up the broad carriage drive and under the great stone archway up to this ancient castle.

Here, too, the door seemed pathetic to us. We remembered the beloved old Lord Sandwich, the revered, land owner, a true friend to his tenant farmers and to all the countryside in the best sense of the word, and this notice gave us a shock of the changed times.

Changing Times

In effect it told all and sundry that providing groups of 12 or over were assembled at the castle, on a Sunday, a guide would conduct such parties over the castle and grounds on payment of one-half crown per person. And in the afternoon, if required, tea would be served on the lawns.

And we learned that the present Lord Sandwich lived in a cottage, himself being without a tenant except for the odd weekend.

Thus ended the seen excerpt the old gardener.

As we peered through the multilevel hedges that form the terrace we noted the large dining and drawing rooms, the old stocked library, and the priceless oil paintings portraying the lords and ladies of the Montague family in bygone years. Our thoughts went back to the gay parties of the early part of this century when it was no uncommon occurrence to see King Edward the Seventh and the reigning beauties of that age guests of the old castle.

Then we left the old castle Frank and I had gazed upon these scenes from afar and through the wistful eyes of youth.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There are residential areas in London, England, known as rows of terraces that were built by or shortly after Sir Christopher Wren when he rebuilt the city after the fire, as they were when built three hundred years ago. And are occupied by the same class of people as originally bought them.

A street of houses in this country today is good for about twenty years. By then, the actual fabric of the house is beginning to develop cliffs. The brick work cracks, the woodwork decays.

In all our cities, we have examples of streets of noble and costly houses that lasted even as much as fifty years before they began to fall apart, in. And as the houses decay, the original class of good housekeepers moves out, and a class of second-rate housekeepers moves in. In due time, perhaps by thirty-five years, the street has become definitely second-rate, the upkeep of the premises falls steadily behind, the population doubles, it seems to have ash and garbage cans on view every day of the week instead of on only two; and the final stage comes when some of its new residents start using their back yards, side drives and front lawns as warehouse space for mucky merchandise of various sorts.

Some architects and builders declare that this process of decline and ruination is chiefly due to our climate, with its swiftly alternate frost and heat. Others admit it is a social problem, having to do with the fact that there is more poverty than wealth in human society, more bad housekeepers than good. They are conscious of a sort of gipsy fringe of decay which does not share the love of decency and order that exists in its self in the endless construction of new and beautiful residential streets, "desirable" cosy ones, like starlings or mice, want nothing more than a hole in which to build their nests of whatever comes to hand. Even London with its remarkable little islands of Wren-paving terraces and rows, has and always has had, its multitude of starlings and mice. Man may call it an by the predominantly a nesting species.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE COW BELL

I wonder why we do not hear more cow bells as we travel about. To me the ring of this bell as its wearer moves from spot to spot, is something out of this world, as though some eternal note were being struck to form an echo in the heart of a poem.

When driving through the countryside I get some near to a pasture where there is a cow bell tingling, I stop and listen. It takes me back in memory to some of the happiest days of my life upon the farm. This entire earth is constructed in poetic form, so that whenever the faintest note of music is heard, a universal chord of harmony is set in motion, undying until it has lost itself in infinity.

At an antique shop some years ago I bought a handsome cow bell with a ring so true in the tone of my memory that I have cherished it ever since and now use it at my summer retreat as a dinner bell.

It is nostalgic to an extreme. You can almost hear its echo in Grey's "Elegy", and in some of the poems of Goldsmith.

I have never heard the ring of a camel bell, but it must be something like the cow bell, though it would guess in tone much more delicate and far reaching. Over and over again in the Arabian Nights magnificent poem "The Kasidah," refers to "the tinkling of the camel bell", as it comes near to the midnight breadth and stillness of the vast desert.

Perhaps one reason why we so seldom hear the cow bell is that these animals are now now more restricted in and not turned loose to wander with their tell-tale bells as in the days of yesteryear.

I am sure our lives are kept richer and less lonely because of the tinkling cow bell. Our mind's eye keep turning to the past for a fleeting sight of some of the blessed experiences of our youth. Long, long later years, full, vital and free! Perhaps the cow bell is the symbol that remains as a symbol of spiritual exaltation?

DID THE IODIN RATION CURL HER HAIR?

When reader tells me that this column has done his or her family more good than . . . I take it purring.

When a reader hopes I'll keep on grinding out this stuff for a dog's age or that the first thing he looks for is . . . I just hope he won't cancel his subscription next month.

When Mrs. W. R. M. wrote the following letter I thought "Come, come, now" and nearly dropped it into the chuckes. But I read another thought, to wit, "After all, nearly everybody needs more iodine than he or she gets in food or water, and a suitable daily ration of iodine can do no harm in any case, so why not let Mrs. W. R. M. tell the world about it?"

Writes Mrs. W. R. M.—

My daughter, 24 years old, began taking your Iodin Ration about two years ago.

She had always had straight, stringy hair.

Last summer she noticed the hair on top of her head was taking on a natural WAVE. Within only a few weeks her hair, not only on top but at the sides as well, was beginning to curl. Now it has a lovely wave of its own without the help of beauty parlor or home-style curlers She is greatly pleased, of course.

What else was there to account for it, if not the Iodin Ration?

What else? Why, for one thing there is increased consumption of milk, cream, and/or butter, the richest food sources of natural vitamin A (not carotene) and riboflavin (formerly called vitamin G). For another thing, less abuse of the hair by the heat and chemicals applied in "permanent" waves. For another, less frequent shampooing, and more consistent use of lanolin-oil mixture: hyacinth bivalis (not "hyacinthus") one part with three or four parts of either fresh olive oil or fresh sweet almond oil, carefully applied to the scalp every day by massaging in the scalp gracefully and applying the oil sparingly with the fingertips.

Police Crack County-Wide Narcotics Ring

New York, Aug. 1. (AP)—Police cracked a new, country-wide narcotics ring last night that netted the arrests of nearly $500,000 a week. Three men were arrested.

What connection, if any, this outfit had with the $10,000,000-a-yr international dope-counterfeiting combine smashed during the weekend by federal agents was not known.

One name is common to both was that of Charles (Lucky) Luciano, deported king of vice.

Luciano allegedly headed the Italian end of the world-wide ring in which U.S. agents have arrested 20 persons.

Last night police said the new gang, which operated in all major cities in the United States, was believed linked to the dope traffic reputed to be headed by Luciano.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

What does the Bible teach us about prayer?

It teaches first of all that prayer is essential to the health and welfare of the average human soul. A soul can no more live without prayer than the body can live without food. There is no choice about 'the mater; It is imperative.

Again the Bible assures us that the value of prayer largely depends upon the regularity with which it is employed. We need not expect spiritual growth if we pray today and then neglect prayer until some baffling circumstances drives us to pray, a week or a month from now. Some people believe that because the prophet Elijah ate a meal and in the strength of the meat went forty days, they can do likewise with reference to prayer. But the counsel of the Word of God is against it.

Above all, prayer must be sincere. We must come often in spiritual matters to the temporal. It is fillie to try to deceive God. Prayer is not merely the repeating of words, but only to be sincere in what we ask, but in what we do. pra ytoday and then neglect prayer.

Koreans Take Readily to Lectures On Hygiene Given by Canadian

By BILL BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Suwon, Korea, Aug. 1—(CP)—The lecture could have been for Canadian troops as well as Korean civilians.

Soldiers who would have heard Rex Bowering of Victoria and Winnipeg talk on sanitation might not have learned anything new about hygiene. But they would have learned words about the problems of Korea.

A world health organization expert on loan from the British Columbia Department of Health and Welfare, Bowering now is public health engineer for the United Nations civil assistance command team in Seoul city and Seoul province.

With his interpreter, a 24-year-old Seoul university philosophy student named Pak Kun, standing beside him, Bowering addressed more than 100 civilian police and government officials in Suwon's bomb-blasted meeting hall.

Walk Many Miles

In their late 20s and early 30s, his listeners sat on DDT boxes upended in the puddles formed within the wind-blown hall by the previous night's driving rain. Some had walked or bicycled for 10 and 15 miles to hear him.

"We believe," he told them, "that if the police and local officials use basic principles of sanitation they can check and prevent disease.

"We used to have typhus in Canada and the United States. Now no doctor who has never been out of Canada has ever seen a case of typhus.

"In 50 years our typhoid rate has dropped to 1-40th of what it was.

"Improved sanitation has increased our life-span by 20 years.

"I give you these figures, not to boast, but to show what can happen when people sanitation techniques are followed."

Explains Cause of Disease

He told them how typhoid is spread by contaminated water, dysentery by flies, typhus by lice and malaria by mosquitoes.

He then demonstrated how Korean customs favor the conditions which breed the diseases.

Water was polluted by the way the wells were built and handled by the dirty buckets lowered into them, by ox dung blown in from the road by the wind.

He suggested concrete rims around the well tops to prevent germs trickling down the outside walls, ledges for the buckets so that they would not be put down onto the ground when not in use, covers against wind and flying insects and a simple hand pump.

He spoke against the oriental custom of removing shoes on entering the home.

"Koreans must have known for centuries about the danger of carrying disease into their homes from the streets," he said. "Your practice of removing your shoes before entering the house is one we could well adopt ourselves."

It was a practical lecture, revealing an understanding of the Korean pattern.

Bowering, 36, is a native of Winnipeg, where he graduated in engineering, and a public health post graduate of the University of Toronto. He has been director of sanitation in British Columbia since 1940. He reached Korea last November.

Restoring Waterworks

Besides giving lectures in the province's main centres, his big job is the restoration of Seoul's waterworks.

"The city's five water plants, all damaged, compare favourably in quality with any in Europe or North America," he says.

"The better-class homes had water piped in, for the first time I saw a system of street hydrants. Lack of money, trained personnel and essential parts is really all that is keeping us from getting the system working again.

"Meanwhile Seoul's 2,000 wells supply the population with water.

"Koreans are more susceptible to reason, once things are explained to them, than our people.

"Take the taste of chlorination — once the reason is explained to them they put up with it without a murmur."

Province-Wide Freeze on Rents Starts in Quebec

Quebec, Aug. 1 — (CP) Landlords and tenants who have come to an agreement since the federal government abandoned rent controls will have to argue it out before rent administrators starting today.

This is the day a province-wide freeze on rents, provided for by Quebec legislation, is lifted and Quebec's Rentals Control System begins its official operation.

The freeze on rents and evictions was imposed April 30.

The law does not prevent voluntary agreements.

Montreal and Quebec are the two centres of rentals control operation and thousands of landlords and tenants already have applied for a hearing by rent administrators.

Roughly, there is one rent administrator for every 100,000 of population in cities and towns. His decisions may be appealed to a three-man rent control board headed by Magistrate Andre Regnier and composed of tenants' and landlords' representatives.

Board rulings will be final.

The whole rent system organization has had to be set up in three months and much of the personnel appointed to date is operating in public schools, vacant because of the summer holidays.

This system will be effective until May 1, 1952, and other quarters will have to be found for rent personnel when schools open in September.

In Quebec City, 300 to 400 persons a day have been given advice by rent officials since headquarters opened in a downtown school.

Evans, accompanied by his wife said yesterday he will seek a dozen sisters, nephews and nieces of Mr. Thomas in England and Wales.

19 Youngsters On Glorified Camping Tour

Toronto, Aug. 1. (CP)—Nineteen tanned and excited youngsters set off today on another leg of a glorified camping trip—a 25-day, 4,500-mile tour of northern States and eastern Canada that ultimately will take them as far as the Maritime Provinces.

It's the first trip to Canada for the boys, ranging from 10 to 16 years old. They'll visit most major eastern Canadian cities before returning to their homes in and around Wheeling, W. Va., on August 23.

They'll also get a good taste of camping out. Wherever possible they'll sleep on the ground.

"We've spread our tent everywhere—on picnic grounds, in forests and even city parks," said 22-year-old Rod Hilbert, Boys' Work secretary of the Wheeling Y.M.C.A. and one of three Y.M.C.A. officials on the tour.

"This is our travel camp," he said, slapping the side of the bus that brought them here from Erie, Pa., the previous stop. "We have an electric refrigerator, our own four-burner cook stove, run by butane gas—and even our own water, 55 gallons of it.

Purpose of the trip is to further the Y.M.C.A. camping program, encourage the boys' self-sufficiency and give them a first-hand knowledge of parts of North America. It's the third year of the two-a-summer tours. Last year one group of Wheeling boys went to Florida while another visited the western United States and Mexico.

Biggest Refinery In World Closed

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 1 — (Reuters) — The biggest oil refinery in the world trickled to a standstill today — halted by the dispute between Britain and Iran over its ownership.

As the last huge valve was shut, Averell Harriman arrived back here from Inverted London talks. The United States envoy brought with him brightening prospects of healing the breach between the two countries and starting the refinery again.

The final act of cutting off the daily 15,000,000 gallons of oil which has flowed for years at Anglo-Iranian's huge Abadan refinery came this morning with the closing down of distillation unit, No. 80. No. 80 is the most modern and biggest in the world and was kept going to the last as the rest of the huge layout gradually ceased operating during the last two months while the oil conflict raged.

Buyers Show Keen Interest In Designs

London, Aug. 1. (CP)—Canadian and United States buyers here for the fall fashion displays showed keen interest in designs by Norman Hartnell and Hardy Amies, the couturiers to Princess Elizabeth to supply clothes for her Canadian tour.

Buyers said the styles simple to those chosen by the princess. This will mean big sales here for the British gowns correctly when the royal wardrobe goes on view.

Hartnell—described by a fashion writer in the Glasgow Herald as "master of the well-bred style that merely date"—sticks to the classic, tailored lines and beautiful embroidered ball gowns that are associated with his name.

Browns and greens in tweed checks, smooth velours, velvets and worsteds are this year's choice for tailored suits and dresses topped by voluminous tent coats in long-haired velours with big sleeves and often lined with fur.

Hardy Aimes presented one of the most spectacular models in this season's collections. A mauve sequin wearing pearl-tipped tiara made a regal entrance in a coat of pewter grey street velvet, narrow at the shoulders and flaring at the hem. The coat is trimmed at neck and cuffs with mink, opened to reveal a ballgown in grey and silver lace over grey net.

An outstanding day-time ensemble is a huge topcoat in black wool lined with copper silk taffeta worn over a dress of the same taffeta which has a swathed bodice, the swathing encircling the waist and forming a large bow on one side.

There are some people who don't believe the Italians invented spaghetti.

According to the legend, a Chinese girl was mixing dough and listening to a sailor's words of love. Some leaves fell into the dough and nearly spoiled it. To strain out the leaves she forced the dough through a wicker basket. The absent-minded lovers again started to moon. The strands of dough dried in the sun, and that's how spaghetti was born.

The sailor in this case, however belonged to Marco Polo's expedition. So an Italian was tied up in the web of the story, after all.

When buying spaghetti choose a brand with a creamy yellow colour rather than a whitish color. Select spaghetti that does not break easily when handled and that remains in whole strands after it is boiled.

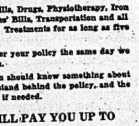
The length of time required for cooking the sauce depends upon the amount of liquid in the tomatoes. Meaty Italian style tomatoes will thicken much faster than watery canned tomatoes.

Spaghetti with Shrimp Sauce.
Serves 4-5.

1-2 lb. thin spaghetti
Salt—pepper
1 lb. fresh or quick frozen shrimps
1 medium size onion finely chopped
1 teaspoon finely chopped garlic
2 tablespoons olive oil or butter
No. 2 1-2 can of tomatoes
6 ounce can tomato paste
2-3 teaspoon dried oregano chopped fine
1-2 teaspoon dried basil chopped fine
1-4 cup finely chopped parsley
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Sugar

Bring 3 quarts water to a rapid boil. Add 1 tablespoon salt. Add spaghetti. Stir well. Boil 8 to 11 minutes or until tender. Drain. Rinse in hot water.

Drop the shrimps into boiling salted water. When water comes to a second boil, simmer five minutes, then remove shrimps from fire. Drain. Remove shells from shrimps and black vein running down back. Cut shrimps crosswise in half.



In a heavy saucepan heat the oil, but do not let it smoke. Add the onion and garlic. Saute until onion turns yellow.

Chop the tomatoes fine. Add the tomatoes together with the juice, the tomato paste, oregano, basil and parsley. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper and 1-2 teaspoon sugar.

Simmer sauce, stirring frequently, 30 minutes. Add the shrimps. Add the Parmesan cheese. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Fashion Flashes

STILL FOUND at the best places is the vogue for smart separates. A new evening costume is made up of a full skirt of all-over, metallic-embroidered French lace in grey over changeable taffeta and pink-toned taffeta. Matching sleeveless, scoop-necked bodice.

FANCIFUL designs, in both fabric and line, are the order of town and country suits. A purple, yellow and beige mixed tweed is used for an attractive suit, the boxy jacket marked by slanting, buttoned-down tabs at its four pockets. It is lined in purple, with matching purple buttons, and is slit at the sides.

A GOOD DEAL of styling marks new budget fur coats now being created. Midnight blue blocked lapin is used for a handsome coat, a belted Chesterfield. It has wide, notched revers, self belt and big patch pockets.

ON THE LEVEL, neat little hats are in favor just now. A smart design is in black velvet, a pillbox, with width gained through a wide border of white plumage that curls down on either side of the forehead. A bordered veil ties at back.

NOVELTY is the trend for gloves in all price levels, with especially good ideas in the medium price range. A glove in mocha or black suede has a new interest through three little tassels attached to the corners of tiny cut-out triangles on the little finger side. Many new gloves have attractive bits of glitter, as well as lace insets

Pat Maracle Stops Plumbers With 3-Hitter

Brilliant three-hit pitching by Pat Maracle backed up by errorless support in the field was told much for Howe and Hagerman Thursday evening as the Pointers rolled to a top-sided 13-3 victory at the Point to take their first win in three starts in the round robin tournament for the city league title.

While the game was a tour de force for western Pat Maracle it was outstanding work by the Point Anne infield that held the Plumbers down to two runs. Time and again they came up with nearly impossible saves on sharp grounders and stalling the rivets.

In notching the win Maracle walked four, struck out nine and doled out a single to Rex Young, a double to Al Adams and a triple to Don Locke.

Point Anne jumped on Plumber starter Al Adams in the first frame scoring five runs on five singles, a double, and four errors as the H. and H. infield booted the ball on its way to and from the outfield.

Pat Maracle's single and Pete Green's double in the third were good for another tally. Jack Elliott gave the hope folks the game's biggest thrill in the fifth, when he poled a tremendous home run to left field with Jack Finlan and Terry Everett aboard.

Triple Helps

Rex Young's single in the sixth, a passed ball, a stolen base, and a fielder's choice added up to the Plumber's first run. They collected their second tally in the eighth frame on Don Locke's triple and a wild pitch.

A single, double, and two errors were good for Point Anne's final three runs in their end of the eighth.

Adams started on the hill for Howe and Hagerman and in two and two-third innings walked one, struck out one, and gave up 10 hits for nine runs. He was given shoddy support defensively with several errors of omission adding to his woes as well.

Lum Carson worked three and one third frames walking two, striking out none, and giving up three hits for three runs.

Lineups:

Howe and Hagerman: J. Wardhaugh 2b; Locke 1b; D. Adams c; V. Goyer cf; H. Worthaugh rf; McGregor ss; Henn, 2b; R. Young rf; A. Adams p, replaced by Carson in 5th.

Point Anne: Strahan 1b; M. Green 1f; Finlan cf; P. Maracle p; Everett cf; P. Green c; Elliott ss; L. Maracle 3b; Horwood 3b.

Racing Commission Calls in Police To Assist Probe Suspected Fixing

Fort Erie, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—Police have been called in to help the Ontario Racing Commission in its investigation of suspected fixing of race horses at Fort Erie track.

Their appearance has accentuated the nervousness of a situation, which though shrouded in official secrecy, has been subject to a host of speculation and rumors.

Assigned to duty here are two senior criminal investigation officers of the Ontario Provincial Police. They are Staff Inspector W. G. Tomlinson of the anti-gambling squad and Inspector Charles Wood. Police operations are being directed by Chief Inspector Albert Ward of the Criminal Investigating Branch who is in Toronto.

The only word from the commission thus far in the protracted investigation was last Friday when two jockeys were fined by Ontario tracks for life "for conduct prejudicial to the best interests of racing."

Bookies Refuse Bets

But since then there have been stories about a widespread betting coup operated by gamblers and racketeers and involving other jockeys.

Some bookies in Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, N.Y., and Detroit cities in the district are reported to have dropped thousands of dollars as bettors who wagered heavily on longshots at Fort Erie.

A week ago bookies in Buffalo, across the border from Fort Erie, refused to accept place and show wagers on horses running at the track.

This action suggested they suspected attempts were being made to fix second and third place rather than first.

Explaining this method of race fixing, a leading horseman said: "This is an impossible horse who by his form has shown nothing. Bring him in for place. Wager place and show and you still do good."

Estimates of losses taken by Toronto bookies are about $75,000 to date. Reports of refusal to pay off on some big Fort Erie bets.

The commission, meanwhile, continued its investigation today, apparently according to call before it every jockey who has raced at the Fort Erie meet.

Leafs Snatch Game From Royals 3-2 Split Twin Bill

(By The Associated Press)

Dan Bankhead, 30-year-old righthander of Montreal Royals, is having a rough time in his second stay in the International League.

Bankhead made his second start last night since arriving from Brooklyn Dodgers and suffered his second defeat as the Royals dropped the second game of a double-header to Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2.

The veteran Negro, who won and lost six for the Royals in 1948, departed in the seventh inning after Lee Fleming tagged him for a two-run homer that gave the Leafs a 3-0 lead.

Lefty Hal Hudson blanked the Royals until the ninth when Bob Morgan slammed a two-run homer, the victory was Hudson's 11th.

The Royals copped the seven-inning opener 1-0 behind the two-hit pitching of lefty Chris Van Cuyk. Morgan doubled home pinchrunner Johnny Welzl with the only run in the final inning.

Ottawa Blanks Bisons

Brilliant pitching by Ed Wright and George Bamberger enabled Ottawa Giants to take a double-header from Buffalo Bisons, 4-0 and 9-0. Wright blanked the Bisons on two safeties in the seventh inning opener and Bamberger shut Buffalo out on four hits in the nightcap.

The Giants sewed the nightcap up with seven runs in the seventh inning. Rudy Misarcin suffered his first loss after 10 straight victories in the nightcap.

The setbacks dumped the Bisons out of second into third place in favor of Syracuse Chiefs who dropped a 6-3 decision to Springfield Cubs. Vern Fear limited the Chiefs to six hits.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

Lieut. Gilbert Boa, 27, of Toronto, winner of the King's Prize at Bisley, Eng., last week, will receive a civic welcome when he arrives at Toronto Friday.

Boa is the seventh Canadian to win the prize for marksmanship since the meet was organized in 1860. The last Canadian to win it was B. M. Blair of Vancouver in 1939.

A special RCAF plane will be waiting to transport Boa to Toronto Friday when he arrives at Dorval, Que.

Celebrations in Toronto will include receptions at the airport, at city hall and in the officers' mess of the 48th Highlanders of Canada — Boa's regiment. Boa will receive a purse from the city and there will be a parade in his honor.

Aussies Claim 'Slight Edge' For Davis Cup

South Orange, N.J., Aug. 1—(AP)—Pre- ss Australian tennis player, Don Candy is in a unique position.

He's touring with the Aussie Davis Cup team, but is not a member of it. He's just along for the ride. That would put him in a good position to judge the Aussie chances of winning the Davis Cup for the second straight year.

"We'll have a slight edge," he remarked today before starting his third-round match against Dick Sevitt, Australian and Wimbledon champion, in the Eastern U.S. Grass Courts championships. "What gives us our advantage is that we'll be playing on our own courts. This always helps."

As for the Australian players, he is not willing to concede that there's anyone better.

"Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor are as good as any players in the world at the moment," he said.

Candy's chances of remaining in the tournament appeared slim, for Sevitt seems to be in top form. In yesterday's second round, he eliminated Bill Tully of New Rochelle, N.Y., 6-3, 6-3.

As the tournament goes into the round of 16, there are at least two good chances for guests. Rodgo Patty, who won at Wimbledon last year, tangles with young Mervyn Rose, the third member of the Australian team. Rose at his best could win that one.

McGregor takes on U.S. junior champion Hamilton Richardson, Richardson is a lad who might upset anyone.

Patty, Rose, McGregor and Richardson all won their second-round tests without the loss of a set, Patty whipped Tom Lawyn of Scarsdale, N.Y., 6-4, 6-1. Rose turned back Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 6-3, 6-2; McGregor polished off John Hernandez of San Antonio, 6-1, 6-1, and Richardson took care of Ed Knoder of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-3.

Schwab Peewees Down Color Centre

In a regular game of the Pee Wee Baseball League, Schwab's defeated Color Schentz by a score of 17-9 on the Fair Grounds diamond, prior to the senior game last night.

Jack Elliott, small but effective pitcher for Schwabs held the visitors in check throughout the entire five-inning game, striking out 11 batters. He allowed one safe hit, a bunt, and walked two men. McLaren for the losers also pitched a nice game, but a fielding lapse paved the way for some of Schwabs runs. Balmer Kellar was the fielding star for the winners, making two nice catches at the short stop position. At bat David Coe, diminutive Schwab catcher was the batting star coming up with three hits.

The win put Schwabs a full game ahead in second place in the league standing.

The Teams:

Schwab's — Rushlow, Kellar, Hurst, Foster, Warren, Schwab, Coe, Elliott, Barclay.

Color Centre — Bowerman, McLaren, Bull, Green, Downs, Johnson, Lewis, Rushlow, Gill, Westfall, Davis, Kennedy, Grills.

Louis Must Win Over Cesar Brion Tonight or Else

San Francisco, Aug. 1 (AP) — Aging Joe Louis, whose great ambition is to become the first ever to win back the heavyweight championship, battles it out tonight with Argentina's best prospect of 20 years — Cesar Brion.

This 10 - round fight at the Cow Palace, expected to return better than $50,000 in gate receipts, is highly important to both.

Louis will be at the end of the road if defeated. The ex-champion must win this one or else his chances of getting a crack at the crown will be gone, probably forever.

At 37, Joe hasn't many years left for the ring. Louis beat Brion for a 10-round decision last November in Chicago but the 24-year-old contender from the Argentine has improved greatly since then.

Louis has been established a 4-5 favorite to defeat the South American champion in their second meeting.

Louis is expected to weigh in around 213 pounds. Brion is a 192-pounder.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting: Bobby Thomson, Giants —Drove in all Giants' runs with a pair of home runs as New York slipped Chicago's Cubs 4-3.

Pitching: Chet Nichols, Braves—Limited the Cards to four singles as the Braves shut out St. Louis, 5-0.

Four-Run Rally in Seventh Gives Picton 6-4 Victory Over Redmen

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

THEY 'DOOD' IT!

Well, well, if those saucy "Spanlards" from across the crick didn't invade our baseball backyard last night and scalp the Redmen 6-4 right in the shadow of their own keepees. The F.V.G. (Fraser-Vannever, Church) school of diamond dusters took full advantage of a couple of fielding lapses on the part of our side and one Mylen Beauchamp, late of Sherbrooke, Que., took it into his head to blast a mighty triple that took two aisle out of the right centre fence and the Grenadiers from Picton way sent three stalwarts scampering across the plate for what ultimately proved the margin of victory. And they "pushed it in" by adding a fourth before a lot of peevish pentaves had dropped back into place.

It was just like that. Willie Fordham obliged the FYC's by giving up ten clouts up to the seventh for a haze of runs. 'Huck' Reeves, who has been playing sensational baseball afield all season just missed a throw to the bag and then "Red" Carson heaved a ground-bunt over Tommy Buchanan's head and this plus a walk plattered up the diamond punctuation marks. Comes M'sieu Beauchamp, b'gar and he jeans on a Fordham groover and the ball sailed merrily into the wild blue yonder. "Spanish" cleats did a tapdance on the platter and the ball game was over to all intents and purposes there and then.

The Reds made a valiant effort to cut down the margin in their half of the local and husky smashes by Mulholland and Buchanan set the stage for a pair of runs. Again in the ninth, it looked as though the Reds were off to another of their last-ditch offensives. Fitzpatrick smashed a heart-warming drive to left centre field, good for at least two, but the fleet second-sacker "died" at third when he tried to stretch it into a triple.

The Picton hurling was good. Jacklyn who started, and Bassetti who was credited with the win, were stingy with base - knocks and set our bludgeoneers down with six clouts, three of them the extra-base variety. The forgivers tabbed Fordham for ten safeties and Billy Strahan who did a good job of relief chucking for a pair before taps sounded.

Keith MacDonald, second baseman for the Picton squad, who starred with the Redmen Hockey Club last winter was by far and wide the most outstanding player on the field, although Reeves came close in a fielding capacity. MacDonald pounded out a double and three singles and drew a walk for a perfect night at the plate and his fielding around the pivot slot was near-sensational. He covered a lot of territory and his cutting off of hard-hit Redmen ground smashes was good for the eyesight, especially that from the south side of the bay.

This evening the Reds trek over to Picton where they hope to wipe out the defeat of last night. But they'll have to be on their toes to do just that for this Picton squad is playing exceptionally good baseball these hot days. If last night's performance is a criterion. And the victory over the Redmen was perhaps the spark that was needed. In any event it should be quite a pastime since the Wilson men have no intention of relinquishing that third-place slot, not for a while at least.

Tomorrow night the Reds go to Oshawa where they will play an exhibition game with the Viaduct Senior League's top-slot Merchants of "Soup" Campbell's village. Then on Saturday night they face a real test when they meet the second-place Smiths Falls Royals at the Fair Grounds here in a night tussle.

PEEWEES TONIGHT!

Tonight at 6:30 the Empire Groceteria and Bellvue Finance baseball teams clash at Queen Victoria School grounds in a sudden death game of an exhibition series to decide the Peewee representatives in th OBA playdowns. Dates of other games will be announced later.

AUTO RACES MONDAY!

Crack stock car drivers from Toronto, Western Ontario and the city and district will combine in making the big August, Civic Holiday meet at Speedway Parkland one of the most attractive of the year. Promoter Dick Burrowes has staged an all-out effort to bring some of the best dare - devil throttle experts for the meet and stock-car racing enthusiasts are assured of plenty of thrilling excitement.

Toronto "half-miler" drivers were loud in their praises of the condition of the Parkway track last week-end when some of them declared it to be one of the best raceways in the province. The track safety facilities for both drivers and spectators, they said, rank with the best in Ontario and all of them voiced the wish they would be back again in the near future.

However, the cream of the province's stock-car drivers will be here next Monday and Burrowes is making all arrangements for what he says will be the outstanding race-classic of the season.

RASSLE-DASSLE!

Two different types of the golden gladiators of the wrestling ring will be seen here in action Friday night when the British Empire world's champion, Whipper Billy Watson and handsome Mike Sharpe clash in the main event. Both Mike and the Whip are noted for their clean scientific methods and the bout should easily be one of the mat classics of the season. Mike has a decided edge in height over the popular Whip but the Pride of East York more than counters this in speed, agility and ring generalship. Sharpe got what he terms a "raw decision" here last week when the "Zebra" defeated him on a disqualification hand-down. The big boy from Hamilton is still smarting under the defeat and he should make matters mighty interesting for the Whipper on Friday. Brother Ben faces the well-known "Leer", Lee Henning, one of the ring's best showmen, in the semi-final while George Scott takes on Dave Sims in the opener.

Mighty Triple Cleans House After Red Errors Load Sacks; Foe Hurlers Yield But 6 Hits

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Two costly errors, a walk and a mighty triple to the right centre field fence that cleaned the loaded bases gave the Picton Athletics a 6-4 victory over the Redmen at the Fair Grounds last night.

The "Spanlards" won the tussle there and then. Up to this point the game was stalemated at two runs each and it looked like anybody's ball game.

Happened in Seventh

 It all happened in the "lucky seventh." Willie Fordham who had been nicked for ten hits to here but had been producing some fine pitch-pitching forced Picton's Bassetti to ground out.

"Huck" Reeves bobbled Jackie Wardhaugh's bid for a hit and the runner was safe. Delorier laid down an easy bunt and Carson promptly tossed the ball over the first baseman's head for what should have been the third out. Keith MacDonald walked and Dutta popped to Reeves. Beauchamp drove in the first counter and Gilmour whiffed the third strike. Strahan got aboard when the Picton third-baseman kicked his grounder around and Mulholland uncorked a towering smash that went to the fence and the sacrifagger scoring two. Reeves struck out and Roper grounded out to end the rally.

Nicked for Dozen

Two Redmen hurlers were nicked for an even dozen clouts by the Picton bludgeons, Willie Fordham started on the mound and was touched freely for the 6 and two-thirds innings he worked giving up ten hits for all the Picton counters. He was good at times in the clutches cutting off potential Picton rallies via the strikeout route. He whiffed seven and issued but one walk. Billy Strahan went to the mound in a relief role in the disastrous seventh with two out and held the visitors scoreless over the rest of the route. He was touched for a pair of hits in the ninth but came through with a pair of strikouts to put out the fire.

Jacklyn started on the mound for Picton later being replaced by Bassetti. The pair restricted the Redmen clubs to six hits between them, Jacklyn yielding three for a pair of runs during the period of three and one-third innings and Bassetti giving up a like amount for the remainder of the route.

The latter, a sixteen-year-old, relieved Jacklyn in the fourth after the Redmen had smote him for a pair of clouts. They whiffed seven. Bassetti getting four and each gave up a base on balls.

MacDonald Stars

Keith MacDonald was the hero of the piece for the Athletics, in fact was about the best ball player out there. Tne Redmen hockey star got himself four hits for four, one a double and fielded his position perfectly, being credited with four putouts and three assists. Some of the fielding bordered on the spectacular.

Beauchamp got a triple and single and Delorier and Zachio came through with a pair each.

Mulholland and Fitzpatrick shared the Redmen clubbing

BETTING COUP IS RUMORED BEHIND O. R. C. INQUIRY

The Ontario Racing Commission is continuing its investigations into the alleged "fixing" of races at Fort Erie track which already has seen two jockeys set down for life for "conduct prejudicial to the best interests of racing". Meanwhile, another rider, Alfie Nash, seen above who has been riding in Ontario for a good number of years, is being kept under constant watch by the commission's security guards following his refusal to "spill" his mount in a certain race when approached by persons unknown. Toronto bookmakers and racketeers are said to be implicated in large-scale betting coup behind allegations of fixed thoroughbred races on Ontario tracks. —Central Press Canadian.

glory, "Fitz" getting a pair of doubles and Sammy smashing out a two-run triple and a single. Buchanan and Dean were the only other Redmen to connect safely with the Picton shoots.

Tribe Chief Threat to Yanks As Red Sox Show Slip Signs; 'Bums' Win; Phils Dump Chisox

By [illegible] (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland's carousing Indians loomed today as the chief threat to New York's hopes of retaining its American League crown now that Boston's Red Sox are showing signs of losing their magic which at Fenway Park.

Continuing to rebound from two straight lickings at Yankee stadium, the Indians last night made it four victories in their last five games by conquering the Senators, 8-2.

The triumph gave the Tribe undisputed possession of second place, two games behind the Yankees and one in front of the third-place Red Sox.

The Red Sox, in absorbing a shocking 8-6 setback at the hands of the lowly Athletics in Boston, now have lost four out of seven since returning to Fenway Park.

Chicago's plunging White Sox dropped a 6-3 decision to the Philadelphia athletics. The defeat, the 10th in their last 11 games, dropped the fourth place White Sox a discouraging 7½ behind the idle Yankees.

National a "John"

The arrival of August finds the Brooklyn Dodgers sailing along serenely with a 9½-game advantage in what has been dubbed the National League pennant race. The runaway Dodgers ran their winning streak to seven with an 8-3 win in Pittsburgh.

New York's runner-up Giants kept pace with a 4-3 victory in Chicago. Philadelphia's defending champion Phillies swept past St. Louis into third place with a 7-5 triumph in Cincinnati while Boston Braves were shutting out the Cardinals 6-0.

Bob Feller, baseball's biggest winner, and Early Wynn, also cited as the Indians rallied for three runs in the top of the ninth to overcome a 5-2 Washington lead.

Two big innings—a three-run 7th and a four-run seventh—helped the Browns to victory over the Red Sox. Third baseman Fred Hatfield touched off the fifth-inning uprising and singled again to drive in two mates in the seventh.

Ned Garver, Brownie ace, appeared on the verge of his 14th victory but was forced to leave in the fifth inning after pulling a muscle in his left leg. He suffered the injur- in the top of the fifth while diving back to 1st after driving in his second run with a single.

Win Sabby Wins

Although leading 6-2 when he left, Garver did not get credit for the win. The league rule, changed last year, states that a starter must work at least five innings to gain credit for the win. Satchell Paige, who took over, picked up the victory.

Hank Arft, obtained from Chicago in a mid-season deal, packed the Athletics to their win over the White Sox. The slugging third baseman made three of Philadelphia's eight hits, scored three runs and homered against his former mates.

Don Newcombe hurled his 18th win for Brooklyn as the Dodgers hammered Howie Pollet and three successors for 16 hits. Newcombe starred at bat, too, with three hits. Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese homered for the league leaders.

Bobby Thomson drove in all New York's runs with a pair of homers in the Giants' 4-3 victory over the Cubs. Jim Hearn was credited with his 10th victory although he needed help from Sheldon Jones and Sal Maglie.

The Phils, still smarting from Manager Eddie Sawyer's tongue-lashing on slacking, rallied for six runs in the ninth to overcome a 5-1 deficit and whip the Reds. Del Ennis' three-run homer off Howie Fox highlighted the assault.

Rookie Chet Nichols hurled the shutout for the Braves, limiting the Cards to four singles for his fifth victory.

Grid Rivalry Fills Yank Pants With Canuck Cash

By WILFRED GRUBON (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Fierce rivalry among the clubs in the Big Four and Western Canada football leagues is filling the pockets of American players with Canadian cash.

At a direct result of what has become a supercharged struggle to get into the east-west final for the Grey Cup and the dominion championship, most of the eight teams this year have acquired high-priced American stars with reckless abandon.

In the process they have antagonized American club owners who have gone to the courts in the United States in an effort to stop what they call "playing raiding" tactics. The rift may be hard to heal.

The influx of imports this season is the greatest yet in Canadian football. The number of "name" players heading north of the border has emphasized that Canadian clubs are stepping into competition with the U. S. club owners for the best football talent available.

It has indicated that Canadian clubs are no longer content with imports whose best football days are over or those with dinky knees or tricky shoulders which may not hold together for a season.

However, many club officials fear that the keen competition for high-salaried imports will eventually harm the Canadian game since they say most teams barely make a profit. Some would like to see a salary limit on Americans or a decrease in the number allowed each team, if not a complete ban.

Again this year the import list is seven but under a new rule any American who has played four seasons in Canada is no longer considered an import.

Combines Dunk Motormen 10-7 In Upset Win

Surging for four runs in the bottom of the eighth inning, Cleaner Combines upset the second-place Belleville Motor Car crew 10-7 in a scheduled Commercial AA League fixture. The result left the league standing unchanged as the Motormen still trail Avon Jewellers by half a game with a game in hand. The Cleaners remain in fourth position behind Bakelite and ahead of Stewart-Warner.

The Motormen scored singles in first and second stanza only to have Art Croft's boys rear right back with the squalizer. Neither team plated in the third but the B&CC tallied twice in the fourth.

Cleaner Combines tied the score up again in the bottom of the frame on an infield hit, a walk, an error, walk and hit by pitcher by James. Both teams tallied once in the fifth and the Cleaners took it temporarily in the next frame as Young tripled to drive in Scott who had previously singled.

Belleville Motor Car came back strong with a four-run first of the seventh, making the most of an error, walk and hit.

Derushile, leading off in the Cleaner half of the inning, tied the score up once more with a terrific home run drive to left field. Three more runners scored for a solid lead.

After a scoreless eighth for both teams, Belleville Motor Car had the first two batters retired on infield hits. Miller singled to centre and O'Brien drove a long ball down the right field line for a home run and bringing the Motormen to within one run of a tie. It started to rain and darkness set in settling it and the umpires called the game with the score reverting back to the end of the eighth.

Every member of the Cleaner aggregation got a hit safely with James, Bunton, Mulvihill, Jones and Harold getting a pair. O'Brien with three and Callaghan and Hatfield with two, led the losers at the plate.

LeClerc started on the mound for the Motormen but was yanked in the second after two successive doubles. Jack Reid relieved LeClerc in the 2nd and Garvin replaced Blaind in the 7th.

Women Drivers Steal the Show At Thorncliffe

Toronto, Aug. 1.— (CP) — The ladies stole the show at Thorncliffe Raceway Tuesday when six women drivers put on a display of harness racing. Mrs. Alex Williams of Bainsville, out-finished five rivals and drove Maud Gratten to a fine win in a feature dash.

Nursing her mare along behind the pace of Bert Patch, Jr., driven by Mrs. Victor Lutman, of Toronto, Mrs. Williams didn't make her move until she reached the quarter-pole. Then she went to work, whipping left-handed, and drove to the front as the field straightened out for home. The crowd gave her an ovation as she sent her mare flying under the wire.

Male scoffers were silenced when the time of 2.10 2-5 was posted for the race, it was the second fastest dash of the afternoon and Maud Gratten raced within a second of her lifetime record.

Pays $283.60 At Harness Meet

Toronto, Aug. 1.—(CP)—A Canadian record for a parl-mutuel pay-off on harness racing was established at Thorncliffe Raceway Tuesday when Exeter Lady won the fifth race and paid $283.60 for a $2 ticket.

Exeter Lady, owned by John Morrissey, of Crediton, Ont., paid $58.50 to place and $9.35 to show. Piloted by Lloyd Gratten, the mare was favored by good racing luck.

Canada, Cuba To Name Players For Tennis Series

Montreal, Aug. 1, (CP)—Canada and Cuba will name their starters for the three-day North American Davis Cup tie here at the stroke of midnight tonight and the Cubans are showing more concern about the whole proceedure.

The tennis matches start Friday afternoon with two singles matches.

Names of the starters of the Canadian team remained a guarded secret although Captain Gordon MacNeil admitted the spectators were about right.

The consensus among observers was that the teams would line up this way:

Bluntly, the attitude of Captain Eric Williams of Cuba is that he will have to use his two best players, Weiss and Aguero, to "stand up to the Canadians."

Displaying remarkable fighting spirit, the underdog Cuban players have not said much except that they are confident of pulling up a "good show".

Intercounty Stars Drub Negro Champs

Waterloo, Aug. 1—(CP)— The Intercounty Baseby Baseball League all-stars handed Indianapolis Clowns, American Negro League leaders, a surprise here Tuesday night by defeating the visitors 7-4 with a 12-hit attack, including three triples and two doubles.

Close to 4,000 fans attended and proceeds were in aid of the W. J. (Bill) Snyder Memorial Fund and Intercounty Minor Baseball.

Before the game, Larry Bennett, president of the Brantford Red Sox, on behalf of the league, presented a club bag to London Majors catcher "Irish" Miskimmons, who is playing his 19th season in intercounty ranks.

Southpaw Johnny Moore, 3rd all-star pitcher, was the winner. He came on in the sixth when shortstop Russ Evoy of the London Majors singled to right field to drive in the game and give the all-stars a 6-4 lead.

To Decide Fate U.S. Hockey Loop

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 1. (AP)— Governors of the United States hockey league are to meet here today to decide the fate of the circuit. There has been speculation it may suspend operations for a year.

The governors and president Ron Cook met here in June but put off any decision on the league's future. Since then, one of the members, Milwaukee, has applied for a franchise in the American hockey league. Another, St. Paul, has announced it will drop out of the Canadian-American semi-pro circuit.

The remaining members are Denver, Kansas City, Tulsa and Omaha.

Sports Roundup

By JOHN CHANDLER (For HUGH FULLERTON, JR.)

New York, Aug. 1. (AP)—Four weeks ago a man in his late 80s stepped briskly across the dusty course at ancient historic harness racing st. track at Goshen, N.Y.

He was called from the grandstand to receive a trophy after his four-year-old pacing filly, Gallets, had won the debutante stake in straight heats.

An hour later, the loudspeaker called out again for the dean of harness horse owners to claim another trophy. This time it was for Betsy Volo's straight heat victory in the $17,511 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks.

One week from today, at Goshen's Good Time park, they could be summoning Reynolds to accept the huge cup that goes to the winner of the Hambletonian.

Betsy Volo is one of the top contenders for the rich trotting classic for three-year-olds which is expected to have a record value of $50,000.

In 1933 another of Reynolds' "Gals", Mary Reynolds, won the trotting classic. In 23 years, eight fillies have won the Hambletonian, so they can't sell Betsy Volo short.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood Aug. 1—(AP)—You can't accuse this film personality of seeking publicity, in fact, she wouldn't even allow her name to be used in this story.

The player, whose name every movie goer knows, agreed to tell me about the wonder of studio contracts. But, lest she get into trouble with her bosses, she insisted on speaking anonymously. So we'll call her Miss X.

"Everything I do is theirs," Miss X began. "And I mean everything. If I write a book, coin a joke, paint a picture—they belong to the studio. Of course, this right is usually not exercised but it is their privilege.

"Furthermore, any use of my face or my name is strictly their property. I cannot appear in an ad testimonial without their permission.'

Change Appearance

The actress added that her contract gives the studio the right to alter her appearance. She said this became humorous in her early days as a starlet.

"First they didn't like my teeth," she recalled. "The teeth were supposed to be too short; they didn't show up when I smiled. So they got some caps to make them appear longer. The caps rattled around in my mouth, so I secretly got rid of them.

"Then the makeup head didn't like my nose. He wanted to make it bigger with a rubber piece. He started to make a plaster cast of my face, putting straws up my nose so I could breathe through. But I got claustrophobia and couldn't stand the plaster on my face. So I got to keep my own nose"

PICTON

Honor Mayor At Picton With Banquet

Picton—Mayor Harvey J. McFarland was guest at a complimentary banquet held Monday night at Maple Inn, Bloomfield. The event was arranged by a group of 20 men who had recently enjoyed a trip to Ottawa as guests of the Mayor. A turkey dinner was served. Dr. J. H. Walmsley spoke in appreciation of the generous hospitality of the Mayor, and on behalf of his friends, presented the Mayor with a Stetson hat and also a panama hat.

In replying, Mayor McFarland revealed that the reason he had remained in Picton with his company, instead of accepting attractive offers elsewhere, was because of assistance and encouragement which had been given him by local citizens when he located here ten years ago to carry out his first important contract.

This week, Tommy Kostoff of Picton, had the pleasure of meeting a 35-year-old brother he had never seen. They met in Toronto where the brother, Traian Kostoff, had recently located. Tommy Kostoff left his home in Macedonia, Greece, before his brother was born. They had corresponded for many years. The brother plans to bring his wife and family to Canada, and later, the brothers hope to bring still another brother, who is in Europe, to this country.

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Refuse to believe a partner like Steve. He has a spectacular flair. With hands that look sick he doubles real quick to see if opponents will scare.

Some players enjoy an occasional effort to confuse opponents with a double that is shy its needs. Not always do they get away clean. There are when they are trapped by a redouble.

South opened with a heart and west doubled for takeout with this hand:

♠J 7 4 2
♣Q 7 4 2

You can see, of course, that west was far short of what goes with such a signal. Diamonds as good as an opening one bid. The stuff he has is not nearly enough for any part of it.

He may have thought he could fool opponents into ending at an undergame contract. Or maybe he thought partner would turn up with a long suit for a cheap sacrifice.

However, north stepped in right then and there with a redouble. And now, if east happens to have a weak hand, he and his partner are in a fix. They are boxed between two good hands.

The south opening, if sound, shows better than average strength. The redouble by north is a promise that the opener can make his bid with overtricks enough that are worth more than game.

In such a spot, east had better come in fast. Whether or not he suspects west of pulling a boner, east should bid fast. If he does not, west will be caught in a very bad position.

East should show his best suit. It may not be good enough to get out of trouble. But it may keep his pair from floundering in their

AT THE McCARTHY

"The Dark Man" . . . Suspense-Filled Who-Done-It!

Closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre is another in the long line of excellent suspense movies that only the British can make that follows such excellent spine-tinglers as "Night Train to Munich," "The Lady Vanishes" and "The Clouded Yellow Mystery."

An expertly made and acted murder story, there is no mystery about who is responsible for the killing, but there is plenty of suspense. Excellent camera work adds to the good overall tightness.

The story is a simple one. A thief kills a man while robbing a safe. Then he has to kill the taxi-driver who drives him to a lonely farm on the South Coast.

He is met by a girl cyclist, and tries to murder her, in case she recognizes him.

The girl has several escapes from sudden death, but the murderer is tracked down after a spectacular chase. It takes the fugitive across the firing range during a practice shoot, and ends up at a light house.

The climax is calculated to leave the average movie-goer sitting on the edge of his seat and chewing his fingernails down to the quick, as the army and police close in on the murderer from opposite directions. The murderer finally comes to bay and shoots it out with the police after thrilling scenes in a ruined castle and across the sand dunes of British.

MESSAGE TO MARGARET

East Grinstead, Sussex, England—(CP)—A pigeon was released by children from a home for the blind at a fete here. It flew to Buckingham Palace carrying a message from the youngsters to Princess Margaret.

Farmer Charged With Setting Off Explosion

Clifford, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—George McMillan, 38-year-old farmer, has been charged with setting off an explosion which ripped through the rear of a garage here Tuesday.

McMillan was arrested by provincial police at his farm home in Minto Township and taken to county jail and police say he is charged with endangering human life.

The purchase of a quantity of dynamite led to McMillan's arrest, police said. McMillan, a bachelor, said he had bought the explosive to blast tree stumps.

C. G. McPhail, 51, owner of the garage, was thrown from his bed by the force of the explosion. He was asleep in the top porch of his 13-room apartment over the garage at the time. A clock with its pendulum blown off fixed the time at 2:37 a.m.

Police searched the area, 50 miles south of Owen Sound, for more explosives but the hunt was sped out of Clifford 15 minutes before the explosion brought residents running out of their beds and police and firemen—two carrying rifle bolt-bolts—to the scene.

Mr. McPhail, who values his building at $45,000, said damage may run to thousands of dollars. He said there was $30,000 worth of motor-cycle and bicycle parts and equipment in the building.

Truman Signs Price Control Act, Wants More

Washington, Aug. 1. (AP)—President Truman prepared today to hammer again on Congress' door for a "good, strong price control law" to replace what he called the "strictest" act he signed last night.

Truman emphasized that he accepted the new, one-year defence production act—"the worst I ever had to sign"—only because he could not risk the lapse of its rent ceiling and strong priority control clauses.

But the bitterly-disputed law was on the books, and its Republican and Democratic backers defended it against the angry White House blasts.

Meanwhile, Michael V. DiSalle's office of price stabilization hastily explored techniques for lifting price ceilings to the levels now required.

DiSalle ordered thousands of price cuts—and a goodly number of increases—into effect last night in the final hours before Truman signed the new measure.

New ceilings, held back for a month during the congressional debate, were applied to consumer items such as radios, television sets, refrigerators and other home appliances, shoes, apparel, cotton textiles, wool yarns and fabrics, machinery, chemicals and many building materials.

By rushing the orders out last night, O.P.S. avoided the immediate necessity of rewriting the ceilings to conform to the new act, which entitled each manufacturer to pass on to buyers his full business cost increases up to July 26.

Individual price adjustments now must be made. A month ago O.P.S. said the orders would bring consumers more cuts than increases. Today it said the impact on family budgets is "uncertain."

Clothes Make The Man--If He's A Stranger

Los Angeles, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Clothes make the man—that is, if you've never seen the man before.

This addition to the old bromide has been proved somewhat scientifically at the University of Southern California.

Doing research for his Ph. D. degree in sociology, Thomas F. Hoult showed photographs of college men to more than 300 students on the campus. His results showed:

If the judges knew the man in the photo, it made no difference if he wore old work clothes or a double-breasted suit—the votes were the same for "best looking," "man I would vote for as class president," or, by the girls, "man I'd most like to date."

But when the judges didn't know the men, those wearing the best clothes got the most votes.

New Locomotive Viewed by Public At Ceremony

Kingston, Ont. Aug. 1—(CP)—A 113-foot diesel electric locomotive was displayed to the public today, to launch this city on a new era of locomotive manufacture.

The occasion was celebrated as "Diesel Day" and hundreds of special-guest visitors joined in the ceremonies.

Canadian Locomotive Co. Ltd., which has built locomotives here since 1856, presented the new giant; Trade Minister Howe swung the bottle of champagne and named it "City of Kingston"; and he and Premier Frost of Ontario and Mayor C. A. Curtis of Kingston spoke in congratulation.

The locomotive, which generates enough electricity for the needs of a town of 5,000 people, goes to the Canadian Pacific Railway, and is painted in Canadian Pacific's colors of grey, maroon and gold.

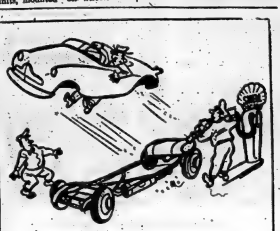
Built Old No. 8,000

Also celebrated today was the production here in 1932 of the world's first diesel-electric road locomotive, the Canadian National Railway's No. 9,000, herald of an era which was interrupted by depression and war.

The new "City of Kingston" is the first of a line known as the "consolidation" so named because the parts can be consolidated or interchanged so that 72 different types or locomotives can be made out of them.

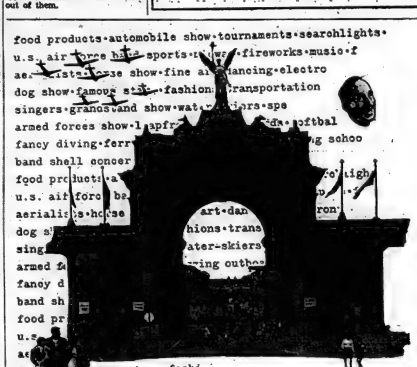
The maker, Canadian Locomotive, took its present name in 1909, successor to the line of companies which started in 1850. Fairbanks Morse and Company of Chicago acquired controlling interest last year, and the locomotives use Fairbanks-Morse opposed-piston engines, which were widely used in submarines in the Second World War.

The engines, as well as the completed locomotives, will shortly be made here, and Canadian Locomotive has already spent $1,000,000 in plant expansion, and plans to spend another $2,000,000.



Many Combinations

The "City of Kingston" consists of two complete diesel-electric units, mounted on wheels and joined together tandem-style under their streamlined locomotive housing. Each unit develops 1,600 horsepower, providing enough power to haul smoothly a fully-loaded freight train at 65 miles an hour; or, in another version, to pull a passenger train at 110 miles an hour. By linking enough units, further versions can have up to 3,600 horsepower.



Harking back to the first diesel locomotive built here in 1928—C.N.R.'s No. 9,000—after a variety of service in two units were used separately, with the second numbered No. 9,001. The latter was retired in 1939, but No. 9,000 was rebuilt and during the Second World War pulled an armored train on the Pacific coast. After the war, its armor plate was removed and it operated between Quebec and Edmundston, N.B., for 15 months, until it, too, was retired.

THE FORM DIVINE

BY HILDEGARDE DOLSON

Rather than admit that the wife has been unhappy because of her infidelity, Lucilla will say, "He'd hurt her feelings and made her cry." Hoopy's thought is: 'oh' made her mother realize that perhaps the child was receiving an oversimplified notion of reverence. "My lady was bad to do it," she muttered.

"If the lady was bad, then why does the other man kiss her?" was Hoopy's next query.

Lucilla whispered, "He's just silly." For some reason, this made her feel much better. How silly men were, she thought, even the best of them. It was the lady who had to act adult and women who had to act child and brides' misunderstandings. All through the film about this taming mule, she could feel the tolerant wisdom, and even a rueful amusement, coursing through her. Arthur had only tried to get even.

She began to feel it was up to her to proffer another olive branch, and if necessary beat him over the head with it. As soon as they got home, she promised, Arthur aside and explain about Derek, and Arthur could then explain why he'd taken out a girl from the office, and everything would be settled.

They burst into the apartment, two females full of interesting did-bits to tell Daddy.

Daddy wasn't there.

The truth was that Arthur had been suffering from an emotional hangover, and far from being of the hair-of-the-dog school, he didn't even want to see a woman just then, much less have a scene with one. He was confused and depressed, and also disgusted at his wife's childishness in storming into the bathroom and refusing to talk, the night he'd come home after 11. If this action had somehow established her innocence to Arthur, it had also underlined her unreasonableness.

Eventually they'd have to have a showdown, but in the meantime, he longed for neat, unmuddled colors — of figures and graphs; it was much the same sort of need that makes a sick dog go out and eat grass.

Having made up his mind, or his instinct, Arthur acted promptly, while his women were still at the movies. He put some papers back into his briefcase and wrote a note: "Gone to the office and will probably work there all evening." After some thought probably," propped the note against a couch pillow, and departed.

When a woman decides for the second time in 48 hours that her man is a beast, she naturally wants to inform an interested third party of this fact as quickly as possible.

Lucilla chose Paris as her confidante, expecting the sympathy of one skimmed woman to another, and was considerably shaken when Paris insisted on looking at both sides of the case. (The fact that Paris had made up with Harry over the weekend may have contributed to this dialogical show of impartiality.) She even extracted full facts on the visit to Derek's apartment, which Lucilla had preferred to gloss over in her stringent comments made Lucilla wince. But having admitted to folly, she wanted Paris to concentrate on Arthur's even greater sins, and reminded her frieand resentfully of what she'd said only the week before about men.

"Sure I said they were skunks" Paris agreed calmly, "But I didn't say you ought to encourage them to be worse than they are."

Lucilla tried another tack. "He even said I was a fool to spend so much money and not get anything out of it."

"That's because you surprised him. It always makes them feel that they've been had when he calmsdown, he'll be braggin' about how good you look. After Harry, He's been braggin' I lost five pounds where it counts." She touched her derrière and swung her eye, which had faded to the greenish tint of mold, "Now he's puttin' ice bags and stuff on this shiner, so's I'll look okay for graduation."

Her tone was that of a pampered woman, and it made Lucilla feel wistful.

She felt this even more strongly when Miss Willit told her she'd been chosen to demonstrate the Graceful Way to Descend Stairs.

All the girl graduates were to wear bathing suits, and Lucilla decided she'd get one in a violety blue, because that was Arthur's favorite color. She welcomed Paris' advice: "Ask him real nice if he'll come see you graduate," because she felt ready decided to do just that.

Arthur, upon receiving a timidly worded invitation that evening, turned it down before Lucilla had even come to the Graceful Way to Descend Stairs. "When you've finished at that place and come to your senses, then we can talk things over and reach some decision."

Lucilla retreated feeling as if she'd been stoned.

She had never known how to fling herself; now, added to her natural shyness, was the enervating fear of, "Maybe he doesn't like me any more." Whenever she wasn't with him, she would tell herself, "He's still your husband—of course he'll listen." But the Arthur who looked up with cold annoyance from his newspaper or book now seemed so stiff and remote even in pajamas that he gave off an air of, Don't try any of your tricks."

Late that afternoon, she got off the bus and stopped to read the day's motto on the church bulletin board: "Kindness is the golden chain by which society is held together—Goethe. She had hurt Arthur, and now Arthur was hurting her. Abd she hadn't been kind to Paris and Mrs. Colge when they were unhappy, she'd even made fun of them to Derek, who couldn't be kind to anyone.

From the moment of her physical revulsion to Derek and his too glib lovemaking, she had lost all taste for dismantling his petter into intellectual prowess, or his self-made fame into achievement. Every mental reservation she'd ever had about him now flowed into the main stream of her dislike, washing away even the memory of whatever charms and small talents he possessed.

She saw Derek from a distance one noon, and poked with the help of her glasses and her new perspective, that he looked like a handsome, rather petulant juvenile lead, the kind who was made an enforcer swinging a tennis racquet and more recently, twirling a small swizzle Paris. "You was with—her, said. "You never notice how his head's too narrow and his ears are like a dame's?"

Lucilla took increasing comfort in Paris' companionship, that last week. She reported on the impasse at home, and Paris said thoughtfully, "It's easier if you can blow your top. That Dear Alfonso stuff with nobody sayin' what they think would drive me nuts." She encouraged Lucilla to talk about Arthur. "He's still workin' for the same outfit?" Paris asked once. "Hmm-huh" Lucilla was touched that her friend seemed so genuinely interested.

In return, she was genuinely pleased when Paris reported that Harry, in a convulsion of remorse over the fast-fading black eye, had agreed to mink. "We're goin' shoppin' tonight," she said. "Listen, you think I'd look good in a stole with tails?"

"Sure," Lucilla said, "the plain kind is sparter." It was the supreme act of friendship, to prevent another woman from making a fashion blunder.

Paris' were the stole to school the following day. "Thirteen hundred bucks with tax," she said happily.

It was exactly the sort of stole Lucilla would have chosen for herself. Paris insisted her friend try it on, and admired her lavishly. "You got real class."

Yet when Paris put the stole back on over her practice clothes, and Paris said thoughtfully, "It's easier if you can blow your top. That mink hung superbly. Just as there are some women who know immediately how to handle a slipper; new baby, there are women like Paris who need no initiation into the mysteries of dangling furs.

Several of the other students were content, as they tried on their New You's for size or color. The neatly coifed Mrs. Cleary, silhouette and rouge subdued, told everybody proudly that her high-school-age daughter was no longer ashamed of her. "She even let me show her how to orientalize the eye with an eyebrow pencil," she bragged. Miss Midge described her new black-satin swim suit—"size 13, dear"—and caroled that she hadn't felt so well in years.

The Bump-Wump machines ran far into the night, or into the flesh, as students crammed for the Final Measurements. Mary Meadows gave them a moving little pregraduation talk on the psychology of thinking thin: "We used to have an old elevator man here, and every day he said to me, 'Miss Meadows, when these ladies first enroll, I can only get three at 'em in my car at once, but by the time they graduate, I can get six of 'em in easy.' So I asked him, 'Did you know that 1000 pounds of fresh disappear here every two months?' And he scratched his head and said, 'What I can't figure out is, where does it go?' She allowed a decent interval for laughter, then continued, "Well, we don't know where it goes, but we want to made sure it doesn't come back. In the years ahead, if you're tempted to backslide, if you decide it's too much trouble to diet or to walk up the wall every morning, then remember that dreary old feeling when you had to use fat—when you skulked past mirrors, when you hated to have a mileage or even your nearest and dearest see you unclothed. Tell me, would any of you want to go back to that?"

There wasn't a dull eye in the house. Even Lucilla felt the headiness of victory. Later that day, Miss Willit posed the students painstakingly for their After photographs. As she arranged Lucilla in profile, with her weight on her right foot and the left used for grace notes, she said, "Honestly, Mrs. Webb, the difference in your kyphosis is amazing."

When should a family borrow

A family should borrow only when it loses to be the best solution to a money problem. For example, to pay old debts, finance emergency needs, furnish education, or buy a home. Loans for these purposes are not inflationary, for the money is not used to buy goods in short supply or increase indebtedness.

SOLVING MONEY PROBLEMS

At HFC—Household Finance—we believe a family should borrow only when, by careful planning, the money problem can be resolved, and the loan repaid in an orderly manner. When a family borrows under these circumstances, it is simply "renting" money on terms it can afford. At HFC you may borrow $50, $200, $500 or more on your signature, without bankable security.

BRITAIN AGREES TO OPEN TALKS WITH IRAN ON OIL

Negotiations to Open Within 24 Hours

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 2 — (AP)— The British government was reported today to have agreed to open oil talks with Iran immediately.

Sources close to W. Averell Harriman American troubleshooter, said Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, probably would arrive in Tehran within 24 hours to work out details. These sources said negotiations on Iran's nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's $1,400,000,000 properties would begin Sunday or Monday.

Harriman received the British reply last night, and although its contents were not disclosed, it is understood Britain said the conditions for the talks, as explained by Harriman, were satisfactory.

It is not known whether Stokes will be accompanied by British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd who flew to London with Harriman last week to explain to Premier Iranian position to the British government.

The Tehran press, meanwhile, commented bitterly on the arrival of four British destroyers at the closed refinery at Abadan.

"It is amazing," one paper said, "that the British, on the one hand ask for, the creation of a more friendly atmosphere at Abadan as a condition for renewed oil tanks, and at the same time send more warships there. This act will be construed as a gesture of good will."

Flight Postponed

London, Aug. 2 — (AP) — British government today ordered a special plane to stand by to carry a cabinet minister to Iran for oil talks and then postponed the flight.

A spokesman for Richard H. Stokes, Lord Privy Seal and head of the mission, refused to say whether there had been a hitch in the projected negotiations.

"Mr. Stokes is not leaving today. Arrangements for the departure will be announced when they are ready," the spokesman said. He added:

"We have been explaining all along that today's arrangements were subject to last - minute alteration."

The foreign office evidently was awaiting clarification from Iran on one or two points concerning the proposed talks.

Ritter Resentment

Tehran dispatches said bitter Iranian resentment at the arrival of four British destroyers at Abadan this week threatened to break down an agreement for renewal of the talks at the 11th hour.

Peiden Truman's special envoy in the oil crisis, W. Averell Harriman, was reported concerned over the possible adverse effect of British warships on Iran's fragile mood. The warships were reported to have been put on the alert for a possible emergency for several days, but that the alert had been cancelled when the possibility of renewing talks developed. R.A.F. planes continued to arrive near Basra, however.

PERON CHARGES 'ALIEN' FORCES CAUSE OF BLASTS

Police Mount Guard At Railway Stations

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 3—(AP)—The government called in emergency powers today to rush Argentina's strike-bound railways, crippled earlier by a series of blasts which President Juan D. Peron's regime blamed on "alien" forces.

The anti-Peron brotherhood of engineers and firemen refused for the second day to report for work.

Mounted police were sent to principal railway stations to keep order.

Although section gangs, heavily guarded by police, repaired yesterdays bomb damage to four main lines, only two of them are operating. The others—main lines to the south and west—were closed by the refusal of engineers and firemen to work.

The government charged the explosions which ripped tracks and damaged railroad shops early yesterday were set off by criminals hired by "those who plot against the country."

Private reports reaching here from the strike had paralyzed the two big rail centres of Junin to the west and Bahia Blanca White to the south. It apparently had not spread to Buenos Aires and Rosario, largest cities in Argentina.

The lines were blown up following the strike call by the engineers and firemen who man the state-owned railways.

Say Officers Hand-Picked

The government, in its communique on the bombing, did not mention the strike which the union said was called because the regime had refused to let the union elect within the next few days.

Strike trolling about 8,000 of Argentina's 180,000 railworkers, said officers were hand-picked by the government men.

Railroad shops at Tolosa, near La Plata, were said to have been damaged by explosions.

Tolosa, broke Argentina's last railway strike Jan. 25 by using his wartime emergency powers to draft strikers. About 1,200 rail workers were arrested and some were tried for "crimes against the state."

(The newspaper La Prensa was closed and taken over by the government after it printed the strikers's side of the argument.)

The president still has these emergency powers and may invoke them again.

Crete's Modern Romeo To be Given Release

Athens, Aug. 2 — (AP) — A court martial today freed Crete's imprisoned modern Romeo and reunited him with Juliet within a few days through the intercession of King Paul.

The sentimental king had instructed the ministry of justice to prepare papers commuting the sentence of Lieutenant Nikolas Costa Kephaloyannis. Costa was sentenced last February on charges of illegal possession of weapons after he carried off the 17-year-old Thasoula — daughter of a rival family — and married her in the presence of the mountain folk. He has been in jail since last August and his dark-eyed wife has had a rough time because of worry over the case.

Courts-Martial Ordered for Three Canadian Soldiers

Murder Charges Laid After Korean Man Slain

Ottawa, Aug. 2—(CP)—The army today announced that general courts-martial have been ordered for three Canadian soldiers charged with murder in Korea.

The soldiers, members of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will be tried separately this month in Korea.

The accused have not been identified, though the army said next-of-kin have been notified.

The charges arise out of the murder of a Korean man named Lee Chung Sun on the night of March 17 in the village of Chung Woon Myun, 35 miles south of the 38th parallel.

Other Charges

The army said each has also been charged with criminal assault and common assault. Normally these charges are heard together, but the Army Act gives the army power to try troops on charges where civil courts under Canadian judges are not available.

The announcement did not give details of the criminal assault charge which in these cases involves rape, the army spokesman said.

The statement gave only the name of Lee, Kenway of Amherst, N. S., former lawyer and the Patricia's legal officer.

Send Senior Officers

Three senior officers will be sent to Korea from Canada to preside in turn as president of the court. They are Col. W. Clendenning Dick, Montreal; Col. C. B. Ware, formerly of London, now commandant at Calgary, and Col. A. G. Chubb, formerly of Rossland, B. C., now director of the Royal Canadian Armoured Corps stationed at army headquarters.

A general court-martial is composed of five officers. Aside from the three colonels doing duty abroad from Canada, the other members will be provided by the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade group in Korea.

In addition to five members of the court, an expert from the judge advocate-general's office will be there to advise the court on technical matters of law. He will be Lt.-Col. Gerald Bevan, Judge Advocate-General and a former Quebec lawyer.

LEGAL TWIST

Vancouver, Aug. 2 — (CP) — Sales of new cars are so slow for one Vancouver dealer that he ordered Wednesday to give a $500 trade-in on a Jeskatch. The dealer, who asked to be anonymous, said: "We are actually giving a $500 bonus on each purchase price, but we can't show this as part of the down payment because it's against the law. The Jackknife trade makes it legal."

Police Pick Up Two Collecting $5,800 at Track

Toronto, Aug. 3—(CP) — The Telegram in a newspaper story today from Fort Erie, Ont., says R.C.M.P. officers have picked up two men who turned up at the Fort Erie track to collect $5,800 in United States money, "won by Toronto gamblers on what authorities believe was a fixed race."

Alleged race fixing at the track is being investigated by the Ontario Racing Commission and the provincial police and the Telegram story says the R.C.M.P. acted only on the foreign exchange issue. They alleged the money.

(Under Canadian law, it is illegal for anyone but a bookkeeper to have more than $100 in American currency without a permit. A bookkeeper is allowed $250 for changing purposes.)

Because the track is near the border, there is a pari-mutuel window there for payoffs in U.S. funds but it is illegal for a Canadian to bet more than $100 there.

"In this case, the largest bet made was $1,500 in American money," the story quotes Inspector John Cruickshanks of the RCMP as saying. "The stooges (for the gamblers) didn't turn up to collect winnings until two days after the race."

One man had 14 tickets that he brought in for another person."

Police stationed at the parimutuel window grabbed the men when they collected the winnings in U.S. funds, Cruickshanks adds.

One said he had bet the money for a woman who had been saving it up for a number of years."

Inspector Cruickshanks said some of the gamblers, known to police, were arrested this week, the story says. Their "collectors" have been released but they may be called as witnesses.

Police Chief Gabriel Mundo of Fort Erie said he didn't think the mother could prove her case.

He told reporters today that "if the pari-mutuel finds Blaire rational, the girl is free to do what she likes. She will be immediately released from jail. Her prosecution to stay in Italy will be released from jail. Her prosecution to stay in Italy will be released from jail. Her prosecution to stay in Italy will be

Fair Grounds Being Readied For Fair Goers

Arrangements for the Belleville Fair, which opens on August 13th and runs through the 18th, are nearing completion it was announced by secretary Eric Perry today.

Two coats of paint have been applied to the poultry, Commercial, Manufacturers and Agriculture buildings. The color, is buff with a brown trim.

A new 100-foot barn has been built to accommodate cattle and has been whitewashed and disinfected. Immediately to the rear of this building is a 350-foot barn and both of these are open on both sides, giving a 600-foot frontage. Combined with the older barn they now have over 1,000 feet of space for the dairy and beef prize animals. All of these buildings are government inspected and are expected to be full to overflowing. Fifteen tons of baled straw is on order in anticipation of this.

Over 200 show horses will be housed in the cement block U-shaped horse barn, while the trotters and pacers will find accommodation in the 300-foot, steel roofed, cement block barn adjacent to the stables on the property.

A quarter-mile long frame structure will house the sheep and swine as well as the overflow from the horse barns.

In anticipation of a good race meet, the track has been dragged, graded and raked. Northern Electric very generously donated a well-constructed float and the city grader made several turns around the course.

Parks superintendent S. Nicholson has been supervising cleaning up and general levelling of the grounds. The roads have been resalved and graded, fences repaired, grass mown and the trees trimmed and pruned. The area to the rear of the cattle barns has been levelled off and fill has been applied. A bulldozer is grading the infield on the west side of the track.

Specialist Will Treat Child

Bredbury, England, Aug. 2 — (Reuters) — An 11-month-old baby, dangerously ill with bronchial pneumonia, will be treated by a London specialist, thanks to a princess' response to a "heart-to-heart" mother's plea.

The infant's mother, Mrs. Winifred Ball, told nothing could be done by local doctors for the child, told today how she wrote in desperation to Princess Elizabeth, whose daughter, Princess Anne, is the same age as her own girl.

A letter from the princess' lady-in-waiting expressed the princess' regret at the mother's plight and said arrangements were being made for the stricken child to be seen by a London physician.

Opposing Groups Reject Each Other's Proposal

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Kaesong, Korea, Aug. 2 — (AP) — United Nations and communist spokesmen reported that opposing ceasefire teams at Kaesong today rejected the armistice buffer zones proposed by each other.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. delegate, told the reds the Allies must hold a defensible line across Korea, such as the Allies propose, during a truce because of the possibility "of an armistice violation by the other side."

No Hint of Compromise

There was no indication of what the next move would be in the face of apparent flat rejection by both sides. Neither has hinted at compromise.

It was the seventh successive session in which negotiators reassembled—and declared an effort to draw the armistice line.

They will try again tomorrow despite the conveying positions expressed in Washington and Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. The next meeting is scheduled for 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EDT Thursday).

Had Prepared Answer

Nuckols did not disclose the nature of this final question. But it was presumed here that the north Korean had asked something like the following question: "Do you sincerely desire peace, and intend to observe the armistice, why are you talking about defensible positions?

Nuckols said the question had been anticipated and the answer prepared in advance.

After making his statement Joy asked:

"Do you or do you not agree that the security of his forces is a responsibility of each commander during a military armistice?"

For his part, Nam asked Joy five times during the day whether he had anything further to say. The first time he asked it somewhat hopefully, Nuckols said. Each time the admiral said no.

All evidence indicated that Nam's mission at the moment is to keep the conference going while he awaits instructions from higher authorities.

It was believed here that the Russian-trained 38-year-old Korean has received no instructions to change his demand for a buffer zone along the 38th Parallel.

Disciplinary Action Causes Work Stoppage

Toronto, Aug. 2 — (CP) — Disciplinary action taken against two workers at the suburban New Toronto Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant has resulted in a work stoppage for 1,800 employees, a company official said today.

The action was taken yesterday against two employees in the tire room, the official said. They refused to work, claiming that the room was too hot.

One hundred and fifty workers in the tire room walked off the job in protest and set in motion a work stoppage which backed up production so that 1,800 employees are idle.

MR. MORRISON TRIED, ANYWAY

Well, no one thought that Herbert Morrison, Britain's Foreign Secretary, would convert many Russians by having his views printed in Pravda. There was no hope that Mr. Morrison's words would lead to a violent uprising within the Soviet, and it is doubtful if he himself expected to gain very much by the word exchange.

The baiting of Pravda, described by some as the dullest newspaper in the world, began in June, when Mr. Morrison dared it to print his views on the rift between Russia and the rest of the world. Surprisingly, Pravda took up the challenge, providing British newspapers would give them same prominence to the debate. And so the battle was on. Mr. Morrison's views consisted more or less of a plea to the Soviets to realize that the western world had nothing but peaceful intentions. Such talk was scorned by Pravda. He proposed that free travel and flow of information be allowed between them and the rest of the world, so that better understanding might be developed. The Russian reply was that such actions would only serve the purposes of their enemies in better style. It would be extending freedom to warmongers, assassins and subversive agents.

Actually, the exchange will serve little purpose, even though it may provide good reading. Having developed the art of hedging and squeezing out 4-sided corners to a fine point, Pravda could be made to appear foolish. And since it is the official organ of the communist party, it could not, as an example to its millions of readers, afford to admit that Mr. Morrison was right on even a minor point.

The most ridiculous part of Pravda's reply is probably that which deals with the tourist who might wish to see the inside of the Soviet. Anyone with such thoughts is automatically, by Pravda's decision, a spy. It is a song of assault, thieves, murders and so on. In other words, there are no honorable people in this world except those in the U.S.S.R. and a few of its satellite servants. Nice people, these Russians.

PATIENCE ONLY LASTS SO LONG

Spurred by several incidents involving Americans in Czechoslovakia, the most recent of which was the farcical trial of William Oatis, the United States has decided to cut off trade and tariff concessions to that country. Effective from December 1, all goods from Czechoslovakia will be denied the right of competing on the open market for the sale of her goods to the United States. The action by the U.S. cuts off her privilege, and may serve to put her on the blacklist of other countries.

By the same token, the privileges that American producers enjoy in Czechoslovakia will be denied, but the net effect of that on American manufacturers will not be nearly as serious as it will be to the Czechs. The situation in the Soviet satellite has reached the stage where American industrialists were losing their property without reimbursement; some were losing all their rights in trials that were mockeries of justice. American firms have not been allowed the freedom customary in the democratic nations of the world.

The economic relations between the two countries are a direct result of the deterioration of the political relations. The first move of the United States, after Oatis was sentenced to ten years imprisonment for factual reporting of the news, was to deny Americans the right to travel in Czechoslovakia. While that may not have greatly reduced the intake of American dollars, it served notice on the Czechs that the U.S. was not willing to have the lives of its citizens jeopardized by shameful acts of false justice. The elimination of the tariff and trade concessions is the second move. Appeals to the government of Czechoslovakia to have some regard for the safety of Americans within the country's border have had no result. The inevitable answer is what has transpired — the denial of trade rights.

The western world is fast realizing that pleas are no more effective with aggressive Russia than they are to put out a fire. Only concerted action by western nations, in all phases of both hot and cold wars, will have any chance of stemming an all-out battle.

TESTIMONIAL

A man from the north bought a sawmill from a native of Arkansas who was anxious to leave that part of the country. After the money was paid the new owner said: "I would appreciate any advice you might give me as to the running of this mill."

"Well," replied the former owner as he got into his car, "I'm afraid any advice I could give you couldn't amount to much. The mill was left to me by my grandpap, and the patch where I got the timber was my wife's so I didn't have to invest anything at the start. My two eldest boys cut the logs for nothing and my cousin toted the logs down to the mill free of charge. Me and my youngest boy run the mill, so that didn't cost nothing. Well, sir, I ran that dangged mill for two years and lost seven thousand dollars. So long, Mister!" — (Wall Street Journal.)

JUST FOLKS

MAN'S DOUBLE LIFE

Man has more loves than one.
He shares
A portion of his heart with things
For which through life he greatly cares;
To which always he fondly clings.
All fishermen great love reveal
For finely fashioned rod and reel.

A golfer with affection looks
On clubs for certain shots designed.
Another gives his heart to books.
Craftsmen love tools of kind;
To coins and stamps considered rare
Collectors give the tenderest care.

After the honeymoon has waned,
And settled down as man and wife,
Many a woman has complained
Her husband leads a double life.
He loves her truly, but 'tis true
He loves his hobby's gadgets, too.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A rich man can wear only one pair of shoes at a time, just as can the poorest of men. Those who are accustomed to wealth, and have been accustomed to wealth, but was not, I could see, quite sure that the butler had been performing some arbor with the gentlemens in his lordship's family tree.

But after reflecting on these various characters one meets, one cannot help but conclude that those who spend foolishly are much more agreeable than those who save foolishly.

A certain amount of harmless folly becomes almost any man. There have been times in history when the Spartans, and the Puritans, and latterly the dedicated Nazis and now the dedicated Communists have shown all mankind what the human species can become if it tries. But such total perfection comes into humanity something far more precious will go out. The most evil day of all will be when our wealthy men confine themselves to a few pairs of shoes and three neckties. Russian commissars would be no worse masters than they.

England--Then and Now

By Fred Hart

(Article 19)

From the ramparts of Montague Castle we came to the sunken rose garden. Picture if you will a rectangular hedge, 8 feet wide and 10 feet high, completely enclosing this oasis of beauty except for a gap hardly wide enough for one person to enter at a time. Even this box hedge is a work of clipped art for the top is cut and trimmed with wave effect - - so soft and pleasing to the eye.

In vivid contrast to the deep green are the thousands of roses of every color. Vivid scarlet ramblers were there in profusion, with splashes of white and pink and yellow and there were arches clustered with honeysuckle in heavy flowers. In this sunken and almost windless garden, the perfume was sweet and almost overpowering on this perfect summer morn.

Rayns About Roses

Frank has been in this country for so short a time that he simply raves about roses and as we passed cottages he will shout, "Look at those roses - - aren't they wonderful" - - and they truly are.

We walked on through the rose garden, and on over the rich parklands with rabbits scurrying away at our silent approach and then back to our hotel and breakfast for a couple of hungry chaps who had wandered many pleasant miles. For the remainder of that day we visited and wondered with whom we could cajole into conversation of the days which were Then - - and Now.

Last Day

The day following was our last in this part of East Anglia. Again we were up with the lark for we particularly wanted to explore the winding country lane known locally as "The Americans." How it received this quaint name we could not guess except to state that many years ago a party of Americans camped in one of the adjacent meadows.

But what was once a rural road has now, of Huntingdon is now a thoroughfare through a new housing project with many completed and nearing completion. But these semi-detached villas are pretty and in keeping with the countryside.

We followed the trail until it ended in cow-path dimension, and connected with a wide gravel road. Somersham, Lane, which is never used for vehicular traffic. Only pedestrians, for pleasant tract, there are hundreds of tall thistles, the singing ground of thrushes, the pretty finch, yellowhammers and chaffinches, for these chirping little birds feed on the thistle seed.

We wandered on across the common and to our surprise - - hungry, for we had tramped over four miles - - we found that our hotel had packed the luggage and left on the noon train for Liverpool and the last leg of our journey toward our western home.

Great Cathedral

But we had to change trains at Peterborough and over the wait of two hours we toured the great Cathedral. Those who have seen this huge pile of stone will agree that one cannot enlarge on its really symmetrical beauty. A week in this noble edifice would be insufficient to adequately describe it.

The chancel gates are monuments to old English craftsmanship for they are 16 feet of iron filigree, lacelike in pattern and faultless in finish. In this chancel we counted 42 choir stalls with but one electric bulb in evidence over the organ. The only other illuminations being candles.

The organ dates from 1548 and from that year until 1948 — 400 years — 23 organists have been so inducted.

We had tarried too long and had to dash by taxi back to the station and our trifle.

Destination Liverpool

We arrived at Liverpool at 9 p.m. and went to the Adelphi Hotel where we encountered a good friend from Port Sidney, Muskoka, who took us around the city, showing us interesting spots and other summer cottage officials. Finally we boarded the Cunard White Star liner "Franconia." It was another glorious day, not a cloud in the blue sky with the sun shining in pristine glory. Because we were not allowed on the ship prior to departure, there were many people on the dock to see us away.

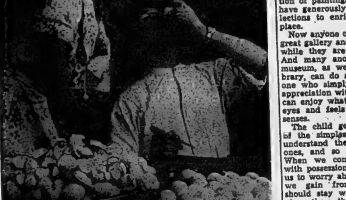
The distance from A dock down to where the crowd clustered was long, but I found myself heard from ship to shore is almost an impossibility.

Touching Send-off

But just prior to the last hawser being cast at 3.15 that afternoon, strong, but sweet, came the mellow voice of a charming girl seemed to hush that crowded dock and ship. She sang - - Over the mighty sea - - Dearest I love you so. She sang with a humor of this angelic voice she sang the touching words and the crowd in the immediate vicinity joined in the closing stanza: "He will send you back to me."

The girl smiled and she kept her chin up until we were pushed away by powerful tugs and then we noted that her head was buried in her arms; and she smiled so bravely and sweetly just a short time before. And it seemed to us that the sun did not shine quite so brightly, that the ship did not move so majestically, not so gaunt and clear to our eyes, for there was a mist in the eyes of the land we love. And the thought came to us, "There will always be an England while there's a country lane" - - although, maybe not for the land.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Hart's concluding article will appear Saturday. He is now in Ireland but his arrival home late last week.)



ESCORTED INTO PORT

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 2 (Reuters) — A Polish minesweeper was brought into the south Swedish port of Oxelosund today by a Swedish cutter after some of its crew had mutinied.

Reuters of the ship's crew of 30 locked up their officers and tried to sail the ship themselves.

The Swedish defence staff said the minesweeper was sighted off Ystad last night. As her movements were erratic she was kept under observation and then escorted into port.

HE WANTED TO BE DIFFERENT

Alois Skalsky, who says he is weary of people who try to set fasting records and who wants to set an eating record for a change, is shown in the midst of a repast of 200 raw eggs at a Vienna garden party. Alois, a 52-year-old laborer, sucked 140 eggs in two hours. It took time out to eat two pounds of bread between times and then polished off the remaining 60 eggs. — Central Press Canadian.

Personal Health Talks

VARICOSE VEINS AND VARICOSE ULCER

It is many months since you recommended to me a doctor to "heal" my varicose ulcer of three years standing, begins a typical letter. And typically I begin to wonder why the correspondent bothers to tell me about it now.

The doctor told me I had avoided an operation by coming when I did. The ulcer had practically disappeared, and then the ulcer healed entirely. I am so happy about it and so grateful to you and to Dr. whom I heartily recommend. Now I'm going to let you recommend a gland specialist . . (Mrs. C. A. B.)

It was only by chance that I happened to know of the skill of the doctor in the injection method. Generally I have no list of doctors I can recommend for that or other treatment.

To the best of my knowledge there are no gland specialists. I advise you to discuss with your family doctor the matter. You have in mind when you seek a gland specialist.

Varicose ulcer is a raw or open sore on the leg. It begins, usually, with the injection of poisonous matter from dirt or some invisible ordinarily, but goes from days to weeks and months before healed if the veins in the leg are enlarged, dilated, varicose. Varicose under such a condition the skin and underlying tissues are easily supplied with blood, and poorly nourished.

Nearly, if not quite always, ulceration is preceded by considerable soreness or pain, swelling, thickening and hardening of the area on lower third of leg where the ulcer will be. There is usually some brownish pigmentation of the skin of this area too.

If the patient will be kept off her feet (nine times out of ten the patient is a woman) for, say, two weeks, careful surgical treatment may heal the ulcer, but the hit or miss use of salves or other "healing" preparations seldom does so. Even when varicose ulcer heals under proper surgical care, the patient is as likely to have another ulcer as she was in the first place, as long as the varicose veins remain unchanged.

So the proper treatment of varicose ulcer is either injection to obliterate the underlying varicose vein, or, if injection treatment is not applicable, then surgical removal of affected portion of vein or veins. When this is done healing of the ulcer soon follows, as the correspondent reports.

A good many persons with varicose ulcer have had highly satisfactory results from home or self treatment with Duma's paste and. The preparation of the paste and the application of the dressing is a bit complicated for the ordinary layman, but if you have more than an ounce of paste you may manage it well enough. Instructions are given in the pamphlet Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer. For the pamphlet do not send a clipping of this item. Send a letter. Do not tell me to pay for it. Do not ask me to pay for it. Write for you. Name it in writing and inclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

TOOTHACHES AND EYE DROPPERS

The frankness and arrogance of how they intend to swindle us, lie and liquidate us is astounding. We listen to these things and they appear so grotesque that no one pays any attention to them. The great mass of the population seems to be utterly oblivious of everything but their pleasures and interests. The office-holders seem interested in nothing but holding their jobs and being re-elected.

Communism is a conspiracy. It makes no claim to be anything else. Its adherents are going through the world applying torches to inflammable material wherever they encounter it. The free governments, the churches, the educational systems of the world dom with the passion manifested by a card-carrying communist in the spread of disastrous doctrines, the whole rearmament against communism would take on a new aspect.

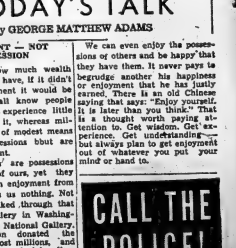
TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ENJOYMENT — NOT POSSESSION

No matter how much wealth any of us might have, if it didn't bring us enjoyment it would be worthless. There are people of wealth who experience little happiness from it, whereas millions of people of modest means have few possessions but are rich in enjoyment.

All about us are possessions that are none of ours, yet they are a source of enjoyment from them that costs us nothing. Not long ago I walked through that magnificent gallery in Washington, D.C., the National Gallery. Andrew Mellon donated the building that now contains it, and then gave his wonderful collection of paintings, and other men have generously added their collections to enrich this beautiful place.



Now anyone can walk into that great gallery and own all its gifts while they're in it, without being taxed. And many another gallery and museum, as well as many a library, can do as much for anyone who simply has the gift of appreciation within him, and who can enjoy what he sees with his eyes and feels with his inward senses.

The child gets enjoyment out of the snowman, but it doesn't understand the more intricate ones, and so cares them aside. When we complicate our lives with possessions that often cause us to worry about them, what do we gain from them? People should stay with the worth of lives them the most enjoyment and which makes them the most useful. We don't have to own the city in which we live in order to enjoy it!

If you can't get enjoyment out of what you may have, get rid of it. Invest in something that does give you enjoyment. We can live without more than we ever realize.

We can even enjoy the possessions or others and be happy that they have them. It never pays to begrudge another his happiness or enjoyment that he has justly earned. There is an old Chinese proverb that says: "Enjoy yourself. It is later than you think." That is a thought worth paying attention to. Get wisdom. Get experience. Get understanding — but always pause to get enjoyment out of whatever you put your mind or hand to.

Women's Institute

CANNIFTON-CORBYVILLE W.I.

The July meeting of the Canniton and Corbyville Women's Institute was recently held in the Canniton Town Hall with 14 members and one visitor present.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner with the president Mrs. C. Mathews presiding.

Reports of standing committees were read by Mrs. Post on Economics and Mrs. A. Soble, Current Events.

Mrs. E. Philp and Mrs. I. Jarrell gave a report of cards and flowers sent out during the month. A short business period followed.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. A. Soble, who kindly took over for Mrs. J. Latchford, who was absent.

The topic was "Citizenship". A paper was read by Mrs. Philp and a poem by Mrs. E. Shorey. Mrs. Dunham was called upon for a piano solo. Mrs. A. Soble read a paper on the topic, bringing out ideas of being a good neighbor and a good citizen.

An interesting talk was given by Mr. J. Collis of a trip taken to Europe in 1947 and pictures were passed around. Two contests were held, Mrs. Philp being the winner of both.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her helpers and a social half hour was spent.

MELROSE W.I.

The Melrose Women's Institute held their July meeting at the home of Mrs. L. Hagerman in the form of a Sunshine Sisters' tea with an attendance of 34 members, two visitors and 18 children.

Mrs. Percy Ray of Holloway, the guest speaker, was welcomed by the president, Mrs. A. English. As it was at Melrose that Mrs Ray joined the Women's Institute, she needed no introduction.

She gave both an interesting an instructive report of the Guelph conference held earlier this year. For the community activities, public relations and historical research convenors, she reported attendance of 900 delegates at this conference.

Mrs. T. Leslie gave the motto: "Kindness is the oil that keeps the hinges of friendship from rusting." Miss Beatrice McFarlane gave a paper "The Art of Being Agreeable," closing with a poem entitled "Hello".

During the business period, it was reported that 28 folding chairs had been purchased for use in the community.

Mrs. William McMechan expressed her thanks for cards received when she was ill.

The guessing of the identity of a Sunshine Sister proved interesting as well as humorous, at times.

Following the close of the meeting, the hostess served refreshments including ice cream which brought a pleasant afternoon to a close.

Belleville Child Chosen

Mary-Beth Follwell, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. (Ted) Follwell, shown on the left above, was one of three child models selected by the Canadian National Exhibition this year. More than 60 children competed for honors. The other two selected were Elizabeth Moessler, 8, Toronto, and Donna Coulson, 4, also of Toronto. The competition judges were Jean Horne, Canadian sculptress; Oscar Cahen, artist, and Ethel Tiffin, Modiste; fashion artist.

Sir Walter Scott was a cookie sailor.

He insisted on keeping a cookie in his pocket at all times not to assuage the pangs of hunger but because he thought the cookie would ward off malignant spirits.

In warm weather it's a good idea to bake cookies in small batches because they quickly go soggy in the humidity.

Light, cake type cookies, are made with a sour cream batter, flavored with orange and cocoanut. No shortening is used because the fat of the sour cream makes the cookies sufficiently rich. Use heavy rather than light sour cream, if obtainable.

To drop the batter onto the cookie sheet use a measuring tablespoon. Be sure the spoon is filled level, not heaped, or the cookies will be odd sized and misshapen.

It is important to allow about three inches between each cookie since the baking soda causes the batter to expand both upward and outward.

"Orange Cocoanut Cookies

1-3 cup sour cream
2-3 cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 cup shredded cocoanut
1 1-2 cups cake flour
1-2 teaspoon baking soda
1-2 teaspoon salt

Preheat oven at 375 degrees Grease a cookie sheet.

In a mixing bowl put the sour cream and sugar. Stir well. Add the egg. Add the orange juice, lemon juice, orange rind and cocoanut. Mix well.

Measure the sifted cake flour. Sift again with the baking soda and salt.

Combine the liquid and the dry ingredients. Mix well.

Drop by tablespoons onto a greased and floured cookie sheet. Drop about 2 inch apart.

Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until firm. Turn sheet during baking if necessary to brown evenly. Remove from pan. Store in a covered container until served.

3,200 Mile Trip

A special greeting was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gunning from Talbotville, who motored up for the day to be with their relatives; also to Mr. and Mrs. James MacMillan, their son Gerald, and daughter, Joyce, who motored 3,200 miles from Vancouver to Belleville to be with Mr. MacMillan's people who live at Ivanhoe and in the surrounding districts, his brother Albert, who lives at Crookston; Hugh, who still lives on the homestead at Ivanhoe; also his sister, Mrs. Ernest Johnston, who resides in the city, and to be among those in the family reunion of the Rollins clan.

Mr. MacMillan had not been east for 55 years. At that time, prior to moving to Vancouver, he was not married. Three years ago he lived in Pontiac, Saskatchewan, where he was interested in grain elevators. At present he is proprietor of a confectionery shop in Vancouver. His son is in the bank, there, and to fines.

SITE LOCATED

Midland, Aug. 2 (CP)—The site of a hospital where Jesuit Brothers treated Huron Indians 300 years ago has been located within the Indian compound of ruined Fort Ste. Marie near this Georgian Bay town. Archaeologist Wilfrid Jury said Wednesday he had "positively located" the mission hospital by examining post holes at the Jesuit fortress-village, put to the torch in 1649 to prevent its capture by the hostile Iroquois.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Are all spoken and because you get a 'wrong one?

"I just read your column about the girl who was afraid of marriage, and you think she's got something there," writes a young woman, "so after experiencing a bad marriage, feels at some way as the girl to whom she writes.

"I'm gone on to say.

"Seven years ago, I married a G.I., and told him beforehand I couldn't live in the Eastern cold because of an ailment I had. After we married, he finished, I live there because of his job being in a cool (and I do mean cold) climate, so I gave in and went. Lost. Five years of sickness and sh. doctors later, I am back out West, very disillusioned and with a five-year-old child to support. Friend husband has a new girl friend, acquired right after I left him, and is going to get a divorce soon. I am sick and can't live with him.

"Needless to say, I am afraid of marriage, too, and plan to spend the rest of my life in single bliss, and is for more people than I am knew with G.I. Joe".

Now, it's one thing for a girl to feel afraid of marriage before she has ever tried it, as was the case with the girl mentioned in my earlier column, and quite another to be afraid of it after having made a bad marriage, as in the case of this correspondent. The single girl is afraid of the unknown; the girl who has had a marriage sour on her, is afraid of what she has known. The latter's fears are quite different from the former's and, it seems to me, much more unreasonable. . . .

Not Good Reasoning

To get down to a very simple and homely illustration, let's say that both these girls stand before a basket of apples.

The first girl says: "I am afraid to try any because I don't know whether they are good or not."

The second takes one, bites into it, finds it wormy, throws it away and says: "I will profess not another apples because I'm sure, from that all apples are bad."

This second girl, I think, would agree that this would be a silly generalization to make about apples, and one of which, I am sure, she would never herself be guilty. Why then does she declare she is off marriage for good because she picked a bad one? It's the same sort of reasoning.

Obviously, with no real information about this girl's illness, I am in no position to judge whether or not her husband was as callous about her health as she makes him out. But it does seem to me that if she had been really smart, she would have seen to it before marriage that some definite compromise was worked out on this point. She does not say that the man she married persuaded to give up his job and live in the West if she married him, and she probably would have made this clear if such had been the fact, if only to show him up for a weakher on a promise. Her whole letter, in fact, leaves me unconvinced that the failure of her marriage was entirely due to her husband's selfishness.

Before she decides that no man is likely to make a considerate husband, she had better go back over those five years of sickness and doctors", and make sure she herself did everything possible to work the situation out. Her inclination to sweep all marriage into the dust heap because hers went awry, suggests an immaturity that may well have played its part in her marital disaster.

There are other offenders besides the loud speakers. There are the mumblers, too lazy to make an effort to speak clearly. You hear only half of what they are trying to say. You want to run away so you won't have to listen to them. Rapid talkers are just as tiresome; they run their words together, forming a conversational jumble. Over the telephone one must be continually asking them to repeat themselves. Wouldn't you think they'd learn to take courses and time that words should be clearly enunciated, properly timed and spaced? The answer is "no".

Men hate baby-talk.

Some people can't seem to get their talking motors started. Every sentence begins with an "um", or they clear their throats or cough. Must be slow thinkers.

Another type is the gushing woman. Everything is "perfectly darling". She's crazy about your dress, she loves the way you do your hair—you know it looks like a floor mop at the time—and the gurgling soup drips on and on. You don't believe a word of it. It is nice to receive compliments, but any way is not the way to hand them out. Too effusive. What can one say after being handed a phoney verbal bouquet?

Baby talk is idiotic. Men hate it. It drives sensible women into a frenzy. "Itsy-bitsy baby won't eat her vegetables. Take an itsy-bitsy bite now or pretty soon,

Catholic Priest Is Expelled From Priesthood

Milan, Italy, Aug. 1—(AP)—Luciano Negrini today be[came] has been expelled from the priesthood in the Roman Catholic Church and that he is fighting against time to get legal permission to marry American-born Claire Young.

From her jail cell she asked the United States consulate for clearance to marry the former missionary she followed here from Chicago after they fell in love.

A police official said Mrs. Kileen Young, the girl's mother, has asked American authorities to refuse clearance—required by Italian law—on the grounds she is not rational.

A terse official notice from his church superiors said he was "expelled," said Negrini, 40.

He said "this means now I can freely do what I want" and added his first act would be to marry the young girl who loved him so much she tried to throw herself from a police station window July 28 when she was refused permission to remain in Italy any longer.

Negrini, former Catholic missionary to China who met Claire during a fund-raising visit to the U. S., said he will apply today for the official papers required for marriage in Italy.

Felt Tired, Rundown Back, Limbs Sore, Painful

'Had Suffered Three Years With Stomach Troubles, Nerves, Headaches, Could Not Sleep. Tells of Restored Energy and Improved Health After Taking Sytonus.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haist, well known Brussels, Ontario, woman, says she is glad to have others know about her recent experience with Sytonus Herbal Compound, because she has been in poor health for the past three years and has now found grand relief by taking this medicine.

"I suffered greatly with acid indigestion, gas, cramps and headaches," said Mrs. Haist. "It was often so bad I couldn't get proper sleep and my nerves would be all on edge. Then during the day I'd be so tired and worn out I didn't feel like doing anything. I would get very bad headaches, always had a dull aching pain in my back and my limbs and muscles were very sore and painful.

"Reading in the London paper about Sytonus helping other people, I made up my mind to try it. Now after the first bottle finished I feel so much better. I sleep like a top, always, so that I could eat hearty meals, nerves calmed down and my head is getting sound, refreshing sleep at night. That tired, tired feeling is going and my energy has returned. Pains have disappeared so I certainly feel like a new woman. I'm telling my friends about what this medicine has done for me and that I cannot praise it too highly."

Why not let Sytonus help you as it has thousands of others. It is a joined up to take medicines that contains no harmful drugs. Many customers state that even after the first few days the benefit they have got on take on a feeling of renewed strength and energy.

British Manufacturers Meet 'Dumping' Regulations, Products Made Free of Duty

Ottawa, Aug. 2—(CP)—British motor car manufacturers have met the requirements of Canada's anti-dumping laws and none is affected by these regulations.

Government officials said today that imported British cars are free of any duty under the anti-dumping laws, which were put back into force May 31 last after a two-year suspension designed to alleviate Britain's dollar shortage.

Manufacturers of one or two higher-priced British cars which might have been liable for dumping duties have readjusted their export prices and thus avoided the additional levy.

Dumping duties are a fiscal device to protect the domestic market against unfair competition from abroad. They prevent the "dumping" of cheap foreign goods which might under-sell domestic products.

Apply Additional Duty

The yardstick used to determine whether goods are being "dumped" in the comparison between the price the exporter is asking in the Canadian market and the price he is charging for the same goods at home. If his export price is lower than the home price, he is dumping and an additional duty is applied on his export point to bring the two price ranges into line.

Two years ago, Canada suspended her anti-dumping duties on a list of British commodities in an effort to increase British imports and help ease Britain's dollar position. As the British trading position improved, the suspension gradually was lifted until only motor cars remained dump-duty free.

Eden Has Not Lost Hope Of Agreed Settlement

Fort Hope, Aug. 2—(CP)—Anthony Eden said Wednesday he has not lost hope that an "agreed settlement" of differences will be reached between the communists and western democracies.

But, said the No. 2 man in Britain's conservative party, the west must be strong before it can hope to negotiate the settlement.

"We must never forget that our purpose in rearming is to attain peace by negotiating from strength," Mr. Eden said in an interview here. "And I do not by any means despair of reaching an agreed settlement."

Mr. Eden is visiting friends in Ontario briefly before starting on a speaking tour of the United States. He is to give public addresses in Denver, Colo., Aug. 6 and in Chicago, Aug. 24, his first appearances before U. S. audiences since he was a member of Britain's wartime coalition cabinet.

Bradley Says Spain Could be Made Asset to West

Ottawa, Aug. 2—(CP)—General Omar Bradley said Wednesday Spain could be made an asset to western military strength.

The chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff, in Canada for four days of talks and fishing, told reporters he wasn't prepared to talk about Spain from the political point of view.

But from a military point of view a friendly Spain would mean another 300,000 to 400,000 soldiers who are willing to fight communism.

Today he meets the Chiefs of Staff and members of the cabinet and sees an old wartime friend, the governor-general, Friday he goes fishing at a club in the Gatineau Hills 21 miles north of here.

Gen. Bradley didn't have much to say about the rifle issue except that the U.S. wants as much arms standardization as possible but still has three different calibres in its own infantry company.

Chinese Nationalists Offer Troops to U.N.

Taipeh, Formosa, Aug. 2. (AP)—Nationalist China offered today to make available to the United Nations as many men from her armed forces as military requirements permit.

T. F. Tsiang, chief nationalist delegate to the U.N., delivered a note to that effect to U.N. headquarters today, an official statement said.

The note was in reply to the General Assembly's recommendation of Nov. 3, 1950, that each U.N. member maintain within its armed forces elements to be made available for future service as United Nations units.

Petsche Pleads For Unity Within France

Paris, Aug. 2. (AP)—Maurice Petsche pleaded today with France's quarrelling political parties to bury their differences so that France could get a government to co-operate with the United States and Britain in building up the defence of the west.

"France has been without a government for six weeks, and it is already very late," Petsche told the National Assembly. Petsche, an independent, appeared before the Legislature to seek a vote of confirmation as premier.

Europe is "hesitant, uncertain on how to unite, and worried about the particularism of Britain," Petsche said. "Europe can only be rebuilt if France takes the leadership."

Parliamentary predictions were that Petsche would get the formal vote of confirmation, but fell short to get pledges of support from the parties to enable him actually to form a Cabinet.

"Is it conceivable that France, which initiated the move for European economic community, may be the last to take up the coal-steel-pool?" asked Petsche, referring to the fact the parliament hasn't even begun steps to ratify the pool.

Petsche insisted that unless France shows a strong leadership now "the United States will be tempted to separate themselves from the continent."

HID MONEY IN BRAS

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 2 (AP)—The Florida Supreme Court Tuesday affirmed the grand larceny convictions of three Miami telephone girls who stole about $12,000 over a two-year period by carrying it away in their brassieres. The trio, sentenced Nov. 14, 1950, to a year admitted they had taken the money by hiding rolls of quarters in their brassieres.

Truman Nominates Fechteler To Take Place of Sherman As Naval Operations Chief

The president sent to the Senate yesterday the nomination of Fechteler, now commander of the Atlantic fleet, to be Chief of Naval Operations, succeeding the late Admiral Forrest P. Sherman who died July 22 while on a military-diplomatic mission to Europe.

Fechteler, 55, and with 33 years of navy service, has had wide experience in virtually every type of warship—except submarines and aircraft carriers.

That appeared to be one of the reasons why Truman chose him, because he was not an airman and thus not touched by the zeal with which navy airmen plunged into the controversy with the Defence Department and the air forces three years ago. There have been strong indications in recent weeks that the feud between the air forces and navy—long-range, land-based bombers vs. carrier-borne air power—might boil up again.

Ignores Pacific Chief

In choosing Fechteler, the president passed by Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chief of the Pacific fleet, senior admiral on active duty. Radford is a navy airman who played a part in the old navy-air force controversy.

To fill the vacancy which will be created by the expected Senate confirmation on Fechteler's nomination, Truman nominated Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, now the acting Chief of Naval Operations, to be commander of the Atlantic fleet. McCormick was Vice-chief of Naval Operations.

IMPRISONED

The United States has cut off trade-agreement tariff concessions to Czechoslovakia and the State Department has hinted that one reason is the imprisonment "without justification" of William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent in Prague. The 37-year-old newspaper man from Marion, Ind., last month was sentenced to 10 years in a Czech prison for espionage. State Department officials said his trial record showed no evidence of what any government in the world outside the Iron Curtain would call espionage. — (AP Photo.)

ALL COUNTERFEIT

The pile of bills in the arms of assistant U.S. attorney Louis Kaplan is strictly counterfeit, though it would take an expert to know it. It is part of a huge haul New York state police made recently when they raided headquarters of a world-wide narcotics and counterfeit ring believed to do a $10,000,000-a-year business. — Central Press Canadian.

Iron Deposit Will Remain Untouched

Kingston, Aug. 2—(CP)—An iron deposit under the waters of Kingston harbor will remain untouched until it is decided who has the authority to grant exploration rights.

The Ontario Mines Department said Wednesday it had received several applications to explore the deposit, estimated at 50 million tons from Queen's University.

Principal R. C. Wallace said profits from the ore body—believed to be large—would go a long way towards relieving financial difficulties at the University.

A mines department official said he believes the federal government has the authority to grant the required lease. The applications have been referred to the federal transport department.

Prince Says Divorce From Heiress Illegal

Cuernavaca, Mexico, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Prince Igor Troubetzkoy—Barbara Hutton's fourth husband—asked a federal court here yesterday to nullify her Mexican divorce, claiming it is illegal.

The prince's plea was filed by his lawyers here. It alleges the Cuernavaca divorce court lacked jurisdiction over Troubetzkoy, who lives in France. It also contends the dime-store heiress was not a resident of Mexico under federal law. The appeal challenges the mental cruelty charge on which the divorce was granted 19 days ago.

District Judge Alfredo Giullen said he would decide by Saturday whether to accept the appeal for trial.

Expect Expected To Double Output Military Goods

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The economic co-operation administration said today that western Europe is expected to double its production of military goods in the year ahead.

It's already been doubled once "in the two years since the North Atlantic treaty was signed," ECA, added in its quarterly report for the January-March 1951 period. President Truman sent the report to Congress today.

ECA said most western European countries now are spending far more for defence and far less for pole. - military purposes than before the Korean outbreak.

But it warned that raw materials shortages and rising prices threaten both military output and the area's economy.

ECA authorizations for the quarter amounted to $430,100,000 bringing to $10,700,000,000 the authorizations approved since the start of the Marshall Plan program three years ago.

Western Germany received the largest amount, or $105,100,000. France received $77,900,000, Italy $46,100,000, and Austria $35,800,000.

Britain and the Republic of Ireland already are operating without Marshall Plan aid, and E.C.A. administrator William C. Foster said in Paris yesterday that Sweden and Portugal have decided to get along without further dollar help.

Child Accidentally Shot to Death

Yorkton, Sask., Aug. 2—(CP)—Twenty-month-old Lawrence Balog was accidentally shot to death last nightby his six-year-old brother, Leonard.

Police said Leonard took a .22 calibre rifle from a neighbor's truck and, pointing it playfully at his younger brother, pulled the trigger as his father and two other persons stood on the opposite side of the truck.

The owner of the rifle told police he had been hunting gophers and crows earlier and did not know the rifle was loaded.

66 KILLED IN RIOTS

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 2—(AP)—The newspaper Politika reported today that Czechoslovak police killed 50 workers and arrested 200 following riots in uranium mines. The source of the information was not given.

Politika said a Soviet engineer was killed when he tried to intervene in the strike, caused by difficult working and living conditions.

Tough Luck Dogs Trucker

Three months ago a gas-powered generator exploded in the basement of his home, ruined the house and injured four persons, his wife and son seriously.

Finally—18 months ago another truck owned by Mr. Adshead broke through the ice in a district lake. It, later was hauled out, considerably damaged.

SETS UP NEW AGENCY

Washington, Aug. 2 — (AP)—President Truman yesterday announced plans to set up a new and independent agency to obtain and increase the supply of critical and strategic materials in the United States and abroad. He picked Jess Larson, now the government's chief buying agent as head of the General Services Administration, to run it.

NO YODELLING AT PARTY

Dixie, Aug. 2 (CP)—There'll be no yodelling next Monday when 400 members of the Toronto Swiss Club gather here to celebrate the 660th anniversary of Switzerland's establishment as a republic. Club members said yodelling is only suitable to alpine areas in Switzerland and is not as prevalent as most people think.

DEMANDS INVESTMENT

London, Aug. 2 —(Reuters) — British motion picture workers have demanded that the American movie industry be forced to invest some of its British earnings on productions in Britain. Tom O'Brien, secretary of the National Association of Theatrical and Kine Employees, made the demand at a conference with Sir Hartley Shawcross, trade minister, to discuss unemployment in the movie industry.

R.C.A.F. MITCHELLS

The R.C.A.F. has purchased about 100 of these surplus Mitchell bombers for training purposes. First delivery of the planes is shown here at Trenton Repair Depot, with Lancaster bombers in the background. The aircraft, costing a total of $25,000,000, will be used for armament, bombing, navigation and advanced flying training. — (CP from National Defence.)

INQUEST ORDERED

Oshawa, Aug. 2 — (CP) — An inquest has been ordered into the death of Andrezej Wisniewski, 24, following a complaint that he had been manhandled by Whitby police.

Wisniewski — an epileptic — was found dead Wednesday in his rooming house bed in Oshawa. Crown Attorney Alex C. Hall who ordered the inquest, said an autopsy showed he died of strangulation.

CAMPBELLFORD

Canadian Legion L. A.

Campbellford — The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, branch 103, Canadian Legion, was held in the Legion hall recently.

The tea and refreshment booth were a great success, and a vote of thanks was extended to all members for assisting in this effort.

Comrade Horsman reported on the Brighton rally at which she and Comrade Hazzil attended. They enjoyed the rally and thought they had derived considerable benefit through their attendance.

The convention at Timmins in October was discussed, and a vote taken as to whether the auxiliary felt they could afford to send two delegates. The majority ruled against it as it was thought the money in the treasury could be put to a more beneficial use at the present time.

Plans for bettering the financial status were left until later in the summer. The business for the evening concluded and a social evening was enjoyed by all present.

"Girls' Day" was held at the home of Mrs. E. Fairman on Thursday afternoon as the regular monthly meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute.

Mrs. Donald Rutherford read a letter from Miss Kennedy, who is a missionary in India, thanking the ladies for the parcel of Sunday School papers they had sent her.

The annual summer bus trip taken by the ladies was left till a later date. After a short business period, Mrs. Thomas Campbell took the chair for the following program:

A talk on the trip to Peterborough was given by Ina Bright. The places of interest the girls and their leader visited were Stirrerwood's Dairy, Quaker Oats, Lift Locks, Empress Hotel, Peterborough Examiner and the Brinion carpet factory. Marilyn Rutherford played a piano solo; Joyce Bright gave a reading "Our Changing Climate." "The Voice in the Old Village Choir" was sung by Lois and Joan McCulloch. Laurine Bright played a "Hawaiian March" on her guitar.

Guessing Contest

Joan Little had a contest featuring the guessing of girls' names, of which the group under Mrs. Don Rutherford was the winner. Dorothy Fairman gave a three-minute comment on the "Cereal Shelf." Dorothy had on display 20 different kinds of cereals and told how these could be made into interesting dishes for any meal of the day. The girls came forward and received a silver teaspoon for the two projects they had completed. These were last summer's "Garden Club" and the "Cereal Shelf." Mrs. Allan Lewis president of the institute made the presentations.

Mrs. Thomas Campbell on behalf of her club girls, thanked the institute for their kindness in giving the girls the spoons.

The Club Girls served refreshments of fancy sandwiches.

There are ten girls in the club and six of these are taking two projects; the "Garden Club" and "Dressing up Home Grown Vegetables."

The next meeting of the institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Ed. Hawley on August 16.

Brockville Memos Punch 7-1 Win Over Smiths Falls

Brockville, Aug. 2 (CP)—The Central Ontario Baseball League-leading Brockville Memos pulled two full innings out in front of Smiths Falls Royals last night as the second-place squad [illegible] before the largest crowd of the season at Fulford Park.

Taking advantage of every Smiths Falls miscue and hitting well at the plate, the Memos pushed across their seven runs in the three middle frames. They collected a single in the fourth, two in the fifth, and their single tally in the fifth.

Andy Hershock, the Brockville manager got the gate in the fifth when he disputed a decision by base umpire Bud Caldwell too loudly. Meloff, second baseman Buzzy Weaver was thrown out in the seventh when he shoved umpire Pete O'Brien after a called third strike.

Brockville's ace left hander, Smokey Smith, went the distance, giving up nine hits to Smiths Falls while Bob Cloutier hurled the nine inning for the Royals being charged with the loss.

By W. E. WHEATLEY

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Aug. 2—(CP)—If the weatherman will do something about the winds, the field in the opening round today of the Canadian ladies close golf championship and interprovincial team competition will expect to cut under those practice-round scores.

The early outlook was for continuing sunny, cool weather and a lessening of the winds.

The lowest reported was that of Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, who shot an 80, three over par.

Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old junior from Lookout Point Club near Niagara Falls, had 82. With 83 came another 17-year-old, Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta., matching the practice scores turned in by Mrs. J. C. Whitelaw of Laval and Mrs. Nelson J. Carlson of Toronto Rosedale.

Par for the tournament is 38-38-76.

Medal scores in today's 8-hole round counted both in the close championship and, for 32 of the competitors, also in the team play. Four players made up each of seven provincial team shooting for the team title won last year by Ontario.

The second 18 holes Thursday will end the 36-hole team competition.

Commission Bars Jocks, Apprentice In Racing Probe

Fort Erie, Ont., Aug. 2—(CP)—Three more jockeys and an apprentice rider have been suspended in the snowballing investigation of suspected race-fixing on Ontario tracks.

The Ontario Racing Commission yesterday barred from racing pending further investigation: Jockeys George Thompson of Hamilton, Charlie Bright of Muncie, Ind., Robert [illegible] of Toronto and apprentice jockey John Bromby, also of Toronto.

Their suspension brought to six the number of riders set down since the investigation began last week amid widespread rumors of a major betting coup pulled at Fort Erie track by gamblers and racketeers.

Previously Bobby Keane, widely-known Toronto jockey, and Paul Marchese, a newcomer to Ontario from Pawtucket, Rhode Island, were ruled off tracks in the province for life "for conduct prejudicial to the best interests of racing."

Charges May Follow

Along with yesterday's suspensions came a hint that criminal charges might be laid after completion of the investigation.

S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the commission, said there was a possibility of some jockeys being arrested after the probe is finished. It would depend on the commission findings.

Chairman Bigelow's remarks were emphasized by the appearance here of the mounties and the Ontario provincial police. They are helping the commission in its investigation and will have the final say on whether criminal charges will be laid.

The commission's announcement of the latest suspensions gave no reasons, but there have been reports of money offered to jockeys to fix races here. And other reports of the loss of thousands of dollars by bookies to heavy long-shot bettors in recent weeks added weight to the belief that some attempts at bribing riders have been successful.

Sports Roundup

By TED MEIER
(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 2 (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers certainly seem a shoo-in for the National League pennant—but the Brooks better not get over-confident—there have been many National League teams in the past which appeared certain winners, only to blow the pennant in September. In 1942 the Brooks had a 10-game lead as late as mid-August, but lost most recently to how Chicago Cubs of 1935 came from far back with a straight victories in September to match the flag? Now that manager Eddie Sawyer has "laid down the law" to the Phillies maybe the 1950 champions will duplicate the feat of the '35 Cubs.

Not Booed

Eddie Arcaro, recognized as perhaps the best active jockey, gets booed lots of times but not always. One of those occasions occurred Tuesday at Jamaica where he rode back to the winner's circle to the accompaniment of much hand-clapping after bringing in Hell Bent in the third race. Switching from the flats to harness racing, the Hambletonian is on tap next week—here's a long range look at the 1953 trotting classic: keep an eye on Kimberly Mine and Vesta Worthy.

REDS TURN ON HEAT!

The Redmen, vengeance-bent, rolled into Picton last night to do battle with their Trenton sight conquerors of the "little Spanish town" and a couple of hours later rolled away again with baseball—completely satisfied and a neat and slightly gaudy 9-1 victory hanging from their belts.

The scarlet-attired had their batting eyes tuned to a keen pitch and four Picton hurlers failed to stem the tide of tribal clouts that sailed into the Prince Edward centre every innings of the game. Add to this a brilliant five-hit performance fashioned by young William Strahan and you will visualize the Reds reason for post-game elation.

Their hit-delving attack proved relentless to be satisfied. They slung fourteen hits, two of them doubles in a "hit-'em-where-they-ain't" slugging offensive that had the rabid Picton fans in an all-game tizzy. The fun started after the first innings when the pastime gave all evidence of being a closely-fought affair. Jack Canning, member of the F. H. M. C. (Picton Hired Help Club), started off shakily after Sammy Mulholland posted the second ball pitched for a real single that resulted in a run. After Ebel Rosenkamp's balloon blew and before Miller rushed in to relieve the fire-ballin' southpaw, Mul had also been benched for five clouts and five runs that rattled the inner bores and then. Miller was no better. He gave up a pair for two and the Picton master-mind sent in Rosehill and found Miss Franklin Tyrer in an effort to halt the Reds.

They gave up eight hits for three more runs, but in the meanwhile Billy Strahan was scribbling along at cruising speed and the Picton bludgeons could do little or nothing with the shoots. The youngster put on an outstanding game and he scattered the five blows off his delivery very effectively.

"Red" Carson disagreed with a decision handed down by Umpire "Peckie" Welsh on an infield play, but "Peckie" objected to Joe Carson "peckin" and promptly heaved the scroll-top out of the pastime before the game had shed its first set of diapers. Welsh's calls were set at the plate that spreaded wings and when a homeplate ump erred especially that of Picton, neither its affections, if only temporarily to the former, then there's an arena in Peru, Denmark and Oshkosh. That's the way it was, sure sasis.

Coach Pat Wilson, who by the way had the coal removed from his left flipper yesterday, was highly optimistic over the team's chances in their all-important tilt with the Smith's Falls Royals Saturday night. The Fallsers are a smart band of baseball jockeyers who have marched steadily from a shaky league start to second slot in the league standings. They're smart, know a lot of the baseball answers and should the Reds Saturday should be one of the outstanding tussles of the season. Game starts at 8:30.

STUDY PROTEST

Master-minds of the Commercial Softball League conclave tomorrow night to discuss a protest lodged by the Belleville Moose over awarding the game played with Cleaver Combines on July 31st. Info states that rain had begun to fall, but apparently the auto lads were not satisfied and tossed in the protest regardless.

Strahan Flings Five-Hitter As Mates Pound Four Hurlers; Six In 2nd Tuck Game Away

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Fourteen bean-hits thundering off the blubbers of the Redmen behind the five-hit hurling of young Billy Strahan spurred accounts with the Picton Athletics last night in Picton and the third-pickers romped home with a neat 9-1 victory.

A second-inning outburst that exploded for six runs off five hits tucked the game away for the Wilmot-lad crew and after that Strahan had the town team at his beck and call. The Reds picked another in the fifth and batted on a brace for good measure in the sixth.

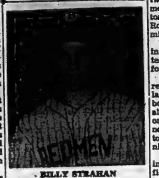
The Athletics garnered their lone counter in the seventh when Dustin poled out a center-field single that sent Chalmers who had got a life via the error route and stole second across the plate.

Fine Hurling Effort

Strahan fashioned a brilliant hurling effort for the Redmen. He was only in trouble once and that came in the fifth when a hit and a walk put runners on first and with none out. The youngster settled down and forced the next three batters to fan for infield outs. He struck out five and issued four free passes.

Manager Walt Fraser tossed four hurlers in an effort to halt the Reds batting mayen, league-champ started and got by the first innings but the Picton attack came blew the roof in on him in the second and a double and four singles had the five-spot in sent him to the showers.

Miller followed but he was not another pitcher with a double and single good for the sixth run rounded home. Then Rosehill, the hurler who hogtied the Reds here Tuesday night went to the reace and held down the fort with giving up five hits for a lone run.



Dyer to the Rescue

Frankie Dyer, the Picton ace took over for the last three chuckers and the Reds batsmen got favorite of the ambidextrous lad. He was kicked for three hits and a run before Umpire Walsh and Townsend called the game at the end of the fifth on account of darkness.

Every player on the Red team connected safely. Big Vern Goyer led the swattiest with three socks, a double and two singles. Johnny Dean smashed out a double and a single and Tommy Buchanan and Sammy Reeves connected through with a pair each. Reeves, Gilmour, Bower, Gear and Strahan poled out singles to keep the record clear. The team hit safely in every inning but the seventh when Dyer set them down one-two-three.

Strahan did a fine scattering job on the Picton hits. The losers could do no better than get single clouts in every inning but the fifth, sixth and eighth. The hitsmiths were Warshaugh, Mac-Donald, Zachlo, Duetta and Bassett.

The Redmen are in Oshawa tonight where they meet the Mercants, leaders of the Viaduct Senior Baseball League in an exhibition tilt. Saturday night they are hosts to the second-place Smiths Falls Royals in what should be one of the best games of the season.

Ramsay Paints Daub Glen Roy In Fast Game

With "Bunk" Young pitching two-hit ball, the Ramsay Paintmen scored a 2-0 surprise victory over a shorthanded Glen Roy Athletic Club at the Alemite field Wednesday night.

The last team that suffered in four starts by the Glen Roy team while it was the initial win for Ramsays.

Probably the fastest game on record for the season, the tilt lasted only fifty-one minutes as both teams played heads up ball although they totalled eight errors between them. There were never more than five men up to the plate in any one inning.

Ramsays tallied once in the initial frame on a pair of infield hits, a passed ball and an infield out. Whiting and Scanlon both bunted down the third base line and beat them out. Both runners advanced when Alf Bowbotham let a pitch get by him for a passed ball. Glen Young's ground out to second base.

Errors Get One

Two Glen Roy errors produced a second counter for the Paintmen, Whiting grounded to short to open the inning and was safe on a second as shortstop Keith Baldwin threw the ball over first base. Scanlon grounded forward to first, with Whiting advancing to third. The relay from first back to third was wild and the runner scored standing up.

The insurance marker was netted in the next inning by "Bunk" Young who singled to open the frame and advanced when "Red" Culkin momentarily juggled the ball. Young ran all the way in a moment later on Lundberg's drive single to centre field.

Mervyn Hallam chucked well in losing. Although touched for seven bingles, three never left the infield. Five errors behind him were responsible for two of the runs scored, the second and third did not issue any free passes.

Lundberg led the hitters, getting a pair of singles in three run. The other hits were made by Whiting, Scanlon, B. Young, Carr and Woods. G. Young drove in a pair of runs. Ronsky and Hunter were the only Glen Roy hitters.

Aging Louis Batters Cesar Brion, Retains Hope of Regaining Title

By RUSS NEWLAND

San Francisco, Aug. 2—(AP)—Old Joe Louis, decisive winner over Cesar Brion of Argentine in a furious 10-round battle last night, expressed keen disappointment over the circumstance which may keep him from a title fight for possibly a year.

The former champion, informed of the agreement between title-holder Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles to postpone their championship rematch until next year, said he had not given up hope of regaining the crown.

"As long as Walcott or Charles has got it, we still have hope," he said.

Brion Groggy in 10th

Brion stood up under punishment that would have flattened many a fighter. He was groggy from the seventh through the tenth. His face was puffed and blood flowed from cuts on the side of each eye.

It was Louis' second 10-round win from Brion. The latter has a more decisive than their melee in Chicago last November.

The 24-year-old gamester from the Argentine carried the battle to Louis from the opening bell but was ahead on points for five rounds.

Joe Lacked K. O. Punch

Louis, slow-footed but still packing much of the wallop that enabled him to rule the heavyweight ranks for 11 years, lacked the occasional shocker in the early rounds and his punches carried more authority in the second.

In the seventh round, Louis caught up with his man. He battered Brion with lefts and rights to the head and drove in body blows that had the latter groggy.

He pounded Brion steadily in the eighth, ninth and tenth. But he couldn't quite get the knock-out smash.

Charles' Manager Assessed $500 Fine

The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission slapped a $500 fine Wednesday on Jake Mintz, co-manager of former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, for the row he raised just before the Charles-Joe Walcott fight.

Mintz was suspended by the commission after the fight in which Charles lost his title to Jersey Joe on a seventh-round knockout. The suspension was lifted Wednesday when the fine was fixed after a hearing.

Lacrosse

(By The Canadian Press)

Mimico Mountaineers, who usually display to home game for the fairly sure points in the Ontario Lacrosse Association regular race, got a jolt from the league-leading Peterborough Petes last night.

With Russ Slater scoring seven goals to lead the way, the Petes scored a 17-11 win over the Mounties. It was the first loss on home territory since June 27 for Mimico. Petes beat the Mounties that time too.

The loss robbed Mimico of a chance to pull into a second-place tie with Hamilton Tigers and St. Catharines Athletics who are hooked up in a game at Hamilton.

The Athletics won 10-9 on a goal by Ted Howe at 8:30 of the overtime period. The victory moved St. Catharines back into a tie with the Tigers.

At Toronto, meanwhile, Brampton Excelsiors consolidated their hold on fifth place by turning back Toronto West Yorks 9-7, also in overtime.

Flag Drive Takes Hurler Toll Four Fail to Finish Route; Brooks Lose, Chisox Nip Phils

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pity the poor pitcher caught in the steaming heat and double-header jam of the four-club American League race. Even the best are crumbling under the strain.

Allie Reynolds, no-hit ace of the Yankees surge, lasted only one inning yesterday against Detroit as New York lost a 9-8 first game. Things were so tough that Casey Stengel brought him back to rescue Tom Morgan and save the Yanks' two-game lead with a 10-6 edge in the second.

Cleveland's Bob Lemon was bombed in the sixth at Washington where overworked Mike Garcia, a 13-game winner, had to help save an 8-7 first game. Early Wynn failed to last in the second game, fading for a pinch hitter in Washington's 6-5 victory.

Only one Boston Red Sox pitcher has gone the route in the last seven games the club has home at Fenway Park. The Sox have dropped 3 1-3 behind the Yanks.

Ellis Kinder made his fifth appearance in a week yesterday after Willard Nixon pulled at tendon in his thigh sliding into a base. Nixon was charged with the ball for seven innings when hurt. Walt Masterson and Kinder nailed down his 5-4 edge over St. Louis.

For a change Chicago White Sox got a full nine-inning job as Billy Pierce whipped Philadelphia 4-3 to remain seven games off the pace.

Kiner Hits 37th

Brooklyn's pitching also had a rough day at Pittsburgh where the Pirates knocked out Ralph Branca and Preacher Roe, former Clyde King to win 13-9. Ralph Kiner hit his 37th homer for the BUCS and Hodges No. 31 for Brooklyn.

The loss cut the Brooks' lead to nine games because New York split a pair with Chicago, losing 5-2 to Cal Hoak and winning 7-0 on Rookie Al Corwin's seven-hit shutout for his first big league victory.

Despite a 1-0 blanking at the hands of Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger, the Phillies held tight to third place because St. Louis lost.

The Cardinals were edged by Boston 2-1, dropping into a fourth place tie with the Braves as Warren Spahn won his 12th on a five-hitter.

George Kell, who had a five-hit day slashed a single in the eighth inning to beat the Yankees in the first game, Kell's hit was off Spec Shea but Jack Kramer was the loser. Two homers by Gene Woodling and one by Yogi Berra went to waste. Mickey Mantle drove in three runs and Joe DiMaggio two in the second game victory.

Tribe Settle

Cleveland came up with three in the ninth to win the first game at Washington but succumbed to Julio Moreno's seven-hit pitching in the second half of the twilight-night double.

Ted Williams and Vern Stephens slugged successive first-inning homers for all the runs the Red Sox needed to numb the Browns.

Larry Jansen was beaten by the Cubs in the Giants' first game at Chicago, marred by a brawl in the eighth when Manager Leo Durocher insisted that Sal Yvars bat out of turn. He fanned anyhow, but the Cubs were ready to protest to the umpires if he got on base. Later Durocher admitted his way wrong.

Corwin retired 15 men in order until Frank Baumholtz beat out a bunt in the second game. Only three runners reached second base on the Ottawa grad.

Vinegy Run off Russ Meyer of the Phils came in the sixth on Johnny Wyrostek's single and Ted Kluszewski's double.

The Rideau Canal at Ottawa built more than a century ago for military purposes, will carry units of the R.C.N. here Sept. 1-3 for the navy's third annual Great Lakes naval regatta, it was announced Wednesday.

H.M.C.S. Carleton, the Ottawa Naval Divi ion, will play host to 10 naval divisions from Quebec City to Winnipeg on Dow's Lake, a part of the Rideau canal in Ottawa.

Events in the regatta include whale pulling races, whaler and dinghy sailing, war canoe races, tug-of-war, and rifle and pistol shooting.

Units entering this year's regatta are from Toronto, Kingston, London, Montreal, Hamilton, Quebec, Windsor, Port Arthur, and Winnipeg.

At Pasadena, Calif., radio and television rights for Rose Bowl football games for the next three years were sold Wednesday to the National Broadcasting Company for $1,510,000.

At Lexington, Ky., a bay daughter of Bull Lea brought a fabulous $60,000 Wednesday to become the highest priced yearling filly ever sold at public auction in the United States.

C. S. Jones of Long Beach, Calif., bought her. The previous high for an American yearling filly sold at auction was $54,000.

Harness racing veterans predict a world record may be set tonight if track conditions at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N.Y., are favorable for the $50,000 Nassau two-mile race.

The world mark of 4:18 4-5 for two miles on a half-mile track was set by Grattan Mckiyo in winning the Nassau pace two years ago.

Baseball's executive committee has been called into a special meeting Tuesday, August 7, at New York to discuss the naming of a baseball commissioner to succeed A. B. Chandler.

Eighteen players were named Wednesday to compete in a 36-hole test Sunday leading towards the make-up of Quebec Province's Willingdon Cup.

The cup competition, for fourman teams from the various provinces, will be August 24-25 at the Royal Ottawo course, preceding the Canadian Amateur Championship tournament.

Walter (Babe) Pratt said Wednesday he has asked for and received his unconditional release as playing coach of New Westminster Royals of the Pacific Coast hockey league.

The Babe, former National hockey leaguer said he had asked for his release after being asked by co-owner Ken McKenzie to take a cut in salary.

The Abbey of Bury St. Edmunds in England was built to hold the shrine of the martyred St. Edmund, slain in 870 A.D.

Two Adonises of the wrestling ring clash at Memorial Arena Friday night when British Empire champion "Whipper" Billy Watson meets up with the Golden Boy from Hamilton, handsome Michael Sharpe. The two are fast friends — outside the ring — but when they face each other with the wrestling chips down, all friendship ceases. Both are clean scientific matmen and the faithful will view for once a fast, thrilling bout devoid of the usual tactics that marks the villain of the piece. It should be the mat epic of the season. Brother Ben, described above, tangles with Lee "The Leer" Heming in the semi-final and George Scott tackles Dave Sims in the opener.

Canada Favored In Temis Series

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 2—(CP)—Draw for tomorrow's opening singles matches of the Canada-Cuba Davis Cup tie mars made a midnight last night and pits Lorne Main of Vancouver against Jose (Pepe) Aguero of Havana in the first match and Brendan Macken, Montreal, against Dr. Juan Weiss.

Naming of Main and Macken by Gordon MacNeil, Canada's non-playing captain, was made yesterday.

The third member of the Canadian team, Henri Rochon of Montreal, will likely see action Saturday in doubles play paired with Macken. Choices for doubles teams will be announced until tomorrow's singles.

Cuba's two other team members, big youthful Reynaldo and Orlando Garrido, are unlikely to see action unless their squad is defeated in the first three matches. Then with nothing to lose, they might be selected for Sunday's two final singles matches.

The Canadians are 3-1 favorites to oust the veteran Cubans in four sets, Main, at No. 2 spot, is expected to win over 39-year-old Aguero, also the No. 2 player of his team. Consensus is that 21-year-old Main will have a big edge in stamina over the wiry Cuban.

Hamilton Kids Win Golf Title

Toronto, Aug. 2 (CP)—A one-stroke margin over their closest opponents Wednesday gave a pair of young golfers from the Hamilton Glendale Club the Ontario junior best ball championship at the Summit Golf and Country Club.

The sixth annual 18-hole competition for the Summit trophy drew a field of 37 pairs.

Tied for third place were P. J. Drynan of Dunnville, Ont.; Jerry Kuetchel, Ontario junior champion and 1947-48 best ball winner, and Don Ziegler, Kitchener Rockway; and W. Bowen and D. Jeffery, Cobourg. Each pair shot 73.

Malcolm Hanover Loses Second Time At Thorncliffe

Toronto, Aug. 2—(CP) — Malcolm Hanover, the speedy stallion owned by Ken Mackinnon, of Owen Sound, suffered his second defeat of the year Wednesday when he was beaten by Canada Direct, owned by Ed Birtch, of Smiths Falls, Ontario.

Canada Direct paced the mile in 2:06 4-5 and established a new record for himself in the feature race.

Canada Direct paid $16.90 to beating Malcolm Hanover which had been backed to less than even money.

Dr. Holman, the steady pacer owned by Wells and Hess of Aulliseville, Ont., won two thrilling dashes. In both races, he came from fifth place at the stretch turn and finished fully 80 feet outside the rail horse.

FATHER, SON KILLED

St. Williams, Ont., Aug. 2—(CP)—John Woods, 53, of Brantford and his six-year-old son, Robert, were killed Wednesday when an automobile and a transport truck collided near this southwestern Ontario community.

Injured were Mrs. Woods and two of her children.

Mrs. Wood suffered chest injuries and Beverley, 9, compound fractures of both legs.

The truck was driven by Gerald Parr of (Herkimer St.) Hamilton.

Guelph Leafs Drop First 'Homer' To London Majors

(By The Canadian Press)

Guelph Maple Leafs, one of the hottest home-park teams in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League, had an unpleasant encounter with London Majors last night.

The Majors gained a 7-3 victory and handed the Leafs their first defeat on home ground since May 29. It was the third straight loss for the Leafs after a string of seven wins. It left them 4½ games behind the second place Majors and 12½ games behind the leading Brantford Red Sox. The Red Sox, eight games in front of their closest rivals, defeated last place St. Thomas Legion 5-3 at St. Thomas.

Waterloo Tigers scored a close 3-2 victory over fourth place Galt Terriers in a hectic 13-inning game at Galt. No less than seven pitchers were used in the game—three by the Tigers and four by Galt.

London Majors won their game by scoring six quick runs in the fourth inning, overcoming a 1-0 deficit. Four hits, two walks and four Guelph errors brought in the six runs.

Hurler Marty Philp contributed two of the Guelph losers, both resulting in runs. He allowed seven hits for his sixth loss of the season against two wins.

Tommy White pitched six-hit ball for the Majors, gaining his sixth win of the year. Leafs had runners on base in every inning but the third and they couldn't touch White in the pinches.

The Red Sox triumph gave Johnny Moore his seventh victory against no defeats. Doc Dohority, the first of four St. Thomas pitchers, was charged with the loss. He has won three and lost six.

Tommy McCrattan hit twice for the Majors and Milner (Doc Great) Fields nailed a home run in the fourth inning on one on. The ball soared over the eight-foot centre field fence at the 350-foot mark. Ceglinski, Majors, one of the league's sharpest batters, hit a triple for Brantford.

Crack Pacer Levels Sights At Pot o' Gold

Westbury, N.Y., Aug. 2—(AP)—Scottish Peace, world record holder at 4:18 flat, tries tonight to win the $50,000 Nassau two-mile pace at Roosevelt Raceway for the second straight year.

The six-year-old horse from the Castleton Farm of Lexington, Ky., has been made 4-5 favorite to whip 11 of the fastest sidewheelers in the sport.

Last week Scottish Pence lowered the 1½-mile mark for half-mile tracks to 3:06. A year ago he won the rich grinding stake in 4:17 1-5 and, if the track is right, he is expected to endanger the international two-mile standard of 4:16 14-5 set by Grattan Mckiyo in winning the Nassau two years.

Cubs Drub Chiefs In Twin Bill; Royals Nip Leafs

(By The Associated Press)

It took them a long time, but Springfield Cubs found themselves breathing the fresh air of first-place in the International League today.

The Cubs, who have been in last place practically all season, whipped Syracuse Chiefs in a doubleheader last night, 3-1 and 4-3, and combined with 8-0 and 5-3 pastings of Buffalo handed Ottawa, wound up half a game ahead of the Giants.

Roly Schultz went all the way in the seven-inning opener and held the Chiefs to six hits. Al Ihde won the second game for the Cubs, with a two-run triple in the ninth, helped from Tony Jacobs in the seventh.

The Giants had no trouble in the opener behind the two-hit hurling of Lynn Lovenguth, but Ottawa made a fight of it in the nightcap. The teams were tied 2-2 until Wally Post broke it up with a two-run triple in the ninth.

In single games, the league-leading Montreal Royals toppled Toronto Maple Leafs 10-4 with righthander Hamp Coleman doing the honors on the mound, and Rochester Red Wings hung a 3-1 defeat on Baltimore Orioles. Kenney Wild went the distance for the Rochester victory. He was helped by six double plays.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The imp in my ego maintains how easy this game would be if experts would check their brains and chooss to agree with me. And then a much wiser elf will whisper to me: "Ahem! If you had some sense yourself, you'd try to agree with them."

A takeout double sats partner to bid something if no bid of an opponent intervenes. But suppose the intervening opponent steps in with a redouble? Is partner of the doubler asked to bid?

There are two schools of thought about this. Or maybe I should say there are two thoughts that should be schooled. One says the double's partner must bid anyway; the other says he needn't.

Take a case where south opens with one heart and west doubles for a takeout. If no bid intervenes, east must bid. And the weaker his hand, the more important it is for east to bid. Forst rule.

But when west doubles, suppose north redoubles when east has the hand you see here:

♣ 6 4 3 2

Some of the bridge greats believe east should pass in such a spot. "Their reasoning is that west has another chance to speak. He can decide whether to let the redouble stand or not.

But I do not agree with them. According to Sense Bridge rules, east is forced to bid even if north has intervened. Because the intervening say, was not a bid, it was a redouble.

If north had passed, east would have been forced to bid. This would keep opponents from making their doubled bid. All the more so because north redoubled.

Their rule cannot afford to let the redouble stand. West is in a box and may not know which suit to name as their safest out. East should show his best suit. It will not hurt and it may help. That's what a partner is for.

Movie Column

When I arrived at his Beverly Hills home, the great Schnoz was not home. He would be back soon, said his two wrifers. While I sat and waited, they pounded on the piano and sang a mad tune designed for Jimmy, Durante and Helen Traubel on his first TV show this fall.

A half-hour later, Jimmy Durante — in person — arrived amid a din. He takes off his coat, he takes off his pants, he takes off his shirt. He sits on his patio in his shorts and undershirt, unaware of the possible stares of neighbors. Jimmy, the well-used dressed man!

"I just been over to the university," he explained.

What — is Durante going to summer school?

Changed the Name

"No," he corrected. "I been over to Loyola, making a short for them to play on TV before their football games. A witty cause. They had a lot of trouble wit me because I couldn't pronounce the name of the school. They kept tellin' me the 'Loyola' but I kept sayin' 'Lyola.' How about that? — I changed the name of the univelsity."

What does I think of TV?

"It's the most amazin' thing that ever happened to me," he said. "You know, when you're in radio or the movies, you get the usual kind of fan mail — 'you're my favorite! Will you send me a autographed picture?' — and that's all. But the mail I get from TV is different. The people treat you like you was one of their family. I guess it makes a lot of difference when you're comin' right into their livin' rooms."

He admitted that TV was a lot of work. Memorizing is a painful chore for him; he takes a week to put an hour's script to memory. "And I'm on most of the time," he added.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Cyrano"—A Challenge to Actors Portrayed by Award Winner Ferrer

"Cyrano de Bergerac' the tragic-comedy of a warrier-poet-lover whose deeds were as epic as his nose, arrives on the screen of the Odeon McCarthy Theatre today for its first popular price engagement through United Artists release. Jose Ferrer, who won the Academy Award for his portrayal of the title role while the picture was still being roadshown, gives a brilliant performance that outrivals all former portrayals of this now-famous role.

The picture, which is based on the play by Edmond Rostand play, was brought to the screen by producer Stanley Kramer, whose achievements of the past few years have stamped him as one of Hollywood's foremost creative talents.

Many movie producers have been intrigued by the idea of translating "Cyrano de Bergerac" to the movie medium, but somehow the project never came into being. In 1935 Alexander Korda acquired British-language film right to the classic, but never got around to making the film. It was from Korda that Kramer bought the movie right.

Kramer decision to make "Cyrano" at this time was influenced by the "availability" of Jose Ferrer for the title role. Ferrer's triumph a couple of seasons back with a Broadway stage presentation of "Cyrano" is now a matter of theatrical history.

Ferrer's first performance by the French actor Coquelin in 1897, the role of "Cyrano" has been both a challenge and a delight to the outstanding actors of different eras and many lands.

Carl Foreman adapted the play to the screen, and George Glass is credited as associate producer to Mrs. Kramer, and Michael Gordon directing.

Casting of the girl who was to play Roxane was one of the major preparatory projects. Of more than 200 applicants interviewed by a board consisting of Kramer, Director Michael Gordon, Jose Ferrer and writer Carl Forman, beautiful 19-year-old Mala Powers was chosen.

The role of Christian, the inarticulate lover for whom Cyrano speaks, went to William Prince.

Sinatra Follows Actress to Mexico

Mexico City, Aug. 2—(AP)—Actress Ava Gardner came here last night with singer Frank Sinatra, who followed her to Spain last year, still close friends her.

Frankie's wife of 12 years agreed last May to give him an uncontested divorce.

Miss Gardner said she was here for a vacation.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, August 3

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—Military matters; sturdy effort and enthusiastic activities are top favorites today. Laborers, mining, railroading under new friendly ray conditions. But all things need care, tact.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—Neither too stimulating nor unfriendly. Good time to finish incompleted matters, get desk or bench ready for next week's work. If weekend is yours for leisure, enjoy it safely.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Not all auspicious for brain work, but that connected with our armed forces maneuvers and strategy rate high. Day can be productive of good if carelessness is omitted, steady effort used.

June 22 to July 22—(Cancer)—Some influences from Mars benefic position now can be garnered to help you show initiative and courage in those things requiring same. Up to your wise judgment.

July 24 to August 23—(Leo)—If sudden decisions and unpremeditated changes in plans or matters already running smoothly are avoided, you can expect good returns from your steady effort. Relax but don't waste free time.

August 24 to September 23—(Virgo)—Finish matters already started rather than launch new undertakings, particularly if the latter would be handled better next week. Don't crowd day. Rest some over weekend.

September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—A Pisces read Aries and Virgo today. You can accomplish in your work and lay plans for next week if you avoid wasting time, purposeless talks and acts. Have healthy fun later.

October 24 to November 22—(Scorpio)—Your Mars, in most benefic aspect, augurs for an interesting, stimulating day. Especially encouraging now for all things concerning our armed forces, for hard tasks, good deeds.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius)— Needed aggressiveness, difficult undertakings, courage, resourcefulness highly favored by Mars position, from which we'll gain. Have tact, care in other interests.

December 23 to January 21—(Capricorn)— Some restrictions from yesterday may still be felt but if cheerful, ambitious and usefully occupied, you will have excellent returns from efforts. Take extra care in delicate issues.

January 22 to February 22—(Aquarius) —Familiar matters, daily tasks may prove easier now than new and unknown propositions. Try to clear up unfinished business for a more contented weekend. Our armed forces sponsored.

February 21 to March 20—(Pisces) — No time for risky money ventures or carelessness in conduct. Watch restlessness, it may mean losses. Go about day's duties with common sense, some humor, good faith.

YOU ARE BORN TODAY: Innately earnest, honest; usually generous and capable all round. Fine assets with which to start life's journey. However, it is also most essential that you possess love for God, and your neighbor, and that you heed sensible nature laws. Can't go wrong if you follow this advice and you owe it to yourself, your family, to God that you make good use of all your attributes and talents. There are still many fresh advantages this year for your advancement — work to find and apply them well.

MOSQUITOES REAL BAD

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 2 — (AP) — Mosquitoes are so bad hereabouts you can kill them "by the millions" without making much of a dent in the swarms, a health officer said. "This is the worst I've seen in my six years in Florida, and old timers tell me it is the worst crop of mosquitoes in 25 years," said Henry B. Crowell, sanitary engineer with the health department.

WHY WE SAY

Valued highly

The word really means "little dear" in Scotland that the word dear is derived from "deer" which meant difficult or hard to obtain. The present meaning then would have come about from the fact that difficult things to obtain are usually precious and valued highly.

Prompt,

THE FORM DIVINE

BY HILDEGARDE DOLSON

She had Lucilla, Paris, Mrs. Jellowitz and Mrs. Colpo stay after school for a special meeting of what the latter called the actors in the show.

Graduation day dawned raw, with a drizzle. It was hardly birthing-suit weather, but yet the atmosphere within the walls of Beautiful-You was tense, expectant and supercharged with excitement that the participants might well have got heat rash. The ceremony was to take place at 12, but by 9:30 the dressing room already had the feverish backstage activity of a Little Theatre Group on opening night. Monsieur Jellowitz pattered around the room bestowing a last touch to his recreations, at times bending so close over a coiffure that he gave the impression of tonsorial tit. Miss Dottie ran from face to face, checking the components parts, and ruthlessly discarding a mouth or an eye that wasn't up to standard.

As each student emerged from a cubicle in her graduation costume, she attracted clusters of classmates who adjusted a strap or ruffle or gave the finishing effect. The large Mrs. Varney was headmistress-impressive in navy-silk dressmaker swim suit with white dots along the hem.

Mrs. Colpo was plenteous in her trouse shorts and harlequin romper in a luminous shade of jade. Headmatron named Pious supplied an exotic note in blush-pink Lastex with a giant swordfish depicted down the front. As she breathed, the fish's large eye appeared alternately to be moving in rhythm. Miss Midge exclaimed, "Did you ever see a beautiful day like this one? and the others agreed they never had. The chances are they never would again, either.

Miss Midge herself remained in her gray-satin bathing suit for the fi...st two hours, for as not to dribble powder and things on my graduation costume." When she finally donned her black-silk bathing suit, and covered that with the zipper which ran up the length of the back like a jammed there was near pandemonium. Most of the students, four Glamour Guides and the Five Queens all took turns tugging, or attacking with a nail file and bobby pin. It was a real emergency, because most of Miss Midge's bare backside bulged into view, rendering her highly unsuitable for graduation. Mrs. Cruthwaite sent out an SOS for the building maintenance engineer, who arrived in overalls and a toolkit. Miss Midge, and applied pliers and an oil-can till the zipper moved freely. The gap was closed; the day was saved.

On the way out, the engineer caught sight of Paris wearing white-satin trunks, and two orchids the size of horsehides. He stood transfixed, like a pillar of salt, until the floor mother nudged him out the door.

Paris and Lucilla were standing on either side of Mrs. Colpa, and they had been watching the bright cheerfulness of a nurse with a very ill patient. Their friend's face was still as a blank, staring expression she'd had when she came in that morning and told them her husband had asked for a divorce so that he could marry the woman who lived in the apartment below. Now she roused herself to smile with wan courtesy, at Paris' description of Harry's reaction to Mrs. Cruthwaite: "He took one look at that dame, and you'd thought he was seein' snakes. 'Who's she?' he asks me. So I tell him, "That's the floor mother' and he says, 'Well, a floor is all she'll ever be mother of.' 'Shouldn't you be out there with him now?' Mrs. Colpa asked.

"Listen, I'm not tryin' to do you a favor," Paris protested. "Harry's so nervous waiting for the show to go on he'd get me crazy too."

Miss Meadows entered the Hall of Mirrors and walked gravely down the aisle. She was wearing another of her impeccable city blacks, yet she gave off an almost overpowering suggestion that a train bearer followed behind. She halted in front of the basket of diplomas, blocking Miss Dottie from view, and switched a Cheshire smile at the audience. She began, in an opulent contralto, "We at Beautiful-You wouldn't dream of letting a graduation without our favorite people looking on, and that applies above all to husbands." She swiveled the smile again. "Because husbands pay, and you're all smart businessmen, so I know you want to be sure you get your money's worth. Tell me honestly, aren't you men pretty well satisfied? Do any of you want to wait to the new model for the old one?"

A man's voice said huskily, "It's too late now," but this was taken as a joke.

"Confidentially," Miss Meadows went on, in an intimate, just-among-us-50 tone, "we don't have any complaints about the men-folk, either." Her eyelashes registered affection, as she lowered her sights toward the students. "Today you'll go out into the world as alumnae of Beautiful-You, and I want you to say to yourselves, 'I'm so healthy, so well groomed and so poised that from now on I can do anything.'"

A few of her students seemed not to hear the wondrous passwords to success: Mrs. Colpa was staring beyond the speaker, perhaps seeing the face of the woman downstairs; Lucilla was thinking of Arthur.

"To start the program, one of our most successful cases, Miss Green, will give you a brief demonstration of how our students learn to carry themselves . . . . . "

Paris carried herself safely, even regally, across the platform. Nobody, seeing her, would have guessed she'd been the recent recipient of a black eye.

"And now Miss Green will say . . ." At this point Miss Dottie nudged her employer, to indicate Miss Green was not one of the talking models. Miss Meadows shifted suavely: "Please accept this diploma with my personal congratulations."

Paris took the beribboned object, and grinned toward the far wall. As she went back up the aisle, she leaned over and muttered to Lucilla, then pointed a thumb across the room. Lucilla thought Paris must be pointing out Harry, and pretended obligingly to look in that direction.

"Next, Miss Cleary." Miss Meadows said. While she was speaking, the lights in the Hall of Mirrors went out; the motion-picture screen flickered into action.

Lucilla, squinting at the screen, could just make out the back-ground bulkhead of Miss Cleary's Before. When the lights came on, the bulkhead was gone, and in the opposite end of the platform were being drawn apart by Miss Dottie, to disclose Miss Wilth ducking out the back. ajlee having arranged the ecstatic Mrs. Cleary stood in the flesh, while a soft pink spotlight shone on her.

Mrs. Colpe came next. "And this student receives a special prize for Devotion to Duty," Miss Meadows announced. "A handsome crystal flask of our own formula of Youth astringent." As she presented this token of esteem, there was a burst of clapping, that sounded like a clapping. That must be Harry, Lucilla thought, beating her own hands together until the palms stung. Paris must have told him about Mr. Colpe. The rest of the audience joined enthusiastically in the ovation, until the mirrors vibrated with sound.

Mrs. Varney was cited for having lost the most pounds. "Do you mind if I say something?" she asked Miss Meadows as she clutched her diploma. While Miss Meadows looked encouraging, the big woman said, with a touching kind of directness, "I just wanted to say I used to be ashamed of my figure I didn't care whether I lived or died, and I sat home alone most of the time. But now —well, everything's different, and I'm not ashamed to take me out again—and—and I'm so happy I just had to tell you."

The audience, seeming an unsolicited testimonial of purest hue, responded accordingly. Miss Meadows was at her gracious best as she dismissed Mrs. Varney, who had sparsely, frozen to the platform. "Now last—and least in wonder, only—never attractive Bony, Mrs. Webb! She will demonstrate the way the Hollywood stars and Beautiful You graduates descend a staircase."

Lucilla wasn't conscious of any feeline in her legs they might have been stilts—as they carried her to the centre of the platform and up the nine steps. She was on the top one when she heard the clear little voice that rose like a bird cry:

"Daddy, look, it's Mommy!"

Even if Lucilla's eyes didn't actually pick out Hoopy and Arthur in the fro . row, her heart recognized them. She was vaguely aware of the lights in the Hall of Mirrors went out; the motion-picture screen flickered into action.

Lucilla obeyed mechanically, but she was too giddy with happiness to have any notion of where or how she moved. Halfway down the stairway, missed a step altogether, reached out desperately to save herself, and landed like a dog, on her hands and knees. There was a concerted gasp from the audience. Miss Dottie was stupified with horror. Miss Meadows' mouth sagged open; perhaps she was thinking no Hollywood star had ever descended so low.

The fall had jarred Lucilla and her pride so violently that she had to pick herself up almost piece by piece. Suddenly she was bolstered up and then she was held in the strong, safe circle of her husband's arms. "You all right?" he asked quietly.

"Oh, Arthur! I'm so glad you're here." She held on to him unashamedly, and he patted her shoulder.

The audience may well have thought they were seeing a wife regain her husband's love because of Beautiful-You, exactly the way the ads said Miss Midge could be trusted saying, "Now isn't that sweet?"

Miss Meadows, having held up her nostrils to discover which way the wind blew, smiled with the guests. "Just a little too much excitement," she said indulgently. "And nothing will happen, but Mrs. Webb has nothing to be ashamed of. She has banished that skeleton in the closet by gaining 11 whole pounds." She waved her eyelashes toward Arthur. "Tell me, Mr. Webb, what do you think of Beautiful-You?"

Lucilla pinched his arm, and Arthur, feeling the old, familiar carried couple signal, said cautiously, "Well—uh—"

"As if we couldn't tell by looking at your face!" Miss Meadows cut in vivaciously. She took the last massive diploma from the basket, and handed it to Lucilla. "Wasn't it been the nicest graduation? she asked the audience.

They indicated that it had. Mrs. Colpa was looking at her eyes with a handkerchief, but if the guests observed this, they must surely have thought she was one of those women who cry on happy occasions. "School's over!" Miss Meadows announced, "But we're having a little reception on the second floor, so if sensing the incipient male rumble of rebellion, she cried, "No receiving line, no formality Just long enough to drink to the health of our graduating class."

Luckily, the men hadn't been there long enough to grasp the frightening implications of "drink to the health." They went to the wellingly, already under the spell of Beautiful-You, which had been known to turn swine into sheep.

The reception was held in the room in which the students had taken their B.O. tests, and learned about rouge on the brain. Glamour Guides moved among the guests passing out glasses of sauerkraut juice, and dainty bits of parsley moistened in sardine oil and rolled in shredded beet tops. Hoopy spit here out, shuddering. Several of the Queens' guests watched her enviously. Two guests even more enviously at Paris, but after observing her 200-pound escort, they remained at a distance regretfully.

Lucilla was surprised at how well behaved Harry looked, in a dark-blue serge suit. She had rather expected something like race-track plaids and low forehead. Nor had she counted on Arthur's being so gallantly outgoing with Paris. "You certainly created a sensation at that-dutch yesterday," he told her jovially.

Harry emitted a social version of the Heath Jones growl. Having already been forced to swallow a parsnip canape, he was perhaps more easily aroused than usual.

"You shoulda seen this guy," Paris said, gesturing at Arthur. "When I first walked in, he acted like I was selling magazines."

Arthur doesn't have to laugh that hard, Lucilla thought. He said no when I asked him to come to graduation, but he gave in to Paris right away. She felt oddly deflated, as if she'd been reading a book that promised a deliriously romantic ending, and had discovered on the last page that the characters were condemned to live an everyday life with problems left over. As she looked around the room, she felt even more weighted by uncertainties. There was Dorothy Reid and Derek himself might turn up at the reception, and she didn't want Arthur to see him. Let him remain in the realm of wordpictures—the well-known actor-director, a rival worthy of the name.

The peace conference was held that night. There were a great many things to talk over, some of them unpleasant, but neither he nor Lucilla condensed, abridged, or censored (much) the tales under consideration. 4.a- and she'd been a fool, and Arthur admitted handsomely that she had, but insisted that off his chest, he said that maybe they ought to take in more movies. At first Lucilla suspected irony, or heaping coals of fire, and wondered what was the excitement of the latter in Arthur's offer, but if so, he'd burned himself.

Lucilla said again, even more earnestly than before, that she had no interest in what Beautiful-You. Then, in one of those dangerous bursts of candor the Y.W.C.A. gym is a better bet," he'd remarked suddenly, "you get into condition without all that ballyhoo."

Lucilla said, "Mmmm, maybe," She didn't contradict her husband when he went on to say what a kind-hearted, unaffected and beautiful girl Paris was. In fact, Lucilla said, like things too, and meant them; perhaps it was just a coincidence that right after this she spoke at some length on the theme of "Honest monogamy is the best policy."

Arthur said, in a tone of mufled contentment, "You don't really need those falsie thighs."

Life of Bus Driver Can Be Far From Peaceful

Port Credit, Ont., Aug. 1 — (CP) — Jim Toye's job as a Toronto-to-Hamilton bus driver is far from uneventful at times.

Tuesday night a teen-aged girl used her boy friend's hatchet to let out about 100 gallons from the Port Credit driver. Toye refused the girl the boy friend chopped at the bus door with a hatchet, forced it open and leaped out of the slowly-moving vehicle.

Toye closed the door again; the girl punched and scratched him and used abusive language.

When last seen, the boy friend, hatchet poised, was chasing Toye in his hot-footed it for the police station.

Even the Innocent Suffer

The biggest tragedy of any war is the fact that a heavy toll on the young, innocent and aged is always unavoiding in war torn countries. The expression on the faces of these Canadian fighting men show vividly their feeling of sympathy for this North Korean boy and their disgust of the injustice of it all. The Korean boy was found in an abandoned shack where he had been suffering unattended for two months. A Sgt. of the Royal Can. BERLIN AIRLIFT BEATS SOVIETS AT OWN GAME

90 Tons Berlin Exports Moved in 24 Hours

Berlin, Aug. 3. (AP)—Commercial planes lifted 90 tons of Berlin export products to West Germany in the last 24 hours in an expanding effort to defeat Russian controls which have curbed overland shipments.

This more than doubled the tonnage of two days ago, and the three participating airlines said they were awaiting the arrival of more freight planes to increase it still further.

Allied transport officials here would not speculate how big the "baby airlift" might grow. Unofficial quarters talked of a goal of 200 tons daily but everybody hoped the Russians soon would back down.

East Berlin's communist press took first notice of the commercial airlift with an editorial in the Berliner Zeitung.

"Truth Scheme"

The Zeitung said it was all "a profiteering scheme" which would fit unnecessary. If West Berlin firms met Soviet demands to present certificates of origin for their products.

The communists claim that such certificates would show that most West Berlin products are manufactured from materials "smuggled out of (Soviet) East Germany".

The West has refused to deliver such certificates and, in an attempt to make the Russians retreat on the issue, has stopped trade between West and East Germany.

That trade stopped last midnight and as yet there was no immediate Russian reaction here.

Truck freight service between Berlin and West Germany—though thinned by the Soviet hold-up of shipping permits which forced resort to air freight —continued this morning.

Rail and barge traffic was idle.

Allied Strength Affects Talks At Kaesong Site

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Kores, Aug. 3 — (AP) — United Nations negotiators brought the weight of Allied air and naval superiority to bear on deadlocked armistice negotiations at Kaesong today.

An authoritative source said the U. N. envoys feel these are major bargaining weapons in demanding strong, defendable ground positions north of the 38th parallel.

When Allied negotiators used this lever in Friday's two hour and 25 minute session, a U. N. spokesman said, North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il grudgingly admitted that the superior United Nations air power had influenced communist ground action.

The session ended with the two delegations still unable to agree on where to create a buffer zone. They agreed to meet again at the 10th time in Saturday's session set for 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EDT Friday.

Introduced Friday

The U. N.'s unquestioned air and naval might was introduced into discussions at the start of Friday's session, said Air Force Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, the Allied briefing officer.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy told Gen. Nam Il that a military armistice should maintain the approximate over-all balance of military power existing when the armistice is signed.

This was the first announced reference in cease-fire talks to the guarantee duties have said they would demand that the reds do not take advantage of an armistice to reinforce their ground troops, or run in new non-existent air and naval forces.

FOODSTUFFS MAIN CAUSE FOR RISE IN LIVING COSTS

Index Jumps 3.5 Points During Month of June

Ottawa, Aug. 3. (CP)—The rising cost of staple foodstuffs—mainly meat, eggs and fresh vegetables—is mainly responsible for shooting Canada's cost of living to a new high.

That was the word of the Bureau of Statistics yesterday as it reported a 3.5 rise in its cost-of-living index in June, sending it up to 187.6 from 184.1. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, so that the rise since the base period has been 87.6 points.

The general sub-index climbed 9.2 points in June to 249.7 compared with 214.3 points a year ago. There were other small increases in such items as drugs, homital care, tobacco, newspapers, coal and coke.

The Bureau said that with the exception of meats, the advances in most food prices were normal for the month of June. But it found that the price increase in fresh, particularly pork, was larger than just seasonal.

Rises 16 Points

The fuel and light sub-index went up 1.9 points to 147.2 from 145.3 mainly because of higher prices for coal oand coke in Ontario and Quebec. This sub-index has risen almost 10 points in the last 12 months.

The clothing index advanced to 202.9 from 202.5 on small scattered gains. It is up a total of 22 points from 180.7 a year ago.

The home furnishings and services sub-index is up 30 points in the last 12 months, including a 0.3 gain to 197.4 in June.

The miscellaneous group rose 1.2 points to 142.2 and has gained about 10 points in the last year. Increases in the year of such items as drugs, personal care, hospital costs, tobacco and newspapers were responsible for the June rise in the miscellaneous index.

Rents are surveyed only on a quarterly basis so that the rent index remained unchanged at 139.8, an increase of only about five points since last year.

Hold Policeman In Slaying Of Quebec Woman

Claim Rookie, Blonde Lived Together for Year

Montreal, Aug. 3—(CP)—Bertrand Bergeron, 23-year-old rookie constable in suburban Outremont, today was held criminally responsible for the slaying of Anne Czechowski, 21-year-old married woman with whom he had been living for a week.

The blonde woman was shot to death last night in an apartment she and Bergeron had rented in the east-end.

Bergeron had telephoned Montreal police immediately after the shooting, saying it happened while he was playing with his 38-calibre service revolver. He claimed he fired the revolver, thinking the next chamber of the cylinder was empty.

The attractive housewife's husband told police after identifying her body that she left him a week ago without saying where she was going. They have a seven-month-old baby.

The constable and blonde moved into the apartment a week ago and lived as husband and wife since.

When police arrived at the scene of the shooting, Bergeron explained to a torn shirt he wore and a number of scattered hairpins as the result of a struggle, but claimed "we had made up" when the shooting occurred.

Two Nationalist Armies Powerful Guerrilla Force

Hong Kong, Aug. 3 — (AP) — Two of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's old Nationalist armies have formed a powerful 30,000-man guerrilla force along the border of Burma and communist China.

Recent reports to Chinese newspapers here indicate the Chiang's old eighth and 26th armies, fully armed, are based in the southwest Chinese province of Yunnan.

The force is said to control a sizable area from additional fighters are being trained. Presumably ammunition and supplies come through Burma.

The Eighth was the last Nationalist army to leave China when the 1949-50 debacle. During the collapse, one of Chiang's forces, it retreated slowly along with the 26th until it was back in Yunnan.

The Eighth was ordered to Hainan Island at that time. But before the airlift could start, the Nationalist governor of Yunnan, Lu Han, defected to the communists.

The two Nationalist armies refused to surrender and retreated to the border. A large part of the 26th went into Indo-China when the French disarmed them. The remainder went into Burma with the Eighth.

In May, 1950, the Burmese demanded disarmament of these soldiers but negotiations broke down and small-scale fighting broke out. Eventually the Nationalist force re-entered Yunnan and established control of a border area where it remains.

During the last year they have been joined by thousands of refugees from communist - held territory.

Observers think the communists will not delay much longer a full-scale campaign against these holdouts.

Four In Bullet-Ridden Plane Make Safe Escape to Sweden

Possible Split Between Koreans And Chinese Seen

U.N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 3—(AP)—The deadlocked course of the Kaesong armistice talks brought forward today of a possible split between the north Koreans and Chinese.

This speculation, however, should be tempered by the fact that the north Korean and Chinese delegations have shown no outward sign of disagreement.

Basis for the talk of a communist rift is vague evidence that the Chinese are more willing than the north Koreans to deal with the allies.

It appeared to stem in part from the stalemate over where to establish a neutral zone between United Nations and communist forces.

Many observers expressed the belief the Chinese are not interested in pressing the red delegations demand for a dividing line along Parallel 38. Instead they are more interested in getting their armies out of Korea where they have been badly mauled.

The chief spokesman for the U.N. delegation, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, told correspondents that during the last few days the senior red negotiator, north Korean Gen. Nam Il, seemed concults two Chinese conferees. He talks mostly to two other north Korean delegates.

Nuckols also reported that the Chinese appear somewhat more cordial than their communist companions.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Aug. 3 (CP)—Synopsis: The scare of cool air which will bring a cool weekend to Ontario has now pushed southward to the extreme southern part of the province. Some rain and thunderstorms preceded this cool air with amounts reported during the night varying from just a trace up to nearly one inch of rain. While the weekend will be cool, it promises to be sunny.

Stockholm, Aug. 3. (CP)—After an exchange of fire with bullet-riddled Polish training aircraft carrying four Poles, one of them a woman, landed at the Bulletta airport, near Malmoe, Southern Sweden, today.

The Poles made their dramatic escape from communist Poland in a homemade plane less than 24 hours after 12 sailors of the Polish Navy staged a mutiny aboard a minesweeper and escaped to this country.

Preliminary reports from Malmoe said the takeoff of the four Poles was preceded by a gun fight.

The three men and a woman were whisked away from Bulletofta airport in Swedish police cars.

They were taken to a camp for political refugees.

Reports from the airport said the four planes escaped from an airport near Poznan at 3 a.m., Polish army gunfire.

Their plane was described as a makeshift affair with a Polish engine, wheels from a German Messerschmitt, several parts of Swiss origin and an American carburettor.

One report said a hatch in the bottom of the plane was blown open during the flight across the Baltic and the passengers were almost thrown into the sea.

On arriving at Malmoe they still carried firearms. But they told authorities a sub-machine-gun they had used in the flight at Poznan was dropped into the Baltic.

War Correspondents Throw Party But Most of Kids Disappointed

By BILL BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 3—(CP) For many were called but few had been chosen . . .

A thousand disappointed children melted into the blackness of the night, the inaudiol clamor for admission they had waged for two hours transformed into a wail of disappointment.

They'd been invited to a party. There had been one, too. They had seen it — from the outside.

Peering through the windows of the big dining-room they had seen the tables, set for 90 guests.

Hungrily they had watched the room empty and fill again twice, and the white-jacketed waiters bring on the meal.

Hosts were the war correspondents in Seoul. A European reporter had passed the last: $125, a fortune in this country. It was decided to entertain 250 youngsters to a meal. Prizes and souvenirs would be distributed afterward.

First snag was in getting food. The United States Eighth Army in Korea turned down their request to buy supplies.

But the British, N. A. A. F. t. (Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes) threw open its stores. Fresh bread was obtained unofficially from the correspondents' own mess steward.

It also have been an excellent party — for 250 — which it was.

But many hungry youngsters undernourished kids, fearing on the sight of good things apparently in store beyond the window, had inevitably to be disappointed.

By eight o'clock 500 were jammed at the gateway. A scant 150 were pecied off and formed up by the courtyard — ranging from the barefoot three-year-olds to 15-year-old boys and girls with little brothers and sisters on their backs.

The waiters had them served in minutes once the first 85 were allowed inside. A big plate of ham, sweet potatoes, butter, peas and a slice of bread like cake. As much iced cocoa and fruit squashs as they could drink and cake for dessert.

International Dope Racket Charges Face Waxey Gordon Prohibition Era Beer Baron

International dope racket charge was lodged today against Waxey Gordon, the prohibition era beer baron whose racket - busting Thomas E. Dewey sent to prison for income tax dodging in 1935.

The 63-year-old mobster, who has a police record dating back to 1908, was picked up with other men in a total of $500,000 bail.

United States attorney Irving H. Saypol said that Gordon and other men and conveicted in federal court in New York State he could be sent to prison for life as a fourth offender under state law.

Saypol said the four prisoners had pure heroin worth $180,000 when diluted and sold in the underworld market.

All four were charged with violation of the federal narcotics laws at an arraignment early today.

Gordon—born Irving Wexler—was named by Saypol as "the source for the west coast" of dope arriving here from Europe and the near east.

Gordon and his three co-defendants, all New Yorkers, were seized on Manhattan's east side

Gordon—$250,000; Samuel Kass 39, $100,000; Benjamin Katz, alias Benjamin Stein, 35, $100,000; and Arthur Repola, 22, $50,000.

Saypol told the commissioner that Gordon was being operating in the dope racket for "several years" Saypol said.

The attorney did not make public any of the racketeer's alleged west coast dope dealings, but said he was implicated with other persons convicted on the west coast.

Saypol gave this description of the arrests:

The officers watched from doorways and parked automobiles, waiting for Gordon to keep a mysterious rendezvous with Katz and Kass, When they met, Saypol said, Gordon passed to Katz what was an auto. Repola was arrested later.

Paris, Aug. 3—(AP)—Socialist party leader Guy Mollet today turned down an offer to try to form a new government as France's cabinet crisis went into its 25th day.

Mollet was the seventh man since July 10 either to refuse to try to form a cabinet or fail to get parliamentary confirmation as premier.

Of the seven was former Finance Minister Maurice Petsche who failed today. Early today, Petsche was refused confirmation by the National Assembly, losing to get the 314 votes required.

There was no immediate indication as to whom President Vincent Auriol will call on next.

Premier Henri Queuille of Radicalle resigned July 10 after four months in office, paving the way for a new government in the wake of France's June 17 elections.

Sailor, Overwhelmed by Australian Kindness, Comes Home as Deserter

Ottawa, Aug. 3 — (CP) — A Canadian sailor who found Australian hospitality so terrific he couldn't resist it has being brought home against his wishes.

The navy said yesterday, in four laudatory words, that Leading Seaman Crowmest, that Aussie hospitality to the R. C. N. cruiser Ontario at Sydney, Australia, was overwhelming.

The magazine didn't mention the sailor's case but headquarters later confessed just how overwhelming it was. It took over 30 - year - old sailor from British Columbia who left the ship without leave and said he wanted to make Australia his home.

His story was told by other Ontario men and confirmed by headquarters. Authorities asked that his name not be made public.

He is a reservist or part - time sailor. Australian navy officials decided that they have had to refuse the request. He is being brought home. The penalties, however, are not likely to be severe. He is liable to be charged for the cost of transportation home by sea or air and discharged from the reserve navy. Then he will be free to go back to Australia if he wishes.

Jealous Wife Provides Tip On Husband

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 3 — (AP)—A jealous wife tipped police that her husband was a robber, then said it was all a lie.

But by that time the joke had gone too far. Detective C. L. Pierce said last night—the husband had confessed to four holdups.

Pierce said Forrest Ford, 34, a former bus company employee, admitted the holdups.

The tip came in a letter from Mable Ford, who later told officers she had written it only as a joke to "get even" with her husband.

Mrs. Ford said she was angry with her husband because he paid too much attention to another woman at a party.

Two Nationalist Armies Powerful Guerrilla Force

Hong Kong, Aug. 3 — (AP) — Two of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's old Nationalist armies have formed a powerful 30,000-man guerrilla force along the border of Burma and communist China.

Recent reports to Chinese newspapers here indicate the Chiang's old eighth and 26th armies, fully armed, are based in the southwest Chinese province of Yunnan.

The force is said to control a sizable area from additional fighters are being trained. Presumably ammunition and supplies come through Burma.

The Eighth was the last Nationalist army to leave China when the 1949-50 debacle. During the collapse, one of Chiang's forces, it retreated slowly along with the 26th until it was back in Yunnan.

The Eighth was ordered to Hainan Island at that time. But before the airlift could start, the Nationalist governor of Yunnan, Lu Han, defected to the communists.

The two Nationalist armies refused to surrender and retreated to the border. A large part of the 26th went into Indo-China when the French disarmed them. The remainder went into Burma with the Eighth.

In May, 1950, the Burmese demanded disarmament of these soldiers but negotiations broke down and small-scale fighting broke out. Eventually the Nationalist force re-entered Yunnan and established control of a border area where it remains.

During the last year they have been joined by thousands of refugees from communist - held territory.

Observers think the communists will not delay much longer a full-scale campaign against these holdouts.

New Serial by Harry M. Moore, Former Editor, Begins Saturday

Starting Saturday the Ontario Intelligencer will publish a serial fictional story, "This Mr. Icarus", written by Harry M. Moore, former publisher of the Trenton Courier-Advocate; author of the series of humorous prose-verse "Uncle Hy" and other works.

"This Mr. Icarus" is one of a number of fictional works being published by Mr. Moore who has retired from active newspaper work, and is devoting his time to baseball and writing.

The story is that of a small town newspaper man who knew he was living on borrowed time. He had his own ideas as to how to operate a newspaper and his use of the printed word in bringing contentment and happiness to his fellow townsmen makes a heartwarm yarn.

The story is written in clear concise style, and Mr. Moore's delightful human interest touches make it highly interesting reading. It is clean, wholesome and decent both in language and content.

Congress Warned 'Be Careful' Basketball Probe

Washington, Aug. 3 — (AP) — Representative Kenneth B. Keating (Rep.-N.Y.) said Thursday that "Congress had better be darned careful" before it starts "tampering with baseball."

The committee goes back into action today with George Trautman, boss of the minors, again on the stand. Trautman will finish reading a 31-page statement he started Wednesday.

Keating told a reporter.

"If you don't want to destroy baseball, you had better leave it pretty much alone."

Keating said he doesn't think the committee had any business looking into baseball in the first place "when the world is on fire" and with more important things for it to do.

Trenton Man Attacked in Home Severely Injured

Trenton—(Special)—A masked assailant who attacked a resident in his bed early Tuesday morning inflicting severe head and facial wounds has so far eluded police.

Herbert Webb, 17½ Water St., Trenton, is recovering at his home from the pre-dawn assault in which a masked intruder invaded his bedroom and beat him about the head and face with a rock.

Mrs. Webb told police that she heard someone moving in the room just prior to the attack. Suddenly the intruder leaned across the bed and began to pummel the sleeping form of Mr. Webb.

Mrs. Webb screamed, and then stated that she turned on the light in the room in time to catch a glimpse of the man as he fled. She claims that he wore a mask over his nose and the lower part of his face.

When police arrived, they found Mr. Webb with blood streaming down his face. The rock used in the attack was found lying on Mr. Webb's bed.

It was later discovered that Mr. Webb had sustained a deep three inch cut on his left ear, cuts to his head as well as injuries to his lips and teeth.

Mr. Webb could give police no reason for the attack.

Blaze Destroys Garage, Tools

Trenton—(Special)— A garage here burned to the ground, with a loss of between $800 and $1,000, yesterday while its owner was in Belleville. Tools and equipment belonging to owner C. G. Prettle, Victoria Ave. were lost in the blaze.

Firemen under Fire Chief Harry Filion fought the blaze for more than an hour, but were unable to control the flames. Mr. Prettle after arriving home from Belleville, found the firemen rolling up their hoses and his garage in ashes. He said that the garage was not wired, and could not understand how the fire might have started.

Havelock Co-op Safe Blown, $400 Taken

Early today, the same gang broke into the village's post office but nothing was taken.

It is thought the gang may be the same one that cracked the post office safe at Frankford, July 22, and escaped with an undetermined amount of money and stamps.

A Havelock insurance agent, E. J. Leeson, heard the men as they broke glass in a post office window. From his home nearby he saw one man climb in the window, while a lookout was posted in the shadow beneath a tree.

In the Co-operative warehouse, the thieves rolled the safe on a hand cart to the rear of the building, surrounded it with bags of grain and blew the whole front of the safe off.

TORONTO STOCKS

Steel were the only industrial group to make any headway, the majority of issues climbing fractions. Utilities, foods, liquors, refining oils, banks and manufacturing companies balanced gains and losses while papers, agriculturas, textiles and retail stores weakened. Constructions and miscellaneous industrials slipped a little lower.

Base metals dipped mildly as Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou, Mackenzie, Minnamax, Normeda, Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos met profit-taking. Noranda, Hollinger Bay, Steel Stock and Silver Miller edged higher.

Senior golds were mostly inactive. However, Hollinger edged slightly higher and Dome and Kerr-Addison slipped fractions. Secondary golds were mixed.

Senator Proposes Exchange Visit With Russians

Washington, Aug. 3 — (AP) — Senator Brien McMahon (Dem.-Conn.) has proposed an exchange of visitors between Russia and the United States and congressional delegation for the 14 members of the Soviet parliament.

The congressmen, McMahon told the Senate yesterday, could tell the Russian people "about the peaceful and friendly desires" of the American people.

And the Soviet leaders "could . . . decide for themselves whether the American people want peace or war."

McMahon said he would like to see congress approve resolutions endorsing both of the trips he proposed.

The Connecticut Senator told a reporter today he wants to discuss the matter with some of his colleagues before deciding whether to sponsor such legislation.

"I tossed out an idea," he said. "Let's see what, if anything, happens."

McMahon indicated, however, that he would be surprised if Stalin and company said, "Come ahead and we'll be over to see you, too."

Criticizes Russian Leaders

His lack of optimism was pointed up by sharp criticism he fired at Soviet leaders for failing to publish in Russia a resolution, already approved by Congress, expressing American friendship for the people of Russia.

"By refusing to publish this expression of friendship by the American Congress, the Soviet government has committed a crime against them," declared McMahon, chief sponsor of the resolution. "The Kremlin crowd are not self-confessed warmongers."

McMahon said one of the resolutions he has in mind would "formally ask the Soviet government for permission for (50 Congress members) to visit Russia while we are in recess to tell the Russian people about the peaceful and friendly desires of the American people." He added:

"I'd ask . . . for permission for these members to visit every city and town within a thousand-mile radius of Moscow — and let that government choose the one location if it dared."

A year ago, McMahon said, would label "the spurious Soviet peace claims meaningless from now on."

Federal Grants Total $300,000

Toronto, Aug. 3. (CP)—Ontario will receive up to $300,000 in federal grants to cover the cost of standardizing firehose couplings throughout the province, Col. Arthur Wood, provincial fire co-ordinator, announced today.

The federal government has set up a fund of $500,000 to aid the standardization program across the country. Ontario's grant of $300,000, based on population, is the largest.

Standardization will be on the basis of five threads to the inch on couplings.

"At present there are now over 100 non-interchangeable fire departments in the province," said Col. Welsh.

Old Street-Cars Carry Tourists On World's Tiniest Railway

Huntsville, Ont., Aug. 3—(CP)—The world's smallest commercially operated railway is the proud claim of the Huntsville and Lake of Bays Line. Dubbed the "Portage Railroad" its rolling stock putts steadily over 3½ gauge rails, 1 1/8 miles between north and south portage in the Lake of Bays district of Ontario.

The little line runs over a hump separating Fairy Lake and Lake of Bays to complete steamer and motor launch services operating on the two lakes.

The rolling stock consists of two small engines, two flat-cars and one box-car. Passengers ride in what were once Toronto and Atlantic City horse-drawn street-cars. The railroad has its own telephone line, roundhouse, water tank and terminals.

Running only three months of the year the service last year carried 18,000 passengers and 500 tons of freight as well as mail. There have been 14 lines with several costs everywhere. Now 50 cents, in 1947 a return fare was only 15 cents.

But despite the increased cost per ride the tiny train remains a favorite with summer visitors. However, though summer passengers are now its main source of revenue, it was originally maintained, built to haul tanbark over the portage.

Built in 1906 by G. O. Shaw father of the present owner, Mrs. Pauline Gill of Brockville, Ont., it was granted a government charter in the year of its construction.

The line is now managed by a board of directors and its president, C. R. McLennan of Huntsville. On the payroll are four South Portage residents, although only one is a permanent employee. He is Lou Thompson, the superintendent, who has been with the railway since 1919.

The train runs eight single trips each day and a special is put on, at a cost of five dollars, for canoeists and campers who want their kit carried.

The trains can reach a speed of 20 miles an hour but normally travel through the picturesque countryside at only 14. Only one accident mars the line's safety record. Two years ago a cow wandered on to the right of way, derailed the train and was killed. Passengers were not injured.

Industrial strife is apparently foreign to its employees. During the nation-wide Canadian rail strike in 1950 service to Huntsville and Lake of Bays Line was

Vancouver, Aug. 3 (CP)—The Vancouver Sun said yesterday that sabotage looms as a possible explanation for the crash of a Trans-Canada airliner 13 days ago.

The plane, with 38 aboard, disappeared off Cape Spencer, Alaska, while en route from Vancouver to Tokyo. It was operated by the Canadian Pacific Air Lines.

The Sun said officials of the air lines had ruled out the possibility of mechanical failure as responsible for its disappearance.

RCMP and FBI agents are standing by to inspect the wreckage, if, as and when it is found" the newspaper reports.

Spokesman for the CPA said there has never been a crash of a DC-4—the type of plane used on the airlift—as a result of mechanical failure.

Officials said it had learned baggage of U.S. airmen aboard the plane had not been inspected.

"With this in view, officials are considering the possibility a bomb or other infernal device might have been concealed in the unInspected baggage."

RCMP headquarters here and in Ottawa declined to comment on the sabotage report.

Aboard the plane were seven Vancouver crew members, two Canadian Navy men, three American civilians, three U.S. Army officers, and 23 American airmen.

Municipalities will receive the new coupings free of charge but will be expected to have their own fire departments make the necessary installation in the hydrants.

Civic Holiday Pretty Much Ontario Show

(By The Canadian Press)

On the first Monday in August every Englishman can throw his luncheon pail on the window seat, take the first train to Blackpool.

"Bank Holiday" in the United Kingdom is nationally observed. But "Civic Holiday" — Aug. 6 this year — in Canada is not.

It's pretty much an Ontario show. Some cities on the prairies — Winnipeg, Brandon, Man., and Edmonton, etc. are celebrating it but in British Columbia, the Maritimes and Quebec, workers can only glance wearily at the thermometer and trudge off to their jobs.

Even in centres where the holiday is being celebrated, few persons planned to do anything more strenuous than get out of the city.

In Ottawa, Toronto, Cornwall and Timmins, seven sports powermoters and civic planners seemed to be taking it easy. There will be few athletic events and no civic celebrations.

However, here and there are flashes of activity.

Some Owen Sound residents planned to travel to nearby Port Elgin to watch a day of water sports and stunt flying.

Twelve persons were killed in Ontario last year during the 3 days of the August Civic Holiday weekend and 11 the year before.

Most strenuous weekend seemed in store for Winnipeggers.

They have a choice of rolling on Grand or Winnipeg beaches or taking a special train to Gimli or all are Lake Winnipeg resort towns — where annual lacrosse celebrations are planned.

Britain to Revive Queen's Messengers

London, Aug. 3—(CP) — The Queen's Messengers, mobile emergency feeding service which operated during the last war, is to be revived by the food ministry as part of the country's civil defence program.

F. Willey, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Food announced that orders had already been placed for 11 complete convoys. Delivery of the first unit is expected by the end of August.

The Queen's Messengers were first organized in 1941, to alleviate the plight of air-raid victims. Eight units of these flying squads were presented by Queen Elizabeth and 10 more by the British War Relief Society of America. Each convoy consisted of eight food-distributing vehicles and five motorcycles.

A convoy included a waiter carrier, two kitchen lorries capable of providing 2,000 meals an hour, two food store trucks, with sufficient supplies to feed 4,500 people, and three mobile canteens equipped to cater for 500 more.

The motorcycles were used by dispatch riders to maintain lines of communication.

LIFE OR DEATH FOR TIMMINS

The strike of miners at the Hollinger-Consolidated Gold Mines in Timmins has gone beyond a mere dispute between labor and management and is now a life and death struggle for the survival of that northern Ontario city.

Conditions have deteriorated to such a degree that Mayor Philip Pay has stated that if the strike is prolonged much longer the town will face financial ruin. Town debentures cannot be sold despite greatly discounted values, and desperate miners, faced with poverty and debt due to the strike have already begun to desert Timmins in an attempt to find work elsewhere. Sales have dried up in Timmins stores and credit has been completely cut off in the community.

And what has brought about such a situation in one of Canada's greatest mining towns? It is nothing more or less than a demand by the United Steelworkers' Union to have the union checkoff system implemented at the Hollinger mine. Their continuing insistence on this demand and the company's steadfast refusal to comply with such a demand has brought a whole city to the brink of ruin. The concessions won by the union in the matter of wages and hours, and social security benefits are valued less as long as the town of Timmins is out of work. What good is it also when miners are thrown out of work? How long will it take the miners to recoup their losses?

It is only too true that labor's greatest bargaining point is to threaten to strike, and it is only too true when such a threat is joined that the value of many supposed rights is called into question. In this particular strike the value of a union checkoff system does not warrant the hardships being inflicted on the residents of Timmins.

In fact the whole idea of a union checkoff system is of doubtful value. Why should the union impose on management to the point of making the company a collection agency for union dues? Are leaders so busy that the interests of their followers that they cannot attend to the important task of collecting the monies that pay their salaries?

Granted it would be nice if the company would relieve the union of the rather odious job of collecting dues, and at the same time gather to itself the accompanying troubles, tribulations and dislikes of a tax gatherer. But it is not the company's business to insure union income.

Following along on the attitude of the union officials it would seem to be logical to allow the public utilities, the telephone company, the grocer, the landlord, and every other claimant to a worker's earnings to insist on a checkoff system. Of course this is absurd.

Why then should the union be privileged to perpetuate an absurdity at the expense of an entire community? The just and lawful demands of unions are deserving of public support. But the fundamental on a checkoff system which is stuck a union right into the position on management to the point where the economic life of Timmins is threatened deserves only public censure.

THE BOMBS UNDER PERON

Juan Peron's railroads are being blown up, despite the iron hand with which he supposedly rules as dictator. Faced with the prospect of having the government appoint the leaders of their union, engineers and firemen on Argentine railroads have declined to work. Their strike has not been recognized by Peron's regime, but there is little doubt that recognition will come to the bombs which have shut down and damaged railroad shops. The dictator lays the blame for the explosions on "alien forces."

What Senor Peron will not admit is that perhaps the first great upheaval has occurred to shake the foundations of his regime. The incident may not amount to anything resembling any sort of a revolution, but it can serve as a link in the process which must ultimately overthrow Peron. If huge oaks from little acorns grow, then maybe the acorn has set the oak which will eventually club Senor Peron out of office.

Peron has had many troubles during his regime. He has taken away many of the fundamental rights of the countrymen. He has dissolved the congress on many occasions. This strike and explosion incident, it appears, is something that he cannot stop them from learning about. The trains are stopped, and the tracks are ripped. Right thousand men running the veins of Argentina's commerce have decided that, dictator or no dictator, they will not be bludgeoned into making their union just another mouthpiece for Peron. The only recourse left for Peron is to bring in those who are willing to have done on former occasions. Even that will not stem the crest of a movement, if one is starting. In the past, Peron has liked to pattern himself after Adolf Hitler, even to the stage of copying the direct forms of propaganda that the Nazi leader used. His photographers also have seen to many things as once were done for Hitler — he is pictured as a benevolent ruler. But Peron is in reality no better than any other man who sets himself up as the ultimate in rulers. Like the other dictators, he will find that the act cannot stand repetition.

WISDOM

The price of wisdom's paid in tears,	The hidden motives of a deed.
And failure's sting and sorrow's tears,	For it has learned, though great or small,
In tested faith through times of doubt,	That faults are common to us all.
Pity, and often courage stout.	*
Full understanding's seldom found	Men gain experience from strife;
Until both heart and mind are trained.	Not from a college, but from life.
*	Through loss and gain a man must go
Youth into hasty judgment leaps,	To learn what youth can never know.
But age-its verdicts longer keeps	And see with understanding eyes
And patiently takes time to heed	Before he can be truly wise.

By GREGORY CLARK

Fortune has a flirtatious way of appearing around the edge of a door to smile. In the hamlet of Muskoka, Ontario, a settler by the name of Alvin Goss lived a modest, restricted sort of living out of a small chicken farm, together with what he could grow in some newly-cleared land along the highway.

He grew a few strawberries among other items, and the year before last, he rather overdid his strawberry patch, so that when picking time came he was unable to find enough hands to pick the splendid crop that developed in the new-cleared land.

Rather than lose the crop, he stuck a sign on his fence along the highway, inviting anybody who pleased to come in and pick their own strawberries at fifteen cents a berry basket. Pop around the corner secured Fortune, smiling.

Summer residents are in the mood for berry picking. Some ladies drive by saw the sign and called in. The news spread through the neighborhood. Within a few days, Goss's berries in a cool crowded with summer ladies in shorts and slacks, bumped all over the field in special attitudes peculiar to berry picking. Not a few of them were recruited, largely by men, superintendents and so forth, instead of Goss. Almost overcome by fine strawberries than with anything else he had picked.

It so happens that these berry plants he sets out on that newly-cleared wild land produce a fruit that has a decided hint of the wild strawberry flavor, and the jam the ladies did down from them was far ahead of that made from berries off the artificially-stimulated soil of the commercial berry farms. Goss cleared on each consecutive year, big new areas of ground and planted them. This summer, until mid-July, his fields were one of the spectacles of Muskoka, crowded like the southern cotton fields with sunburned Mammies of all ages, out there squatting. Goss's sign now reads: "15 cents a box with stems, 20 cents without." And he is really in business.

OUR TOWN

By JACK SCOTT

MURDER AT DUSK

I killed George Murden at sundown last Sunday and I'm glad. We had gone for a Sunday drive. George and his wife, Ethel, and me and my wife. It was a real nice morning, all blue and silver. When we got out into the country there was a summer smell in the fields.

"Mmm," I said, filling my little lungs. "That smell reminds me of the summer I spent on a farm. My goodness, we used to romp out there in the meadow, up to our hips in blue-bells and daisies and . . ."

George was rolling up his window. They breed 'em soft. He sat there in what appeared to be an old piece of tarred rope. It had a kind of gunmetal sheen to its middle to make it look like a cigar.

"Since it isn't too stuffy for you, George?" I asked, coughing heavily.

"Never was much of a one for fresh air," George said. He snorted a little proud of it, as if he were talking about resisting cocaine or something. "Fresh air only trys all right, I suppose, if you can ever get used to that manure smell. Me, I'm a city boy, and unconditioned office every time."

I forced a little laugh at him, and at the corner of my eye. He had been watching the speedometer. Fifty miles. I had been loafing along at a nice, pleasant 40, letting the Fords go by.

"Step fast for you, George?" I asked.

"I was just wondering when you were going to put that thing in gear", George said, chuckling. "Can't stand this creeping along. Reminds me of the time I got on a trip. Why only last Sunday Ethel and I drove over to Picton. Just a lot up that road. That was a real trip, eh, Ethel?"

Ethel smiled at me. George, Ethel said. In the rear view mirror I caught a fleeting look of suffering.

On To Lunch

George had now filled the car with poisonous fumes. The way he blew the smoke out, I was tempted to suspect he also whistled at the crossings.

We went through a hamlet before a big church stood to the side the highway. The sound of the church bells filled the car as we rushed by. It seemed like a perfect accompaniment of the slumbering summer morning.

"Ah", I said. "That seems the perfect accompaniment . . ."

But George had turned over and snapped the radio on. "Time for the news," he announced. "I like to get the news on the hour. No telling what's happening in the world."

The announcer shouted through a crackle of static, bringing the usual gloomy tidings of sudden death, disaster, the first report on the Sunday highway slaughter, the latest threats to peace in the world.

"This will be the next battleground," George said, absently clicking out at the long, rolling farm country. "Yes sir, our boys will be dying right here because we haven't got the sense to go after Russia right now. One 1?? old atom bomb on the Kremlin, that's all it would take."

His wife interrupted him, almost professionally. "We'd better start looking for a place to picnic, George," she said. "We have some cheese and crackers and some sardines. I could find a nice place beside a stream and with a view . . ."

"Cheese and crackers!" George said. He made it sound like dog biscuits. "Why, we just had a roast! I'm happy with anything less than a steak and onions. How about the riverview? That's only a hundred odd miles ahead. Should be there in an hour and a half if the old man here will put a heavy foot on the throttle. 'Let's see what this old crate will do."

I said the riverview, wedged in a booth designed for people without legs and shoved against a table which appeared to be part of a single record made by a man named Tennessee Ernie. George spoke a nasty word over the steaks or the fried Gyproc or whatever they were.

Turn For Home

Terrible as it was the meal seemed to give George new energy.

He made frequent comments about the blissful ease of driving. "I like to study them on a trip like this and see the various methods and ideas," he said.

When we passed a meadow in which, apparently, cattle were grazing, George was reminded of a recent trip to a slaughterhouse and gave a vivid, graphic description of "the killing room."

We had been driving into the hilly part of the country, around a curve, a breath-taking view suddenly opened up. Far ahead through the afternoon sun. Both women made noises of delight. "Oh, how beautiful," they chorused.

"Trees and rock," George announced from behind a cloud of poisonous fumes. There's the story of this country's failure. No get-up-and-go. It's a country for American highway, now and you'll see signs of progress everywhere. Hot dog stands, drive-in restaurants, neon-lighted galleries, planes going overhead all the time. All we have is trees and rocks."

The afternoon passed. We turned for home and found ourselves behind a long queue of leaving drivers. George cursed them individually and en masse. I turned off the radio. Ethel leaned over and whispered to me that she might be carsick. I turned on the radio. "Time for the news," he announced. "I like to get the news on the hour. No telling what's happening in the world."

The announcer shouted through a crackle of static, bringing the usual gloomy tidings of sudden death, disaster, the first report on the Sunday highway slaughter, the latest threats to peace in the world.

"This will be the next battleground," George said, absently clicking out at the long, rolling farm country. "Yes sir, our boys will be dying right here because . . .

Strength for the Day

By DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GIVING AWAY OUR EYES

Some months ago a man was injured on a ship in New York harbor and was admitted as a patient at a Marine Hospital. In the bed next to him was a young boy, or whose sight was being irreparably injured that he had lost the sight of it and that the retina from his athletic career. When the injured man learned of the boy's serious predicament, he offered to donate the cornea of his own eye. The boy had been injured in some respects but not in the cornea. The offer was accepted and the cornea was transplanted.

When the postcards, letters of congratulation and praise from the hospital staff began pouring in upon him, the self-sacrificing man's only comment was, "I am happy to hear that my good friend can see again, and I am glad that I was in a position to help him."

We wonder sometimes at the spirit of unselfishness and power or of undistinguished people. How even among our great spiritual leaders would have made a sacrifice such as this. In this world as well as in heaven, many that are first are last, and many that are last are first.

Such a gift of an eye was significant. We can make the gift of our eyes every time we pass on any helpful experience to help other person, particularly to our own children. It is often said of children that they give their eyes to their children." The answer is, that if they are wise parents, they do.

Queen's Awaiting Word To Go In Mining Business

Kingston, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Queen's University is awaiting word from federal authorities at Ottawa on the university's application to get into the iron mining business in Kingston harbor.

The university applied to the Ontario Mines Department for mineral rights in the harbor and because of doubts as to jurisdiction Ontario passed it along to the Federal Department of Mines.

In a Kingston story Thursday the Canadian Press erroneously reported Principal R. C. Wallace of Queen's as saying that profits from the body of iron ore believed to lie under the harbor waters would be a long way toward relieving financial difficulties at the university.

Dr. Wallace said Thursday he had made no such statement. He declined, however, to comment, saying that Queen's had not received any official word of refusal of its application.

REGULATOR, EH?

Although the quaint notion is not nearly so popular today as it was when Grandpa was a child, brothers burned up the cinder paths and knocked over the less agile ladies and gentlemen who disputed the right of way, a good many simple souls still believe one should take salts or other physic periodically for a good cleaning out. They cling to this in memory of the gulf the patent medicine vendors and then in the almanacs of the good old times—good for the digestion and quackery business that is. Lying was legitimate then, not only in the almanacs but in the testimonials and even on the label; it is forbidden by law now, that is, strictly lying but the bunk merchants find the suckers are as susceptible as ever to false claims made by suggestion or implication.

Worse, we constitute a sizable portion of the population, readily accept the suggestion of laxatives or nostrum makers that some such "thorough cleaning out" is necessary and that the combination idea that a brisk cathartic "eliminates" or "flushes off" the toxic conditions or "impurities" which would otherwise damage the system and cause illness.

The experience of countless internists has broken down this physic or enema habit in the boy described by Kipling who "has the best evidence of the falsity of such ideas. After they have gained their freedom from years of slavery they enjoy better health than they have ever known before.

Naturally. You see, the poor fish who believes such stuff and interference—aid, as he calls it—is absolutely necessary to keep his bowels functioning at all is blissfully unaware of the side effects of laxatives. Some of these ill effects are kidney and bladder irritation, hemorrhoids and other annoyances. Irritable bowels and persistent pelvic disturbances often start with irritations from frequent or habitual enemas or "bowel washes" or from repeated doses of mucus, and this is misinterpreted by the victim as evidence of "mucous colitis," which leads to further insults—a kind of vicious circle.

The propaganda of charlatans who conduct colon filling stations has created in the minds of prospective customers the belief that mucus in itself is "toxic" and injurious and must be "eliminated." They forget that (name of the normal secretion of mucous membranes) is the most perfect lubricant, protective and innocuous germicide conceivable, the rheumatiz.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW!

When we look over this beautiful earth and consider what we have read or learned about it, even then we can acknowledge that we know very little. Little by little men have come and compiled his discoveries and experiments in such a manner that great developments have resulted.

It would be a good thing if many of us would start out by saying that we know next to nothing and begin all over at scratch. We might begin our exploration with a blade of grass, or a maple leaf. Each is a thing of wonder. Look at that leaf in its maturity and then watch its shedding in the autumn when it falls from its nest in the tree to the ground. It is a resting place. What a thing of beauty and magical construction.

When we investigate, seek to discover, and do things that arouse our sense of wonder and pride in creation.

How little we know, but how wonderful it is to keep on keep learning and discovering new things of wonder every day of our lives!

"OLD 909" REPLACED BY $400,000 DIESEL

Exactly 13 years after the manufacturing of North America's first diesel locomotive the "old 900," at Canadian Locomotive Company at Kingston, Ont., this same country introduced its first conso1idated-type diesel locomotive at a recent dedication ceremony. The gray and maroon diesel, which cost $400,000 and includes two units, each developing 1,800 horsepower, was christened by Rt. Hon. C.D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, seen above with Robert Morse, Jr., president of the company. Mr. Howe said Canadian railways are switching to diesel locomotives to meet high operating costs and growing competition because of their cheaper maintenance. — Central Press Canadian.

Bill the Bass A Real Battler

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 3 — (CP) — Bill is still guarding his home even though his wife and 5,000 sons and daughters have left.

Bill is a six-pound male bass and his home is a few feet in front of the dock at the Forest Ranger station on Lady Evelyn Lake in the Temagami district north of here.

The Rangers first noticed Bill when he set up house - keeping there recently. With a tail "as wide as a kitchen table" he swept a yard-wide area of water clear and built his nest. His mate arrived and soon Bill was guarding thousands of eggs.

He chased everything. The Rangers say the supply plane now moors on the far side of the dock because Bill chewed chunks out of the floats. They caught Bill twice while fishing and twice they set him free to return to his vigil over the eggs. After he was caught the second time the Rangers just gave up fishing.

THIEVES NET $1,500

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP)—Thieves netted $1,500 in cash in two overnight robberies but drew a blank in a third try at Windsor business premises.

At least $1,100 was taken from a strongroom in premises occupied by the National Painting and Decorating Company, Limited. Another $500 was picked up in the Essex County Sanitation office but a thorough search of the board of education offices was fruitless.

Police Nab Chicago Business Man, First to Face Race-Probe Charges

Fort Erie, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP)— A retired Chicago business man is the first person to face criminal charges as a result of investigations of suspected fixing of horse races on Ontario tracks.

Henry Dunn, 68, was arrested at Fort Erie track yesterday and charged with conspiracy to defraud the public.

A Mounitie and two members of the Ontario Provincial Police picked him up as he presented 15 $10 tickets at the track wicket which pays off in United States currency.

He appeared before a magistrate at Fort Erie yesterday and was remanded to next Wednesday. He is in jail, so far unable to put up $30,000 property or $10,000 cash bail.

Police declined to say just how Dunn enters the racing picture which has been marked by reports of gamblers bribing jockeys and racketeers taking bookies for thousands of dollars on fixed races.

Six Jockeys Suspended

Previous to the arrest, six jockeys had been suspended or barred from racing in Ontario for life as a result of investigations by the Ontario Racing Commission.

The commission, which has been interviewing a steady stream of jockeys, adjourned its hearing last night. Racing ends at Fort Erie today and the next Ontario meet is in Hamilton where the hearing will resume next Wednesday.

The commission disclosed yesterday that it has asked jockey Robert Wankmueller to return to Canada from his home in Newark, N.J.

Wankmueller, who has been riding on the Ontario circuit in recent years, went home shortly after the Fort Erie meet opened. He had been called by the U.S. army to report for medical examination.

The commission reached him in Newark and he said he would be at next Wednesday's hearing.

There was no indication why the commission wanted to see Wankmueller. However, there have been indications that the commission intends to call before it every jockey who has ridden on Ontario tracks in recent months.

Alberta's Coal Reserves Greatly Exceed Oil

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The Western Coal Federation of Canada says that Alberta has, in terms of energy, 100 times as much known coal as it has known oil.

In a release on "coal research," the federation comments: "Among long-term experiments progressing in the laboratories are those aimed at producing oil from coal. Canada's coal industry is in a healthy condition and its prospects are excellent. It is, however, expected that demands made on it will continue to grow.

"At the present time, known oil and natural gas reserves of Canada are small compared with known reserves of coal. It is reckoned that in Alberta present natural oil reserves amount to 1,400,000,000 barrels. The energy in the province's coal reserves is equivalent to 140,000,000,000 barrels.

"To the layman, coal may lack the lustre of 'gold in them thar hills' or the excitement of oil bursting from the earth. To the fuel expert, it is treasure stored for millions of years and destined to be the solid growth of diversified industry."

Push Button Coal

Incidentally, and still on the subject of coal, the Wall Street Journal reports that coal is being sold by "slot machine" in seven states, with 45 vending machines in use. You put in your coins, and out comes a sack of coal.

Star Jets Blaze Path for Troops To Capture Hill

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 3—(AP)—Fire-bombing F-80 Shooting Star jets blazed a path for United Nations troops to capture a hill on the central Korean front today, the fifth air force reported.

The U.S. Eighth Army said action along the front was limited mostly to patrol clashes. Some were prolonged fights, including a 4½ hour battle in the No-Man's Land east of the Kaesong cease-fire neutral zone.

The air force said the Shooting Star jet in on the front-line action near Kumhwa, fallen eastern anchor of the old iron triangle. Four F-80s dove at reds on top of a hill for which U.N. ground forces were fighting.

To the east of Kumhwa, the Eighth Army reported day-long fights between U.N. patrols in the area south of red-held Kumsong and small communist units. Yesterday, allied troops advanced up to two miles along a seven-mile

WEDDINGS

HAYES—SMITH

A quiet, but pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, July 28, at 3 p.m., in the United Church parsonage, Madoc, when the Rev. J. F. Lane united in marriage Helen Beatrice Smith, of Peterborough, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Smith and the late Mr. Smith, to Stewart Walter Hayes, of Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hayes.

The bride was becomingly attired in a street-length dress of pale blue lace over taffeta with corsage of red roses. She was attended by Miss Viola Herrington, of Peterborough, wearing a pretty dress of yellow net and corsage of bronze roses.

Mr. J. Jackson, also of Peterborough, attended the bridegroom.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Detroit, and other western points, the bride travelled in a grey ensemble with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Hayes will reside in Peterborough, upon their return.

BOULTON—RAYNHAM

The vestry of Wall Street United Church, Brockville, was the scene of a pretty wedding, Wednesday afternoon, July 25, when Miss Shirley Joan Raynham, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Raynham, 18 Front Ave., Brockville, became the bride of Ross Hanlan Boulton, son of Mrs. E. Boulton, 63 Pearl Street West, Brockville, and the late H. R. Boulton. Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a lacey blue dress with white and blue accessories. Her flowers consisted of a nosegay of pink and white carnations and baby's breath.

The bride was assisted by Miss Vivian Halladay, 150 North Augusta Road, Brockville, who wore a dress of blue with net top and navy and white accessories. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and baby's breath.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. W. Jenkinson, 14 Hill Street, Brockville. Assisting in receiving the guests were Mrs. R. Raynham and Mrs. R. Boulton. Both wore navy blue sheer with white accessories and corsages of yellow roses. A buffet lunch was served to the many guests.

Following a visit to Kingston and other points west of Brockville, the young couple took up residence at 82 Pearl Street West.

Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. E. Nolan and son, Douglas, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. W. White and Mrs. J. Peters, of Kingston; Mrs. J. Hall and Mrs. MacDonald, of Prescott.

Leather-Soled Shoes Best On Pavements

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Warm weather means most women are doffing high-heeled pumps for flat play-shoes. Foot specialists frown on this.

One Toronto chiropodist says high-heeled pumps cause the muscles in the calf of the legs to shorten. Hence, a sudden drop in flat-heeled shoes may result in "leg pains". He recommends a gradual "stepping down". First, medium heels, then flat ones.

Leather-soled shoes are the most comfortable on city pavements. Incidentally, the foot experts think platform soles are a good idea. He says they're easy on the feet, providing added protection against uneven ground and pebbles.

Afternoon is regarded by most foot experts as the best time of the day to fit shoes. If your foot tends to swell in hot weather it will be at its largest in the afternoon.

Finally, different makes of shoes and different lasts mean you never know what size shoe you take until you have your foot measured. A good shoe salesman will measure the foot both when you are sitting and when you stand.

"When the weight is on the feet they elongate one-sixth of an inch," said the expert. "Weak arches may cause the foot to elongate even more than that."

So beware if you're spending a country or sea-side holiday. The experts say this is fine summer foot travel but if you're in a position to do it.

Saved Ailing Owl Now Firm Friend

Vancouver, Aug. 2—(CP)—Mrs. M. W. Knight has made a lifetime hobby of patching up injured and sick birds and is widely known as "the bird doctor."

As spare time volunteer with the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, ailing birds are taken to the Knight home in Burnaby, Vancouver's eastern suburb, at all times of the day and night.

One recent patient was a Saw-Whet owl, sore-eyed, starved and half dead. Mrs. Knight fed it with an eye-dropper and restored it to health.

"It's very rare to have a tame owl, but this one knows me now," she said. "It will fly across the room to me."

She has set broken legs, cured partially paralyzed birds and other ailments.

She and her husband love birds and have been breeding budgerigars for 20 years, Fanciers say they own the best budgie collection on the west coast.

Christ Church Guild Enjoys Fine Outing

Wednesday afternoon a fleet of motor cars met at Christ Church where the members and friends of Christ Church Guild were assembled and conveyed them to the delightful summer-cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ling, on the Bay of Quinte, where, amid the balmy breezes and friendly shade of the surrounding trees, a delightful time was enjoyed.

During the afternoon, several partook of the motorboat rides on the Bay, and later delved into the mysteries of the unknown made clear through the medium of the tea cups with Mrs. Clarence Holmes as the soothsayer, whose clever interpretations held her listeners entranced.

Possibly, the highlight of the afternoon was the sale of potted plants under the skilful auctioneering of the Rev. Everett Smith, which coupled with his ever-bubbling humor added zest to the occasion and resulted in a most successful venture.

Mrs. Charles Ling, Mrs. William Kempston and Mrs. M. B. Button, the convenors, assisted by Mrs. Cecil Ling, and Mrs. James Ling, served bountiful refreshments, after which a social gathering together was the order of the day.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Let your friend make his own decisions—it's none of your affair

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My gentleman friend has a problem which I know is serious.

Five years ago, he was going with a divorced girl. They had been going together about a year when she asked him if he wanted to marry her, telling him that there was another fellow who did. He told her he wasn't quite ready for marriage, as if she wanted to marry the other fellow, it was all right with him. So she did.

However, after five years, she got in touch with him and wanted to see him. He agreed to meet her and she now tells him that she made a mistake in marrying the other fellow, that her husband gambles and has many other faults and she wants to take up her friendship with my friend again. She also has a son.

What do you think of this situation? My friend and I like each other very much, but have only been going together a few weeks. Do you think he should get involved with this other woman again?

C. B.

Dear C.B.:

If you have only been going with this man for six weeks, what I think of the situation is that, to put it bluntly, this matter is none of your business and you should keep out of it. If you had been going with him for a long time, and were engaged to him, it would be entirely different. As it is, you are only a casual friend, and I don't think he'd appreciate at all any advice from you, nor would it be appropriate for you to offer it.

Personally, I should think he would not be particularly flattered to be used in resuming a friendship with a girl who meant so little to him before that he was glad it was quite all right with him if she married someone else. That is neither here nor there, however, and if you are wise, you will keep your hands off and leave him to make up his mind by himself.

Her father's a factory worker—she likes a banker's son

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For nearly a year, I have been going steady with a boy whose family is quite high in society. He is the son of a banker, and his mother looks down on me because my father works in a factory.

He wants to marry me, and I want to marry him, too, but he is going to college for seven years, and I don't want to wait that long. Besides that, I can't forget his mother's attitude. I know I wouldn't be marrying his family, but I know I'd have to see them if I married him, and I wouldn't know what to do or say. We have quarreled about his mother and so far haven't solved a thing.

Please tell me what to do. I am 16 years old.

B. J.

Dear B.J.:

It seems to me the only sensible thing for you to do would be exactly what this boy suggests, and that is to wait. There is nothing like waiting for time to clarify a confused situation.

Even though there were no complications here, you still should not think of getting married at 16. And especially not when there is a problem like this involved. No girl of your age is equipped to cope with the in-law problem of this kind, while if you waited until you are older and have acquired more poise, judgment, maturity and social experience, you would probably be able to hold your own with this boy's family and in the circles in which they move.

And one more thing which you will probably not believe, that is, it is not at all impossible that if you wait, you will decide, a few times over, that you don't want this boy after all, and your problem will solve itself.

Calfskin Classic for Shirts

A CAPACIOUS handbag of polished calfskin in black, brown or tan is made in two halves which are curved like a heart, and is equipped with a single broad handle strap.

This is primarily an accessory for a classic suit, but unless we miss our guess, next winter will see many women wearing handsome wool coats rather than fur, of rough texture but soft and light fabric, and this is just the type of handbag which will look best

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

The circumstances where it is proper for a stepmother to be introduced as "my mother"

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

I am in my early teens, and I have a problem which I wish you would advise me about. I live in a very small town where everybody knows everyone else, and everyone knows that my "mother" is really my "stepmother". I am an only child, and when I was six months old, my mother died, and shortly afterward my father married my mother's sister. She has always been simply marvelous to me, I have always thought of her as my mother, and have always called her "mother". I love her very dearly. Here there was no question about introductions, for everyone knew. But next year I am going away to school, and then, at school and probably other places, there will be many and many introductions. I want to introduce her as "my mother". Would this be proper, or must I say "stepmother"?

Anne M.

Please follow your loving inclination dear girl . . . it is proper, very naturally and very warm-heartedly proper, in the circumstance when one has known no other mother but the stepmother to whom one feels a deep and abiding devotion, to mention her as "my mother". (And the same applies to the use of "my father", when the only father one has ever known is the stepfather to whom one is deeply devoted.) Omitting the "step" and using only "mother" is the perfect way for you to pay the perfect tribute to this beautiful and real relationship. And I am sure your mother would lovingly approve of this gesture of yours to her sister, who has been so shiningly good to you, so "like a mother" to you that she deserves this dear name.

Mother and father give engagement presents to son and his fiancee

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

My husband and I would like to know if it is proper to give gifts at our son's engagement party, which will be this month, in New York City. He is in the Air Force. If it is proper for us to give gifts, please suggest the kind of gift.

H. N.

Do you mean that this is the engagement announcement party? If so, you will probably want to take or send an engagement present to your son's fiancee. This

Denim play costume

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

DENIM does a good job this year for beach, country and casual togs, and in color has progressed far from the deep and faded blues associated with this sturdy fabric. For instance, these pedal pushers are of denim striped in two and eight, and their contrast nicely with the smart blouse. This is of black nylon, a sleeveless model that drapes ties in centre front, and has a casual collar above the shiny kind of present is generally something for the engaged girl's personal use, as distinguished from the wedding present which is something for the new home. Suggestions for this present: a daytime purse, or evening bag; a piece of jewelry, real or costume; a vanity case; a photograph frame (for future use to frame the wedding photograph); a pen or pencil, perhaps a matching set, and perhaps engraved with her name and the date of the announcement of the engagement; travel clock or dresser clock; jewel case; dresser set; lingerie for her trousseau; embroidered with her first name or her initials; comb, in case, for her evening bag.

If you mean what would be appropriate to give your son on this so-important occasion, the gift might be a wrist watch, pen and pencil set; wallet; for you and your husband might prefer to give him a cheque to buy for himself something he would find especially "longed-for".

Danish housewives dislike dead fish.

At least when they visit the fish market they like to see the carp and bass actually flapping in the pools before the fish are weighed and cleaned for cooking.

In some large city markets in the United States this same practice can be seen. Connoisseurs of sea, for instance, want to see them wriggle before they are dispatched to the frying pan.

The flavor of fresh fish deteriorates the minute the fish is out of water. If the fish are recently caught and properly iced, the deterioration is not great. Then there are some fish such as salmon or large cod which it would be impractical to keep in the live state.

Nevertheless in choosing fish, you can readily detect the signs of freshness. Look for Blood around the gills, bright eyes and firm flesh with no trace of stickiness. At this time of the year all salmon should be fresh, since it is mid-season for the fish. Use fresh salmon, or canned, for stuffing green peppers.

Green Peppers Stuffed with Salmon—Serves 4.

3-4 lb. salmon steak
4 large green peppers
1-4 cup finely chopped onion
1-2 cup drained canned tomatoes
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1-2 cup raw rice
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
Salt—pepper—paprika
2 tablespoons bread crumbs
Salad oil

Wash the salmon. Cover with cold water in a saucepan. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1-2 teaspoon pepper to water. Bring to a boil. Simmer 10 to 12 minutes or until salmon flakes easily when pressed with a fork. Drain salmon.

Cut off a thin slice from the stem end of each pepper. Remove seeds and membranes from inside. Put the peppers in boiling salted water. Boil 2 to 3 minutes or until peppers just begin to soften.

Drop 1-3 cup raw rice into a saucepan containing 1 quart boiling salted water. Boil 15 to 20 minutes or until tender. Drain rice.

Break the salmon into flakes. In a mixing bowl put the salmon, onion, tomatoes, butter, cooked rice, parsley and salt and pepper to taste.

Stuff the peppers with the salmon mixture. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika. Sprinkle lightly with salad oil. Put the peppers upright in a greased baking pan. Bake at 375 degrees 30 minutes or until tops are browned and peppers tender.

Sturgeon Catch Is Big Business On Albany River

Fort [illegible] (CP)—From this northern settlement on the banks of the Albany river scores of Indian fishermen have made their annual trip to the sturgeon fishing grounds.

From now until just before freeze-up they will live in tents and wikiups, with only occasional visits to the Hudson's Bay Company post here or to Johnny Yesno's free-trading establishment across Lake Eabemet.

With sturgeon selling at nearly $1.50 a pound in New York, the Indians expect this season's business may be even more lucrative than usual.

The operations in this area among the most interesting of all commercial fisheries.

The fish are caught in nets or by night lines, with diced pieces of pike or other coarse fish as bait. Each morning the Indians set out by canoe or outboard motor to bring in their catch. It isn't very thrilling from the sports fishing angle, for the sturgeon, including fish of 100 pounds or more, "come in like a log".

Still alive, the fish are moored to stakes set in the muddy banks of the river or the lakes formed by its widening and are kept alive until aircraft come in to pick them up. When the fishing and the weather are good, the planes make daily calls at all the camps along the river and, at the same time, deliver food, medicine, mail and other supplies to the various bands.

As soon as the plane is heard, the live fish are quickly hauled to the bank where they are cleaned and weighed by the pilot who sets up portable scales on a tripod and "pays off" immediately. The fish are partly processed at Nakina, rail and shipping centre, and then go on to New York.

Urges More Comfort For Air Travellers

Montreal. (CP)—Aircraft designers neglect human comfort when building their airliners, said Sir William Hildred, head of International Air Transport Association, in a recent interview.

Sir William, who flies 100,000 miles a year, said that present-day aircraft are wonders of safety, speed and durability. But inside, where passengers live and form their opinions of flying, things aren't too good.

The average passenger wants to sit, read, sleep, eat and clean-up. None of these things can be performed adequately in any aircraft in the western world, he said.

The seats, he claimed, cut off the circulation in the thighs, and there is not enough leg room to allow the passenger to lie back and catch a nap.

Eating is still an unsolved problem with trays that are inadequate for average use.

The light switch is directly over the passenger on the roof. To reach it the passenger must lift himself from the seat and paw overhead.

If he can't reach the switch and decides to ring for the stewardess, he can't—the bell button is beside the light switch.

Teachers Deplore Schoolboy Manners

London—(CP)—British schoolboys, especially the fat variety are none too pleased about the rebukes they receive from speakers at the annual conference here of the Association of Headmistresses.

The boys were bluntly told they lacked a show of good manners in public, while the palm for exemplary behavior was extended to the girls—mainly those between the ages of 17 and 20.

Said Miss L. M. Savill, a retired headmistress living in Oxford: "I travel a good deal in buses and what I hear so often from parents is 'Don't you move—you paid for your seat.'

"I watch old people and those returning home after a tiring day's work, standing while these fat boys sit unconcernedly, never dreaming of getting up. Perhaps Oxfordshire manners are worse than others."

Miss B. A. Tonkin, of Harrogate, agreed. She had never met a schoolboy — certainly not the Shirley variety—who had given up his seat on a bus or train. Such courtesy, she added, was usually confined to schoolgirls and girls between 17 and 20 who had just left school.

"Parents have to be taught consideration and kindness before the school can drill those qualities into the children," Miss Tonkin said. "If parents say 'Don't you get up,' the parents will always win."

Reds Bludgeon Oshawa Hurler But Bow to Viaduct Loopers In Error-Riddled Exhibition

Oshawa, Aug. 3 — Although outhit, Oshawa Merchants took advantage of errors and had fielding to nose out Belleville Redmed 7-6 here last night in an exhibition game that saw both teams ready to fold.

Sam Mulholland with four hits in five trips to the plate was the big hitter for the visitors and although all his mates got at least one hit, Fitzpatrick, Goyer, with two apiece were the best in the matter of continuing the attack.

Three hits, all singles by Sam Mulholland, Dick Fitzpatrick and Vern Goyer, gave Belleville their first run in the third inning and Tommy Buchkowsky's long drive scored Sam Mcllholland in the 5th.

No Clicks in 6Zxth

Belleville loaded the bases in the 6th but couldn't click. But in the 7th inning, Vern Goyer opened with a double, Tommy Buchanan singled and Johnny Dean doubled, scoring later on a bobble plus an outfield putout.

In the 7th, Vern Goyer doubled, Buchanan singled and Dean doubled, scoring later on an outfield fly, to give the Redmen their final three runs.

In the fourth inning, Belleville's defensive play came apart at the seams. Don Reeves erred on a grounder by Sherry Rowland then Dick Fitzpatrick missed a pop-up by Morales, Johnny Kitchen sacrificed nicely and another error put him on 1st. Barnes grounded to Tommy Buchanan at 1st and the latter's throw to the plate was high and wide. Rope got a clean single to left, which was fumbled momentarily by Goyer and that concluded Oshawa's 4-run rally. They added one on three hits in the fifth and two in the sixth when Rog Wood tripled and Don Rope pitcher Stan Miller had both connected for single hits.

Five Errors in Row

Merchants had less hits than the visitors but they made them count. Five errors in succession in the 4th inning gave Oshawa four unearned runs and put them out in front. Sam Mulholland and Willis Fordham shared the pitching honors, Fordham giving up in the 8th.

Sam Mulholland with four hits in five trips, was the biggest hitter of the night. Don Rope of Oshawa was next with two singles and a triple while Fitzpatrick, Goyer and Rogers, all had two hits.

Miller was hit hard but he kept them scattered fairly well to chalk up a victory.

The score at the end of the first period was 3-3, at half time 4-3 for Fergus, and at the end of the third it was 8-4 for the Thistles.

Majestic Brooke Wins Feature At Thorncliffe

Toronto, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Majestic Brooke, owned by Stanley Love of Milton, Ont., and driven by Keith Waples, won both divisions of the featured pacing stake at Thorncliffe track Thursday.

Majestic Brooke just jogged to win the first dash in 2.13. In the second dash he was pressed by Tarnabout, owned by J. S. McIntyre of Peterborough, but won by a good length.

In another divided stake, both divisions were won by Laurel Axworthy, owned by Emerson Letcy of Meadowvale, Ont., and driven by Wilfred Gulse. Laurel Axworthy was forced to travel the final half mile on the outside in order to beat Symbol Majesty, which held stubbornly until the final 70 yards.

The Thorncliffe Raceway meeting will continue through Saturday afternoon, and then will suspend operations at the request of the Ontario Racing Commission during the meeting of the runners at Hamilton Jockey Club. It is expected that Thorncliffe will re-open on Aug. 11 and run through Labor Day.

PAKISTON RADIO

Karachi, (CP)—Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan recently opened Radio Pakistan's new 14-studio broadcasting house here. The functioning of the new radio headquarters will mark the completion of the first phase of Radio Pakistan.

DID NOT GET MUCH

Toronto, Aug. 3. (CP)—An 18-year-old burglar who stole $65,000 worth of merchandise in 17 separate robberies received only $8,000 for his crimes, Toronto police said Thursday.

James North was sentenced Thursday to a year in reformatory. An accomplice now is serving two years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Detective Bamlett said there was no doubt that the youth was directed by hardened criminals and that he had been fleeced by fences when he disposed of the stolen goods.

COSTLY INITIATION

Port Elizabeth, South Africa. (CP)—The high price of woollen blankets is making things difficult for young Africans entering the manhood initiation ceremony. A black-striped white blanket is needed by each entrant but, say the youths, a blanket now costs the price of "a whole herd of cattle".

SCRAP IRON SHORTAGE

Owen Sound, Ont. (CP)—Local factories are again advertising for scrap metal. Almost 60 per cent of the present supply is hauled to town by district farmers but the town has to supply the rest.

May, May Not Name New Baseball Boss

New York, Aug. 3—(AP)—Will the 16 Major League owners pick a new commissioner of baseball when they meet here next Tuesday?

"I doubt it very much," said President Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia Phillies Thursday.

However, the Chicago Herald-American reported that George J. Schoenman, retired United States internal revenue commission "probably will" be named.

In Washington, Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio hinted that he had been approached for the job.

Who said You can't Afford a Fine Car?

MANY's the man who has paid far more for a fine car than the price of this beauty—and got less than this gay and gallant traveller offers. Sweeping proudly past you, it has a distinction that few cars can equal.

Stepping nimbly away from a stop light, it has the willing surge of power that the very exclusive combination of a Fireball engine and Dynaflow Drive* delivers.

It rides the road with majestic smoothness, and comes to a smooth and gentle halt, in response to the finest brakes that Buick engineers ever developed.

Inside, it has spacious room, from side to side and front to back and seat to roof—plus a softness of cushions and a richness of fabrics which bespeak the custom standards to which it is built.

All you could want in a fine car is here in abundance.

But don't let that fool you into deciding "It's too rich for me."

If you've looked into 1951 car prices generally, you'll discover this:

You can own a BUICK for little more than an ordinary car will cost—and for several hundred dollars less than the price tags usually found in "the fine-car field."

Why not look into this today?

REDS BACK STIFF TEST!

The Redmen, their eyes trained on that second slot position in the Central Ontario Baseball League, will have to be on their best behavior tomorrow night at the Exhibition Park when they cross diamond rapiers with the powerful Smiths Falls Royals. The Ryals were set back on their overly haunches the other night by the potent Brockville Memees who have spent quite a "spell" looking down at the rest of the pack, and they'll be in no jovial mood tomorrow, at least as far as baseball is concerned. They take on the Picton Athletics over the bay tonight and, it is presumed, Harry O'Brien's crew will make an all-night stand somewhere in these parts instead of making the long trek home and back here tomorrow.

If the Reds can maintain the batting power they produced against Picton Wednesday night they should emerge with another victory. The Fallsers, however have no ideas of relinquishing that second - place rung on the loop ladder and fandom hereabouts can look forward to a stirring diamond battle.

On Monday, Civic Holiday, the Reds pay a return visit to Smiths Falls which will be their sixth game in eight days including Sunday. The lads are getting plenty of the diamond exercise and that includes the barbers.

BRODA HERE FRIDAY!

Next Friday night, not Saturday, Turk Broda and his National Hockey League All-Stars will be here to tangle in a baseball duel with the Redmen. The date has been changed in deference to the Belleville Agricultural Society whose annual exhibition starts the following Monday. The Turk will be here in person on Friday, having received from a gallant admirer with an appendectomy tossed in for good measure. The rainchecks issued following the rained - out game a week or so ago, will be honored at Friday night's exhibition. The regular day, Saturday, the Reds journey to Brockville for an afternoon game with the league-leading Memees. The game has been switched from the Friday night previous.

BEST OF THE CIRCUITS

Crack Toronto drivers and others, save of the auto racing sport, will be at Speedway Parkland on Monday afternoon for, what Promoter Dick Burrowes says will be the largest meet ever held in this part of Ontario. Among those who have indicated their intention of being on hand are Bill Wilson, George Brown, Dave Hoos, Reg Scott, all of Toronto; Earl Redfern, Malton; Frank Carlisle, Malton; Howard Whiteside, Allision; Graham Robinson, Toronto, and others.

Also here will be Wally Branston, sensational Toronto driver who holds the stock car track record of Speedway Parkland of 32 seconds. George Bowers has envious eye cast on the mark and will try to set a new record. Bei Branston, who will be several and if Bowers clicks, Wally will get up there and lop off another second or so — or try to. So it looks like a thrilling record-breaking duel between these dare-devils of the raceways.

Local drivers will be out in force, too. Included are a car from the Keene Auto Park; C. Johnson, Mac Huddleston, Boyce Cook, Ray Cook, of Belleville, Frank Andre and Warren Day, Kingston, Frenchie Gervoux, Napanee, Carl Gendron, Gananoque and Jerry Ball, of Belleville, who is gaining quite a reputation as a driver.

The track will be in good shape and Promoter Burrowes is leaving no stone unturned to have the biggest, most thrilling program card he has presented to the public this year. The first heat gets under way at 2.30 p.m.

PROTEST HEARD TONIGHT

The hearing of the protest regarding the game between Belleville Motors and Cleaner Combines of the "AA" Section of the Commercial Softball League gets under way tonight at eight o'clock at the residence of Reg Wardle, Meyer and Lingham Sts. The protest stems from the umpires calling a game because of rain, when two batters were out.

MIKE AND BILLY

Challenger Mike Sharpe, who gets his big chance at the British Empire title when he meets Champion Wrlpper Billy Watson in the ring at the Memorial Arena tonight, figures he has the advantage in their important wrestling encounter. "I have a definite edge over Watson in three departments that really count," Mike declares. "I'm younger, heavier and taller than Watson and I think those points will count heavily, particularly the longer the match goes".

In the semi-final, Lee Henning, of Iowa, will meet Ben Sharpe, of Hamilton, Mike's brother. The first match will be George Scott against Dave Simms.

Miss Rina Anderson, 30, Danish-school-teacher gave up her fifth Britain-to-France channel swim attempt Thursday within five or six miles of the French coast.

At Folkestone Miss Anderson said she would have another try at the channel this summer.

A spokesman for Montreal Alouettes, big-four football team, Thursday night announced the club has cut two United States imports from its roster. This brings the number of imports still with the squad to eight, one over the maximum allowed.

Residents of Shawinigan Falls, Que., may have to go without senior hockey this year.

At Rochester, N.Y., Bobby Kellman, 11, Thursday was credited with being the youngest local golfer to score a hole-in-one.

Bobby's ace was scored freakishly on the 123-yard 15th at Oak Hill Country Club. Driven by a spoon, the ball landed in a trap, bopped to the green and rolled in the cup.

Tribe Clicks, Red Sox Win Two Tigers Hang Egg on Yankees; Brooks in Front by 10 Games

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Talk about traffic jams. The American League standing is a jumbled mess of Sunday drivers with everybody honking the horn to go by. Only one game separates the speeding Yanks, Red Sox and Indians with eight weeks to go.

Yesterday Boston won two, Cleveland won one and the leading New York Yanks were shut out by Detroit, 5-0. Even Chicago picked up ground and now trails the Yanks by six games in fourth place.

It'll just the opposite in the National where Brooklyn opened up a 10-game gap on New York by bombing Pittsburgh 10-5 while the Giants took it on the chin at Chicago, 6-3. The Phillies, in third place 15½ games out, edged Cincinnati 7-3, and Boston and St. Louis played one of those "suspended games" affairs. The Braves catch a train to Chicago, with Boston leading 7-3 in the last of the ninth. They'll complete it Sept. 13.

Tivers Blank Yanks

Probably the top thrill of the day was Bob Cain's remarkable relief job for Detroit at Yankee Stadium. The curve-balling lefty saved Hal White's shutout with a brilliant performance.

Detroit led 2-0 in the seventh. The Yanks had three men on, nobody out and the scout was two balls, no strikes on pinch-hitter Johnny Hopp. Then Cain replaced White.

Cain's first pitch was a ball. He followed with three curves to nip Hopp on a called third strike, Billy Martin and Gene Woodling fanned on sweeping hooks to retire the side. The slim lefty blew down the next six men in order in the eighth and ninth.

Boston popped up with a new slugger—Charlie Maxwell—to hit pinch homers both days, reassuring the Red Sox of their second-place standing over St. Louis, 11-6. They manhandled the Brownies in the opener 12-1 behind Ray Scarborough's eight-hit pitching.

Maxwell, recently recalled from the Louisville Farm, had hit two pinch homers before yesterday. This one came off Satchell Paige in the seventh to change a slim 7-6 lead into a solid 11-6 margin.

Doby Hits Homer

Larry Doby hit the longest homer seen at Washington since Babe Ruth hit one over the centerfield fence in 1923, Doby's cleared the 35-foot wall, 408 feet from the plate in centre in the fifth inning as with Dale Mitchell on base to help nail down a 5-3 Cleveland triumph. Steve Gromek went all the way with a four-hitter.

Jim Busby hit a 10th inning homer for Chicago's 4-3 victory over Philadelphia A's. Gus Zernial smashed his 24th homer for the A's off winner Randy Gumpert in the fifth.

Andy Pafko led the Dodgers at Pittsburgh with a double and two singles that knocked in four runs. Pee Wee Reese hit his ninth homer and two singles and Duke Snider added three singles to the 14-hit attack. Carl Erskine went the route for his 11th victory.

Bob Rush got into the win column for the first time since June 19 by stopping the Giants with four hits. Sandy Jackson's 13th homer with Hal Jeffcoat on base gave the Cubs an early lead off loser Sheldon Jones.

In the suspended St. Louis game, Bob Elliott was the big gun for the Tribe with two homers. Sam Jethroe and Sid Gordon also hit for the circuit.

The Phils bopped on Herm Wehmeier and Ken Raffensberger to come from behind with five runs in the eighth inning. Del Ennis' 13th homer assured the 7-5 victory. Willie Ryan hit a home run for Cincy.

Sports Roundup

By WILL GRIMSLEY
(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 3—(AP)—The meteoric tennis rise of Cincinnati's young Tony Trabert has got a new sparkle in the eyes of the little silver-haired court master—Walter Pate.

"He's the nearest thing to Budge I've seen," the famous United States Davis Cup captain said today, "if he doesn't become one of our greatest players I'll be badly fooled."

When Pate speaks of tennis greatness he doesn't speak of Bill Tilden, little Bill Johnston or any of the hard-stroking moderns—Jack Kramer, Ted Schroeder or Pancho Segura.

He speaks only of Budge, the tall California redhead who ruled amateur and later professional ranks in the late 1930s.

"Budge undoubtedly was the greatest player I ever saw," Pate said.

"He had everything—tremendous power, a great service, a fine net game, stamina and a bulldog competitive spirit."

Trabert Tribute

"This young Trabert is the Budge type player," said Pate, who will referee the U.S.-Mexico cup matches this weekend at Rye, N.Y.

"He never temporizes his strokes. He is always bearing down, always applying pressure to his opponent. He has what the boys today call the big game—a strong service, powerful drives off both backhand and forehand and a decisive net game. I don't see how he can miss."

Obscure Golfer Leads Yank Pros In Rich Tourney

By JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Aug. 3 — (AP) Little-known John Barnum today led a well-jumbled field into the second round of the $15,000 All-American pro golf tournament.

Barnum, 38-year-old 220-pounder, yesterday swiped the All-American spotlight from police - guarded Lloyd Mangrum with a sizzling 35-29 — 64 round, eight under par, for a three - stroke lead in the quest for a $2,250 top prize. Deadlocked for the runner-up spot were Jimmy Demaret and youthful Fred Hawkins each posting 67s.

Barnum, from Edinburg, Tex., zoomed over the back nine yesterday one stroke better than the previous course mark of 30, set by Byron Nelson in 1945.

Barnum used only 25 putts for his scorching tour of Tam's 6,915-yard layout.

In all, All-American amateur, defending champion Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, Ohio, was six strokes in front after an opening 66, one stroke over Tam's simonpure record.

Bakelite Drubs Jewellers 8-5; Share Top Slot

Bakelite and Avon Jewellers at the Alemite field last night in a free hitting contest by a score of 8-5 in a Commercial AA League fixture.

The win moved the Bakelite nine into a tie for first place in the league standing with a game in hand over Avons. Belleville Motor Car are two points behind both teams with a game in hand on Bakelite and two on the Jewellers. Cleaner Combines making a late season surge are pressing out Stewart-Warner being up the rear.

Bakelite, breaking fast from the barrier, batted three runs in the first inning. A walk, sacrifice, single by Cook and doubles by Cousins and Laven gave the winners a lead which they never relinquished.

Avons scored a pair in the third on three base hits but the Bakelite boys got single singles across in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings to regain their lead. Another paid by the Jewellers in the ninth kept the game close.

Bakelite batters made runs across in the ninth without benefit of a hit. A two-base error by Ford and singles by Cook and first allowed the runners to advance.

Avons threatened in the ninth as Ross singled, his fourth hit of the game, to left field and Dan McFaggart struck out but Murray doubled to centre field scoring Ross from first. Kelly lifted a high fly to Feaver in centre field and was safe when Art let the ball fall. Murray advanced to third on the play. Ford struck out for the second out but Feaver reached first a base on balls filling the sacks. Green bore down and forced Doran to pop up to third ending the game.

Dan Ross of Avons led all hitters for the night, getting four singles in five trips to the plate. Cousins, Cook and Lavin of Bakelite and McBride of Avons each had a pair of safeties. Two-baggers were bit by Murray, Cousins, Lucas and a pair of them by Lavin.

Bob Green, who has hurled in every game to date, turned in another good performance and although he was knicked for twelve safeties, managed to bear down in the clutch. He struck out another ten batters to give him a total of 134 he has fanned while pitched.

Day started on the mound for Avons, checking 6 2-3 innings before being relieved by Baldwin who finished the game. Day struck out two and walked four whereas Baldwin fanned a pair and passed only one. Day was charged with the loss.

Buffalo Hurler Perfect for Eight, Loses in Ninth

(By The Associated Press)

His pitched hitless ball for eight and lost the game 1-0 in the ninth!

That's what happened to Tom Acker of Buffalo Bisons last night. The only consoling part of the defeat is that he had no one to blame but himself.

A double by Bill Gardner, two singles and a walk produced the run that gave the seventh-place Ottawa Giants the triumph, and in the process pulled them out of the International League cellar.

Springfield Cubs, after getting out of the basement for one day, hit the bottom again by dropping a 6-2 decision to Syracuse Chiefs. Bob Keegan went all the way for the winners aided by an inside-the-park home run by Carden Gillenwater.

In the other two contests, the league-leading Montreal Royals crushed Toronto 7-3 and Baltimore Orioles shaded Rochester Red Wings 4-3.

Ross Grimsley had no trouble going the distance for the Royals. Primarily a relief pitcher, he was making his third start of the season. Irv Medlinger was charged with the loss.

Medlinger was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the sixth inning Sonny Day, formerly of Winnipeg's Medlak League outfit, relieved for second straight night and gave up three hits in three innings. Third baseman Charlie White, another Winnipeg import, stood out for the Toronto infield and led Leaf hitters with two singles, one scoring the first Toronto run.

Karl Drews of the Orioles had a close tussle with Jack Pesholski even though he struck out eight Red Wings to pull his league-leading total to 104. Pesholski only allowed five hits, but three were for extra bases including a home run by Mike Gollat.

Young Players Crowd Veterans In Ladies' Golf

By W. K. WHEATLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Aug. 3 (CP) — The doubles-championships being staged simultaneously by Canadian lady golfers moved toward the two-third mark in one section today and the final in the other with a veteran showing the way.

But cheering Mrs. A. E. Darling of Montreal Whitlock were those three half-a-dozen younger golfers, including her niece, from one 36 five strokes off the veteran's first 18-hole round yesterday.

In yesterday's opening round of the Canadian ladies class 54-hole championship, Mrs. Darling shot a one-over-par 73.

It was the closest across could come to Laval's par 77 in the field of 87.

Aunt vs Niece

Pressing her aunt for the lead was Miss Delatry Chisholm of Royal Montreal, 1951 Quebec ladies champion, with 78.

These family - combination scores had a lot to do with Quebec's five-club lead in the inter-provincial team competition which ends today.

The aggregate medal score for Quebec's four-player team was 312.

Ontario, winners last year, scored 327. Leading the defending team was Mrs. Nelson J. Carlson of Toronto Rosedale-with 80, followed by an 83 scored by 17-year-old Marlene Stewart from the Lookout Point Club, Fonthill.

British Columbia's team remained within striking distance with 330. Other provinces in the seven-team competition were far behind.

Only two strokes away from Mrs. Darling's 73 were Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Peter Patch of Montreal Whitlock.

Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, at 82, was low for the B.C. team. With Miss Stewart at 83 were Miss Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta., another 17-year-old junior golfer, and Miss Babe Daniel of Vancouver Marine Drive. The Alberta girl was low scorer for her team by five strokes.

One of the biggest disappointments yesterday was the 15-over-par 92 shot by Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal Whitlock, winner in 1950, with a 54-hole score of 268.

Scottish Peace Sets World Mark For Two-Mile Pace

Westbury, N.Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Scottish Peace set a world record of 4.13 3-5 for two miles in the $50,000 Nassau pace last night, easily winning over 11 opponents in a race marred by two accidents.

The six-year-old bay son of Scotland-Millie Worthy, driven by Wayne (Curley) Smart, led for all but one lap in the four trips around Roosevelt Raceway's half-mile oval.

Six lengths behind in second place was Dudley Hanover, from the Hayes Fair Acres Stable, Duquesin, III. Another three-quarters of a length away in third place came Highland Ellen, owned by Ralph H. Kroening, Milwaukee.

Wins $22,500

The winner returned $2.30, $2.80 and $3.70. Dudley Hanover paid $10.20 and Highland Ellen in the betting field, paid $7.80 and $10.20.

The horses hardly got away when Thomas R. Scot, driven by Tom Carlock, stumbled and went down. Weyroff, driven by Frank Safford, piled into the downed horse and sulky and rolled over in a heap. The reinsmen and horses, however, were uninjured but the buck was cleared before the field came around again.

Coming into the stretch for the third time after almost 1¼ miles, a wheel broke on the sulky of Stormyway driven by Charles Allen and locked with a wheel on the sulky of Wilby Mountain Boy. Neither went down, but they were out of the race.

The old mark for two miles, 4:18 4/5, was made in this same race two years ago by Gratian Mckhy.

Tom Gard's Note Book

August — the month of picnics! Here's a way to add that something special planned for the whole family — rain or overnight, if we are in the cottage and weather will permit, or a trip to some picnic area if we are home. Such occasions should be enjoyed by all young Canadians with much excitement beauty spots so close at hand.

It becomes the duty of every adult to learn and to teach safety measures with camp fires if this heritage is to be protected. Each year careless people cause serious losses through forest fires. At this time of year, when our forests are often tinder dry, cooking fires or camp fires should be built on solid rock or right out in the open on packed earth. Either have been thrown to smoulder for days and travel many feet underground before they break to the surface if the earth is laden with decaying roots and bits of wood. If a large flat rock is not handy, the Gards use rolls of sod torn from sides of the fire pit and carry the weight of the cooking utensils.

Silhouettes

My teen-aged daughter is painting interesting silhouettes on glass and framing them with cardboard and black binding tape. She does a good job of it, too.

Son Jimmy, not to be outdone by his sister, brought home a set of "tin-can" lanthrones he had made during the craft period at his boys' camp. They were painted and ready for immediate use in his mother's "window" garden.

Fool Bait

When I sit down to relax and rest my feet up this winter, it will be with the aid of a new hassock made from a butter box. Just the finishing touches remain. The top has been carefully padded and covered with bright durable plastic. (All that remains to be done to complete the pattern being made with decorative tacks.)

AT THE McCARTHY

"Cyrano De Bergerac"

The story of Stanley Kramer's magnificent film, "Cyrano de Bergerac," which opened yesterday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release, provides the greatest actor-producer-director team in the long tour de force history of the theatre. Jose Ferrer, who portrays the romantic Cyrano in this first American film of the famous Edmond Rostand play, received the coveted Academy Award for his performance while the picture was still being roadshown in key cities.

Kramer did well in casting Jose Ferrer as the swashbuckling poet, swordsman and philosopher. Ferrer played the role brilliantly on Broadway a few seasons back and is now doing equally well in the film. With his assistance, Kramer has brought to colorful life the tragedy and comedy, pathos and passion, dash and derring-do that spells Cyrano de Bergerac." Not in the days of Douglas Fairbanks have picture audiences been treated to anything quite like it.

Carl Foreman wrote the screenplay, while cutting out unessential characters and bits of stage business not needed in the motion picture framework. On the other hand, he and director Gordon Kane caught the visual excitement and pageantry of many scenes which could only be talked of in the stage version, such as the magnificent masked scene in the Cyrano classes, single-handed with one hundred swordsmen.

For an actor with the accomplishments of Jose Ferrer, the part of Cyrano is practically foolproof. Nose and all, he is the epitome of Cyrano, giving us a remarkable picture of the 17th Century poet who loved his young cousin, the beautiful Roxane, with all the ardor of his great heart, but, because of his disfiguring nose, never made this love known to her. Instead, he wrote the impassioned love letters which were sent to her in the name of Christian, the young, inarticulate soldier she thought she loved, and who fought her with Cyrano's exquisite poetry and prose.

Mala Powers, an exquisitely beautiful girl quite new to the screen, plays Roxane with warmth and sincerity. William Prince is properly handsome and gauche in the role of Christian. The cast of Cyrano's arch enemy, De Guiche, is in the capable hands of Ralph Clanton, with Morris Carnovsky playing Le Bret and Lloyd Corrigan as Ragueneau, the poet.

"Cyrano de Bergerac"—as a film—offers something to all types of audiences. It has an exquisite, poetic love story unsurpassed in the realm of history or fiction.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

When Danny speaks, no one can compete. So, Doris Day, his leading lady in 'I'll Sep You In My Dreams," and I mostly listened at lunch as he told of his hectic film career. It went something like this:

"I all started when Joe Pasternak, the M. G. M. producer, caught my walking Syrian act at the Chez Paree in Chicago. 'Tell faces' he said, 'I've got to have that face!'

"So he brought me out to Hollywood to appear in "The Unfinished Dance" with Margaret O'Brien. I played a Greek cobbler, and for my efforts I received $120,000, which is no small potatoes.

"Pasternak brought me back to play a Jewish cantor in 'The Big City' again with Margaret O'Brien. I went to his office and he said, 'if only you would fix that big nose.' I said 'This nose is all right to play the Greek cobbler, but not the Jewish cantor!!'

"Anyway, I keep the nose and play the part. I am a comedian and I have played two character roles!

Face His Fortune

"Next Darryl Zanuck caught my act at Ciro's. Again I hear, 'That face! I've got to have that face!' So he signed me up to play a Greek soldier in 'Call Me Mister.'

"Now I a mplaying a Jewish song writer in 'I'll See You in My Dreams.' I don't know what my next role will be but I'm bound to be a Greek!"

Thomas is actually a Syrian, is naturally elated over his current role as twonsmith Gus Kahn.

"This is really off-beat casting," he declared. "This is a case in which an ugly bum (himself) gets the girl (Doris Day). I hope it comes off. It all depends on whether the audience wants the ugly bum to win her."

CANADA CONFUSING

St. Catharines, Aug. 3—(CP)—Canada is confusing to some of the American tourists who stop at the Ontario government information centre here. One traveller, who wanted to know if the signs "ESE" on the highway meant "ease right," was set straight with the expansion that they stand for Elizabeth Regina, Queen Elizabeth Highway. Several tourists asked if the pictures on the wall of the centre were of the Duke of Windsor and "Wally". They were assured that the pictures were of the King and Queen.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, August 4

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—Be carefully informed, study your own, others situations to know what is right. Ignorance is no excuse and often gets one in unwanted difficulties. Don't hurry unreasonably.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—Planets in generous position for business, professional or personal affairs thoughtfully handled. Proceed with genuine ambition, trust generally until you find otherwise. Be direct.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Draw up in astute array your best attributes; today you can make real headway. Don't wrangle or overstep; never be diplomatic, reasonable and effort will evolve into successes.

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—The attitude that nothing is impossible (with proper planning and effort) will hold many gains now. The unattainable has often come unexpectedly, in unusual ways. It could be your day.

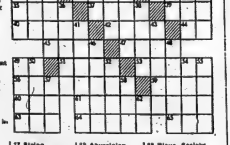
July 24 to August 22—(Leo)—Renew fine intentions. Employ clever ideas, they will fit neatly into day's schemes. Unifying advantages often is essential, if done rightly can repay untold benefits. Romance favored.

August 23 to September 22—(Virgo)—Push forward sensibly, auspicious day. In many instances, business, personal affairs stand fine chance of new credits. The key is keenness, observation, good humor.

September 23 to October 22—(Libra)—Some conditions may appear unacceptable, but there are favored conditions for all generously dispelled efforts. Well meant trys can thrive. Marriage, friendships especially prosper.

October 24 to November 22—(Scorpio)—Type of action to be used today is debatable. Analyze well first. Some adverseness that should serve to strengthen good will. Be open and aboveboard, astute for good balance.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius) Avoid running here, there; settle down. Solid work for solid achievement. Sound business ventures sanctioned. Personal affairs, romance in benefic category.



December 23 to January 21—(Capricorn)—No' halfway effort will do. Stars indicate you can gain certain merits with keen energetic effort. Envision results ahead from proper action. Don't rely on chance.

January 22 to February 20—(Aquarius)—Planets very favorably aspected! Facilitate activities by earnestly studying before acting. Avoid uncertain or timid approach; don't take dominating attitude either.

February 21 to March 20—(Pisces)—We emphasize the importance of knowledge and proper exercise of same this highly productive period. Be firm about essentials, requisites to goodness, happiness.

YOU BORN TODAY make able leaders, are liked by associates, full of fine ideas and ambition. Will take hardships well to accomplish goals. Have determination, persistency; are a generous spender of worldly goods and of your vitality. Watch this, it can cause setbacks. A natural ability for speaking, acting, music career; for business management when properly trained. Avoid over-frankness, stubbornness. Team work, co-operation rather than always fighting it alone, is best. Should make fine headway re-

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON OF THE WEEK

When Is a Man Rich

By ROY L. SMITH

Asked by a younger man, "When is a man rich?" the village philosopher replied, "When you have just a bit more."

There is something insidious about money. Occasionally it happens that a youth is ruined by poverty. More frequently it is the case that his ruin is due to the result of having too much.

On no subject did Jesus do more talking than that of money. At the very outset of His ministry He said, "a man's life does not consist of an abundance of things which he possesses," and "a man cannot live on bread alone."

Building Bigger Barns

The hero (?) of this week's Sunday school lesson is a man who had that gift which often men describe when they say, "Every thing he touched turned to money." He had success in what other farmers all about him failed even to get their seed back. He sold just as much as he was able and bought when they were lowest. His barns proved incapable of holding all the grain, and he built bigger ones to care for the crops which kept on increasing.

> The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 5: "Christian Principles in Earning a Living," Luke 12: 13-44a; 18:18-34; Acts 16:11-15; I Thessalonians 4:10b-12; II Thessalonians 3:7-10.

In the meantime his whole life was invested in his fortune. He did not have time to make friends or he was so busy making money. His old soul did not have time to grow soul, he was too busy growing crops. He did not build friendships, he had to build barns. He thought he had made a success of life because he had made a fortune.

Thy Soul is Required

Then there came a crisis hour when he stood in desperate need of that which money cannot buy. That scripture intimates that he faced death, but the need of a soul appeared to many men on many other occasions than their deathbed. It may have been that in an hour which calls for great nobility of mind and heart he had nothing with which to respond. It often happens that a man who has given his entire life to the accumulation of things finds himself in a spot where he would give everything for just a wee bit of spiritual skill—just a little familiarity with God.

When Baby Was Sick

A clergyman was called out of bed in the middle of the night by a young father whose baby lay dying at the hospital. The young man was reckoned as "one of the most successful business men of the city," but when the preacher arrived at the hospital he found the young "business genius" frantic with fear.

When the minister parted with the young father three hours later, the child seemingly improved, there was a quiet moment and then the young man said, "Doctor, I have learned my lesson. For ten years I have thought I could make it out without God. But when a man has to call a stranger, and ask him to pray for his baby, that's time for him to take stock of his own life. I'm going to learn enough about prayer so that when anything like this happens again, I can at least pray for my own first born."

Two Sides of Dollar

It would be wholesome exercise for most of us to consider the simple fact that every dollar has two sides—one is the spending side, and the other is the earning side—the both sides have some very important moral implications.

It is highly important, for example, that a man shall spend his dollars with judgment, but it is equally important that he shall earn them with integrity.

Wersking and Eating

The average American has been doing so much talking of late about economic security that he has almost forgotten that economic responsibility is also a necessity.

The strength of a nation lies in its power to produce, and the inefficient labor does not root back down in productivity is a parasite.

Good religion is concerned that every man's labors shall contribute to somebody's needs.

PRODUCTION RESUMED

Toronto, Aug. 3. (CP)—Production was resumed Thursday night at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant in suburban New Toronto when 400 tire room workers agreed to return to work after a two-day walkout.

Cause of the walkout—suspension of two workers who refused to work because the plant was too hot—will be subject to a grievance claim by the United Rubber workers. The tire room walkout brought about a production stoppage throughout the plant.

MEMBERS ON VACATION

London, Aug. 3. (Reuters)—British members of parliament went off on summer vacation on Thursday, uncertain whether they will be plunged into an election soon after parliament meets again October 16.

Prime Minister Attlee has given no hint when he will go to the country again. Provided he can cling to his effective majority of five—it could be cut through by-elections necessitated by the death or resignation of present M.P.s—and suffers no voting upsets in the Commons, he could put off a vote until 1955.

PROFESSOR APPOINTED

Hamilton, Aug. 3. (CP)—Dr. Naomi C. A. Jackson of Montreal has been appointed assistant professor of fine arts at McMaster University, it was announced on Thursday.

Miss Jackson, who recently returned to Canada after five years in Europe, will be Master of Arts degree from McGill and a doctor of Philosophy degree from Harvard-Radcliffe.

ANCIENT HURDY GURDY

Hurdy gurdy 400 years old is prize piece in the collection of musical instruments owned by A. J. Smith of Kitchener, Ont. The hurdy gurdy is a drone instrument whose four or six strings are vibrated by the turning of a rosin-covered wheel. Suggest Princess Told to Stay In Background

London, Aug. 3—(Reuters) — The Daily Mirror suggests today that Princess Margaret may have received Royal instructions to "soft-pedal the 'leader of fashion' business and keep out of the limelight for a while."

The Mirror says in a newspaper story that the Princess has appeared three days in succession at the fashionable Goodwood races "in the same yellow dress, and hasn't done any of the old spectacular things she used to do at Goodwood."

"She hasn't danced down to the paddock after almost every race," the Mirror says.

"She hasn't been down with her escorts to any of the little bars for a glass of champagne and has taken such a back seat in the Royal box that a lot of racegoers haven't even realized she was present."

Canada's Green Trees, Grass Remind Visitor of Sweden

Toronto, Aug. 3—(CP)—Canada's "green trees and grass" reminded Genevieve Hocdapied of Sweden.

"You have such lovely green trees and grass and everything is so clean," said the French girl. Genevieve and Huguette Lauvergeat, both from Paris, are two of 50 students from the United Kingdom and continental Europe now visiting this country. They are here as part of a special summer project sponsored by the friendly relations with overseas students, an organization co-operating with the International Student Service which is active in most universities.

The F.R.O.S. undertakes to look after students while here, helping them get jobs to pay their expenses, planning social and recreational activities, home hospitality and if possible a camp holiday.

In Paris, Genevieve and Huguette are students at the Haut Enseignement Commercial Pour Les Jeunes Filles. They are the only two girls in the Toronto party of 20 which arrived by plane from New York. The other six girls from overseas are visiting in Montreal and in other Canadian cities.

The girls live in an international students co-operative in central Toronto, together with an Indian girl, one from Hungary and three Canadians. All live according to their own customs, sharing national dishes and swapping recipes.

While here Genevieve and Huguette are doing clerical work, having landed jobs four days after their arrival. They hope to visit Ottawa and Niagara Falls during their stay in Canada.

Should Have No Difficulty Recognizing Car

Chicago, Aug. 3 — (AP)—Orville F. Andrews reported his automobile missing and told police they should have no trouble recognizing it. Andrews gave police this detailed description of the car:

A 1949 Chevrolet convertible body, mounted on a 1939 Studebaker chassis, with a 1948 Kaiser front bumper and a 1949 Oldsmobile rear bumper, plus a 1950 modified Chevrolet grill, with a 1950 Studebaker six-cylinder engine.

Andrews said the car has no top and is metallic blue.

He said he sold the car to a stranger for $1,200, but got only $25 before the stranger disappeared with the automobile.

By the time the first sitting was over the crowd at the gate had grown to more than 1,000.

The second lot filled in as the first, clutching bags of candies, went out.

Correspondents - turned-waiter went around cutting up the ham into little pieces for them.

"You can't tell me these kids aren't hungry," commented one as the youngster whose food he was chopping up wolfed it down as quickly as it slivered off his knife.

Flash - bulbs flared as photographers snapped shots of "Korean children going to a party." Broadcasters trotted out their microphones and tape records and said what a wonderful time the kids were having.

The waiting youngsters formed up for a final assault on the door, the group arranged around it in a semicircle.

The pause gave the reinforced guards the moment they needed to reassert control.

Slowly the pressure was reversed, a roar of anticipation became a giant wail of disappointment. As imperceptible almost as the invasion's advance had been, it went left, retreat. Soon the mass was back outside the gates.

There the gigantic cluster wailed, raising childish shouts for attention.

Finally the last 70 were pealed off the rim closest the entrance.

Some of the prizes were taken out into the street in consolation and, used as bait, were not distributed by the bearers until they had spread out through the surrounding area.

The noise was dying in the distance as inside the stuffy hall a little four-year-old got a round of applause and a prize (a pad of writing paper) for the song she sang from a table-top, a microphone close by.

United Nations Want Buffer Zone Between Yalu River And Present Battle Line

BY OLEN CLEMENTS

Tokyo, Aug. 4 (AP) — A supreme allied command press release today said the United Nations wants a Korean buffer zone somewhere between the Yalu River and the present battle line.

It was the first official statement that the U.N. allies wanted the buffer zone north of the present fighting line.

Air Force Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols shortly before this told correspondents at the U.N. advance headquarters in Korea, in reply to a question that the allies were going to be asked to a cease-fire line north of present battle lines.

"I believe it would be seriously in error and the wildest sort of speculation if you attempt to draw this line in the vast area between the present battle line and the Yalu River."

The statement was in a release issued by the joint information and education section of allied general headquarters under the title "background material on the establishment of a demilitarized zone."

Difference Lost Year

The release on the buffer zone said that if an armistice had been proposed last year, when allied troops were driven back to the Naktong River in South Korea, "the military demarcation line might have been near the Naktong River."

"On July 12," it continued, "the forces of the ROK (Republic of Korea) and United Nations Command had advanced and the North Korean forces were driven northward to the region of the Yalu and Tumen Rivers. Had an armistice been concluded at that time, the military demarcation line might have lain somewhere between the Sinanju-Hamhung line and the northern boundaries of Korea.

"It is that conjuncture, however, the aggressive forces of communist China imposed the boundary line into Korea and so changed the balance of conditions that the forces of Korea and the United Nations were forced to withdraw..."

Maintain Control

Since then, the release added, the U. S. Eighth Army has driven the reds back to a line running from Pyongtaek on the west Chonyang in the centre and the Yangdok River in the east. In addition, U. N. air and naval units have "gained and continued to maintain control up to the line of the Yalu and Tumen rivers."

Trail of Missing Airlift Plane Grows Cold

Vancouver, Aug. 4 — (C) — The trail of a missing Korean airlift plane grew colder today.

But search officials said they have no intention of giving up hope, "yet," nor another actually give up hope," one said.

The Canadian Pacific Airlines plane with 36 aboard vanished two weeks ago today somewhere between Fukuoka, Japan, the jagged strip of mountain and fiord, which is Alaska's Alaska proper.

The latest two of six clues turned up yesterday when an Alaska Coastal Airlines pilot said he and his passengers saw a yellow life raft and a fisherman reported finding a case of army rations.

For prevented a U.S. Coast Guard cutter from searching for the life raft last night. A plane was to pick up the army rations and take them to the search headquarters at Juneau, Alaska, for inspection.

The other four possible leads were traced down and discarded. A "ditching" signal shattered out of the north the day after the plane's disappearance. But their source could not be determined and searchers said they doubted that the U.S.S. came from survivors.

A little more than a week later, a shoe was found washed up, on an Alaska beach, it turned out that it had been thrown overboard from a fishing vessel.

Early in the week, a trucker reported he had seen what looked like a plane's wreckage high on a mountainside. An air check showed it to be a glacier.

Some planes have been searching every day since the plane disappeared. These included the U. S. Air Force from Alaska, R.C.A.F. planes from Whitehorse, Yukon; from Rupert, B.C., and Vancouver, and C.P.A. planes.

Two U.S. Coast Guard cutters have probed inlets along the panhandle as well.

Still — nothing.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Aug. 4 (CF) Synopsis: Saturday morning dawned clear and cool in Ontario. At Toronto the temperature was the lowest for August the fourth since 1886, when a low of 49 was also recorded. Sudbury has a record low of 34, while it was frost north of Lake Superior. White River's temperature dropped to a freezing 28.

For the remainder of the holiday weekend mainly sunny weather in all regions will help compensate for the unseasonable temperatures.

RED HILL READY TO GO OVER FALLS NOT WORRIED

Contraption for Trip Called 'The Thing'

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 4 (CP) — William (Red) Hill is set to go over Niagara Falls tomorrow in a queer — looking contraption of automobile tire tubes and netting.

He said yesterday he isn't worried a bit. In fact, he's so confident he has fixed the rules.

"I'll be turned loose at five minutes to two, and five minutes after two they will be hauling me into the pick-up boat," he told an interviewer.

Hill's queer craft, which he calls "the thing," will be dropped into the water by boat about half a mile above the falls. It's a 12-foot cigar-shaped combination ball and barrel made of inflated inner tubes. There are 13 puncture-proof tubes coming to a taper at each end.

Inside Hill will lie on an inflated air mattress.

Besides all that rubber and air will protect him when he goes over the brink of the 165-foot-high Horseshoe Falls on the Canadian side.

To those who say the betting is six-to-two that he won't survive, Hill's advice is to bet everything. "Bet your life it's a success, but don't fling the world for a loss," he says.

Hill, a sandy-haired fellow nearing 40, has lived with the constant Niagara roar all his life. He estimated that with his father, the late Red Hill, senior, he has taken other 250 bodies from the river, working with rowboats and grappling hooks.

He said his riverman father told him to make sure his contraption was light if he ever went over the falls. This was to ensure the craft would bounce away from the base of the falls and not be driven under and trapped by the weight of falling water.

"This is about the lightest thing I could get," he said. "When I get in it it won't weigh more than 250 pounds."

Huge Damage Suit Faces Comedians

Hal Wallis Associates Incorporated, has sued them for $2,000,000 damages, alleging they breached a contract under which they agreed to make seven movies.

The complaint, filed yesterday, names the comedians and the Paramount Pictures Corporation.

Washington, Aug. 4 — (AP) — The dismissal of 90 West Point cadets for cheating in exams prompted demands today for Congressional investigation of the military academy — including its football activities.

Senator Milton R. Young (Rep.-N. D.) urged Congress to probe the possibility that over-emphasis on football led to the breakdown in the academy's famed honor system.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief-of-staff, was reported to have blamed such over-emphasis yesterday in telling lawmakers of the mass dismissals, largest in the academy's 149-year history. Senator Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) said today the academy's game — winning football players cheated on exams because football practice cut down their opportunities to study.

West Point officials said the academy football team will play its fall schedule — win or lose.

Army sources said no faculty members of West Point were involved.

The dismissed cadets were accused of getting help on exams from outside help to pass classroom tests during the last few years.

Saltonstall said they were 90 of the cadets had admitted breaking the honor code and that it was probably would face a court martial or special trial to determine whether they should be withheld the names of those dismissed.

The dismissals were made as "general discharge" rather than "honorable discharge with certificates much greater stigma.

The army defined this as "discharge under honorable service satisfactory, soldier not qualifying for honorable discharge."

Some 1,600 to 1,700 cadets now at West Point were said to have been stunned by the action. The academy has a total enrolment of 2,520.

Details of Royal Tour Still Unknown but Itinerary May Be Out Within a Few Days

Ottawa, Aug. 4—(CP)— What towns and cities are going to be lucky enough to get a look at Princess Elizabeth and Duke of Edinburgh when they visit Canada during October?

And when?

Those questions will be answered when the itinerary for their tour, still being studied by government officials, is made public.

The best information today — and it may change tomorrow—is that it will be "some days" before the schedule is issued.

The hold-up apparently arises from the difficulty of keeping the tour as informal as possible, as the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh have requested, and of allowing as many Canadians as possible to see her.

A committee of government officials who have been working out the schedule has been working out requests from municipalities across the country for a place on the royal route.

Skeleton Draft Approved

A skeleton draft has been approved by the Princess. This must now be filled in.

It has been announced that the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh will arrive at Sept. 25 aboard the liner Empress of France, arriving at Quebec about Sept. 30. They hope to visit most of the principal Canadian centres.

From London, Prince Philip's official word that the Royal couple have accepted the invitation of President Truman to visit him in Washington, Oct. 24 to 26. It is not known whether they will visit other American cities.

It had been expected originally that the Princess and the Duke would remain in Canada about three weeks. However, the fact they will be in Washington from Oct. 24 to 26 indicates their stay on this continent will last about a month.

Wani Week to Selves

The fact they now are scheduled to be in Washington toward the latter part of October also indicates their tour of Canada might follow this rough—and unofficial—pattern:

They would land at Quebec about Sept. 30, visit Montreal and Ottawa and then tour some Ontario centres. From there, they would go through the west, probably by aircraft, visiting major centres on their way to the Pacific Coast.

It has been reported reliably that the royal couple have expressed a wish to spend a week by themselves on a private holiday while in Canada. It is expected arrangements will be made for them to have that week together on one of the smaller islands off Vancouver Island.

They then would head back east, visiting southwestern Ontario and crossing the border there for their trip to Washington. They return to Canada would be at New Brunswick and they would visit the Maritime Provinces before their tour in Newfoundland.

This schedule would roughly fill in the royal tour of 1939, when the King and Queen spent most of their time in Canada and made a side visit to Washington and New York.

Visit to be Informal

However, officials here have emphasized that the visit of the Princess and the Duke, by their own wish, will be much more informal and less elaborate than visit of 1939.

For instance, Prime Minister Mackenzie does not plan to accompany the Princess and her husband across the country, through former Prime Minister Mackenzie King escorted the King and Queen throughout their 1939 visit.

Sept. 26, Laurent Healy will meet the royal couple at Quebec and possibly come with them to Ottawa. A state dinner for Quebec will be attended by Canadian Cabinet ministers at various stages of their tour.

Arms Conference Satisfactory, But Common Rifle Is Problem —Claxton

Ottawa, Aug. 4 (CP)—The question of a common rifle for the Atlantic treaty's Big Four was still unresolved today after a two-day arms meeting at the ministerial level in Washington.

But, nevertheless, Defence Minister Claxton termed the conference talks "in every way a satisfactory conference." He said views were "expressed on all the problems with much frankness and in a spirit of cooperation."

It was Mr. Claxton himself who suggested the Washington conference among Britain, France, the U.S. and Canada, after speeding up his country's concern over lack of agreement on a common rifle and small arms ammunition.

The minister arrived back in Ottawa last night, still looking tired and armed with an official press release on the Washington proceedings. He takes off again this morning for Camp Shilo, Man., and later a rendezvous with Prime Minister St. Laurent who headed west yesterday.

Continue Production

The press release on the Washington conference, the first such meeting on the ministerial level, said that "agreement on the part of Atlantic Pact countries as rapidly as possible the progress to accepted standard equipment and weapons should be continued in production and use."

At the same time it was unanimously agreed that as early as practicable, a new round of small arms ammunition should be adopted."

The statement also said that the conference decided to hand the problem over to the standing group of the N.A.T.O. organization. The group will study the matter and "make recommendations" which will enable a decision to be reached within the next few months.

Common Rifle Snag

Main stumbling block in immediate agreement on a common rifle is the fact that countries mainly concerned now hold large quantities of their own weapons.

Britain has the .303 and a new rifle firing .280 ammunition. French weapon is of .295 calibre. The United States Garand rifle is of .300 calibre.

Iron, Copper And Gold Found In Quebec Areas

Quebec, Aug. 4—(CP)—Premier Duplessis told his weekly press conference yesterday that extensive deposits of iron, copper and gold have been made in Quebec's Ungava and Chibougamau areas.

He said H. W. Darling, president of the Quebec Labrador development Company, told him of plans for development of the iron ore deposits, 170 miles northwest of Seven Islands in Ungava.

Estimated cost of development was placed at $80,000,000 by Mr. Darling.

Campbell Chibougamau Mines has located 1,000,000 tons of copper and gold ore on Merrill Island, about 5 miles north of Chibougamau townsite, the premier said.

E. D. Campbell, president of that company, has made known plans to sink mine shafts to work the copper and gold finds, and the project will cost "several million dollars," the premier said yesterday.

Premier Duplessis said previous Hollinger iron discoveries, and the new ones found by Quebec Labrador Company "prove there is iron everywhere in Ungava." There is a $200,000,000 development under way.

The premier said his government had opened up the Chibougamau area, northwest of Lake St. John, by the St. Lawrence seaboard shore, by building a winter road in 1937 and 1938 and later spending $4,000,000 for a permanent road.

The premier also announced appointment of a two-man commission to inquire into collapse of the $3,000,000 Quebecknife bridge at Three Rivers, Jan. 31.

POLICE SMASH BIGGEST NARCOTIC RING IN CANADA

Five of Principals Arrested in Montreal

Montreal, Aug. 4 — (CP) — A narcotics ring, said by police to be linked with the international dope ring allegedly headed by the notorious Lucky Luciano, today is smashed, R.C.M.P. said, with the arrests last night of five of the principals.

Two other arrests are expected.

Police identified those arrested as Diodato Mastracchio, alias Dudie, 35-year-old owner and operator of a (Corse Pizzeria) restaurant here, and described as being big shots as "we've been trying to get for a long time;" Jimmy Sacco, 35, owner of a (Paradise) cafe; Johnny Sullivan, 35, a barman at Mastracchio's; Cecil Young, 40, a carnival worker and Emile (Jack) Nadeau, 40, of Montreal.

All five are to be arraigned today on charges of possession, sale and conspiracy to obtain narcotics.

Police said the break in the case came when Sacco was arrested while driving in a taxi in the east end of the city. He was taken into custody, police said, while on his way to make a $20,000 delivery of heroin.

Superintendent James R. Lemieux, head of the Criminal Investigation branch, said Identity Sacco, 35, owner of a tourist home and arrested Johnny Young, a Montreal wrestler, now serving a life term as an habitual criminal.

An R.C.M.P. official said investigation had covered international smuggling activities between the United States and Canada. It gave credit to the close collaboration between Canadian and American agents.

Police said the drug seizure, although valued at only $20,000 on the wholesale drug market, was worth four times that amount on the illicit drug market.

Large Wolf Shot North of Kitchener

Kitchener, Aug. 4— (CP)— A wolf weighing about 30 pounds was shot today two miles west of Chesterton by Wilfrid Kroetsch.

Kroetsch, owner of the farm on which the wolf was shot, had seen the marauding animal several recently. It was one of a pack of four he saw all over the timber wolf first after Kroetsch fired two shots at her.

It was learned that wolves are fairly numerous in this area and residents are alarmed at the increasing number of depredations believed due to the activities of wolves.

Bounty is about 70 miles north of Kitchener.

21 GUN SALUTE

Ottawa, Aug. 4—(CP)— Royal salutes of 21 guns were fired across Canada today in honor of Queen Elizabeth, celebrating her birthday. In Ottawa 21 guns were fired here and in the 10 provincial capitals and at Vancouver.

Allies Accuse Soviets of Starting Korean Conflict

Also Claim China Weakened Through Red Intrigue

BY OLEN CLEMENTS

Tokyo, Aug. 4—(AP)—An allied general headquarters statement today ripped into Russia, accusing the Soviets of starting the Korean war and of trying to weaken red China by bleeding her on the battlefield.

An hour later the general headquarters information and education section, which issued the statement, said it "without publication, it said the release was intended as "background information" for editors and was not intended to be printed.

By then the statement had been broadcast on radios overseas. It was in print in the United States. The withhold request was cancelled.

The release carried far more voltage than usual allied utterances.

It declared the communist system "cannot survive." It referred to the "calculating, twisted intellects of the communist leaders."

It said the free world now was on guard and would not relax "when the reds call off the tension."

It said the Kremlin wanted China to remain "isolated" because the Soviets fear a strong China on "Russia's vulnerable southern frontier" is supposed doubt that the Peiping regime could last. It suggested red China might break away from Russia as did Yugoslavia.

Head Approval of Hicker

It was rumored at G.H.Q. that the release had the approval of Lt.-Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, last of Gen. MacArthur's top hands still on the job there. Hickey is Chief of Staff to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme U.N. Commander.

The G.H.Q. statement likewise came at a time when there is speculation that red China and the North Korean communists are on outs over the armistice and that red China wants to get out of the Korean war because of heavy losses.

"Letting China take a hideous beating from the United Nations does Sino-Soviet relations no good at all," the statement said.

"It may mean that China eventually goes the way of Yugoslavia's communist Tito — only Chairman Mao holds up, which is doubtful.

The statement said many of Chinese communist leader Mao Tze-Tung's best troops are dead or captured, and much of his equipment is lost.

"But Russia's strategy has made the Chinese look less sure that the Kremlin is a friend," the statement went on, "and Russia has not done while Russia looked on. To Mao Tze-Ting this could hardly look like bottom comradeship."

52-Day Drought Pinches Economy, Costs B.C. $7,000,000 in Wages

Vancouver, Aug. 4 — (CP)— Drought's dusty hand is pinching British Columbia's economy.

Some 25,000 men, mostly loggers, are idle as sawmill output here ordered closed July 12 in southwestern B.C. because of the fire hazard.

The drought so far has cost estimated $7,000,000 in wages, $2,000,000 in loggers' wages, $2,000,000 by lumber operators and $1,000,000 by farmers.

There has been no rain for 52 days and the forecast today and today none is in sight. It is the longest dry spell on record southwest coast.

Stocks of logs have run low for the log booms in the district and lumbermen forecast a serious log famine for this winter. Some major mills have already closed, a few are on short time and nearly all the small ones have shut down.

Lumber exporters, holding the best batch of Commonwealth orders in years, are behind in shipping schedules.

The $50,000,000 order for some 500,000,000 board feet for shipment to Britain before July, 1953, calls for loading of about 30,000,000 feet a month out of B.C. ports. These orders alone take up 35 per cent of the sawmill output.

Labor supply is another worry for the operators. Many loggers have taken new jobs, particularly on the Aluminum Company of Canada development 'kp. northern B.C.

Government store managers here indirectly attribute a 14 per cent drop in business for the first week of August compared to the same week last year, to loggers' lack.

The full shock, however, will not be felt until winter, when it has been predicted for all kinds of lumber, including fuel, and for dairy products.

Butter production is down about 50 per cent and farmers are dipping into next winter's feed supplies because pastures have been burned brown.

For ice cream and soft drink vendors, bathing suit manufacturers and tavern operators, however, it is the best season ever.

Church Paper Criticizes Attempt To Fire Red Dean

London, Aug 4—(Reuters)— The Church of England newspaper today criticizes an attempt by six Conservative members of parliament who tried to have Dr. Hewlett Johnson, "Red" Dean of Canterbury, removed from office.

The paper also criticizes the United States House of Representatives committee on un-American activities, which it expresses the hope there will never be set up in such an institution as a committee on un-British activities.

The M.P.'s tried to have the House of Commons sanction the pro-Russian dean's removal on the ground that he had been "guilty of preaching subversive and treasonable doctrine." But the government never allowed the matter to come up.

The Conservative newspaper says the dean cannot be fired except for treason and gives immunity. Dr. Johnson has been convicted of neither, it says.

Responsible minds find themselves in considerable difficulties in such days when everybody who differs from the general line is at once classed as a fellow-traveller and regarded with suspicion," the newspaper says.

New Seaway Bill Brought to Senate

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—Two senators introduced new legislation yesterday calling for development of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway project.

The House of Representative public works committee has just failed to approve a bill to develop the waterway between Canada and the United States.

Senators Ferguson (Rep.-Conn.) and George Aiken (Rep.-Vt.), however, revived the question with the argument that the project would be important to national defense. The Mondell-Aiken bill was referred to the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees.

He was accompanied by his chief-of-staff, Lt.-Gen. Doyle Hickey.

The army offered no explanation for the unusual night visit to commander's unusual night visit to his office.

Curb Lens Lads Had Busy Time On Front Street

Business was booming along Front Street yesterday afternoon for a couple of curbstone Kirshes, who were immortalized in the local citizenry on celluloid.

Business was everywhere and the about ninety-minute in-the yellow sweatshirt and the bustling brassiere who were making the most of his opportunities. All that he needed to go into action with his camera was an uncertain look and a shy manner.

Catching his clients with the affection casually accorded long lost friends he would pose them at arm's length, step back one pace, click the shutter and then lunge at them with a card before they could get out of reach.

The subjects, to redeem their blushings, merely had to fill out the proffered coupon and mail the same with 50 cents to the studio where developing and printing is done.

While most of the local folk seemed somewhat dazed by the rapidity of the operation tourists barely got the chap a second look as they sailed by in their sun glasses.

Optimists Arrange For Bus Service To Island Park

The Optimist Club has made arrangements with Rawson Bus Lines to operate a bus service to Optimist Island Park on Civic Holiday next Monday and continuing each Wednesday and Sunday during the summer months.

This will prove an advantage to families who have not the service of an automobile at their disposal and who wish to take advantage of the picnic and bathing facilities that the Island has to offer. The terminal will be at the Bank of Montreal corner and buses will leave sharp at 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 7.00 and 9.00 p.m.

Corbin Gold Cup Tourney Big Event on Civic Holiday

On Civic Holiday (Monday) the Belleville Bowling Club will be host to hundreds of bowlers from all parts of Ontario, Quebec and the United States, when the Corbin Gold Cup will be competed for. The Gold Cup, valued at $500, has been in competition for some years and was primarily donated by the Corbin Lock Company of which J. H. McLean is resident manager. Incidentally, Mr. McLean and his rink have won the cup for the past two years and are again trying to set a mark that will be hard to beat by winning the trophy three years in succession but from the list of bowlers entered his task will be a hard one.

Rinks will be present from Peterborough, Kingston, Montreal, Cornwall, Ottawa, Lindsay, Verdun, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Campbellford, Deloro, Brighton, Trenton, Cobourg, Stirling, Ayr, Brockville, Chesterville, Madoc, Port Hope and Belleville. There are 94 rinks entered which makes for a double draw and bowling will start at 9.30 a.m. and continue until the early hours of Tuesday morning. Prizes will be seventeen prizes distributed with a cash value of nearly $1,500. The members of the rink winning the Corbin Gold Cup will each receive a cabinet of silver. In addition to the Corbin Cup, the Robertson and Kinsmen Trophies will be competed for.

Splendid Tournament

Most of the bowlers will be accompanied by their wives and sweethearts to enjoy one of the finest bowling tournaments given in this section of the province. So great is the demand for playing in this tourney there is a long waiting list of entries. The Belleville club has been most generous in past years in opening their clubrooms to the visiting bowlers and this privilege has again been extended to the visitors. Many of the bowlers arrive on Saturday and Sunday to enjoy a holiday in the Bay of Quinte area.

The tournament has been conducted annually by Cliff Argue, past president of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association and to his foresight and hard work the tournament has attained a province-wide status. He is assisted by Howard Hanton convener of the committee, and a hard working committee.

The draw is herewith given.

NO RELATION TO FERDINAND, THIS BULL

Photographer Howard Wagner of Cheyenne, Wyoming, has reason to long remember his first rodeo assignment. Wagner's trusty old camera served a double purpose, for when an enraged Brahma bull charged him, he used the camera to fend off the animal instead of him saved him from injury. In this picture Wagner's legs straddle the right foreleg of the bull whose head is hidden in the photographer's midriff. Unfortunately Wagner lost two cameras but considered himself lucky to have saved his life. After flattening Wagner, the bull chased the cameraman who took this picture, out of the arena. — Central Press Canadian.

Primary Phase Of Training For Cadets Over

Picton — Marking the completion of the primary phase of general military training for first-year officer cadets in the Officer Cadet Training Corps, a passing out parade was held yesterday.

Brig. A. F. B. Knight, OBE, Commanding Officer for Eastern Ontario, inspected the cadets at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (AA) where they are stationed. The cadets were highly complimented on their showing. Major Fairweather, their officer commanding also received praise for his work. Second- and third-year university students from many parts of Canada were represented.

Chosen as best cadets of the year, R. E. Miller, Fredericton, N. B., University of New Brunswick, and H. Leach, Windsor, University of Western Ontario, were named commanding officer and adjutant of the corps respectively.

These cadets will complete their summer training with four weeks of training in anti-aircraft artillery. Some who are able to remain longer will be given a course in motor transport.

Second year cadets, having completed light anti - aircraft training, are now studying radar. Third year cadets have been in charge of groups of cadets in training.

The three troops of cadets gained an idea of what actual warfare is like this week-end when engaged in a mock battle in the area between Waupoos and Milford. They dug in the night and lay in ed on army rations. The scheme lasted two days and a night. Night patrols, gave cadets with rifles and Sten guns with blanks, and flares and thunder flashes, helped provide a good deal of excitement. The 20-mile route march back to camp was voted the hardest part. There were no casualties and in the mock battle, the cadets refused to be 'killed'.

Canadian Legion Members Will Take Part

The Canadian Legions of Tweed, Madoc, Marmora, Havelock, Peterborough, Stirling, Kingston and Belleville, and the Army and Navy Veterans of Belleville, will take part in a gigantic drumhead service at the unveiling of a memorial monument in Tweed on August 5th.

The drumhead service is part of the week-long 60th anniversary celebration in Tweed.

They are expected for some time ago by Ferry and Acceptance Flight here, are now based at the Operational training Unit at Chatham, N.B.

The two-seater jets, patterned after the U.S. jet fighter "Sabre" will be flown in from a southern United States base. One of the planes delivered earlier in Canada made the flight from here to Chatham, N.B. in 70 minutes, riding the 750 air miles with a 110 m.p.h. tail wind.

Announcement that three more of the aircraft would be brought in was made by the Officer Commanding Ferry and Acceptance Flight, Squadron Leader Joe McCarthy.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

O for a Closer Walk With God

O for a closer walk with God,
A calm and heavenly frame;
A light to shine upon the road
That leads me to the Lamb!

Where is the blessedness I knew
When first I saw the Lord?
Where is the soul refreshing view
Of Jesus and His word?

Return, O holy Dove, return,
Sweet Messenger of rest!
I hate the sin that made Thee mourn,
And drove Thee from my breast.

The dearest idol I have known,
Whate'er that idol be,
Help me to tear it from Thy throne,
And worship only Thee.

William Cowper, the popular and distinguished English poet, left a treasury of verse to bless posterity and no jewel in the collection is more beautiful or beloved than his hymn, "Walking With God."

It appeared under that title in a volume called "Olney Hymns" Cowper and John Newton, minister-hymnist of Olney, put together and published in 1779. Its theme was inspired, apparently, by the Bible verse, "And Enoch walked with God," which is found in the twenty-fourth verse of the fifth chapter of Genesis.

It was turned out at a time when Cowper was distressed by the illness of Mrs. Mary Unwin, who for years had been his loyal friend and companion and who had helped him through several trying mental crises. Cowper himself declared the circumstances under which the hymn was written, in a letter which Sprota one day to an aunt. Enclosing the verses just as we know them today in hymns books he wrote:

"I began to compose them yesterday morning before daybreak, but I fell asleep at the end of the first two lines. When I awakened again, the third and fourth verses were whispered to my heart in a way I have often experienced."

Cowper was born in 1731 in Berkhamsted, where his father was serving as rector of a Church of England parish. He was educated at Westminster and was called to the bar when he was 32, a There were times in his life when he suffered from melancholia which bordered on insanity. In 1868, after recovering from one of these mental attacks, he moved to Olney where he met John Newton, and the partnership which was to produce many of Christendom's most precious hymns began.

Indian Chief's Wife Busy School Worker

Calgary — (CP) — Mrs. David Crowchild, wife of Sarcee Indian Chief David Crowchild, is the first and only woman appointed a member of the school education committee of the Canadian Home and School Parent Teacher Association.

Because it is the dream of Indians that someday there will be equal educational opportunities for all Indian and white children, Chief and Mrs. Crowchild have been active in H. S. A. affairs.

They were first introduced to the Home and School Association about five years ago when their son Gordon was a student in Calgary.

"When the people explained to us how it worked, we joined and we have been members ever since," she said.

Chief Crowchild started a H. S. A. at the Sarcee Indian school last year—the first Indian Home and School Association in Canada. Mrs. Crowchild is treasurer of the branch.

Mrs. Crowchild is a well-educated woman who speaks English fluently. In fact, English is the only language spoken in the Crowchild home. The children, four boys and a girl, know practically no Indian.

Royal Thanks

In her spare time, Mrs. Crowchild makes buckskin jackets, coats and moccasins for sale.

Her work earned her the distinction of being one of the few Canadian citizens who have received a letter from Princess Elizabeth.

"I made a pair of white beaded moccasins for Prince Charles when he was born," she said. "I didn't think the princess would accept them but I sent them anyway. She kept them and sent me a nice letter."

Mrs. Crowchild is one of many Indians attending the Calgary Stampede. She was asked if she minded the crowds of visitors to the Indian village.

"No I don't notice them," she said. "But some of them are very rude.

"They keep peeking into the teepee when we are eating or getting dressed to go out."

White people would call the police if an Indian opened the door of their home and looked in.

UP-TO-DATE CANINE

Regina. (CP)—When a local householder missed delivery of his newspaper six days in a row and couldn't find out who was taking it, he called police. A hidden policeman spotted the thief—a black mongrel dog was carrying the paper away.

FIAT

(Article II)

St. Gallen, Switzerland — (Special to the Toronto Intelligencer — When one thinks of a car, there usually comes to mind one of the products of Ford, General Motors or one of the several other companies now in existence. When an Italian, however, thinks of a car, he thinks of Fiat, for this company is to Italy, what General Motors or Ford is to North America.

For over 50 years this company has been producing autos in ever increasing numbers, and in addition has branched out into other fields, so that today its products include not only cars and trucks, but also tractors, railway cars and coaches, trolley buses, marine engines, aviation engines and aeroplanes.

Small Beginning

This organization, founded in 1899 by a group of businessmen, who were willing to take a risk in the automotive industry, had at first only a very small factory and fifty workers. They were directed by Giovanni Agnelli, who remained with the company as its president until his death in 1945.

With the capital of only $500,000 lire at his disposal the company was not able to expand very rapidly at first and encountered many difficulties until its reorganization in 1906. From then on progress was more rapid and gradually success came in great quantities. They branched out into other types of motors and vehicles and in two years brought out their first aviation engine.

Great Expansion

In 1920 another large program of expansion was completed in Turin, where the main works are located. It was at this time that the factories were increased to approximately their present size. Sections were built throughout the city, and today it is very difficult to go very far in Turin without seeing the sign Fiat over a building. Down town there is the sports centre, the sales office and parts department; to the north the foundries and the engine plant; in the north the aviation building and to the west the most important — the Miraflori works.

In Turin or elsewhere there are no less than 18 factories, covering in all a total area of 24 million square metres (one metre equals 39.36 inches).

The company has a present day capital of over twenty-four billion lire, and employs over seventy thousand workers, of which sixty-five thousand are in Italy.

Huge Factory

The Miraflori plant, which is the most important and also the largest, is gigantic, to say the least, having a total floor space of one million square metres.

It is also very modern in many ways. The reason for this is partly because it was a prime target for Allied bombers during the war, and because of this it was very easy to hit. The result was that it was almost completely rebuilt.

There is a network of railway siding, 7¼ miles in all, within the plant.

There are also extremely long assembly lines, and working conditions are very good. There is one noticeable difference. There is a parking space for the twenty-two thousand workers, but it contains only bicycles.

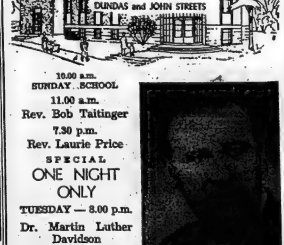
The fact is that the workers, who are relatively well paid, are still not able to afford to operate a car, even a Fiat. It would take them years to pay for the car, and all a worker can do to support a family, which is usually larger than the average Canadian family. They marvel at the fact that so many workers in North America are able to drive their own car, and express the wish that maybe some day they will be able to do the same, although without too much conviction in their voice.

Production Increased

In 1949, Fiat, after extensive repairs and alterations, was able to surpass their pre-war production levels, and at present are turning out cars at the rate of 115,000 units a year, an increase of 40,000 units over the previous record set two years ago.

At present car production is concentrated on three types. The 500/C is a small two-seater, which has been called by many people "A big car in miniature." Its top speed is about 60 m.p.h. and it is rather economical on gas, going about 50 miles to the gallon.

The 1100/E is the next in line and is a medium sized four seater. It is the mainstay of the Fiat line and has a four cylinder engine which is favourably known throughout the land.



The third model is the 1400 which is the roomiest of all the Fiat models, holding up to six people and having ample luggage space. Its top speed is over 75 miles per hour. It was this car, which to me, seemed to have more of the American influence than most cars on the continent. One might call it a cross between a Ford.

Meaning of Fiat

Perhaps it would be better if I explained just what Fiat means. It is not a family name, nor an Italian word in common use. It is the short form of the official name of the company—(Fabbrica Italiana di Automobili Torino).

Today Fiat maintains offices and parts departments throughout the world, and is constantly testing, investigating, or even contemplating putting out a new product, the latest being refrigerators.

Workers are not forgotten, for the company maintains gymnasiums, culture centres, rest homes and summer camps for their benefit. The motto "Fiat, land, sea and air" is no exaggeration, for their products have found their way into all parts of the world, and their modern testing laboratories are any indication, Fiat is making sure that they are there to stay.

A WAY OUT FOR QUEEN'S?

The financial difficulties besetting Canadian universities are such that Queen's University in Kingston is reported to have filed a claim with the Department of Transport for mineral rights to Kingston harbor. It is felt, from magnetometer soundings made through the ice last winter, that sufficient quantities of iron ore are present under the harbor to warrant a commercial mining operation that would relieve the burden on the university exchequer.

Queen's is not the only university that is being pressed to the wall by financial difficulties, but her attempt to solve the problem is rather unique. It is a solution that has much to recommend it. In addition to the financial gain which would accrue to Queen's University, a functioning mine on the harbor would provide an unusual teaching opportunity for the departments of engineering and commerce.

The idea that a university go into business for itself holds out one of the best opportunities for it to maintain itself and its integrity without appealing to governments for public funds. Enterprising prospectors, employed by universities might just as easily strike pay dirt as crews now sent out by mining companies. Universities might also resort to claiming crown lands for their timber values and live off the income derived from the development of these properties.

Mr. J. W. G. Macdonald, an instructor at the Ontario College of Art, and a former Calgarian, has suggested that the Alberta government give an oil well to fine arts groups in that province and allow them to use the profits to develop their work. He is wrong in suggesting that universities in western Canada pioneer oil claims and support themselves on royalties from the development companies?

The worth of Canada's universities to the growth of this country in the past cannot be measured. The role that the universities will play in future generations is colossal. Their worth is beyond question. It would seem, therefore, that anything which the universities could do to improve their present financial condition merits serious consideration.

Iron ore under Kingston harbor is providentially close to home as far as Queen's University is concerned, but similar opportunities are available anywhere in Canada. It is to be hoped that this frontal assault on an age-old university problem will meet with the success it deserves.

BRAND THE CRIME FOR WHAT IT IS

Six years after the end of the war a United Nations commission has at last undertaken an official inquiry into a grave international crime — the continued detention by Soviet Russia and its satellites of an estimated million and a half prisoners of war, writes John W. Vandercook. These prisoners are only part of the many more millions of many nationalities seized, deported or abducted by Soviet slave hunters to meet the insatiable demands of the deadly forced labor camps of the Communist slave economy. But the war prisoners are in a class by themselves, and both the Western Powers and the United Nations bear special responsibilities toward them. For their cases are covered by both international conventions and specific international agreements. Unfortunately there is little hope that all of them are still alive. Many thousands are believed to lie in mass graves dwarfing those of the Katyn Forest, and the American representations regarding Japanese war prisoners have indicated the lethal conditions and high death rate of the slave labor camps. But according to official German figures there are at least 400,000 German prisoners still in Russia, of whom some 260,000 have been identified as alive by prisoners already returned. The Japanese government puts the number of former Soviet soldiers still living and detained at some 370,000. Italian, French, Spanish, Hungarian and other prisoners constitute thousands more.

The refusal of the Soviet government to co-operate in the United Nations inquiry carries a strong presumption of guilt. This refusal undoubtedly makes the inquiry more difficult. But it is to be hoped that the United Nations commission will not be restrained from making the ascertainable facts public and branding the crime and the criminals for what they are.

CREEDS

Creeds are professions of faith, and I'd say
Not one would lead those who believe it astray,
The phrasing may differ, since
all can't agree,
But who lives to his creed
will a better man be,

No temple or church ever saka
a man to
Be kind him to evil or train him in sin.

The wrongs and the crimes and the vilest of deeds
Are done by the men who've no principles, creeds.

Man is never made shameful
by what he believes,
But by failing his faith when the temptation he leaves.
It's a troubled old world, but its greatest of needs
Is a truer devotion by all to our creeds.

Mr. D. R. Loevens' small steam yacht is undergoing repairs.

The steam yacht Thyra broke her shaft yesterday while proceeding up the bay and was towed to Deseronto for repairs.

A new wheel has been placed in the steam yacht Viper and she is now ready for service.

Mr. N. M. Ostrom has returned here to reside.

Recalling the drilling for natural gas here, the following item from our files of this date ten years ago, 1891, is of interest: "The plant used in drilling for natural gas was removed this morning to West Belleville near the Devil's Elbow and the road leading down the hill to the bay bridge. It took six teams to haul the machinery to the new site."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Man and his works probably some massive floods spread water over the land to an extent had something to do with the that seemed impossible. On considerfires that raged in British Columbia. But without many help nature can stage some independent and shattering performances. Earthquakes, tidal waves, droughts, favorable winds and a bolt of lightning nature could burn off half the continent. And geologists who have to uncover the soil to get at the rocks have collected evidence, in various parts of America, of some gigantic conflagration that spread over vast areas of the country in ages long past.

During spring floods, nature can make a dam out of ice as well as from trees and other debris collected by the rampaging waters, which can cause floods that sometimes alter the whole character of a wide terrain. We find evidence of this in Canada from many contact by streams or even swamps, which contain fish that are familiar enough in main waters a few miles distant, but which are astonishingly to find in these isolated waters. The chances are that in bygone years,

But now he says he couldn't begin to fill all the calls for them and is building his hard up to selling point.

Berrvih may be keeping the friendly little horses from extinction. Native to the mountains of Wales, many of them were killed during the war so that grazing land could be used for cattle which were more necessary.

They don't kick, won't bite and can be easily taught to do tricks to keep the children amused. They make wonderful family pets, too.

England--Then and Now

By Fred Hart

RETROSPECT
(Article 19)

This is a general impression of my visits to the States in retrospect. Perhaps one of the most striking things about the small country people to the wanderer who returns is the courtesy and kindness of the average people. Invariably they will give of what they have in full measure.

Granted things are different Now than they were Then. Gone are the days of the Feasts of the Village, important days in every community when huge hoards stored hams were on the tables in every cottage on these feast days.

Now, Rationing is the fashion, best these folk still entertain, but in a much different way. They will make one welcome with a cup of very weak tea and minced pastry. The quality of the ration is small and there is so little to spare. The courtesy and interior senses this and of course acts accordingly, although pressed to take more.

Directions for Drivers

Another thing which strikes the visitor from far-flung lands is the courtesy and assistance so freely given by the pedestrian and motoring public. People at main street crossings are quick to go out of their way to give a car or truck or cyclist the signal to "come on, stop." Drivers of 2 huge trucks will signal conversing from the cab of their window and this is of very great help along the narrow streets and winding roads. Due to these and common customs, accidents are rare.

During our sojourn, we saw no road accident or a sign of one. Perhaps the reason for this is because of the extreme skill of the average driver. The witness a huge truck being backed into a narrow lane-way from an equally narrow street is something to marvel at.

No Tooting in Traffic

There is no raucous tooting of horns in a traffic jam. The people seem to realize that the driver ahead cannot get going or go any faster than he does. The everyday occurrence at the "four corners" in the average Canadian city!

In post offices, banks and customs, in fact, everywhere in railway booking offices, in steamship agencies and in the government buildings which we had to visit on direct contact, all seemed helpful and most efficient these people can spot the overseas visitor immediately.

It has left us gasping with astonishment when, after the first interview, the typist-clerk will respectfully inquire "From what part of Canada, or America, Sir?" Then will follow will pause from a busy duty and chat on their brother, sister or cousins live in Halifax, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, or New York. Then will ask names and inquire if by chance we knew them.

"Goodness Gracious!"

And it is quite common for a young or elderly lady to address us mere males with the prefix "dear," "Dearie," "Ducky," the just figures of speech, but so heartwarming.

We have to add that our comment re these affectionate greetings must be in the spirit of being the rule in all cases. They generally are spoken in a manner of business, and not upon chance acquaintance.

However, sometimes have we found such policemen as in England, and in Canada, and have had to make many inquiries of these "bobbies of the Law" and have had to make many inquiries of these "bobbies of the Law" and have had to make reference to a great earthquake that shook the eastern Canada, changing the levels of the earth over wide areas, in the early 19th century. When we wonder how in the world the trout or bass got into some of the lakes just atop the hills, it could have been that earthquake which pushed up the hills, and isolated the lake. Or we could have been any of the disturbances of the past 12,000 years that must have occurred on this continent, as they did on the older continents. For we have records in America that go back a mere 350 years. Beyond that is sheer myth.

When nature is mentioned, we think of birds and bees and flowers. But floods and bush fires are nature, too. And when we consider the pretty little aspects of nature, we must, at the same time, be prepared to assume at any time an attitude of abject and awed subjection.

Welsh ponies are about as high as Shetland ponies but are better looking and easier to handle, says Mrs. Berreth.

Today he has 13 registered ponies and a couple of grades. All were bought in Wales. He imported a stallion in his herd which he believes is the only Palomino Welsh pony in Canada.

SCRAP IRON SHORTAGE

Owen Sound, Ont. (CP)—Local farmers are again advertising for scrap metal. Almost 60 per cent of the present supply is hauled in by town and district farmers but the town has to supply the rest.

accident then the consequences are severe. No mercy is shown. Driving licences are suspended for very long periods. Legally, no one can drive openly on the highways and byways, but it is not done.

"Taint cricket, old bean." The inns are many and the opening hours of business from 10 or 11 a.m. until 2- or 3 p.m. and from 6 until 10.30 p.m. The evenings are usually very peaceful and miserably quiet.

We have learned of many policemen in different towns as to how many convicted "drugs" there would be in a calendar year in their respective communities. Taking towns of the average population of Bellsville, it seemed that no more than half a dozen had been charged and then the majority so charged were transients. Yes, these kind people certainly know the way to drink with dignity.

Apathy in Politics

We have sensed an almost lackadaisical attitude as to the present political situation in England. It would be safe to say that the average person just says in effect "So what!" and what can one do about it, "Stop." Britain and its nations have again been reduced since the last April election, the price of commodities is steadily rising, with no appreciable increase in the wages and salaries.

Notwithstanding, one is bound to admit that conditions are so much better Now than Then. The folk are better dressed and the shoeless kiddies are no more.

Then, there is the method of cure frequent application of the ointment, which may result from this treatment.

X-ray treatment is likewise effective and is the method of preference of many physicians. It is painless and the after result is

WARTS

Unless it happens to be on the tip of your nose a wart generally is a minor matter to most persons. An exception is a wart occurring on the sole of the foot. Take a under the eye, it is a small matter, but productive of a great amount of discomfort.

Warts are caused by a virus. The evidence seems to point to a single virus as being the cause of all warts, regardless of location. A wart of the vocal cords in a human has been experimentally reproduced in a dog—by inoculating the dog with the virus from the human—but warts of dogs and horses cannot be transmitted to man by any method known today.

If a wart is caused to bleed, it may result in "autoinoculation" or the production of new warts in its vicinity by contact with the virus.

Warts have been experimentally transmitted from one human to another. Sometimeth months elapse between the date of the inoculation and the appearance of the new wart.

A wart on the sole of the foot —"plantar wart,"—is a painful affliction but can be easily cured. These warts are acquired by contact with the virus from other people's warts.

There is no specific treatment for warts. Many remedies are used, all of which are effective. A wart may be "killed" by cautery, after which the wart is removed, recurrence is very likely.

A wart may be destroyed by the application of skin-destroying drugs—common to those used in "corn cures." This method requires frequent application of the drug, which may result in irritation or infection which complicates the picture and adds to the pain and disability.

Electro-surgery is an effective method of removing a wart. On the sole of the foot, a wart thus treated is usually completely destroyed in one application, leaving some soreness and disability follows.

Silver nitrate (lunar caustic) may be employed to destroy warts, either on the sole of the foot or elsewhere. In common with most other methods, considerable discomfort may result from this treatment.

X-ray treatment is likewise effective and is the method of preference of many physicians. It is painless and the after result is attended by considerably less pain than other methods produce.

Recently, carbon dioxide—dry ice—has been employed in a great many cases with uniformly satisfactory results. The discomfort of application is slight, although some disability results afterward.

Frequent shaving of the wart, followed by the application of mild drugs which causes a slow destruction of the wart, combined with padding the sole of the foot in such a manner as to leave a "well" into which the wart can project, thus relieving pressure, is effective but time-consuming.

A little-known remedy consists in placing a single drop of castor oil on the wart very night upon retiring. This should be persistently used over a period of weeks. It is of little or no value in the treatment of plantar warts, but effective in warts elsewhere.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A Dollar is Still a Dollar

The doctor you recommended for office treatment of internal hemorrhoids called a spade a spade without hurting me a bit and without any interruption of my regular work. The cost was reasonable, and he accepted Trudeau dollars in payment. (Mrs. L. D.)

Answer—Uncle Sam accepts the same dollars. The undergone operation in hospital you would have suffered less discomfort and it would have cost you two or three times as much. Those who suffer with hemorrhoids, may send stamped self-addressed envelope and ask for booklet (not mail order literature) for pamphlet It Is Stupid to Suffer From Piles.

When adding the B complex syrup to baby's formula should I cut down the amount of milk and make up the difference with the B complex syrup? (Mrs. R. H.)

Answer—The amount of sugar in the half teaspoonful of B complex syrup is insignificant as far as preparation of a day's feeding formula is concerned, but in case use less corn syrup or other sugar and more milk, as suggested in Baby and Child Care Book—for which send 25c and stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POWER THROUGH REPOSE

Take a machine for example. Its periods of rest are what make it the finest. Constantly at it, running it would soon burn itself out. It's the same with this body of ours. It demands rest and recreation. The late Thomas Edison was proud of his ability to rest, to work, but not so much is said about his habit of resting. He would work for long hours and then lie down and rest most anywhere, anytime, and soon be back to work again.

Work and relaxation kept Edison in health. He was constantly never abating. He nearly reached the age he hoped to — only a few hundred years, but he accomplished what it might have taken another man a thousand years to achieve.

There is power through repose, for it amounts to a constant renewal of powers. I like that phrase in the Bible: "Be still and know that I am God." What a world of interpretation is there gained from that simple sentence. Be still. It means to relax, to get into an attitude of mind and accumulate the power we all must have in order to perform most efficiently and with the greatest enjoyment.

For many years I was my own taskmaster and was one of many men in prominent positions. I noted that the biggest men had the most time for what I had to say. They weren't fidgety, restless, nervous. They gave the interview ended as soon as possible. They were men who had learned the habit of relaxation through repose and relaxation. From these men I learned many a valuable lesson that I have carried with me.

The trainer of athletes realizes what rest means and so makes provision for rules for hours of sleep for those under his care. We should take a hint from so wise a man and make the rule and not as though training for a great contest, but constantly at all times — if we are worth our salt. The important work of the world is not being carried on by tired men and women, but by those who have learned the secret of enthusiasm through rest and relaxation, as well as through recreational pursuits that develop mind and power resolves within the entire consciousness.

LOVE AND SCIENCE

"Love is the only creative force, the only power strong enough to bomb. I vowed . . . that some day, somewhere, somehow, I would try to do something to increase the world's understanding of love. I mean neither the love of lovers, but that of family and friends, and, in the final analysis, of mankind. Well, it has taken quite a long time, but today . . . I am at least making a start . . . toward the scientific study and application of this creative force."

It is a Harvard professor who is starting this study. He is Pitirim A. Sorokin, Professor of Sociology. But love and science — how can they be considered together? Love is sentiment; science is hard facts. Love is emotion; science is science conforms to mathematical formulae and measurements which go down to one millionth of an inch.

Yet, this is all true, but love and science are as definitely united as hydrogen and oxygen are united to form water. Love is the atmosphere of heaven. In a planetarium we see thousands of other worlds beside our own. Heaven is as high as the above earth, not only quantitatively but qualitatively, as the universe is greater than our single planet.

Love is in the atmosphere of heaven, and wherever God is, love is. Love and science live together in the happy wedding in the minds of the truly wise.

BERRIES PLENTIFUL

Sackville, N.B. (CP)—A bumper blueberry crop is predicted in the Maritime this summer, as a result of abundant rains during the spring and early summer.

Double duty play outfit.

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE

A good choice for travel-light vacationers might well be this useful and attractive beach or play outfit, a bright three-in-one job. The one-piece swim (or sun suit) is of white tuck-woven cotton lined in jersey. Strapless, with detachable halter strap for swimming, it has a fitted bodice and curved hip pockets. Over it goes a cotton jersey shirt, or a dress when belted. It is of the same woven tuck cotton with a plain cotton collar and front band which is buttoned from neck to hem.

PHOTOGRAPHIC TREASURE OF ROMAN CATHOLICS

This photograph, released for the first time, was taken in 1896, is one of the treasures of the Catholic church. It shows St Therese of the Little Flower, extreme right, at the age of 23. She died a year later, was canonized in 1925. With her were other members of the Carmelite order of nuns at Lisieux, France, where they prepared altar breads and wine. — Central Press Canadian.

Guns Will Boom Salute On Queen's 51st Birthday

London, Aug. 4. (Reuters)—Guns will boom out a Royal salute in every part of the British Isles today as the Queen celebrates her 51st birthday.

Telegrams and letters of congratulation will probably outnumber the hundreds that have annually poured into Buckingham Palace, on the occasion, for the Queen's added activities this year connected with the Royal Princess and the Festival of Britain have placed her more in the limelight than ever.

Flags will fly on all public and government buildings.

Though 51 and a grandmother, she has retained the charm, the activity and the avid interest in her people that brought her popularity. On a less-exalted but equally important plane, she is loved as an individual, respectable and gentle but subject to human limitations.

In her decreasingly frequent off hours the Queen likes to potter about in the kitchen, making Scottish pastry for the afternoon tea.

She is fond of chocolates and smokes an occasional cigaret during her evenings at home. These she likes to pass with the King—whom she invariably calls "Bertie"—watching television or playing Canasta. The King's name among the family is Albert, though George is his "official" name.

Each day she is visited by an expert cosmetician and a hairdresser calls every week to shampoo, dint and set her hair. But her make-up she prefers to do herself.

Though the King has often impatiently lopped his foot as he waited for his consort, she has never been one to forego that last look in the mirror before setting out for the day.

In the manner of grandmothers all over the world, she occasionally indulges Prince Charles and Princess Anne to a point her daughter is likely to complain of.

Since she was brought to the public eye on her coronation in 1936, gynecologists have been busy seeking out her antecedents. Among others, they have linked her with Shakespeare and George Washington. Her family is the ancient line of Bowes-Lyon.

Air Commentator Invents 'Purse' to Aid Crippled

Vancouver. (AP)—A man on crutches has one big advantage over a woman in the same predicament—pockets.

And Claude Wallace, although she's known as a radio commentator—not an inventor—knows well the dilemma faced by women who can't carry a purse because they must use both hands to keep themselves vertical.

That cluttered purse is a necessity to women. That's where Miss Wallace comes in. She said in an interview she is going to see that women like herself, those who must depend on crutches, don't have to do without.

Her solution is a "crutch purse"—a handbag that sags along on the crutches, which doesn't impede motion and yet leaves both hands free.

The story of the purse starts with the misfortune which struck her two years ago in Australia.

She fractured her hip in a fall from an automobile, fractured it so badly that she still cannot get along without the aid of crutches. Real Handicap

About her long convalescence she said, "One of the most infuriating things about using crutches is being unable to carry things a woman generally carries with her."

Fans who had experienced similar difficulties wrote her. So Miss Wallace went obstacle-lopping.

Toronto's Miss Wallace started experimenting more than a year ago to perfect her crutch purse. The first obstacle to be overcome were construction of a counter-balance and allowance for freedom of motion.

"About six months ago I found I had the perfect design in cotton," she reminisced, "but when I had it made up in leather I found there were still a few new difficulties and I had to start experimenting all over again."

But by "trial and error" she finally smoothed out the snags—she's not giving too many details yet—and patents were acquired recently.

The bag can be used for everything from carrying books to a glass of water," she said.

"I'm positive this will be a boon to other persons like myself and I shall certainly try to have a few thousand manufactured to send to the many people who have written me."

Skipper-Parson Ministers To 4,000 Persons

Vancouver —(CP)— Capt. Ray McColl, fair-haired young skipper and sky pilot for 4,000 logging and fishing folk along the northern British Columbia coast, has added the big Aluminum Company of Canada project to his huge parish.

After an annual overhaul here, his 70-foot mission ship MV Crosby IV set off on her mission of mercy route from Klemtu, to Egg Island.

McColl, the man with the most watery parish in the United Church of Canada, is a strapping six-footer from Manitoba who learned to love the seas with the navy in the Second World War.

A practical seaman with his skipper's papers, he pilots his floating church through rips and sandbars with the best of them.

The bachelor has married 25 couples in the last year and baptized more than 100 young Canadians.

Stopped for Services

Some idea of what the mission ship means to isolated folk was given recently when she dropped in at Bella Bella village, near the big Alcan project.

When Capt. McColl learned that some of the men were at the Alcan project for the day and the remainder were busy fishing, he said he would make his visit short and possibly come back later. But the Kemanos quit fishing and spread themselves about on the beach, ready for the services. During the next couple of days Capt. McColl visited three big Alcan camps where roadbuilding is under way. He was the first churchman to visit the 300-odd men there.

Besides ministerial and navigation, he issues marriage licences, witnesses land transfer documents, runs a small library, puts on movie shows as north coast representative of the Red Cross Board, dispenses medicines and speeds sick people to the mission hospital at Bella Bella.

Tribal Fear Prevents 'One World'

No one needs a rebirth of freedom more than Americans today. We are being educated for world citizenship. Yet we are morally afraid of sacrificing democracy, our prized possession. The greatest of prophets said, "Go into all the world and make disciples of all nations." Perhaps we have a parallel here in Jonah's fear. His response to go to Nineveh was not through fear that his mission would not succeed, but rather through fear that it might. It would be just like God to save this heathen riffraff, and it would be just like them to repent, if He asked them. Due to his advantage of the light of God, and climb up to a higher level of life, Jonah didn't want that. Knowledge of God belonged to Israel . . .

The tribal fear is one of our most primitive social feelings. Expressed in many forms, it is the underlying motive for isolationist thinking and twisted human behavior. It is the fear in every juvenile life, that builds high tariffs, monopolies, and trade barriers, to protect our tribe. It is the fact that makes Jim Crow laws to keep the Negro down, lest in rising he encroach on the rights of all that fear that fosters imperialism in the world, joining "native" in contempt to maintain white prestiges. . . .

Troubled Waters

But Jonah struck troubled waters with his willingness to leave have we. For life is not built on any such half-truths as those by which we have been schooling to live Nowhere in the Book of Life is there any encouragement to the notion that life is built on self-interest and that God is concerned only with our tribe . . .

No man works harder against his own tribe than he who works for his own tribe. That is the law.

This, in a nut is what the Gospels are making clear to us: we can save our own tribe only as we lose ourselves in the service of the light of liberty at home only as we carry it to the dark world "on the world."—Robert M. Hall in The Chisalita.

Charming Trousseau Tea Honors Daughter

A charming trousseau tea was held on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sandercock, Dundas Street east, in honor of their daughter, Phyllis Eleanor, bride-elect.

The door was opened by the little Misses Elaine and Donna York, and the guests were graciously received by the hostess, Mrs. Elmer Sandercock, Miss Eleanor Sandercock, bride-to-be, and Mrs George Nelson, mother of the bride-to-be.

Mrs. Russell Smith, as living-room hostess, invited to the dining-room where the table was daintily appointed with its silk lace cloth and centred with pink patterned border, centred by a crystal bowl of pastel-linted sweetpeas and baby's breath, and flanked by tall cases celebra with pink tapers, white baskets of pink gladioli added much beauty to the pictures rooms.

Those who poured were, Mrs. Gordon Orr, of Campbellford; Mrs. S. J. Benson, of Belleville; Mrs. Frank Doxtator, also of Belleville; Mrs. John Pearl, of Hamilton and Mrs. R. E. Drope, of Harwood.

Miss Helen Sulman was in charge of the tea room, and those who served were Mrs. H. F. Thompson, Mrs. R. J. McLean, Mrs. Percy Ray, and Mrs. Richard Cannon, both of Madoc.

Miss Marietta Sandercock invited the guests to the trousseau room while Mrs. Reg. Edwards, of Toronto, displayed the trousseau. Mrs. Jack Parrott, of Belleville, had charge of the guest book and acted as upstairs receptionist.

The lovely gifts, from the many different showers, were in charge of Miss Jean Arnold, of Campbellford, while the wedding gifts were shown by Mrs. Kenneth York, of Belleville

Graduates as Nurse

Miss Joyce Armstrong, who graduated recently as a registered nurse, was a member of the 1951 graduating class of the Woodstock General Hospital School of Nursing.

Miss Armstrong attended Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School prior to her graduating from Delhi High School, Delhi, Ontario.

The former is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Armstrong, formerly of Belleville district and Lansdowne, Prince Edward County.

Community Honors Departing Neighbors

Front Road friends and neighbors met recently in Point Anne Hall, to present to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richard Bell and their daughter, Leota, tangible evidence of the high esteem in which they were held, and to wish them God's best in their new home in Deseronto.

An address, expressing the regret of the community as a whole, in the loss the district would sustain by their removal, was read by Mrs. Orland Wilson, and while Mr. Bell contributed so wholeheartedly during the World war days, working to add to the comfort of the boys "over there" by the kindly disposition of Mr. Bell, his sportsmanship and generous hospitality, and Leota's happy and sunny temperament, as well as her willingness to aid whenever time and opportunity permitted, all had won for the Bell family, the deepest respect of the community.

The address was signed, on behalf of the community friends by Messrs. Harry O'Neill and Clinton Brown, Front Road, Thurlow.

Many were the wishes voiced for future happiness in the new home to which they were going, and many the wishes for success in the years that lay ahead.

THE CENSUS

Reading up on the census, we find that to Canada goes the credit of taking the first census of modern times. It appears that the first modern census in Europe dated from the 18th century. In the U.S., no census was taken until 1790.

As early as 1666 there was a census taken of the colony of New France. This was a record of every person by name on a fixed date. It showed the age, sex, place of residence, occupation and conjugal status. The list totalled 3,215. The original document of 154 pages is in the archives of Paris. A transcript is on view in the Public Archives building at Ottawa.

Modern machinery will make quick work of Canada's 1951 census. Instead of transcribing the information by hand, the cards filled out by the census takers will be fed into a machine. Whenever the special ink appears, an electrical contact will be made and a hole punched. From the machine, comes a fully punched card ready for automatic counting or filing.

Rejects Mistakes

The new electronic statistical machine will reject cards containing mistakes. If the census taker has put a mark opposite "no" for a girl's age and another mark opposite "married," the machine won't take it. If a farmer's card is punched to show he got $50 a bushel for his wheat, the machine automatically discards the card for correction.

Cards from this machine and when the census is finished, it will be shipped to other parts of country, Spurred by the United Nations, more than 40 countries are counting heads in 1950 and 1951.

Talking over the census at the bridge club it came to light that several wives set their husband's income much lower than he is actually receiving. The wives forgot all about the pension and income tax deductions on each pay cheque! Which all goes to show it's the "human" day, not the salary which is impressed

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

A thank-you note to [illegible] on who gives a [illegible] while you are [illegible]

Dear Mrs. Beekman:
I'm going to visit my cousin—they live much more elaborately than we do. I have been asked to entertain more than we do. In our correspondence we've been preaching visit, my cousin writes that that several of her friends are planning to give parties for me, a luncheon or tea, a cocktail party on a Sunday afternoon during my visit, a beach party, and so forth. When I return home should I write thank-you notes for these entertainments, or would that give the wrong impression?

Betty M.

It will give the wrong impression if you don't write a note of appreciation to everyone who entertained for you during your visit—no matter how simple the party. Many courteous and particularly thoughtful people make it a point to write these thank-you notes before they depart, including each also in a box of flowers or often with a corsage, or with a book or box of candy.

Don't fly airplane Henious

Dear Mrs. Beekman:
I am going on my first trip by airplane—to visit my college roommate—and the trip will take several hours, including the luncheon hour.

1. How much should I tip the stewardess?

2. My father thinks it would be a good idea for me to tell the stewardess that this is my first trip. Do you think I should?

Anita M.

1 Don't give a tip to any member of the plane's crew. Although the hostess (sometimes called "stewardess") gives passengers very helpful and personal service, she is not tipped. She is a well paid member of the staff.

2. I heartily agree with your father. The hostess will like to know, and that she can give you special attention. And she will see that the luncheon will be served to you will be substantial and appropriate to a first trip. There are many little attentions and courtesies she will delight in giving you

White suits perfect attire for men in afternoon, summer-wedding party

Dear Mrs. Beekman:
My wedding is to be mid-August, at 4 p.m., the reception at 6 o'clock. My wedding gown is white lacey floor train; maid of honor and bridesmaids wearing ankle-length dresses. At this time of day, for this type of summer wedding, please tell us the correct attire for the bridegroom, best man, the two ushers, and my brother who will give me away.

M.

It is the time of the ceremony . . . 4 o'clock . . . that determines the type of attire for the men in the wedding party. For your mid-summer wedding, the men in the wedding party . . . bridegroom, best man, ushers, and your brother (who as the one who is to give you in marriage, is considered a member of the wedding party) . . . may correctly wear white suits, now the most popular (and comfortable!) attire for the men in a summer wedding. The next choice is dark jackets, preferably dark-blue, and white flannel trousers.

Mixes march 5e.

The sale of prepared bake mixes is still parachuting upwards. Housewives are now buying nearly eight times the amount purchased in 1946.

All mixes are fairly uniform in quality and are tremendous time savers. They are also great testers. Mrs. Brown can hardly boast that her pie dough contains the ingredients that Mrs. Smith's, if both use the same mix. Mrs. Brown's meticulous skill however, may be superior to her neighbors and in this respect she can still lay claim to individual culinary art.

In today's recipe you'll need a simple pie dough rolled into a rectangle. The dough is covered with a cooked chicken liver filling, rolled up and baked. In rolling the dough, remember to use the rolling pin from the centre outward. If the dough is in a rectangle before you begin rolling it should end up as a rectangle if you roll uniformly in all directions.

Chicken Liver Roll. Serves 4-5.

Prepared pie mix
1 cup mashed potatoes
1 cup chicken livers
1-2 cup onions diced
1 clove of garlic finely chopped
1/4 cup green peppers diced
1-3 cup celery diced
2 tablespoons vegetable fat
Salt—pepper
2 eggs
Prepare enough pie dough mix to make a regular two crust pie. Roll out dough to a rectangle about nine by twelve inches. If mixes are fairly uniform in quality and are tremendous time savers. They are also great testers. Mrs. Brown can hardly boast that her pie dough contains the ingredients that Mrs. Smith's, if both use the same mix. BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Slimming down the plump figure

Lucky is the woman of normal weight and proportions. She is the envy of the people who counts her calories and the skinny girl who can count her ribs. The emaciated one can cover her sharp points to a certain extent, camouflaging the spare frame with delectable dry goods, but the poor dear whose measurements are a strain on the tape measure hasn't a chance to disguise the fact that her displacement is greater than it should be.

Why didn't she catch those fat cells when they were young? They crept up on her and she fancied that a few pounds more or less wouldn't matter. Fat cells have a way of multiplying rapidly. The more there are of them, the more difficult it is to coax them into a state of dissolution. But it has been done by many a woman who got tired of lugging around adipose tissue.

Any woman whose weight is fifteen pounds over normal for her height and age would do well to think about the matter. She doesn't have to starve; she doesn't have to take violent exercise. If she takes off a pound or two a week, she is progressing as fast as she should toward acquiring the svelte silhouette.

One fact the heavyweight must keep in mind: she is getting more fed each day than she needs for the day's activities. She will offer the alibi that she eats practically nothing at all .It is possible that she is not a hearty eater; but she is getting more fats, starches or sweets than make for a balanced diet. She must cut them down to the limit; she needs some, of course, because they are energy-building elements.

The demon coffee drinker, who adds considerable sugar and cream to this beverage, is likely to gain weight. Therefore, during the reducing regime she should take her coffee clear. In time her appetite will adjust itself to this change.

Why didn't she catch those fat cells when they were young?

Fried foods are out. She can have broiled or roasted meats. Breakfast should consist of fruit or fruit juices, a soft boiled egg, toasted rye bread without butter and a beverage. If she drinks milk, the cream should be removed.

She can have all the vegetables she desires, though those that grow above ground contain less starch than those that grow below. Green salads are her good friends. They provide bulk and contain mineral salts, of which everyone has need. She must close here eyes when passing the pastry shop. Cakes made of butter, sugar and flour contain the very ingredients from which she must abstain. Butter, milk and cottage cheese should be included in the daily intake of groceries.

CONTROL OF WEEDS

In this, and one successive article are listed some of the worst offenders in our lawns and gardens.

Listed in this article are — dandelions — a persistent perennial —cut below crowns any time of the year. Spray with hormone type weed killer.

Plantain — perennial with live-for-ever seeds — use hormone type weed killer or drop acid or gasoline in centre of plant.

Buckthorn — a perennial weed most injurious to lawns — cut or pull out by hand, also use hormone type weed killer in late summer.

Crab Grass — a very persistent annual weed which spreads by seeds. Feed lawn heavily to produce a heavy grass growth. Mow often at 1½" to reduce seeds and hand pull young seedlings.

Pig Weed — an ugly annual pest with very long live seeds. Use weed killer on bad infestations. Hand pull or hoe early. Destroy pulled stocks as otherwise seeds will ripen.

Quack Grass — a persistent weed which spreads by creeping jointed root stocks. Smother with mulch and remove visible shoots as long as any show.

Sand Burr — a nasty annual weed in sandy soils. Use weed killer before seeds ripen and drop.

Bind Weed — a very persistent annual. Cut off sprouts as soon as they show. Dig into ground and take out long white stems which spread rapidly. Can be destroyed with hormone type weed killer.

Yellow Sorrel — a perennial weed common in poor lawns. Feed lawn with fertilizer to improve grass growth. Pull out weeds before the seeds ripen.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Her husband tires about his activities

Dear Miss Fairfax:
For the six years of my marriage, my husband has been invited to run with him once our two children came, to them. About six months ago, however, he began to go out alone at night, and when I asked him where he was going, he lied to me. I told him I knew he was lying, and he said he was not doing anything wrong was that it wasn't any of my business where he went.

I decided that as long as he was continuing to lie to me, I was going to leave him. He begged me not to leave, saying he still loved me and the children, and that he would change his ways. I love my husband, and would like things to be the same as before, but I don't think I could ever trust him again.

Please let me know if a husband should tell his wife where he goes at night.

B. H.

Dear B.H.:
I think in a normal, marital relationship, it is the natural right for a husband to tell his wife where he is going when he goes out with her. When a man takes the attitude your husband does, however, there is no point in questioning him. If he does not choose to be frank of his own volition, he is not going to be so when his wife starts checking up on him.

Since you tell you love your husband, I assume you don't really want to leave him, in which case there is only one thing for you to do. That is to stop showing any curiosity about where he goes and what he does, to build up your own interests and activities, so that you will have something to do on the nights you are left alone, and try to believe that if you stop nagging, he may eventually become ashamed of himself. You can't make him so, however, by scolding him, reproaching him, pleading with him, or doing anything else to make him feel uncomfortable. You may be able to, if you show dignity and self-respect by ignoring what he is doing so far as possible.

She's "never had any luck with men"

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am 23 and never seem to have had any luck with men. The one I could like a lot never seem to feel the same about me, while the fellows I jus; like as a friend, or else don't care for at all, are always chasing me.

My supervisor at work is in his early 30's and has never been married. I have been on my present job about four months, and while I developed a liking for him, he has never given me any reason to believe he might regard me as anything more than a fellow-worker. He doesn't seem to be shy, for he is very friendly with everyone.

I would like to find out if there might be a little chance of his liking me, and friends have suggested my giving a small party and inviting him. They say that might be one way of getting to know him socially. Would that seem too forward?

N. M. G.

Dear N.M.G.:
I don't think that would be too forward at all, particularly if you invited to your party others from your place of work. Plan your party carefully so that you will have a congenial group, and each one will feel at home with all the others. That is the first and most important thing that goes into a successful party. Then, of course, plan activities that will keep things lively, so there will be none of those moments when people sit around wondering what to do or say. Don't you have your refreshments too elaborate, but simply choose something that you can be pretty sure everyone will like.

Be easy and natural with your guests, and don't single out this one man in whom you're interested for special attention. Just see that everybody enjoys themselves, and when he sees that you know how to give people a good time, he'll probably want more of your company.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED R. WILSON

SUSPICIOUS

Of all song birds, probably the catbird is the most suspicious. If you are anxious to hear it sing, be sure to close your windows if you are caught spying, the melody ceases, as the chorister dives into the thickest part of the bushes.

At breeding time, this suspicion is intensified. The pair chooses a dense hedge or thicket, preferably near a berry patch or cherry tree, and built their untidy, bulky nest on a branch a yard or two from the ground. The foundation is often mud, to stick it firmly in place. Then twigs, rootlets, grass, paper, string, bits of wool or other rubbish may be loosely woven together. A lining is made of fine black roots. The four eggs are very similar to robins', but a somewhat darker greenish blue. The catbirds slink in and out of the foliage, trying their best to disguise the fact that their home is situated just out of sight.

Discovers a Calamity

Indeed, the finding of a catbird's nest generally means calamity for the owners. Should you be observed, or leave any indication that you have been there, the pair descent, and, if the season is not too far advanced, start up housekeeping elsewhere.

The worst mistake on your part is to leave a trail of trampled grass and broken branches, because this provides enemies with much too good information, and so leads marauders to the spot.

The nestlings are brought up on soft fruits and insects, and are taught, from the beginning, to behave so as to avoid detection. They are rarely seen while still in bond. It pays to obey parents.

Elusive Juveniles

Once at the juvenile stage, catbirds are still more elusive. They have inherited the secretive behavior of their parents, and their coloring is such that they are hard to see even in good light as they jump from branch to branch low down in the bushes. The adult male has a strong resemblance to their father and mother, but grey areas are slightly darker. Their voices too are much the same by this date, but they have not yet firm up singing his varied song. Unfortunately, he has learned the young one calls from which he has learned his name, that very unmusical "wail" and strong scream.

Another deplorable habit of all catbirds is making a noise that sounds remarkably like spitting. But for this they must be forgiven, as no offense is meant.

Yankees Slip Is Showing; Red Sox, Indians Only Half-Game In Rear

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By C. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

WHAT, NO FATTED CALF?

Don't look now, but there is a strong possibility that the prodigal sons of the Central Ontario Baseball League may be back in the old fold some next dissension.

According to the grapevine both Oshawa and Peterborough are willing to peve connections with the Toronto Vladeat League; in fact according to one Bunny Mitchenson, Toronto scribe, Oshawa has been "flirting with the idea" of joining the ranks of the professional fraternity Leagues next year. Wanna bet, Bunt?

The competition in the Vladeat League this summer, so far, has been anything but the type that causes the fans to grab their tongues, indulge in the odor of their coats, or dash off telegrams to the folks at home. In fact, it is reported, the only battles that result in anything like close competition occur when the Senior City crew clashes with the lads from the Lifford City.

Game results prove that the Toronto clubs are not of the calibre of the import-laden Oshawas and Peter. Lop-sided scores may be all right if you've got a bundle on the result and your peace of mind cannot exactly be in the game, but as far as the average baseball fan is concerned, they're not liable to cause any mild riots, stop traffic outside the ball-park or cause ticket-sellers to retain a padded cell in mental institutions.

It has been intimated that both Oshawa and Peterborough might come back to their old hunting grounds in the Central Ontario Baseball League, especially since the season shows that they have connected for only a few runs, and spending a grandstick in an effort to raise the calibre of baseball in these parts.

The Belleville Redmen in exhibition tilts with both Oshawa and Peterborough clubs have given the Vladeat Leaguers something to think about. Thursday night in Oshawa the Reds might have trotted home with that Oshawa scalp at their belts had they not suffered fielding slugs fright in one innings and were content to allow the lads from the Oshawa to cross the plate with four unearned runs. Their bludgeons were potent enough. Fourteen hits garnished with extra bases proves that, at that, they could have won the tilt by the last batter had they come through with a clutch clout.

So don't be surprised if there is a renewal shuffling of the Central Ontario Baseball League next season. One suggestion that it that two franchises operate in the Vladeat parks with Oshawa, Peterborough, Kingston, Belleville, Batawa and Picton, if the latter pair retain the kings, in the west and Smiths Falls, Brockville, Cornwall and possibly an Ottawa Valley team representing the east, but that's only a suggestion albeit has possibilities.

HOLIDAY SPORTS FARE

Let's see what's cooking for fandom over the holiday. Baseball enthusiasts can go to Smiths Falls with the Redmen or to Oshawa where the Peterborough Five Pitch Athletics.

Harness racing fans will get the best show of the season in Eastern Ontario at Speedway Parkland where Promoter Dick Burrowes has arranged an outstanding card of drivers from all parts of the province. Several local driving stars will add to the color and thrills of the meet and Burrowes promises an afternoon of superb thrills and chills.

Over Picton way the annual Gold Cup speedboat races hold forth and many famous Canadian and American drivers will vie for honors.

At the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club, keglers from all parts of the province will quest for the handsome Carbide Gold Trophy. Rinks representing the best bowlers the province can produce will re-ins action at 9 a.m. and continue until the wee sma' hours until the winners have been declared. A handsome list of prizes has been made available and bowlers from all parts of the district will be on hand to see the fun.

Golfers who like tournament play can hie to Peterborough, where the annual Kawartha Amateur Golf Tournament which got under way today will conclude a three-day links session. Over 300 amateurs are expected to enter and the handsome Lord Calvert Trophy will be their goal.

Also available here for Glen Roys go to "prince" but only temporarily. The tenth treks to Kingston Penitentiary where it plays a doubleheader, the first game with the Guards and the second with the Saints. First tilt gets under way at 1:30.

ALL-STAR GAME TUESDAY!

Tuesday the Central Ontario Baseball League's second all-star classic of the season gets under way at Brockville. Stars from Belleville, Picton, Batawa and Brockville will trade clash with those from Kingston, Brockville and Smiths Falls. The game is being played in Fulford Park, Brockville and starts at 6:30.

Redman coach Pat Wilson will guide the destinies of the west squad with Brockville's Joe Herschock at the helm for the eastern team. Selection of the players will be made over the weekend.

SOFTBALL PLAYOFFS

Starting Wednesday next Glen Roys and Howe and Hegerman entries in the "A" section of the Commercial Softball League start the "chips down" series for the right to represent Belleville in the OASA Intermediate "A" playdowns. The series will be a best two-of-three affair unless lighting arrangements now under consideration, are completed for Alemite Field. In this event the series will be extended to a best three-of-five. The second game will be played Friday next. A winner must be declared by August 15th.

THINK IT OVER!

Today, right now in fact, thousands of holiday-hungry Canadians are speeding along the highways headed for lake, stream and forest, cottage and cabin to spend the long weekend.

If holiday history repeats itself, and it inevitably does, a number of Canadians, laughing, carefree today, will be stretched out in death by Tuesday morning.

It seems that the accident gods must exact their toll of human lives whenever a weekend or a holiday occurs.

Accidents are bound to happen. But a lot of them can be avoided. A little foresight, care and sane thinking are need.

Don't venture into deep water if you can't swim. Don't "keep places" in midstream in that canoe. Don't leave anything to chance. Don't release the "clutch" on your car—and put it on a bottle.

Remember it is always "the other guy" who is to blame. And that 'other guy' could be you. Drive carefully. Watch the road, not the roadside roses.

A little care might save a life. And that life could be yours.

Happy Holiday.

Bombers Split With Browns, Sox Claw Tigers; Indians Win Chisox Narrow Margin to Six

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Thanks to rookie Jim McDonald, a former Red Sox player now working for the last-place St. Louis Browns, Boston and Cleveland are only a half game behind New York Yankees in the American League pennant race.

McDonald shackled the Yanks 10-3 yesterday in the second game of a doubleheader after Vic Raschi notched victory No. 18 in New York's 8-4 opening conquest.

Maury McDermott, lanky lefty took full advantage of New York's lapse at Washington, two four runs while pitching the Red Sox to a 5-3 night triumph over Detroit. And Cleveland kept step in a second-place tie by rallying in the eighth to trip Philadelphia A's 3-2.

Brooks Hold Lead

Brooklyn held its 10-game lead in the National although the Dodgers lost a 5-4 decision in 14 innings at Cincinnati to Ewell Blackman Willie Ramsdell. Following the pattern of the 1951 season, the second-place New York Giants also fell 5-4 at St. Louis.

The Yanks, in the opening game of first place, closed a little ground by whaling Pittsburgh's 6-4 for hobby Redorf 14th victory. Chicago's Paul Minner broke a nonhitting attack by chalking Boston 2-1 for his first triumph since July 1.

McDermott, lanky lefty, smashed the first homer of his Major League career with two on in the second inning. Later he added two singles off Dizzy Trout to run his string of his every decision.

Young McDonald, sold to the Browns for the waiver price after Boston recalled him from the Louisville farm club a year ago, had plenty of support in his Friday victory. The Browns knocked out rookie Bob Wiesler, Yankee hot shot lefty, in a seven-run fourth inning.

Raschi Wins

Raschi's first-game triumph was made easy by a Yankee six-run second-inning blast that flattened Tommy Byrne.

Bob Kennedy's double off Sam Zoldak topped off Cleveland's winning surge in the eighth at Philadelphia. Al Rosen's circle record help from Early Wynn in the eighth to nail down his 14th triumph.

Stewart hit two doubles and a triple and Mincey two singles and a double to bolster Saul Rogovin's steady pitching against Washington. Bob Porterfield was the loser.

Brooklyn's power was checked by Ramsdell who struck out 10 in the three-hour and 44-minute contest. The Dodgers seemed to have won it in the 14th when Billy Cox tripled home Roy Campanella. But Cincy bounced back to tie on Hank Edwards' pinch double. Edwards went to third on a wild pitch by loser Ralph Branca and scored on Campella's passed ball.

Stan Musial's three-run triple featured a fourth seventh inning spurt that produced all five runs and knocked out loser Sal Maglie.

Pittsburgh's Bill Werle wasted 9 2/3 innings of hitless relief work after the Phillies ripped into Vern Law for 10 hits and all their runs.

Minner scored the tie-breaking run off Vern Bickford in the eighth when he walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Hal Jeffcoat's single.

Leafs Blanked By Ottawa 1-0 Bisons, Wings Win

(By The Associated Press)

Managers usually cry, "give us some pitchers", but not Hugh Foland, pilot of Ottawa Giants of the International League . . . . . .

Foland's plea is for hitters. The Giants, weakest hitting team in the league, probably would be up in the first division if they had three ones who could hit for distance with regularity.

The Giants have collected only six hits in their last two games but have won both. However, Foland knows that his pitchers can't keep on winning with that kind of an attack.

The Giants beat Buffalo Bisons 1-0 Thursday night, collecting all three of their hits in the ninth inning. Last night Gerry (Red) Fahr turned back Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0. The Giants again collected only three hits. The Giants scored in the second inning on Stan Jok's triple and John Mickovich's ground out. Fahr permitted six hits in racking up his third victory without a defeat.

Heavy hitting featured the other two games which saw Rochester edge Baltimore Orioles 7-6 and Rochester Red Wings trounce Springfield Cubs 9-0.

Montreal Royals and Syracuse Chiefs rained idle.

The Bisons nipped the Orioles with a one-run rally in the ninth. Marv Rickert singled to left field and 24th homers of the season for the Orioles.

Rochester scored seven runs in the third inning to beat the Orioles with ease. Johnny Blatnik climaxed the Wings' big rally with a three-run homer.

Ottawa Jockeys Get Warning 'To Be Careful'

Ottawa, Aug. 4—(CP)—Jockeys at nearby Connaught Park Race Track have been warned to be careful at all times of their contracts both on and off the track.

He talked Thursday with jockeys, trainers and race track personnel at the Connaught Park Inn and his warnings in no way reflected on jockeys racing at the track.

His statement followed reports that Connaught Park is being closely scrutinized by provincial racing officials as part of the investigation of suspected race-fixing on Ontario tracks.

R.C.M.P. and Quebec police officials have denied rumors that they had joined in an investigation at Connaught.

Canada, Cuba Meet Today In Cup Matches

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 4—(CP)—With cool, sunny weather predicted, Canada and Cuba today are set to tangle in the opening Davis Cup singles matches of the North American zone tie, washed out yesterday by rain.

The first two singles were postponed after a torrential rain drenched the grass courts at the Mount Royal Tennis Club where the three-day matches are being held.

Lorne Main, 21-year-old No. 3 man, will represent Canada in opening play against Jose (Pepe) Aguero, Cuba's 29-year-old veteran. Brendan Macken of Montreal will meet Dr. Juan Welss of Havana in the other match. The first match is scheduled to start at 2 p.m. The record shows Canada with three victories in five meetings against the Cubans, the last scored in 1933.

During the following 18 years, the Canadians have been winless in cup play.

Possibility of slippery courts caused by yesterday's rain may result in Aguero wearing spiked shoes.

The suspense of waiting an extra day for the matches, it is believed by both Captain Eric Williams of the Cubans and Captain Gordon MacNeil of the Canadians, may possibly have some effect on the players' games.

However, MacNeil stuck to his earlier prediction that the Canadian will win, "possibly in four sets." He declined to name his Sunday's doubles pairing until after today's events, but hinted that Main and Henri Rochon "might see action together." Cuba has named Aguero and Weiss as her doubles team.

Sports Roundup

By JACK HAND
(For Hugh Fullerton Jr.)

New York, Aug. 4—(AP)—Look like Joe Louis will get his return shot at Ezzard Charles after all, but in Chicago, not New York, and with no title at stake.

Amid-October date at Chicago Stadium is the likely result of a series of conferences between Joe and Jim Norris, Mr. Big of the International Boxing Club . . . Charles has to keep busy while waiting for Jersey Joe Walcott, and a Louis match—although risky—will be a big pay day.

Horse Tip

There's a nag at Washington Park named Coffee Money. Trainer is C. Sanborn. Should go good in a chase.

What Willie Sox pitcher and first baseman, both veterans of other clubs, were raked over the coals by Paul Richards during the recent New York series? Or was Paul just warming up for Sunday's doubles pairing until after today's events, but hinted that Main and Henri Rochon "might see action together." Cube has named Aguero and Weiss as her doubles team.

Coffee Money?

Roland Le Starza, Bronx butcher boy who has lost only one fight, seems to be left out of the heavyweight picture. Jimmy De Angelo, his manager, screams for a return with Rocky Marciano and the man who beat him, but he hasn't made much headway . . . Looks like Joe Louis or Louis or anybody" asks De Angelo . . . Meantime La Starza had to go to Long Beach to fight Ted Lowry last night for coffee and cake money . . . He won.

Main Bout Called 'No Contest' Whip Refuses to Accept Win After Mike Is Hurt in Fall

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Canadian sportsmanship at its best was seen in Memorial Arena last night.

In every phase of sport from croquinole to bear-crushing football there are those who look askance at sportsmanship and play to win regardless of method or circumstance.

There are others who place their favorite sport on a high plane, and while striving for victory will not stoop to trickery at the expense of an opponent's misfortune or injury.

That is what happened in the Whipper Billy Watson-Mike Sharry main bout before 1350 fans who sat in silence while wrestling drama was being enacted before their eyes.

The accolade of sportsmanship goes to the British Empire champion Watson. He held high the banner of fair play and consideration of his opponent's condition after Sharp was accidentally injured during the third fall of the bout.

It happened this way.

Both Watson and Sharp had won a fall in bout scheduled for Empire title. They were several minutes in the third fall and both were going all-out in a victory-seeking effort, one to retain his crown, the other to achieve it.

Struck in Groin

Watson suddenly broke loose from a Sharpian armlock that Mike applied to the body effectively for two or three minutes. The Whipper quickly backed into the ropes and Sharp followed with one of his famous body ramrods. Sharp saw it coming and leaped high in the air to straddle the flying Whipper.

But he did not leap high enough. The head of the charging Watson struck Sharp in the groin and he writhed in the canvas writhing in agony. He attempted to rise but fell back on the mat.

Referee Bert Maxwell examined Sharp and decided that he was unable to continue. Manager Sharp, Mike's brother went into the ring and Sharp's hands and protests to Mike. Watson came over from his corner and assisted Sharp with muscular treatment. The crowd sensed what was going on and cheered Watson.

Refuses Victory

Referee Maxwell attempted to raise Watson's hand in token of victory but the Whipper shook him off. Later it was revealed that Sharp was definitely unable to continue, Maxwell again went to Watson's corner and tried to symbolize him as the winner. Again Watson refused.

Mike Sharp wanted to continue but brother Ben, the referee and Watson argued against it.

Officially the bout was ruled "no contest."

Speaking to Watson after the bout, this reporter was told by the champion, "I will not accept the victory under these circumstances. It will go into the records as no contest. It would not be fair to Sharp to take the victory. He was very definitely injured and it would have been folly for him to continue. It is no bout as far as I'm concerned."

The arena rang with cheers for Watson and his fine sportsmanlike gesture in refusing the laurel wreath of victory and his concern for the well-being of a fine foeman. Twas a rare occasion in wrestling and a somewhat strange sight for fandom in these parts.

The first two falls produced some fine grappling. Both Watson and Sharp are speedy scientific wrestlers who disdain from using the usual "villainous" tactics and rely on speed, ability and agility for victory. Sharp won the first fall in 18 minutes with his famous "Sharp Stretcher" hold and Watson took the second fall with his deadly "Canadian Avalanche."

History Disqualified

Lee (the Lee) Henning took matters for in the semi-final bout with Ben Sharp. The Lee became infuriated after 14 minutes of facial grimaces and roughie tactics and not only heaved Ben out of the ring but used the corpulent Maxwell as a chaser. The portly referee immediately disqualified Lee and that was that.

One of the fastest, cleanest preliminary bouts seen here in a long while was that between a pair of big youngsters, George Scott and Dave Elsey. The pair battled cleanly, swiftly and scientifically for the full time limit of thirty minutes and won the well-deserved plaudits of the crowd. They can bring this pair back any time.

Long Shots Win At Thorncliffe

Toronto, Aug. 4 (CP) — The long-shots won at Thorncliffe Raceway Friday as form-players gave their program the go-by. Results:

The first race was won by Jackson Volo, owned and driven by Roy Lawson, of Midland. The horse paid $66 on the $2 ticket.

Then, Peter B. Patch, owned by William Madill, of Flesherton, took the second at odds of better than 7 to 1 and, the daily double combination of Jackson Volo and Peter B. Patch paid $467.80, highest price of the current season.

The favored Crusano won the third and Pat O'Donna, owned by Pryilla Gavin, of Brandon, Man., paid nearly 4-to-1 in winning the fourth. Ruby Rex paid off at $19.75 for a $2 ticket in the fifth and Bad Boy won the sixth for a payoff of $27.30. When Sir Echo 3f. took the seventh, the price was $27.20.

The first half of the Thorncliffe meeting concludes on Saturday. It is expected that the meeting will reopen on Monday, Aug. 13.

INCENTIVE PAY

Bridgetown, N.S. (CP)—Appointing a regular pound-keeper council here set a rate of $2 for each unlicensed dog picked up, plus 25 cents a day board for each animal and 50 cents for each dog destroyed on an order from the police chief.

Brantford Sox Whack Tigers To Extend Lead

(By The Canadian Press)

Brantford's onrushing Red Sox whacked Waterloo Tigers 5-3 last night to lengthen further their long lead over the Tigers in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Majors, who took Brantford's measure for the first time of the season Thursday night, were idle Friday as the Sox clouted starting pitcher Red Tallent of Tigers out of the box.

In other games, southpaw Hal Johnston twirled a four-hitter when Kitchener Legionnaires defeated Galt Terriers 4-1, and Guelph Maple Leafs defeated St. Thomas 3-1 in another four-hitter.

A sterling effort by Waterloo's Bill Russ failed to prevent the Brantford triumph. Russ replaced Tallent in the third inning and held the Sox scoreless for the rest of the game. But damage was already done, Sox taking one run in the second and four in the third mainly on home-run clouts by Wilbur Fields and Clifford.

Fields gave up 10 walks but allowed Waterloo only five hits and their three well-spaced runs.

Kitchener moved into a tie with Galt for fourth place in the standings with their victory over Galt. Reserve Johnston registered a shutout on an unearned Galt run after an Artificial Infield in the sixth. First baseman Frank McDonald stepped over the sack on a double play.

Soccer coaching on the city's playgrounds was begun this week. Coaching sessions are held at Victoria (Soccer School Wednesday evening; East Hill playground, Thursday, and the West Hill and Duncan Morrison playgrounds Saturday. All times at 7.00 pm.

Approximately 25 hardened soccers were on hand at the East Hill playgrounds last Thursday evening to take advantage of the coaching.

It is hoped that one team can be picked from each of the above named playgrounds and one from Foster Ward to play off for the cup that has been donated by Fred Jones, secretary of the Bay of Quinte Football Association.

Players on these teams will be under 15 years of age.

It is also hoped that teams in the under 18 year age group can be formed to play off for the Frank Follwell Trophy while another trophy promised by Bill Harvey will be put up for some competition.

The only games called for this weekend in the Eastern Ontario Football League is the Batawa-Trenton game at Batawa to be played in Peterborough this afternoon. Last Saturday O'Hallorin's just managed to edge out Batawa 1-0 at Beaver Park.

Other games are scheduled in the Bay of Quinte loop, Monday evening Batawa play the Vets in Belleville while S.R.D. are at home to Trenton, Tuesday evening.

League standings has Picton Gunners in front with 24 points. They are trailed by Batawa with 14 points, Belleville Vets with 8, S.R.D., seven, and Trenton Merchants with four.

Pan Fish

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Zelmar Tables.)

When my son, Dick, was cutting his teeth on bass fishing, we used to open each season on the west branch of the Delaware River between Hancock and Deposit, New York. The quiet, easily accessible waters of this river were ideal for a youngster to learn about fishing, both bait and bass bug.

Long before Dick caught his first legal bass, he mastered the technique of bait fishing by practising on rock bass and sunfish. The innards he made on their numbers in the earlier years were appalling. But in this experience he learned when and where to find panfish and bass in a bass river.

"Rock bass are gregarious by nature. Catch one and you are bound to find several more in the same locality. The same applies to sunfish. They usually school together and take a lure readily.

Midgets Like Backwater

"Fish-finding" as applied to these scrappy midgets varies from the rules set up for trout and bass. In a river, these fish prefer backwater pockets, out of the current. Look for them near the base of a pool, behind large rock formations on the river bank or near any underwater obstructions.

In Michigan, some years ago, we were introduced to some of the finest panfishing in the world. Actually, the term panfish did not apply to these oversize rock bass and bluegills. Ranging from ten to 14 inches in length, they would smash a small topwater bug with enthusiasm and put up a battle on light tackle that was surprising.

Panfishing with a 5½ oz. rod, both with bait and artificials, is by far the preferable method. It gives the angler the opportunity to get the maximum of action from these smaller fish. Then, by using trout leaders with fine points, he stands a far better chance of catching fish even in heavily fished waters.

Live Bait Best

Live bait is the most popular lure for panfish. Worms, grasshoppers, small minnows, helgramites — all of these are considered fish takers. For the best results, fish them without weight, allowing them to drift from the surface current. In a lake, do not grease your line. In sinking it will take the lure to the desired depth.

The choice of a rod is more or less optional. Make it light enough for enjoyment, but heavy enough to handle line to reach the more distant pockets easily. Any rod suitable for trout fishing will fill the bill.

Taper your leader to 3x at the least. This is strong enough to handle any of the fish you will hook and still fine enough to increase your chances of hooking them. To be sure, a stray bass now and then will give you some trouble, but time and careful handling will bring him to net as well.

Fish the Shallows

In the months of July and August, the later stages of the Mayfly are drifting on our bass rivers and lakes. Fishing the lower ends of the deep pools with a large dry fly offers an evening full of enjoyment. Not only do you take panfish in numbers, but you will find that quite a few bass will drift down to the shallower water to feed. An evening of this type often gives the light-tackle enthusiast more than he can handle.

Artificial lures are not difficult to select. Almost any small streamer or bucktail tied on a trout hook will take rock bass and sunfish. A small spinner mounted with a No. 4 hook sometimes increases their efficiency. Small cork or deer-hair topwater bugs are outstanding fish takers. A panfish is rarely selective and will strike readily at almost any lure that is offered.

By and large, however, the pleasant and relaxing way to fish for panfish is with bait. To be sure, it's a lazy-man's fishing, but it's a fun. A couple of "lazy-back" boat seats and a liberal supply of bait surely gives an ideal prescription for a pleasant afternoon.

Easy Does It

For this sort of fishing we simplify matters by using cork floats for "bobbers" on the lines. Then all you need to do is to set your float so that the bait hangs free of the bottom, bait your hook and then lean back and take your ease while your bait goes to work for you.

Instead of a stringer, which is apt to damage gills, we keep our fish alive in a net bag which we hang over the side of the boat. Then at the end of the day we can keep the fish we want and release the rest to bite again another day.

Incidentally, if you use up all of your bait, a lily worm makes a tempting morsel. To get them, look for a lily pad with a hole in it. You will note that some of the stems are attached. Pick these leaves or pads and break open the stem. Inside will find one of the little green worms which are highly regarded in panfish circles.

Also, remember that panfish, like a lot of other fish, react to the promptings of the Solunar Periods. For the benefit of clipping the weekly schedules from your newspaper and placing them in your tackle box where they will be handy. Even in panfishing it pays to keep track of the daily Solunar Periods.

Veteran Player Paces Field In Ladies' Golf

By W. R. WHEATLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Aug. 4 (CP) — The tough assignment of overtaking an elusive par and the pace-setting score of a doughty veteran was left to the field today in the final round of the Canadian ladies close golf championship.

So far, neither task has been accomplished.

In two 18-hole rounds played in sunshine and rainstorm, Lawa's par 77 hasn't been equalled.

In the same two rounds, Mrs. A. B. Sterling of Montreal Whitlock has been the leader with consistent play. In Thursday's opening round she shot a 78 to go one stroke in the lead. Yesterday, the weather fit for almost anything but golf, she took 81.

Ontario Champion Close

Closest to her at 161 and rated the best chance to catch up, were Mrs. Peter Petch, a Ontario lass from Whitlock, and Marlene Stewart of Lookout Point Club, near Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Petch, a tall, young golfer who now lives in California, shot an 81 yesterday in the worst of the day-long series of rain storms. She had an 80 in the opening round.

Miss Stewart, 17-year-old Ontario champion, threatened yesterday to take over the leadership. She was out in 38, one under par, but took another 40 coming in.

Her 78 was the lowest of the day and the only score under 80. Miss Petch had a 79.

The west coast made its strongest bid when Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria shot a 79 yesterday with an 81 to give her a 36-hole total of 153, four strokes behind the leader.

Another British Columbia golfer, baby Babs Darwin from Vancouver Marine Drive, also shot an 81. This gave her a two-round score of 164 and a tie with Dalntry Chisholm of Royal Montreal.

Miss Chisholm, niece of Mrs. Darling, slipped from a second place 79 of Thursday with a 41-44 for 85 yesterday.

Western Canada's Baseball 'Veeck' Has Elaborate Plans for Future

By GRAHAM TROTTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton (CP)—M. W. (Red) [illegible] 28 hasn't played baseball but today is the baseball tycoons of the prairies.

Tomorrow he embarks on his biggest venture of a baseball speculative career which started only by this season. It is the $75,000 Edmonton baseball investment.

The things-can't-go-wrong-for-me-now head of an oil brokerage firm, decided recently that if he couldn't play baseball he'd promote the game.

He bought the Scoopts, Sask., club in mid-season and then took over the franchises of Swift Current Indians when the outfit went into the red.

Although the Scoopts-Nixons have won 'em both between them, the $9,000 on the prairie tournament trail this year, Nixon, the Edmonton club, which hails from a Saskatchewan whistle-stop with a population of about 1,500, hosts the tournament circuit with $17,500 in earnings.

Canadian "Veeck"

"I want to put baseball on its feet here and it's going to do it by self to the fans," Nixon said. He plans to make the big Edmonton tournament an annual affair.

A showman patterned after the big leaguer Bill Veeck, Nixon will spice the tournament with fireworks displays, a hillbilly band and a baseball circus.

All of the eight Alberta and Saskatchewan teams, except the best Edmonton oilers, are tournament winners this season. They are Edmonton's Belmont Aces, Central Alberta all-Stars, Regina Capitals, Medicine Hat Mohawks, Indian Head Tickets, Moose Jaw Canadians, Saskatoon Ramblers and, of course, Nixon's Scoopts.

Most of the teams are made up of American imports.

FRANKFORD

Merchants Not Likely to Get Out of Cellar

Frankford — Frankford Merchants saw their chances of getting out of the Trent Valley League circuit cellar, as the Stirling club handed them a 14-12 defeat on the Frankford diamond. The best Frankford can possibly hope for is a [illegible] Stirling, Frankford and Tweed remaining that with Stirling, while their northern neighbors have a game in hand with Wooler.

Wooler is practically assured of the league championship, as the event can only be tied with Trenton or the R. C. A. F. Wooler has two games yet to play, one with Trenton and Stirling. They need only win one of these, to become first winner of Dr. Emerson Trophy donated by Dr. F. G. Robertson, M. P., of Belleville, to the Trent Valley League. Following the regular season, all five teams in the league will participate in the playoffs for the Goodfellow Trophy.

In Frankford last night, it was a sloppy game on both sides as far as defensive play went, with each team committing seven bobbles. Stanton were the hosts for Frankford, yielding seventeen safeties, while Rogers, pitching for Stirling gave up a total of seven.

Frankford opened their first frame with a pair of runs on four walks and an infield out. Stirling failed to score in the first. In the second, Stirling got a run on a single by Noble, a walk and a fielder's choice. Frankford bounced back with a single run on an error, a single by Rogers and Bedard.

Stirling knotted the count with two runs in the third, on a triple by Montgomery, and a round-tripper by Dafoe. The visitors went one ahead in the fourth, as a Frankford error, and singles by McMurray and Bastedo brought them a single run. Frankford again took the lead in the last half of the fourth, as Manion homered to drive in Cooke, who had singled ahead of him.

Stirling [illegible] fell apart in the seventh, and Stirling took advantage of it to the tune of six big runs. Coupled with singles by Montgomery, Ulman, Lanigan and McMurray, and a tremendous triple by Bastedo and Rogers' homer the errors were all Stirling needed.

Lum Carson Hurls 4-Hitter Beats CCC 6-0

Four hit pitching by veteran Lum Carson backed up by stout defensive work in the pinches was all Howe and Hagerman needed to hand the Point Anne Cementmen a 6-0 whitewash last evening in the round-robin city league series.

The win gave the Plumbers a split in their home and home series with the Cementmen who took a 12-2 decision Tuesday evening.

The Plumbers started things off smartly in the first inning with Locke walking with one away. Don Adams moved him to third with a double to centrefield. The throw from the outfield got away from the catcher and Locke and Adams wheeled in with two runs.

In the third, with one away, Herb Henn got a life on Elliott's error. Don Locke moved him along with a scratch infield effort and they both moved up on a passed ball. Don Adams banged a long high fly to right field that plated Henn, with Locke to third. Vern Goyer walked, and stole second. Harry Wardhaugh lined a single into left field to score Locke. McGregor flied out to right field to end the inning.

A single, double and an error was good for one Plumber tally in the seventh, and Locke added the final run in the eighth on a walk, an error and Dick Fitzpatrick's pinch hit single to centrefield.

Point Anne threatened in the fourth when Cementmen Elliott led off with a single, went to second on Finlan's sacrifice, and on to third on Bill Saunder's scratch bunt. Perry Everet flied out to right field and Green was trapped by the Locke-Adams relay to end the inning.

Point Anne's last chance loaded the bases with no one out. Bob Strahan popped up to the infield. Saunders struck out, McGregor to the mound which Carson retrieved and fired home to force Elliott. Goyer then whipped the ball to third for a double play to cut off Point Anne's best scoring chance.

Sport in Brief

Army apparently was headed for another glorious football season as this fall until the announcement Friday that a majority of the squad had been dismissed from the military academy for "scribbing" in examinations.

Ninety unidentified cadets were expelled and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, said no names would be announced.

However, Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, said Gen. Collins had told him and several Senators that most of the Army football team was involved. Army, however, indicated it would carry out its football schedule.

Golfing Chappie Is None Too Happy Champion Today Rates Pay for Play

By EDWIN B. JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 4 (CP)—Max Faulkner, the first homebred since 1912 to win the British Open Golf title, has been too busy cashing in on his newly-won laurels to bother about current or future competitive tournaments.

In fact it may be some time before the 34-year-old champion returns to the professional circuit unless tournament promoters indicate a willingness to substantially increase the present purse for a crack at the prize money.

To show he meant business Faulkner withdrew from the $,000-guineas, Harrogate Tournament, one of the richest events of the season, before hustling off to his home in the country. There he planned to rest up for a spell and sort out the tempting offers of radio and television contracts as well as exhibition tours. He also plans to write a book on the finer points of the game.

No Prima Donna, This Chappie

Maxie made it clear he was not adopting a prima-donna stand just because he held the open title. He said he had long felt that every top-flight British professional should get some substantial payment apart from a crack at the prize money for appearing in any major tournament.

He put the proposition to the Harrogate officials, but when they gave him the brush-off he withdrew from the field. His decision caused quite a flurry as it was the last tournament before the selection committee chose the two representative Britain in the Ryder Cup match against the United States next November. Faulkner will be a member of the team.

But Maxie has one date he intends to keep without fail—the British match-play tourney at Maidenhead in September. He is champion of the double title.

"Real Make Money"

"I am an unattached professional and must make money somehow," he said. "United States ranking golfers receive a fixed fee for competing in the more important events and I should think my appearance in a tournament is worth £100. I believe other British golf professionals would adopt the same attitude if they won the championship."

Faulkner indicated that United States promoter were willing to pay for his appearance in their tournaments but not enough to induce him to make the trip.

He said he had wired the Tam O'Shanter Club in Chicago his readiness to compete for a re-payment of £1,000, plus expenses. They offered him $1,000.

"That just won't quest enough," Faulkner said. "After I had paid my fare there would have left me with about $150 to meet the many other demands of tournament golf."

In the United States, he said, open pro-holders the P.G.A. champion and the top money winner of the previous year received a handsome payment for entering any prize tournament.

"It's high time something was done about golf over here in this country," Maxie said. "I may have to charge the public to a showdown but I think all the British professionals will be behind me."

'Lady in Black' Bobs up Again In Race Probe

Fort Erie, Ont., Aug. 4—(CP)—The mysterious "Lady in Black" has bobbed up again in the spreading investigation of allegedly fixed races at Fort Erie race track.

Police arrested a Buffalo, N.Y., resident yesterday and said he was trying to cash part of a $1,500 bet laid by the woman on a race last week. Seized were part-cashed tickets valued at $2,188.

They brought to almost $10,000 the amount held up by police on winning tickets of allegedly "fixed" races. Still outstanding are 33 tickets on one race on which the woman bet. She came into the news after winning a reported $5,000.

Won't Give Name

Police refused to give the name of the arrested man or the charge against him. They said they held them he came across the border to cash the tickets for a friend.

It was the second arrest in the case as the police probed ramifications of a charge reported to have mulcted bookmakers of thousands of dollars.

Benny Campagna, 46, of Chicago was arrested yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to defraud and remanded in jail when he failed to provide property bail of $20,000 or cash bail of $10,000.

How widespread are the activities of the gambling syndicate reported to have engineered the "fix" may be disclosed Wednesday at Hamilton when the Ontario Racing Commission resumes its hearings in the matter.

One report yesterday said the gambling syndicate realized more than $500,000 and that a Toronto stock dealer won some $115,000.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

Ticklish situations may bob up almost any time from any angle. For instance, a partner of a takeout double may not take it out. If this occurs, the doubler must know what is meant thereby.

A takeout double orders partner to bid if no bid intervenes, or if the intervening opponent redoubles. In either case, the weaker hand be the more important it is for partner to take it out.

Fact intervener redoubles does not give partner of the double license to pass. All the more reason he should bid fast. What he should do is show quickly what suit may help doubler.

So, if partner of doubler passes in such cases, what could he mean? Only that he expects to help defeat the opponent bid. To put it another way, his pass admits having a better hand for defence.

South opens with a bid of one heart and west doubles for takeout. North passes. East is now forced to bid. Sometimes he can help defeat the opponent bid of one heart. West doesn't.

Suppose east has a hand like the one you see here:

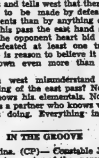
♥ 10 9 8 7
♦ A J 10 9
♣ 7 6 2

The west double promises a hand as good as opening bidder. With the help of the east cards, south will have a tough time making the one heart bid. The one heart bid should be defeated.



Under such circumstances, why should east give up a good thing for something doubtful? So, he passes and tells west that there is more to be made by defeating opponents than by anything else.

By his pass the east hand says that the opponent bid ought to be defeated at least one trick. There is reason to believe it may be defeated more than one trick.

Can west misunderstand the meaning of the east pass? Not if he knows this elementary. Not if he is partner who knows what he is doing. Everything in its place.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

AT THE DRIVE-IN

This is a story with Ann Sothern, Jane Powell, and Barry Sullivan. It has several catchy songs, both old and new, and stage routines and dance numbers.

Along with this is a story involving a mother-daughter comedy complication with both in love with the same sailor, and a sub-plot in which everyone mistakenly believes the unmarried daughter to be in the first stages of motherhood.

Miss Sothern is the Broadway stage star, Miss Powell, her daughter with ambitions for a theatrical career, and Sullivan, the man with whom they are both in love. Then Sullivan first meets Miss Powell en route to Rio he hears her mumbling something about approaching motherhood from a play and believes she is pregnant. His fatherly aid is mistaken for love by the young girl, and when he meets her mother she too falls in love. Eventually all complications solve themselves but in the meantime there are more than a few hectic moments.

Monday Night

"My Blue Heaven"

The marriage of Betty Grable and Dan Dailey, television artists is [illegible] but childless, though they want a family. Applying at a baby adoption agency, they are turned down by the supervisor, who mistakenly considers them irresponsible. Finally, through private arrangements they take the child of an unwed mother. When the mother steals back her baby, they find they have no other legal recourse and heartbrokenly give the tot up. Later, the agency supervisor reconsiders her hasty decision, and informs Betty and Dan she has another child for them: then the unwed mother returns her baby to them, this time for keeps, and Betty discovers she's pregnant. Though somewhat overcome, they are enchanted with the prospect of a suddenly enlarged family.

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 4—(AP)—The movie big shots have dreamed up a big campaign to win back the unfaithful to the movie screens. They're shelling out $700,000 for a big hoopla called "Movietime, U.S.A." It will be a country-wide celebration to call attention to the notion that a good movie is worth your money.

The movie men are dead serious about this campaign, and I wish them luck. I hope they don't resort to such past slogans as "Motion pictures are your best entertainment" or "Movies are better than ever." Good movies will lure the public back, not slogans.

Yes, it was busy, too, during the last weeks, although the result was perhaps not so productive. The time was spent beside the clear waters of Balboa Island, Calif. I managed to re-discover two neglected mediums, the radio and the book. The latter seemed in better shape than the former.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Sunday, August 5

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—Fine aspects all day but don't go to extremes and don't offend God. Prayer (at church) is needed now for world peace and other blessings! Do your share in every way. Enjoy rest, too.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—Today and tomorrow shower beneficent influences on Taureans as on others this Sunday. Show gratitude to and love for God by going to church and praying earnestly. Enjoy wholesome fun, too!

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Happy outlook for you and your particular interests. Make it a true Sunday with prayer, charity deeds and pleasant activities all included. Necessary work also favored.

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—Splendid Venus, Moon and other aspects now promise an interesting, benefic day for all wholesome activities, especially, government and military matters. Enjoy happy doings outdoors.

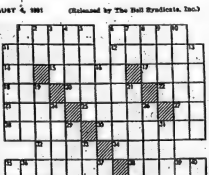
July 24 to August 23—(Leo)—A favorable period for you folks, especially if you heed your soul's needs and don't offend God in any way. Healthy outdoor sports, real good reading, music, etc., among sponsored.

August 23 to September 23—(Virgo)— If there are essential tasks to be done, do them quickly and thus be free to enjoy a hobby or whatever is to your liking. First of all, attend your church. Enjoy relaxation.

September 23 to October 23—(Libra)—Ideal day for pleasant diversions from the usual daily routines but first pray at church for world peace and those less fortunate, offer necessary work as prayers.

October 24 to November 23—This can be a day for big accomplishment or for attending homely but good little tasks to make others happier. And it is a day for prayer, rest, healthy fun. Follow your conscience.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius) —A peak day for your interests, for aiding our government, armed forces, all charity affairs. Prayer and kindliness needed everywhere, do your share and God will bless you twofold.



December 23 to January 21—(Capricorn)—All benefic aspects this Sunday forecast an interesting and we hope, happy day for all. Do not neglect God or your family. Enjoy a hobby or other healthy outdoor fun.

January 22 to February 20—(Aquarius)—Whole day friendly for all honest doings, social gatherings, religious services, family interests. But unpremeditated changes in plans, travel or sound schedule are not favored.

February 21 to March 20—(Pisces)—Stars generous to you folks too. Be interested in church and community affairs, visit the ill and lonely. It will make you feel better. Grand day for recreation, rest.

YOU BORN TODAY: Sunny discretion, frank, fond of people, a very good salesman or saleswoman, good company generally and very capable, if true to your finer instincts and obeying God's and country's sound laws. Keep educating yourself and improving all you can, where you can. And don't be adverse to advice, good suggestions. Leo sometimes is inclined to egotism, thinks he (or she) knows it all. This is harmful belief or attitude and keeps away those who could, would assist you. Be humble, gracious always.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, August 6

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—Not all favorable aspects. Get in your best efforts early. Keep steady pace and observe competition. Show good manners and disposition. Trying to "run the show" won't do.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—Planets in most benefic position for business and personal affairs. Don't spend too freely or go overboard at first breeze of profits. Check and be calm, it could be different.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Hold to soundly progressive, modern methods. Some objections, irritation likely in a.m. After 2 p.m. fine headway stressed (with proper effort). Heart family affairs favored.

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—Clear the deck for real (honest) action. Money matters in general and plans for business future classed. Various angles, choose carefully, be acquainted with facts.

July 24 to August 22—(Leo)—Planetary indications good. Take realistic, sound attitude, with a reasonably firm, confident and you'll corral fine gains. A forthright, kind manner, Leo's natural way, will win.

August 23 to September 23—(Virgo)—General period today. Reflect seriously on effect your tasks and actions will have. Wisely conservative, well planned effort, carrying out ideas in business-like way advocated.

September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—Apropos for considered-as-of failure as well as immediate matters. Plan to have things fit well so there will be no need re-doing, creating needless backlogs. Head wise rules and minds.

October 24 to November 22—(Scorpio)—Vibrations may lean toward conservatism. Keep close tab on finances, business trends. Work may be tedious, at times boring, but things could be worse. We all need restrictions.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius)—Should be profit, generally pleasant going. Satisfactory days ahead for sturdy, consistent action now. Financial home affairs, romance, marriage favored in turn.

December 23 to January 21—(Capricorn)—Better stay close to the conventional, routine duties. At least before trying new ideas. But do concentrate all honest intelligent ideas, talent and methods to gain. Have faith.

January 22 to February 20—(Aquarius)—Moderate sort of day. Can be good or annoying from the effort and sense you put behind it. You will have to dig, strive after what you want. Harder times usually boost you Aquarians.

February 21 to March 20—(Pisces)—A warning: Don't stick out your chin in unknown matters. People's outlook, education and desires often change, are you informed? Be prudent, heed your better instincts and you'll be okay.

YOU BORN TODAY have great inner power, initiative and imagination. Are persuasive, magnetic and should seek all the education you can, it will take you to high places. Guard against being arbitrary. Do not succumb to a desire for luxurious living nor otherwise invite inertia—both can be destructive to good progress. You have fine planetary outlook, can do big things, so concentrate and you will be well rewarded.

SEARCH RIVER

Sarnia, Aug. 3 — (CP) Search parties dragged the St. Clair River for the body of 22-year-old John Joseph McNeil, of New Waterford, Nova Scotia, but reported back here Thursday night. McNeil's relatives often change, are you informed? Be prudent, heed your better instincts and you'll be okay.

FAMOUS COLLECTION

Toronto, Aug. 4—(CP)— Toronto philatelists soon may be able to view the cream of the crop in stamp collections. His majesty is sending to Toronto for display a part of his world-famous "Blue Collection."

BOYS ARRIVE, PARENTS LEAVE

Welland, Aug. 3—(CP)— Two teen-age sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gracie have just completed a 1,400-mile trip from Cape Breton to join their parents—only to find the parents had left Welland last week. The boys—Gerald, 13, and Eldon, 15—are in the care of the Children's Aid while attempts are made to locate their father and mother. The irony of the situation is that the Gracies are believed to have decided to go back to North Sydney, N.S.

Keep improving talents, also recognize failings and pray daily for God's guidance.

WHY WE SAY

Cotton Towers

We usually think of a hobo as not engaging in any type of work. But the word started with cotton workers in the South. During the cotton season many laborers travelled around to find work on plantations as hoe boys. The name was shortened to hobos.

Sea Cadets Link Training, Sport on Georgian Bay

By JON EVANS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

Midland, Ont., — (CP) — More than 3,000 energetic Canadian youngsters are summer visitors at Georgian Bay's rocky Minnicog Island, a few miles north of here.

The boys who swarm about the 37-acre steel knowl as Princess Alice Camp are members of the sea cadets from every part of Canada. Wedged in a July and August 300 boys from Vancouver and Montreal, St. John's and Prince Albert and a scores of other cities and towns across the dominion arrive at the camp.

Princess Alice Camp is one of three for Canadian Sea Cadets. It was sold to the Navy League of Canada, sponsors of the R. C. C. C. organization, 1943 at a cost of $1, by Canadian industrialist George Leitch of Toronto and James Richardson of Winnipeg. During the war years Princess Alice Camp was used to train navy personnel as well as sea cadets.

The man with the job of training, feeding and caring for the teen-age boys, some of them thousands of miles from home, is Lt.-Cmdr. Jim Christ, R. C. N. of Toronto. His executive officer is Lt. Cmdr. P. K. Wilton, R. C. N. R. of Halifax.

Each morning of their 14-day stay they must be at 7 a. m. for religious services on the deck—a square of grass in front of the administration hall. Rev. Robert Good of Ottawa is the camp's Protestant padre and Rev. W. R. Principe of St. Michael's College, Toronto and Rev. Dr. Robitaille of St. Marie College, Montreal, conduct the Roman Catholic services.

Breakfast Ritual

Breakfast is next.

At one table Capt. Claude Brisson, 15, one of the 38 French-speaking boys from Montreal. Next to him are Gerald Warfield, 14, of St. John's, adds the Newfoundland accent to the general din. Down the table 15-year-old Gerald Mackie of Prince Albert, Sask., talks across the table to Tom Graham, 16, of Vancouver. The leader of the group of 56 boys from British Columbia, Lt. T. L. Leadvester, is quick to point out that although that big boy took first place in the swimming, dinghy racing and cutter competition in the camp's weekly regatta.

There's a well-equipped sick bay staffed by Dr. Edward Klein of Harvard University and Nurse Mabel Cody of Newmarket, Ont. If there's a real emergency the radio-telephone in the mainland alerts Midland Hospital while the boy makes ready in one of the camp's motor launches.

Following a summer at the Georgian Bay camp a cadet may attend H. M. C. S. Cornwallis, near Digby, N. S., and the camp at Lulu, Vancouver, B. C. Operational costs of these camps, including a $3,000 weekly food bill at Princess Alice, are paid by the Royal Canadian Navy, with the Navy League responsible for the maintenance.

Training which they have received at camps such as Princess Alice have proved invaluable to the ex-cadets which form 60 per cent of Canada's naval forces.

Said Dr. Klein:

"Here it is not important what language a boy speaks or where he was born. If he pulls a good oar, or he is to the boys a 'good guy,' and that lasts."

Royal Couple Accept Truman's Invitation

London, Aug. 4 — (Reuters)— Buckingham Palace and the Duke of Edinburgh have accepted the invitation of President Truman to visit Washington from Oct. 24-26, it was announced today.

It is not known whether the Princess and the Duke will also visit any other cities in the United States. They will arrive at Quebec City Sept. 30 for a tour of Canada.

The announcement accepting President Truman's invitation came from Clarence House, the London home of the Princess.

It said:

"Their Royal Highnesses the Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, and the Duke of Edinburgh, have accepted with great pleasure the invitation of the President of the United States to visit him in Washington from Oct. 24 until Oct. 26. Their Royal Highnesses will stay at Blair House as guests of the President."

Blair House is Truman's residence while the White House is under reconstruction.

Will Sail Sept. 25

The 32-year-old heir presumptive to the British throne and her husband will sail from England Sept. 25 on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France.

The last members of the Royal Family to visit the U.S. were King George and Queen. They went there as guests of President Roosevelt in 1939. Also after a Canadian tour.

No detailed itinte table for the Royal couple's Canadian tour has yet been issued. It is known, however, they intend spending three weeks visiting Canada from coast to coast and including most of the principal centres.

It will be the first trip to the American continent for the Royal pair. Elizabeth's only previous long-distance tour was by South Africa with her parents and her sister, Princess Margaret, in 1947.

THIS MR. ICARUS

By Harry Meldrum Moore

This is a [illegible] of Emerton and its people. And because you are not apt to find any such place name on a map of this country just take any town of five or six thousand population; a town having among other things a mayor and council, police force, fire brigade and civic officials and board of trade, jail and schools and public library and market place and a park, and citizens, who are not always alert to their civic responsibilities; a town built on the east side of what was once a river which, water has been dammed to maintain the level of the public reservoir; a town whose main streets run north and south, likewise its railway tracks, a town where paved highways run in and out of it from the four points of the compass; a town set in the middle of a broad flat stretch of rich farm land with here and there colored hills it; the far northerly distance, and you will have the Emerton of this story.

But this is more than a story of Emerton and its people. Actually it is also the story of the youthful Lance Bradley, who obviously was meant to become a prime asset to spark Emerton and its citizens to greater things; Lance Bradley of whom the town's newspaper—his daily newspaper—was to point out at the time of his untimely death, that he "had packed more living, more high adventure, into his forty thirty years, than most men could ever hope to pack into lives twice that long."

It is not my purpose in the following pages to write you a eulogy, nor a sermonize, but merely to point out that a man with his abundant energy, stout courage, to well-meant advice, can do wonders, can achieve, but in the end, and even in Emerton, he must learn that not wealth, nor ability, nor exemplary conduct, per se, are the stimulation of all three of these, can help any boy him a place on the man-made social ladder to which he was not born, and to which he would be most unwise to aspire.

THE AUTHOR.

As far as he knew Lance Bradley was born in a seaport city on the east coast of Canada. What is was all he ever learnt about his birth. The name of his father and mother or what had become of them was never revealed to him by the man and woman who raised him and who admitted by the time that he was fifteen that he was not their son but neglected to fill in the details.

Thus lacking the necessary information of his arrival in this world, this matter became the skeleton in his closet, a secret that he carried with him to the grave and that made him embarrassed and sensitive when such matters were under discussion.

All that Lance Bradley ever learned about his early childhood was that he had been taken in as a baby by John Bradley and his wife Emily when they were long past middle age. But they told him nothing more. However, the Bradleys provided a good home for him, they saw that he was given a good training, a good education. A strong, healthy boy, he grew up in a tough neighborhood, lived the life of a boy of unbounded energy, sold newspapers, fought his way to the point where he was respected and respected. Schooldays over, he was nothing for him to do but to follow his schoolmates to sea.

He was taken on the tramp steamer "May Queen" as a mess boy. The May Queen, one of several old hulks of the Seven Brothers Line, was in command of the black-bearded, archipen-quoting book-reading old sea-dog, Capt. Phil McLarty, one of the three owners of the line.

In the following four years, Lance Bradley was in and out of many large ports on the east and west coasts of the Atlantic. During those four years, he had advanced from mess boy to cook's helper to able seaman. Lance Bradley's dislike of the big blonde mate, Lars Jensen, grew and grew. But Lars Jensen was brutal, for if there was ever a mental task on board ship that must be done, Jensen saw that Lance did it. Only the fact that he owed so much to his foster parents and to Capt. McLarty and did not put to get slung—kept him on board ship. He then, for the first time in the greater part of his earnings and that they were getting it, he learned from letters picked up in various ports of call. During those four years the May Queen's return to its home port was spaced by long months, so it was only on such rare occasions that the young sailor was able to see his folks and to learn first-hand how they were faring.

In his four years aboard ship the extra-responsible Lance Bradley learned how to take his turn as watchman, could take the wheel and keep the ship in course. By now he stood five feet eight inches and weighed one hundred and sixty pounds. On board ship, except for occasions when he had been with the mate, Lance was quiet and reticent—one who spent his off-hour time with his nose in a book or magazine. But ashore with members of the crew, and most particularly if the mate was drinking with them, he was a hell-cat, a youngster with two ready fists, a stout heart and a jaw of iron. The size of his opponent meant nothing to him. Once he did not interest him and yet no woman could ever say that he was not a gentleman in her presence.

It was in Lance Bradley's fourth year at sea that he realized that a life on the rolling main was not for him. Promotion, the way matters stood, was not ahead for him, he could see. He spoke to his old man about it. Capt. McLarty suggested that he be transferred to another ship of the line. "Jensen with all his faults", he said "is the best mate in the business." Bradley took advantage of that opportunity to have a heart-to-heart talk with his skipper, to enquire if he knew anything about his parents. McLarty stroked his beard, hummed and hawed, and what he and Bradley was convinced, was made up as he went along.

"Yes," the captain lied, "I knew your parents very well. Your father was a Welsh young coot named Pete Burgess, your mother was Lottie Trudeau. They married, but they couldn't make a go of it and the mother put the boy, that was you, in a home."

"But why should you be so concerned about a little thing like that?" McLarty asked. "Some day it will come out in the wash. And further, why care if it does n't. Nobody gives a damn who your parents were, they are only interested in you, and as the immortal Bobbie Burns said, 'a man's a man for a' that'; it is should be that you are a shore lamb. The Master will temper the wind for you, as his lamb temper-ed it for Victor Hugo, for Jack London, both of whom had the question of birth to contend with. Let it drop, sailor, forget about it, you're young, you're strong, be bold of yourself, let nothing get you down.

"Now, this matter of leaving my ship," he concluded, "well, that's something else. There's no law to keep you here, and mindful of the fact that you are thinking of your future, I'm not going to stand in your way. Go if you must, but remember, sailor, I will be missing you more than I can say."

But Lance Bradley never forgot the mystery surrounding his birth. This was a personal matter with him, something that concerned him very much. Were his father and mother living—and if so, why had they neglected him? If dead, where were they buried? The last fall and winter he was with the May Queen, she plied the coastal waters of South America. When spring came, she was put to get slung—kept him on board ship. But there, he was to learn, the greater part of his earnings and that they were getting it, he learned from letters picked up in various ports of call. Red Hill Dies In Attempt To Ride Over Falls

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 7 — (CP)—William (Red) Hill is dead — crushed and battered by the mighty torrent of Niagara River which he spent his 38 years and which he challenged once too often.

His body was recovered from the river yesterday, 18 hours after he made a stunt plunge over the 185-foot Horseshoe Falls in a barrel fashioned from 13 inflated truck tire inner tubes held together by canvas webbing and fish netting.

The strange craft broke open along one side when it crashed on the jagged rocks at the mist-shrouded base of the cataract and pitched Hill to his death in the swirling water. The barrel was recovered a few minutes later a short distance down river.

When the river finally gave up its victim, Hill's body was found to have a deep gash on the forehead and the right leg was mangled.

Recovery of the body, which floted close to the Maid of the Mist steamship landing on the Canadian side of the river, stilled whispers that Hill had not been in the barrel when it swirled over the brink with upwards of 100,000 persons watching. Hill, who had twice shot the rapids of the lower river in barrels, died like two other stunters in the last 30 years in trying to make the "big drop."

But three persons have plunged over the crest and lived to tell about it. Red Hill's younger brother, Major, announced after Red's ill-fated attempt that he would go over the falls next Sunday in a steel barrel so that it could be said that a Hill had conquered Niagara. Yesterday, however, his mother persuaded Major to give up the venture.

Discovery Follows Extensive Investigation by Police

Believed to be the loot of a post office safe-cracking ring, money orders and postage stamps valued at nearly $33,000 have been recovered by provincial police, Inspector MacDougall, O.P.P. headquarters here announced today.

The cache was uncovered under a bush in a field near Wheatley, Ont., small Essex county village near Windsor.

Money order forms to the value of $32,350 and stamps amounting to $232 were found in a garbage can hidden in the bush. The money orders were mainly of $100 denomination.

The discovery followed rigid police investigation of a series of district post office robberies in which money orders, stamps and cash, were taken from blown or forced safes.

Recently post offices at Wellington, Ont., and Frankford, Ont., both within a 30-mile radius of this city, and a mill office at Tweed, 30 miles north were entered and safes opened and robbed.

Investigation of the robberies led Ontario Provincial Police Corporal Jack Hatch, Madoc, and Constable J. A. Fullerton, Belleville assigned to the case by Inspector MacDougall, to the Essex county village where the loot was located.

Following their return, post office authorities at Ottawa were notified and Inspector K. C. MacDonald of the Post Office Department was sent here. His task now is to reclaim property and returned to Ottawa.

Three persons, two men and a woman being held here by police in connection with the mill-office break-in at Tweed were given their freedom today in county police court for lack of evidence. The trio were arrested by Corporal Hatch the day following the robbery. Police stated they had been in the village and had acted suspiciously a day or so prior to the break-in.

Belief that the robberies are the work of a ring is strengthened by the fact, that the post office at Havelock, Ont., fifty miles northwest of this city, was entered and the safe blown and robbed a day or so following the apprehension of the three suspects.

Further investigation is being carried out by Corporal Hatch assisted by Inspector J. C. Hayes of the Belleville Police Department, former police chief of Tweed, who recognized the trio as those who acted in a suspicious manner here some time prior to the Tweed robbery.

Britain's Chief Oil Negotiator Flies to Iran

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 7 — (AP)—Britain's chief oil negotiator, Richard Stokes, flew to Abadan today to inspect personally conditions at the shut-down refinery.

Britain has demanded assurances that Iran would refrain from petty annoyances against British employees at Abadan—site of the world's largest refinery— before opening talks.

Meanwhile, talks over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian oil company's vast properties — the Abadan refinery is the most valuable —continued in Tehran.

Donald Ferguson, one of Stokes' team, met in the Iranian capital with the Iranian nationalization committee to present what he called "cold facts."

Ferguson is one of the British government's oracle nationalization experts and worked out many of the details involved when Britain took over her own iron and steel industry.

Harriman is staying out of the talks, but has been keeping close to the scene.

The talks opened yesterday in a friendly atmosphere which was in sharp contrast to the first negotiations between the two nations. At that time the two sides appeared so far apart that no agreement seemed possible.

Since then Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has modified his position that Iran cannot discuss over Anglo-Iranian without consulting with the British government, and Britain has agreed to accept the principle of nationalization.

New Mad Dog Vaccine Adds Effective Weapon for Rabies Control

By HOWARD W. BAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, Aug. 7—(AP)—A new mad-dog vaccine is to be used this summer, with promising results.

This rabies vaccine not only protects animals but also prevents the bitten animal from possibly passing the hydrophobia to another animal.

Rabies is spread by saliva. The vaccine also prevents the infection from showing up in saliva. That seems to mean that if a vaccinated dog should go mad, his saliva could not do harm, either to humans or to animals.

To date, with 15,000 vaccinations, there have been no reported failures. Former vaccines usually were not 100 per cent effective.

The new vaccine is made by the Lederle Laboratories division of American Cyanamid Company. It is named Flury, after a child of that name who died of rabies.

Some of the virus that killed Flury was taken from Harold N. Johnson of the Rockefeller Foundation, to Montgomery, Ala. Johnson is working there on rabies, at the time widespread in the south.

Dr. Johnson used this virus as part of a routine search for new things in vaccines. He gave this virus to some chickens, thereby creating a new strain.

A Lederle Laboratories team, Doctors Herald R. Cox and Hilary Kr'owski, modified the vaccine further by producing it in embryo chicks. This step got rid of the temporary-paralyzing after-effects of rabies vaccination.

The new vaccine was then tested on thousands of dogs.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN DEFENCE TREATY ENDS THIS MONTH

Pact Allows Britain Keep Troops at Suez

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 7 (AP) — Egypt has warned Britain that she intends to cancel the Anglo-Egyptian mutual defence treaty by the end of this month. The treaty, which permits Britain to keep troops at the Suez Canal, has been a sore spot between the two countries since the end of World War II.

Egypt's Foreign Minister, Mohammed Salah Eddin, told a cheering parliament Britain had closed the door to further negotiations on the disputed treaty and it would be cancelled "before the end of this session of parliament." The session is expected to end late in August.

Eddin's statement was a formal reply to charges by British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison in the House of Commons July 30 that Egypt is taking an "uncompromising" and "irresponsible attitude" toward the major problems in the Middle East.

Since negotiations started in 1946 to renew and revise the treaty, Egypt has demanded that Britain withdraw her troops from the vital Suez—main supply route during the Second World War. Egypt also wants to incorporate the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan under King Farouk's rule. Britain has declared world tensions—and particularly those in the Middle East—make it necessary that she keep her troops in the Suez to protect Egypt's as well as Britain's interests. She also opposes turning the Sudan over to Egypt.

Although British troops are stationed at the vital shipping link between Europe and the east Egypt has full control over shipping through the Suez. Supporting the Arab blockade of Israel, she has imposed rigid restrictions on shipping and has stopped several ships carrying goods to the Jewish state. The United States, France and Britain yesterday served notice they would introduce a resolution in the U.N. Security Council demanding that Egypt lift the blockade.)

One More Man Wants to Try Falls Trip

Reading, Pa., Aug. 7 (AP)— A 39-year-old war veteran last night declared his intentions of going over Niagara Falls in the same kind of makeshift rubber boat which brought death Sunday to William (Red) Hill.

Hill was killed in an attempt to ride over the Canadian falls.

Phillip A. Wessner, Jr., announced that he had an offer from undisclosed sources of $10,000 to make the attempt.

Wessner said he planned to use the same kind of rigged-up inner tubes with which Hill rode to his death.

Wessner is an acquaintance of Major Hill, brother of the ill-fated Red.

REDS MUST KEEP TROOPS OUT OF NEUTRAL ZONE

Ridgway Demands Positive Assurance

Tokyo, Aug. 7—(AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the communists today they must insure complete compliance with their guarantees to keep armed troops out of the Kaesong neutral zone if they want to talk peace in Korea.

The supreme allied commander radioed the red commanders demanding positive assurances of there would be no more violations of the neutral zone. Only then, he said, will he send his negotiators back to cease-fire conferences in Kaesong.

Ridgway said he doubted the joint statement of Gen. Kim Il Sung, north Korean premier, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, Chinese commander, that the appearance of red troops in battle array near the armistice site last Saturday was an accident."

He said he considered the incident neither minor nor trivial.

He told the red generals:

"It must be clearly understood that my acceptance of a resumption of the armistice talks is conditional on complete compliance with your guarantees of neutralization of the Kaesong area. Any further failure in this regard will be interpreted as a deliberate move on your part to terminate the armistice negotiations.

"I await your acceptance of this condition."

A company of armed red soldiers had marched through the Kaesong neutral zone while the armistice conference was under way Saturday. Because of this, Ridgway abruptly broke off the conferences Sunday.

General Kim and Peng replied Monday that the presence of the troops was "a mistake and an accident."

Their joint statement, as broadcast by the Chinese Peiping radio, referred to it as "a small incident" and accepted Gen. Ridgway's conditions for resumption of the talks.

Ridgway conditions were a satisfactory explanation of this violation, and assurance of non-repetition."

After receiving the red supply, Ridgway announced he will send his negotiators to Tokyo, instead of sending them back to Kaesong.

Royal Couple Excited About Their Trip To Canada Says Secretary

Ottawa, Aug. 7 — (CP) — The Canadian tour by Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, will run "at least a full month," Maj. Martin Charteris, private secretary to the Princess, said today.

Maj. Charteris, 37 - year - old London - born veteran of the Second World War, arrived by air from London last night to confer with Canadian officials on the tour.

The Princess and the Duke are both in good spirits and excited about their forthcoming trip," he said in an interview.

The Royal couple will sail for Canada aboard the Empress of France Sept. 25, and will break their Canadian tour for two days Oct. 24-25 — to be guests of President Truman at Washington.

"There is some talk of extending the United States tour to other American cities, but there is nothing definite yet," Maj. Charteris said.

The Royal pair will return to Canada after visiting the United States.

He did not believe it likely that a similar tour may be made by Princess Margaret.

Ottawa — (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said today he hopes the itinerary for the October visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be issued "within a day or so."

He told a press conference the general outline of the Royal visit has been agreed upon. Maj. Martin Charteris, private secretary to the Princess, now is in Ottawa to assist with the details.

Proposal Called Propaganda Trap By State Dept.

Reds Told World Has Lost Respect for Russ Promises

Washington, Aug. 7 — (AP) — The United States today rejected Russia's proposal for a five-power peace pact as "a propaganda trap."

The State Department said:

"The Kremlin has violated obligations to such an extent that the world has lost confidence in the Soviet's respect for treaties."

Russia's President Nikolai Shvernik renewed Russia's offer—first advanced two years ago — in a letter to President Truman Monday night. Its rejection had been expected since U. S. officials described it even then as "the same old chestnut tied with a new ribbon."

The proposal was that the U.S., Britain and France join Russia and communist China in a disarmament program aimed at guaranteeing world peace.

In the first formal American reaction a state department official today challenged Russia to live up to existing obligations before taking on new promises.

Press officer Michael J. McDermott told a press conference:

"There is no sense in the Soviet government's assuming new treaty obligations until they have restored the confidence of the world by honoring existing obligations."

The United Nations Charter which Russia has signed, "constitutes a solemn peace pact", McDermott emphasized and added:

"Need exists for the fulfillment of the United Nations Charter and other obligations which the Kremlin is attempting to sabotage rather than for a new pact of the great powers."

Just Another Move

Ottawa — (CP) — Russia has launched a peace offensive in earnest, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today, but it is just another child of Soviet tactics that have but one aim, world rule.

"We can't rebuff them," he told a press conference, "but we have to be pretty careful in our examination of them."

He was referring to the latest Soviet move, a call for a five-power pact "for the strengthening of peace."

"A pact of peace as such would not do anything," he said.

Nothing New

London—(CP)—A foreign office spokesman said today Russia's proposals for a five-power peace pact "do not introduce any very new factor in the situation."

He declined to make any detailed comment on the proposals, made in a letter from President Nikolai Shvernik of the presidium of the supreme Soviet to President Truman.

Proposals of a similar nature had been made on several previous occasions, the spokesman said.

He said it believes Russia's proposal for prohibiting atomic weapons and for international atomic inspection represents no change from previous Russian attitudes taken in the United Nations.

In Paris, a French Foreign Ministry spokesman commented that there is no need for a five-power pact such as the U.S.S.R. suggests, since a pact already exists among the United Nations. He added that there is nothing new in the Soviet proposal.

$100,000 Fire Loss at Odessa, Five Homeless

Odessa, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP)—The worst fire in this eastern Ontario town's swept through half a business block Sunday, causing damage estimated at $100,000 and leaving a family of five homeless.

Mr. and Mrs. Brendan Savage and children, the eldest 12, escaped safely after hearing the alarm in their apartment over a two-storey, frame general store, one of the buildings destroyed. Mr. Savage estimated his loss at $60,000.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, destroyed a service station and garage, a grist mill and grain storage shed and the store, reducing the buildings to a blackened mass of twisted rubble.

For a time the fire threatened the village. Great sheets of flames, fed by explosions from ammunition and inflammable goods inside the buildings, set off nearby structures.

Five fire-fighting units combatted the blaze, apparatus coming here from Kingston, Yarker and Napanee as well as villages joining the 13-man volunteer brigade here.

Killarney, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP) — The body of Kate Tyson was found in bush country near here Monday. Beside it were Miss Tyson's hat and shoes as if the 64-year-old woman had lain down to rest.

Some 30 persons took part in the search. During the weekend a 24-mile search party led by Provincial Police Constable Norman Trenton, Ont., tried unsuccessfully to spot the woman's body as had two private air searches earlier in the week.

A second search heading the search was Miss Tyson's nephew Andy Tyson, 1950 champion woodsman and a well-known guide.

Fine Weather Greets Holidayers During Weekend

Summer's finest weather and the civic holiday were a perfect pair as city and district residents swarmed to the call of the great outdoors in unprecedented numbers over mid-summer's gala holiday weekend.

Traffic in the Bay of Quinte region was at a peak through most of the three-day vacation with the biggest jam developing Monday evening as campers, picnickers, swimmers and spectators in numerous sporting events returned to the city.

Fishermen throughout the Quinte district had scattered success with one or two whoppers being reported.

Resorts were packed to capacity and attendance at bathing beaches mounted steadily from Saturday afternoon onwards reaching a peak on Monday.

Such was the exodus from the city that attendance on the city's supervised playgrounds dropped almost to the vanishing point.

Boating enthusiasts were out on the bay in moderate numbers, while the 'dry land" sailors, pleasant going, enjoyed the annual speedboat regatta at Picton.

Other racing fans filled Speedway parking for an afternoon of stock car racing. Baseball patrons had their choice Saturday evening as the local club spent the holiday trimming Smiths Falls down east.

The sunshine siesta ended this morning as Supe Pauze Pavelus returned after his longest absence since April but he couldn't dampen the fun of the holiday as the population got back to "business as usual."

Should Invite Princess, Philip Says Member

Sarnia, Aug. 7 (CP) —Mayor W. C. Nelson and members of Sarnia council were accused of "apathy and indifference," Monday night for not extending an invitation to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to visit here on their forthcoming tour of Canada's inland waterways.

J. W. Murphy, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Lambton West, in a statement in which civic officials were urged to "get busy" and see if Sarnia can be included on the Royal itinerary, said:

"There are those in this country who would sever the ties that bind us to the British Commonwealth. I do not belong to this group. Neither do thousands of my constituents. We are shocked that the city has done so little to extend a welcome to the Prince and her husband. This would have been an opportunity before the world of showing our loyalty. We let cities like London and Brantford beat us to the punch."

Mr. Murphy also said that Sarnia should have been included on the tour because of the great role "Chemical Valley" played in the allied Second World War effort.

Mr. Murphy said that any financial outlay on the part of the city would be repaid "a thousand fold" by a large influx of visitors who would benefit every merchant.

Mayor Nelson was not available for comment. Alderman Harry Turnbull said he did not think the statement "fair."

"It's purely a problem of keeping the civic expenses down," he said. "Our taxes are high enough now, in my opinion, and as a council member I must do all within my power to see there is no unnecessary spending. The Royal visit would be a wonderful thing, but it would be a big burden on the already burdened Sarnia taxpayers."

IN MEMORIAM

HAINES—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Janie Haines, who entered rest Aug. 11th, 1950.

Our mother is sleeping, so free from all pain,
We whom she loved, no sorrow again.
After a long way, the turn in the road,
After the journey, heaven's abode.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Ruby and grandchildren Sandra and Keith.

HAINES—In loving memory of our dear mother, Janie Haines, Point Anne, who passed away Aug. 11, 1950.

Our mother is sleeping, so free from all pain,
Oh wake her not sweet spirit to earth again.
She slumbers so soundly, oh let her sleep on.
Her work here is ended, her troubles are gone.
After a long way, the turn in the road,
After the journey, heaven's abode.

Just think how she suffered and moaned with pain.
In the night hours we soothed her in vain.
'Till God in His mercy sent down a release,
And whispered a message of love.
Angels that whispered a message of love.
—Always remembered by Alfred and Mildred.

HAINES—In loving memory of Mrs. Janie Haines who passed away one year ago today, August 7, 1956.

Today recalls sad memories
Of one we loved who sleeps at rest.
And the ones who think of her today
Are those who loved her best.
—Ever remembered by Mr. E. Atwood, daughter-in-law Marjorie and family.

TWEEDY—In loving memory of our dear son James Tweedy who died one year today, August 7, 1956.

Beside your grave we often stand
With tears that flow and hearts that bleed
But the gloom the sweet words command
Not lost but gone before.
God knows how much we miss you dear son.
He counts the tears we shed
And keeps memories He only sees
Your loved one is not dead.
—Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters and Brothers. Dad,

Three Married Couples Win Dunmow Flitches
Dunmow, England, Aug. 7 — (Reuters) —A judge and lawyers in robes and wigs, three pairs of maidens in white and six bachelors yesterday picked three happily-married couples to win the "Dunmow Flitches."
The flitches—sides of bacon—have been handed out annually, since Robert De Fitzgerald, a big noise locally, founded the gift in 1344 to any married couple "who will go to the priory and swear that they have not quarrelled nor repented their marriage in a year and day after its celebrations."
Nowadays they try the entrants instead of relying on an oath. Lawyers represent both sides, one advocating his clients' case, the other marshalling all evidence against them.
Among this year's winning couples were Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Falkner, who met with a stolen kiss on the village green and eloped to marry in Scotland. Falkner, closely questioned on the escapade at the marriage, said:
"I bussed (kissed) her on the green, I bussed her up to Gretna Green (Scotland). I bussed her back to Essex—and I'm the bust myself. We've been bussing ever since."

Demand for Pulp for Newsprint And Other Uses Creates Shortages

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

A major reason for the shortage of newsprint in the world is that the fibre of trees is being used for so many other things.

This was rather strikingly illustrated recently with announcement that the United States Forest Service has awarded a contract for 1,500,000,000 cubic feet of Alaskan pulp timber to Ketchikan Pulp and Paper Company. This is equal to about 8,000,000,000 board feet and is enough to supply a pulp mill of 500 tons daily capacity for 50 years.

The announcement is striking because it said it is not planned to make any of the pulp into newsprint, despite the fact that American critics of Canadian newsprint producers often talk about building a newsprint industry in Alaska.

It is, in fact, an illustration of the heavy demand for pulp for purposes other than newsprint.

In the United States, for instance, of the total consumption of paper and paperboard, 42 per cent is accounted for by paperboard. Add to this the growing demand for pulp for such things as rayon, photofilm, plastics, nitro-cellulose for explosives, hardboard and various items used in building both inside and out.

Canada supplies the United States with close to one-third of its pulp and/or paper—including Canadian shipments of newsprint; the amount of that newsprint which is ultimately salvaged for making paperboard; and subsequent of wood pulp.

Demand is also illustrated by price. Newsprint, which is made from 85 per cent groundwood pulp and 15 per cent unbleached sulphite pulp, sells in New York for $115 a ton, delivered there.

Canadian groundwood pulp itself is quoted at $95 to $100 a ton, plus freight from the shipping point and unbleached sulphite at $150 to $160. Pulp further treated comes higher, as follows:

Canadian bleached sulphate $180 to $200 a ton; Scandinavian $230 and up. Canadian bleached sulphite, $160 to $175; Scandinavian, $225 and up.

This is not to say, of course, that Canadian newsprint makers could stop making newsprint and get those prices. They would quickly flood the market if they did that. But it does illustrate the heavy existing demand for pulp, and the needs of both newsprint and other products are to be met.

Altogether, this should be a pleasant picture for the forest industries—but it leaves a considerable question as to whether they can produce enough to meet future demand.

Pearson Will Be Present When Jap Treaty Signed

Ottawa, Aug. 7 (CP) —External Affairs Minister Pearson, just home from a trip to Britain and northern Europe, will be on his way again in about four weeks.

This time, he told a press conference today, he is going to San Francisco to sign the Japanese peace treaty for Canada. The ceremony is expected to take place Sept. 4.

Mr. Pearson said Canada has found the treaty "reasonably satisfactory." The final draft will be made public Aug. 13 and he suspected it would not be "completely satisfactory" to all countries going to the San Francisco ceremony.

The treaty would be submitted to the fall session of parliament for ratification.

On another phase of Pacific problems, Mr. Pearson said the defensive arrangement announced recently by the United States New Zealand and Australia was not a Pacific pact or a collective security pact in the same sense as the North Atlantic treaty.

It was a defensive arrangement among three Pacific countries At such, there was no question of Canada considering participation in the arrangement.

However, if a Pacific pact embracing other nations developed out of the existing defence arrangement, that was another question and Canada would have to give the matter some consideration. Up to now, Canada hasn't been asked to join the group.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE?

What is Canada to do with a woman who goes to Korea, refuses to get within 40 miles of the front lines, and then comes home to accuse Canadian, American, British and other U. N. soldiers in disgusting atrocities attributable only to communist aggressors? This woman, king a red sympathiser, made her trip to Korea by a roundabout method which included all the communist founts of information in the various countries.

Now she has returned to speak to the Canadian Peace Congress, a red-sponsored organization, and to tell of the atrocities being perpetrated by men whose nationalities she does not name, but insinuates in no mistaken manner. She tells of Koreans who ask what they have done to Canadians and Americans in the past to warrant such horrible treatment. The answers, of course, are that they have done nothing, and that the horrible treatment does not come from the hands of any United Nations soldiers.

Here is a woman whose pride in her own country is overshadowed by the damage she wishes to do to it. She is following a line and a credo that has already put millions into slavery throughout the world, and is trying to mask her evil intentions under the guise of peace. But now she has stepped too far with her accusations on the atrocity level, and there can be no doubt in the mind of any right-thinking Canadian that the likes of this woman are not wanted in this country now or at any time. Her corrupt ideas of advancement are not for her own; they are for her the war mongers of a world. Her words are mere echoes of the Kremlin, and should be treated as nothing more.

THE FIGURES TELL A SAD STORY

As this is being written, Canadians are heading into another holiday weekend. It is being written in advance of the holiday because statistics in today's paper will have little, if any, effect on people who have just come back from a glorious weekend. That is, they will have little effect unless one of the family has been killed in an accident, drowned in a lake, or suffered a stroke from over-exertion.

The summer months in Canada make for a parade of holidays, and consequently, a parade of deaths. May 24th in all its glory, starts the death column off to a good start. It is followed by Dominion Day, and accented by friends and visitors from the United States, celebrating their July 4th. For almost a two-week period, the traffic on highways and "back" roads leading to popular resorts is heavy. So is the death toll.

Civic Holiday, the one just celebrated, brings many more fatalities. And Labor Day, when thousands will throng the highways to celebrate the last long weekend of the summer, is still to come.

So summer can be a happy time for most people. For some, unfortunately, it is turned into a nightmare as whole families are wiped out on the roads and at the lakes. Even on ordinary weekends, where father takes the family for a Sunday outing, or away to or from the city to visit relatives and friends, the toll is terrific. But does it make any difference how black the headlines are when the weekend is over? It does not seem to. Nor are people apparently any more careful the next time they venture out. Partly because they believe that it is always the other fellow that gets it, and partly because they see no intent on having a good time, they disregard the warnings given them by groups and organizations anxious to cut down on the fatalities and accidents in the country. They will not heed pleas made to make safety the watchword, and they will not abide by rules of common sense while swimming and boating.

The only conclusion one can come to is that people who do not wish to be protected will not be. The fatality figures for any summer weekend will bear that out.

IS THE ISSUE DEADLOCKED?

The largest oil refinery in the world is silent. Despite the optimism that followed the initial visit of Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy to Iran, and the hope that came from his trips to London to meet with the Cabinet, there has still been no settlement of the ticklish Anglo-Iranian oil question. Nevertheless, Mr. Harriman has smoothed some of the disputed oil on troubled waters, and has thereby succeeded in bringing the two countries closer together.

Both Britain and Iran have been adamant. The former has appeared quite content to pull her technicians and their knowledge from the country, so that Iranians would be faced with what the British considered an insurmountable problem — production of oil without a clear understanding of its attendant problems. The latter has insisted that she can survive without the revenue from her oil until she can operate her own industry. Indications are that she cannot.

The situation is not one to be settled with a few words. Basic issues are at the bottom, and the solution, as has been illustrated by the lack of progress so far, will not be easily gained.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
August 7th., 1931

Ensign Howlett, officer in command of the Salvation Army Corps here, has been transferred to Lippincott district, Toronto.

C. W. Elliott, of this city, is the owner of one of the oldest aeroplanes in this district. The plane which is a 1915 model Curtiss-Jenny is probably the oldest one flying in Canada today. Mr. Elliott made a trip to Kingston this week and a large number of enthusiasts watched the manoeuvres at Kingston Airport. The plane is powered with O.X. 5 motor and has a landing speed of between 45 and 50 miles per hour. The trip from Belleville to Kingston took forty minutes complete and is the longest flight that the machine has made since it was purchased here by its present owner.

Dr. H. J. Fisher is spending his vacation at his former home in Elgin, Ontario.

Dr. Jack Marshall is home on a visit from Thessalon.

30 YEARS AGO
August 7th., 1921

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Yorke left today to spend two months in Western Canada.

Mr. C. C. Fairman, Cedar Street, is attending the Grand Encampment of Oddfellows in Tillsonburg.

Mr. Donald Bird, of Hamilton, formerly of Belleville, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Charles V. Symons is spending a vacation in New York City.

Mr. Lionel Arnott and Mr. William Green have returned home from Iroquois Falls.

The schooner Kidd Scales, formerly owned by the late Capt. Eccles of Belleville, ran into a gale on Saturday night on Lake Ontario and as she filled with water, it was run ashore on a beach her. The tug Frontenac brought her to Portsmouth on Tuesday morning.

Work on the new Albert College is progressing satisfactorily.

The large crowd at the ball game yesterday was an indication that the people are waking up to the fact that good ball is being played in the Central Ontario League. At one time a ball team like ours would have large crowds at home games and special trains carried hundreds of rooters to outside places when our team played. Let us wake up and take notice.

Mrs. George H. Grills of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, is spending a few days in town.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Though the war has been over six years, there are still some men in the armed services receiving their university education under the heaven-sent provisions of the veterans' allowance programme. Most of them are now men close to their thirties, many of them married, and with children.

A college professor told me that one of these veteran students, who failed an important exam this summer, gave his excuse the irate statement that it was all due to his not being married.

"How could I compete with these married guys?" he protested. "They have got wives to type their notes, do research, perform all kinds of secretarial work for them. Why, I know one chap who lay on a couch while his wife read him the text books and notes for a whole month before the exam. We single men can't compete with that sort of thing."

Actually, the adult married student has proved a great success for better reasons than any stenographic help he might have got from his wife. Most of them lived on extremely limited means during their university terms, and could not afford to step out, even in the most modest way. Their responsibilities were a clear brake on them. They did a more serious job than the traditional college man, and most of the teaching faculty of the universities have had a joyous experience in these years, dealing with the adult veteran student. There is hardly a department of learning, from the ministry to the coldest of the sciences that has not been greatly enriched in the past six years with the infusion of these acuit-educated men in the field. Many of them, no doubt, would have taken a university degree anyway, if there had been no war. That thought was at the back of the universal set when education clauses were framed. It was an act of compensation. The feeling appears to be that the sacrifices they got as men went a lot deeper than it would have, had they been youths. We shall soon see.

DUSTING PLANE CRASHES

The previous Canadian record was 118 miles.

OUR TOWN

By JACK SCOTT

LEGAL WILDERNESS

Until recently I was not the kind of man to lose any sleep over the other person's legal.

Confronted by a form containing an inch or more of fine print I was my practice to sweep it wary eye over the tangle of mid-Victoria, language, mutter something like "that's all right" and sign at satisfactory" and sign on the dotted line.

True, I may have affected a little flourish with my signature. One feels obliged to act decisively in such matters, especially when one has no more than a faint idea of what is signing.

Recently, however, I have found myself all snarled up in some mystic literature known as the house lease. Wouldn't have caused me any more concern than any of the other papers I've signed, but I made a pretty silly mistake, I read the lease.

Up until that point the arrangements had been clear, even to me. A fellow came down to the house one day and said "I hear you're renting the place." I said yes and he said he liked it, and if terms suited fine, he'd take it. Neither of us said a word about noxious weeds or straw of any kind, or any of the other strange things I was subsequently to find in black and white.

It had been my wife's idea that we have a real estate man draw up a lease, just to be absolutely safe (the real estate man made a little cross where I was to put my name) and then I, the landlord, might have ended. Except that two days later a bill came in from a real estate man for a cool $28.

This staggered me so much I took the lease and studied it. The form, itself, I estimated at a cost of 75 cents. The stenographer's typing would run another dollar, at most, to a dollar. So what was I paying for? I read the lease all the way through, and I knew. I was paying for the language.

Strange Music

Every time I read the lease I get a mental picture of its author. I see him as an elderly fellow with whiskers, just his eyes visible over a Prince Albert collar, a snuff box beside him at his elbow and a quill in his quill pen. Who else could start a sentence this way: "Witnesseth, that the said lessor doth demise unto..." What kind of a word is "doth", for instance? Or "demise"? One sentence, standing all by itself and lonely too, completely baffled me. It read: "The said lessor (me) covenants with the said lessee for quiet enjoyment."

I have studied that sentence, broken it down, word by word, and I still don't understand it. The thing has worried me, I spent one whole day (Friday) worrying about it. I hate to pay $28 for something I can't understand.

In the meantime I'd gone ahead and rented a new place. Again the negotiations were beautifully simple. "I'd like to rent your place," I said. The fellow who owned the place said "Sure."

Even as we were talking, that strange little man had vaulted to his high stool and was scratching away at a new and even more baffling document.

The next time, like the other, never employed one word where three or more would do. I was beginning to get used to this. Nothing is ever "at" some place. It is "situate, lying and being." Nothing ever "ends". It is either "forfeited and void" or "suspended and abated." Nobody ever "says" anything. He "covenants, promises and agrees."

I noticed, too, that both leases had frequent mention of "tempests" and the possibility of "tempests". Any sensitive man, reading these documents, would turn right out and start excavating for a storm shelter.

When I'd read the new lease I felt cheated. There was nothing at all in it about "quiet enjoyment." I didn't mind very much if the fellow in my house had this, whatever it meant, and I had none.

I found only that when my lease was up I would leave the place "peacefully and quietly". I began to talk about this and asked my lawyer friend about it. He thought I was going to leave in a blaze of gunfire or something. "It doth say that, does it?" he said.

Work, Work, Work

Most of the points in the lease seemed to me harmless enough, if not downright unlikely. I had no intention, for instance, of using the house for a store or a shop, I figured I could carefully preserve all the trees, just by having them alone.

But then I collided with a paragraph that filled me with dark foreboding.

"The lessee," it said, "will cultivate, till and employ such parts of the said land as are now or hereafter shall be brought under cultivation, in a good, husbandlike and proper manner, and shall not injure, waste or destroy the grasses and will not remove or permit to be removed from the premises any manner of any kind manure or wood."

To be perfectly frank about it, I wouldn't know a noxious weed from straw of any kind, desolated by the knowledge that my landlord clearly has me in trust to mow, weed and harrow for tempests and—most important of all—$28 out in my month's budget.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FREEDOM FROM FEAR

We were all born with a sense of fear within us. While it has its destructive qualities, it also has its protective side. Without fear, caution and other aiding factors, and calling attention to the man's white face, exclaimed: "There goes a coward!" Every time we dare fear, and step in its tracks, we lose less of it within us. Every time we fail, or seem to, and step forward for another attempt to climb higher, we leave this fear of ours "out on a limb" to its own destruction, while we enter a new mental atmosphere.

Most of our fears are homemade. These are the ones that give us the most trouble, anxiety, and worry, and yet they are the ones under our complete control. Their individual mastery helps to give us a key to much of ourselves, and to prove to us what a joy it is to learn that we have it in ourselves to overcome these nearest of all fears.

Most people live braver than they get credit for. Many are the brave deeds done in secret, alone, not only against these personal fears, but fears that fill the world all over. Words of cheer from our daily reading. There are fears in nature, too. How fearful was the wild animal after it has dropped its fear of human beings.

We grow in courage as we are tested, tested as to how we handle these fears in our everyday. How much of a conqueror we prove to be, for we must be over the one set, to face that comes our way. The measure of our strength and happiness in living is how we have greatly we eliminate fear from our consciousness, and substitute peace in its place.

All of us would be happier, and live more triumphantly, if we would drop from our daily lives so many of those insignificant thoughts and acts that divert us from more worthy ends. The little petty fears, for example, that spring from self-pity, and attend only to cloud one's vision and power. The more we get our trust in God, the less we have to put into fears!

A FINE FORMULA

Most people do not like to be called conservatives. They are afraid this may mean that they are old-fashioned or intellectually behind the times. Most people like to stick out their chests and make everybody—including themselves—think they are up-and-coming, liberal, forward thinkers.

Yet in the long run humanity always comes back again to the conservative position. Liberalism is a corrective for the excesses of conservatism. When people get too far to the right, become moribund in their thinking and unwilling to do anything but stay put, then the liberal has to come along with a sharp stick and give the conservative a jab.

Usually conservatives dominate governments. This is one reason why governments are often badly managed, but it is also the reason why governments manage to hold together at all. Liberals do a pretty fair job of thinking up a correction is necessary, but when they have to manage large enterprises, their tendency to begin to interefere with the realities of life, and creative genius.

Don't be afraid of being laughed at for your conservatism, whether that conservatism is economic, political, or religious. To conserve means to keep in a safe or sound state". But watch lest your conservatism become self-satisfaction and regression.

A friend of mine describes himself as a conservative with a liberal conscience. That's a fine formula.

Personal Health Talks

NUTRITIONAL IODINE

Most laymen and some physicians confuse medicinal iodine or iodides with nutritional iodine or iodites.

Medicinal iodine or iodides are prescribed by physicians in the treatment of many ailments and should never be taken by laymen except under observation and direction of the physician.

Readers or correspondents who ask whether I recommend this or that kind of iodine or iodides for this or that ailment or disease receive no reply or perhaps a printed slip reminding the correspondent that my province is health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis or treatment. I shall assume cold and unsympathetic, "I'm sorry; but after all I am bound by the Hippocratic oath to do good if I can, but do no harm in any case.

I recommend a suitable daily ration of nutritional iodine or iodites, in the form of seafood once or should get in food or water, for every man, woman and child in the country, regardless of the present state of his or her health.

A daily ration is not a dose. It is merely enough to supply what the body requires daily to maintain nutritional nutrition, health, vite, functional efficiency.

The extremely small amount of iodine added to table salt will make it "iodized salt"—about 1 1-2 grains of potassium iodide in a pound of salt, the equivalent of slightly more than one-half grain of iodine—is entirely sufficient, in the opinion of some nutrition authorities, to supply the body's daily requirement of iodine, even though iodized salt is used exclusively in cooking and at the table.

According to Dr. D. T. Quigley, author of The National Malnutrition, "there are only three known areas in the U.S., where there are sufficient amounts of iodine in the soil. Iodine deficiency is therefore nearly universal. The quantities needed for optimum health have been very much underrated. These quantities flunt have raised to 10 times or 100 times (the minimum requirement) when severe deficiency has existed over a relatively long period of time."

In your case it may be a period of months or years.

I hesitate to mention goitre as one of the most manifestations of iodine deficiency, because this striking condition is too frequently regarded as the sole or only indication of iodine deficiency.

The truth is that the great majority of persons with iodine deficiency haven't now and never have goitres.

In my files are hundreds of reports from readers who have stopped out of ambushes since they began taking a daily ration of nutritional iodine in supplement the ordinary iodine-poor American diet. If you haven't a dictionary handy, anhedonia is incapacity to enjoy life. For example, there is the teenage girl who moped and, as her mother reported, "couldn't enjoy life as other young people do." Her mother read something in the paper about the iodine ration; sent for a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet, The Iodin Ration; added such a ration to her daughter's daily regimen and later reported: "She is very happy, she was tired. . . great fatsidoes . . . now she is bubbling over. . . ."

Familiar manifestations of iodine deficiency in women approaching middle age are poor circulation (cold hands and feet), premature graying and falling of hair, mental torpor and tendency to embarrassing moments, depression of spirits or a touch of the blues, constant weariness that neither long nights sleep nor vacations overcome, and lack of former energy and ambition and a tendency to accumulate flabby fat deposits.

From the reports received in recent years, I gather that the most frequent manifestation of iodine deficiency in men of maturity is a lack of confidence, inspiration for the weather and climate and a yearning for an indefinite something or somewhere else from home. For two-bucks the manual is free, but if you wish to be more exclusive or snooty about it, for a matter of $2 or $3 a clinic examination or a trick specialist will label it arthritis, neuritis or Pinkleheimer's disease.

Let no casual reader get the impression that lack of iodine or iodide will cure any of these conditions. All I say is that every man, woman and child needs a daily ratio—daily the year around, year after year, not just a few weeks or months—to maintain functional efficiency and health. In some areas where iodine deficiency has been long neglected, I believe the affected individuals, both children or adults, need from 10 to 100 times as much iodine or iodide daily, at least for a few months, as nutrition authorities designate as the minimum requirement.

Movie Industry Celebrates Uneasy 25th Anniversary Of First Sound Film Showing

Hollywood, Aug. 7. (AP)—The multi-billion-dollar motion picture industry will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its greatest revolution today in the midst of another shattering upheaval.

The anniversary marks the night of August 6, 1926, when a New York movie audience watched the late John Barrymore in "Don Juan", the first sound film.

The musically-scored movie had no spoken dialogue, but the accompanying bill and sales talk indicts, musical numbers and a dry speech by movie czar Will Hays.

That New York premiere bucked off two years of violent opposition that has been called the most devastating ever to hit a single industry.

Millions were made—and lost. Some big box-office stars faded because of squeaky pipes.

The Warner Brothers, who gambled all in pioneering the talkies, had a $16,000,000 corporation in 1926. Within two years, the studio was worth $200,000,000.

That revolution, slithering as it was, came from within the industry itself. That softened the jolt.

The 1951 revolution stems from the baby giant—television.

Television is by far the greatest single menace to the movie industry. Movie attendance is at its lowest point since the depression years.

Some movie people still eye TV with a "watch-and-wait" attitude. But others—notably Paramount—are already in the television business.

The recent quote of L. B. Mayer to the effect that the movie industry can provide the product and television the medium may indicate a trend.

Technically, the movies have the know-how for movies or television.

Third-dimensional films, kicking around for years, may be the next big technical advance in the movies.

These processes, which give greater depth and perspective to objects, are now past the experimental stage.

Already, television producers are moving in on the movie know-how. Cameramen, lighting experts, sound engineers and others are gobbled up eagerly by TV.

At any rate, movie biggies are convinced of one thing—two revolutions in 25 years is one revolution too many.

Indo-China Hopes To Thwart Any Invasion Attempt

Hanoi, Indo-China, Aug. 7.—(Reuters)—Indo-China is determined to show communist China any adventure into this country would be as costly to them as Korea.

Viet Nam, Indo-China's main state, is mobilizing to complete its 132,000-man army to bolster French Union forces. Police measures are being taken to produce a more stable political atmosphere in which the country will be better able to sti through an uneasy peace in the event of a settlement in Korea.

The obstacles for any invader from the north are mainly geographic—in both Burma and Indo-China.

Army observers here say the mighty Mekong and the treacherous Irrawaddy rivers would force any invader from Yunnan province in China to accept at least a 25-per cent loss of heavy equipment before encountering any real resistance. But the prize of a successful invasion on this left flank of the south-east Asian front would be a path to Malaya.

Many think, too, that Thailand would then fall an easy prey.

Two Invasion Routes

Two invasion routes exist in Indo-China. One is down four important winding jungle tracks through Tonkin's high mountains. The other is across the Tonkin Gulf from China's Hainan Island.

Army observers say land routes in both Burma and Indo-China are in bad shape.

Observers believe that the first phase of any seaborne Asia invasion would have to be fought in the air.

In addition to the possibility of offensive air cover, the invader would also have available the Vietminh rebel army to try to pin down the French and Indo-Chinese defence forces.

Fifteen Persons Die Violently Holiday Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

The three-day Civic holiday weekend in Ontario brought violent death to 15 persons.

A Canadian Press compilation today showed nine persons killed in traffic accidents, compared with 12 during the same weekend last year and 11 in that period in 1949. There were three drownings and three deaths from miscellaneous causes.

William (Red) Hill, 36, Niagara River daredevil, died in a stunt plunge in a flimsy rubber inner tube, a barrel over Niagara Falls.

Samuel DeMazio, 30, of Toronto, was electrocuted at Stayner when a copper wire kite string he was holding brushed against a high-voltage wire.

A bullet from a rifle in the hands of a playmate killed 13-year-old Larry Fleming at Shelburne. Police said Larry put a shell in the rifle without his chum's knowledge and the gun discharged when the chum started to clean it.

Fishermen Thomas Manahan, 35, and Orval Anderson, 29, both of Beardmore, were drowned in Lake Nipigon and two companions were rescued after the capsize of their motorboat became entangled in fishing nets and the boat overturned 50 miles northeast of the lakehead.

Drowned in Madawaska

Dirk Dellman, 4, was drowned in 10 inches of water. He fell face downward into a mudhole while playing near his home at Bellcountain in the ormagesville district.

An automobile collision near Braeebridge killed Edward Seadle, 21, and William Reeve, 22, both of Toronto, and injured three other persons.

Mrs. William Angless, 24, passenger in a car police said was driven by her husband, died in another collision in the Uxbridge area.

Joseph Belaire, 39, of Alexandria, was killed when his truck crashed into a ditch.

In a car-truck crash near Windsor, Mrs. Louise Bailey, 75, died and four others were injured.

Also near Windsor, Mrs. Donalda Toutant was killed when a car she was driving smashed into a hydro pole.

Street mishaps took the lives of Darlene Haughie, 2, who darted in front of a bus in Toronto, and of Samuel Shuttler, struck down in Hamilton.

James A. Mark of Long Island, N.Y., trick bicycle rider in a circus, suffered fatal injuries in a mishap at Englehart. He was hit by a truck while retrieving a spring that had fallen from his car.

WOULD RESIGN

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 7. (Reuters)—Prime Minister Mohamed Mossadegh told his senate Saturday he would resign rather than sign any agreement with Britain that is "not to Iran's advantage".

He was speaking a few hours before Richard Stokes, Britain's Raw Materials' Minister, was due to arrive here with a mission to talk peace in the oil dispute.

Senators crowded in the hall to hear Mossadegh explain the steps that had led up to Friday's decision to receive the British government mission.

Artists from Belleville put on a western stage show in which the chief features were a harmonizing trio; trick fiddling; steel guitar solos; novelty acts; impersonations and vocal numbers.

Music for round and square dancing was supplied by Rhythm Ranch Riders.

Refreshment booths were operated by the Marmora Women's Institute and Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. In addition there were games and other attractions.

CAMPBELLFORD

Bradley Bay District Yields 28-Pound 'Lunge

Campbellford—Bill Fraser, an American visitor from Detroit, Mich., has caught the largest muskie so far reported from the Bradley Bay district this season.

Mr. Fraser, along with Jack Bracken of Manchester, New Hampshire, landed the fish weighing 28 pounds and measuring 46 inches in length, after a battle of 37 minutes. They were trolling with a pflueger spoon.

Mr. Fraser owns a cottage at Percy Boom a few miles south of Campbellford, and is a regular summer visitor.

Suffers Fainting Injury

X-rays at the Campbellford Hospital showed no bones were broken, however, and the lad will be able to return to work soon.

U.S. and Britain Asked to Develop True Brotherhood

Denver, Aug. 7 (AP) —Anthony Eden called last night for the United States and Britain to develop "a true brotherhood, intimate and unselfish" to lead the struggle for peace through the Atlantic Pact.

"In this we need the loyal cooperation of all free nations," the deputy leader of Britain's Conservative party said in a speech prepared for delivery at Denver University's World Affairs Institute.

"But one condition is indispensable to freedom and to progress the world over. You and we—the United States and the British Commonwealth and Empire—must stand and work together. . .when we are disunited we do the Soviet's job better than they can do it themselves.

"The Soviets may from time to time offer friendly words and gestures," he said. "We should not of course rebuff them, but we should test them out. On no account must we relax our purpose which is to seek peace through strength. Any success we may have attained so far must be just an encouragement to persevere. It is proof that we are on the right road. Meanwhile, the Soviets continue to practise aggression by remote control."

Crime Committee May Summon Commission

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP) — The investigation of suspected race-fixing on Ontario tracks may become a matter for the legislature's crime committee.

W. L. Houck, Liberal member of the legislature for Niagara Falls and a member of the committee, said Monday he will ask that the four-man Ontario Racing Commission be summoned to a Toronto hearing to tell what it has learned.

The racing commission met last week in Fort Erie to interview jockeys and trainers in connection with attempts by gamblers to fix races by bribing riders.

Two jockeys were ruled off Ontario tracks for life and four others were suspended indefinitely as a result of the probe.

However, the racing commission has given no details of the events which led up to the suspensions.

The racing commission investigation, meanwhile, is scheduled to resume at Hamilton Wednesday morning. The Hamilton racing meet began Saturday.

North Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 7. (AP)—Actor William Holden rescued an actress neighbor from her swimming pool last night, it was too late. She died late in a hospital. Mrs. Edith Van Duesen, 47, was found floating in the pool by a relative who summoned Holden from across the street. Holden dived in and pulled Mrs. Van Duesen from the water. Then he applied artificial respiration until the fire department squad arrived.

MARIO . . . in his distinctive feature about FOOD . . . What's Cooking?

Nobody minded pig thieves in Colonial days.

So great was the pig population that farmers didn't bother to apprehend a thief who happened to run away with a stray squealer now and then.

Pork prices have always remained comparatively low because pork is converted corn, and there is corn country. Although the use of fresh pork falls off in summertime, smoked ham is widely used for hot and cold dishes.

A baked potato stuffed with ham can be prepared hours before dinner and then heated through about 20 or 30 minutes before mealtime.

At this time of the year California baking potatoes are available in most markets. The light mealy potatoes are excellent for stuffing. Rice or any other cooked meat or poultry can be used in this dish.

Baked Potatoes Stuffed with Ham—Serves 4

4 large baking potatoes
4-4 cup melted butter or margarine
1-4 cup milk
Salt-pepper

1 cup chopped ground ham
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoons grated onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1-2 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
Paprika
2 tablespoon grated cheese
Salad oil

Put 4 large California baking potatoes in a hot oven, 450 degrees. Bake 1 hour or until done. Turn once during baking.

When potatoes are cool enough to handle, cut a thin slice lengthwise off top each potato. Remove pulp of potatoes. Mash potatoes with the melted butter and milk. Add more milk or cream if desired. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Put half the potatoes back in the shells.

Mix the remaining half of the potatoes with the ham, egg, onion, parsley and worcestershire sauce.

Put the ham mixture into the potato shells. Smooth top with a spatula or the back of a spoon. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and salad oil.

Place potatoes in a pan in a moderately hot oven, 400 degrees, for 20 to 30 minutes or until brown.

Bride-Elect Recipient Of Many Useful Gifts

On Friday evening last, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rush, Trenton, R.R. 2, was the mecca for a most enjoyable get-together of community friends and neighbors who assembled to honor the bride-elect of next Saturday, Miss Mary Rush, of the Toronto public school staff, with a miscellaneous shower.

The Rev. A. C. McCallum, pastor of White's Church, who was master of ceremonies, spoke highly of the bride-to-be's sterling character, of her ever-ready and willing assistance in the church, and wherever help was needed, when possible, she most willingly gave of her time and talent.

The evening was spent in the singing of old time songs, and in the reading of short, interesting skits by Mrs. B. Boniteel, Mrs. Cecil Jeffrey and Mrs. Don Bowers, as well as a round of song led by Mrs. Dudley in which three rooms of guests took part, "each coming in at the appointed time.

Following the sing-song, the pianist struck the first few bars of "Here Comes the Bride," which was the signal for the bride-elect to be escorted to the decorated platform preparatory to the opening of many gifts which covered the large dining-room table, Mrs. L. Young read the address, after which the gifts were presented.

After unwrapping, and reading of the accompanying cards, Miss Rush most graciously thanked each and all for the great kindness on her behalf and that of the bridegroom-to-be, who was unavoidably absent, and invited them to visit her in her new home in Toronto.

Bountiful refreshments and a review of the many lovely and useful evidences of the esteem of the community, in which Mary is to be brought the evening to a close.

Chinese Reds Try Reform Of Polygamy

Hong Kong, Aug. 7 (Reuters) The Chinese communists are having trouble in their attempt to reform the age-old marriage law of China, abolishing polygamy and the marriage broker.

Peiping radio said yesterday that at least 1,272 women in Shantung Province had lost their lives in marriage disputes during the last year. The radio avoided detail, but said there had been murders and suicides.

The broadcast said the principles of freedom of marriage asserted last year had not worked well, calling for a directive from east China military control committee on correct implementation of the law. No details were given of the directive.

The marriage laws of April 13, 1950, promised equal rights for the sexes, restricted every man to one wife at a time and guaranteed legal rights for mothers and children.

Older Men Said More Entertaining To Movie Public Than Older Women

Hollywood, Aug. 7. (AP)—The people who make movies—and the people who go to see them apparently consider older men more entertaining than old women.

Of the nearly 70 players who are 50 or older, more than 60 are males. The women are outnumbered 10 to one.

Why? One rather obvious answer is that in pictures the emphasis is on flesh. Youth, beauty and sex appeal are the things that sell movies. These are perishable commodities.

Perhaps another reason for the dearth of "mature" woman stars is that most movies are action affairs—horse operas, crime melodramas, adventure thrillers. The only important actress in the past is a heroine for the hero to rescue. She invariably is a cute chick.

Even when they bring a mature glamor boy like Eric Pinza, 58, to Hollywood, do they pair him with a woman of similar years? Nope. He gets Lana Turner and Janet Leigh.

Romance on the screen is seldom for women with gray hair.

For the over-50 male actors it's another story. Among the big names still pitching screen woo are Ronald Colman, 60; William Powell, 58; Fredric March, 53; Walter Pidgeon, 53; Fred Astaire, Spencer Tracy and Charles Boyer, all 51, and Clark Gable, Gary Cooper and Humphrey Bogart, all 50.

The older women stars are Ethel Barrymore, still the queen at 71; Billie Burke, 65; Gloria Swanson, and Judith Anderson, both 53; Spring Byington, 52; and possibly Marjorie Main, whose age is her own secret.

There are literally dozens of male veterans in the same age group. Most keep busy the year around in a variety of roles.

FATAL PLUNGE

William (Red) Hill, Jr., veteran river man, took his last chance with the Niagara River Sunday when he plunged to his death over the falls in a contraption of rubber inner tubes and netting. Rescue party pulls remnants of his craft — which he christened "The Thing" — from the churning river below the falls minutes after the fatal drop. Hill's body was recovered Monday from the rocks below the falls.—(CP Photo).

North Battleford Last Meeting For St. Laurent

Vegreville, Alta., Aug. 7 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent travelled to North Battleford, Sask., today on the final leg of a fast-paced, four-day, tour of towns and villages in Western Canada.

The Prime Minister will officially open the annual North Battleford fair before boarding a plane for Ottawa. He is scheduled to stop at Saskatoon on his way back to the capital.

Yesterday, Mr. St. Laurent spoke at Two Hills and St. Paul, northeast of Edmonton and discussed the North Atlantic treaty and Canadian government. He was also made an Honorary Indian Chief.

In the rain at the French-Canadian community of St. Paul, 100 miles northeast of Edmonton, the Prime Minister said the North Atlantic treaty was causing high taxes and inflation in Canada. But he said it was necessary to offset the disruptive effect of the veto in the United Nations organization.

He said the North Atlantic Pact allows 12 countries to stand together against aggression.

"No aggressor will venture to attack any of us," he said.

At Two Hills, 75 miles northeast of Edmonton, the Prime Minister said Canada was a "great co-operator" where the government is not always "pushing people around."

He told a Ukranian-Canadian crowd of 1,200 that in Canada there is "room for all of us and room for lots more."

Before leaving St. Paul, Mr. St. Laurent was made a member of the Athabascan branch of the Cree Indians. He was christened "Sweet Grass"—Wekaskoksein—the name of the chief who saw the first white men in the west.

With his chieftainship, the prime Minister was given a beaded caribou vest.

The official party left Vegreville, 55 miles east of Edmonton, by train shortly after the Prime Minister spoke at St. Paul.

Defence Minister Claxton, touring western military installations is scheduled to join the Prime Minister's party at North Battleford today.

Congress Checks West Point Cribbing Scandal

By JACK BELL

Washington, Aug. 7 — (AP) — Congress began checking into the West Point cribbing scandal today as individual lawmakers denounced the military academy faculty but disagreed over the abolition of service football.

Senator Clyde Hoey (Dem., N. C.) sent representatives of the Senate Expenditures Investigating sub-committee into action for a check of complaints that 90 cadets threatened with dismissal for cheating on examinations got what some of them called a "raw deal."

Members of the Senate armed services committee remained undecided whether they will take over the inquiry, as Hoey said he will be glad for them to do. Congressman Carl Vinson (Dem. Ga.) said the armed services committee of the House of Representatives wants none of it.

Whatever form the investigation takes, lawmakers left little doubt that army football and the academy examination system, as well as the men who run them, will face some searching questioning.

Back Blaik's Complaints

Several Senators seconded the complaint of football coach Earl Blaik, whose team would be practically wiped out by the dismissals, that the erring cadets were being pictured "almost in the light of criminals."

"I am sure that when the whole story is understood, no fair-minded man will condemn them," Blaik added.

Some Senators said the West Point faculty must share the blame for the scandal, along with the students.

Senator William Benton (Dem. Conn.) proposed (1) Abolition of big-time football at West Point and Annapolis, (2) Placing of the accused cadets on probation, rather than firing them and (3) a Congressional investigation of the curriculum and education standards at the two service academies.

Senator Robert Kerr (Dem. Okla.), disagreed vigorously with the proposal to abolish big-time football.

AS TRIP BEGAN

William (Red) Hill, Jr., enters the rubber inner tube and netting contraption he christened "The Thing" before starting his ill-fated trip over Niagara Falls Sunday afternoon. Others had made the trip in stout barrels but Hill was confident the yielding fabric would survive the force of the falls. His body was recovered from the rocks below the falls on Monday.—(CP Photo).

Death of 21 Horses in Box Car Being Probed

Vancouver, Aug. 7—(CP)—The suffocation of 21 horses in a railway boxcar is being investigated by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Dave Ricardo, British Columbia secretary of the S.P.C.A., said last night charges may be laid. He said the horses were put on the boxcar at Pritchard, B.C., and apparently died during the hour-long run to the interior city of Kamloops.

Mr. Ricardo said the boxcar doors were sealed tight.

A Canadian Pacific Railway spokesman said a boxcar was used for the horses because there were no cattle cars available. This was a common practice, he said.

The responsibility of seeing that the stock was properly loaded belonged to the shipper, the spokesman added.

Children Afflicted With Cerebral Palsy Given Specialized Training

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Reporter.)

St. Louis, Aug. 7 (AP)—Some parents refused to admit defeat over cerebral palsy. . . .

So children are learning to speak watching in mirrors as they form their mouths as if to blow bubbles, eat an ice cream cone or dress themselves.

The cerebral palsy training centre was established last February in Firmin Desloce Hospital by St. Louis University. Cerebral palsy is not a disease, but a condition. Damage to the brain before birth, during birth, or in young childhood, destroys normal control over muscles and other parts of the body. Yet their minds often are as bright and receptive as those of most children.

A medical advisory board at the centre selects those most likely to benefit. The parents council assists many families who cannot pay the $2 or $3 a lesson at the centre.

The centre runs a small nursery school from 9 a.m., to noon, and from 1 to 4 p.m., to give youngsters experience in creative activities, and also how to get along with other children before they go to regular or special schools. Other children come one to three times a week for speech, physical, and occupational therapy. The psychology department of St. Louis University provides consultation and assists in evaluating the child's mental and social development.

The centre cannot do all the training. A main premise is that parents learn the fundamentals and the methods that can be carried out, at home to bring these children all the way or a long way back toward normal actions.

Part of Body Reported Found On Alaskan Beach

Vancouver, Aug. 7—(CP)—The United States coast guard said today that a human leg and a piece of green whipcord trousers were found on an Alaskan beach, spurring the search for a missing Korean airlift DC-4 and a Norseman craft.

A coast guard seaman said he made the grisly find on the beach near Yakutat in Alaska, where search has been combined for the DC-4 and the private Norseman.

The clothing, with a laundry mark on it, was sent in Juneau for possible identification and the leg was rushed to Anchorage to see if it could be connected with either craft.

Searchers said the leg had not been in the water "too long a time."

The airlift plane, operated by Candian Pacific Airlines, disappeared July 21 over the Alaska Panhandle after taking off from Vancouver with 38 persons aboard, most of them U.S. military personnel.

The other plane sought in the vicinity is a supply craft for a scientific project. It carried the wife and daughter of an explorer and their pilot.

Meanwhile, search aircraft were ready to take off from Vancouver at dawn today to investigate "white objects" sighted on the Vancouver Island shoreline where a plane with seven aboard disappeared late Saturday.

Bakelite Blasts Motor Car 8-3 Gain 1st Place

Bakelite's 14 hit assault on two pitchers, backed up by Bob Green's fine pitching, gave the plasticmen an 8-3 win over Belleville Motor Car last night in a Commercial League AA game at the Alexandra Field.

The win catapulted the Bakelite crew into sole possession of first place in the league standings.

Ray Burley got the Bakelite squad off to a flying start in the first inning with a home run over left-centre field. With one away and no one on in the fourth-Ray Cousins belted another round tripper for Bakelite. Green got on an error and came home on Powers' double after Lawn had struck out. Powers' Migfol to score Powers and Gerry Buxley beat out a scratch infield single. Littlejohn did out to right field to end the inning.

A walk to Semark, a triple by O'Brien and a single by Walsh netted the Motor men two tallies in the bottom of the fourth.

Bakelite came up with four more runs in the fifth to chase Motor Car starter Jack Reid. Stone came in to do the relieving and over the rest of the route blanked the Bakelite with just four hits.

Bob Green went the route for the winners walking three, striking out 13 and giving up seven hits for the win.

Jack Reid started for Motor Car and in four and 1/3 innings walked nine, struck out five, and gave up 10 hits for all the runs.

For the winners Bob Green and Earl Cousins, Bob Green and Harry Powers each had two hits. Bone led the losers with a double and two singles in five tries.

Record Field For Trot Classic

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 7—(AP)—The mob scene which is expected to be the 1951 edition of the Hambletonian classic will be clarified today as the owners of the country's top three-year-old trotters post their $500 starting fee.

A field of 23 horses, largest in history of trotting's Kentucky Derby, is expected for one of the most wide-open Hambletonians of them all. The 26th Hambletonian already is assured the richest, since the gross value will top $90,000 if only 15 face the starter for the first heat tomorrow (3 p.m. EST).

The largest field ever to start was 19 when Titan Hanover won in 1945.

In the Bantam Hardball series the race has tightened to a point where it will be necessary to play the previously postponed games. Announcements will be made later as to when and where arrangements are made. Each team has four games to play and a winner must be declared before August 15.

Clubs standing to date is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Rob-Royals	5	3
Houston Lumber	5	3
Y's Men	5	3
Drive In	3	5

The Drive-In team dropped another one-run decision on Saturday, their fifth of the season, while Houston Lumber and Y's Men closed in on the. Rob-Royals. Competition is very keen, the brand of baseball is good, teams are very evenly matched, and the winner should do well in the O.B.A. playdowns.

Sidney Inn scored four runs in the top half of the fifth, but it was too dark to continue and had to revert to the previous inning. As a result, these two teams will meet tonight (Tuesday, Aug. 7) at the Fair Grounds, 7 p.m., with the lights being turned on for a regulation 9-inning game. The pitching was a little under par on Friday, as batters had a field day, but tonight's contest will be different, according to reports.

The Canadian Tire Juveniles played a very brilliant brand of ball on Thursday, holding Trenton to a 1-1 tie. This is very encouraging as the boys have only been playing together as a Juvenile team for the last few weeks. Claude Carr pitched a fine steady, and Jerry Goyer has the makings of a fine catcher, particularly outstanding was Tom Lally's run from left field to take what appeared to be an impossible catch.

Sponsors in all divisions would be well advised to check their players ages at this time if they intend to enter a team next year. Some sponsors have expressed their intention of keeping the same teams under their wings, and this strikes us as a very sound idea.

It is expected that three diamonds will be available for hardball next year. If present hopes materialize there will be adequate playing and practice fields to develop the baseball talent, we feel is here. It would be very gratifying if we could develop a few major league prospects.

The age groupings for O.B.A. are listed below for the convenience of those who intend to enter teams next year.

Pee Wee under 13 by May 1, 1952.
Bantam under 15 by May 1, 1952.
Midget under 17 by May 1, 1952.
Juvenile under 19 by May 1, 1952
Junior under 21 by May 1, 1952.

We would like to express thanks to the Ontario Athletic Commission for its recent donation of two dozen bats and balls. Donations of this type can certainly be used to great advantage.

Glen Roy Sweeps Doubleheader From Kingston

Glen Roy Athletic Club playing sound defensive and offensive softball handed the Kingston Pen Guards a 4-3 setback in the first game and the Kingston Saints a 3-1 defeat in the second game of a holiday doubleheader played in Kingston yesterday.

The Pen Guards are current leaders of the Kingston Senior B softball league while the Saints are in third place in the same loop.

A big three run third inning was all Glen Roy needed in the first game to shade the Guards. With one out, Ronaky walked. Rowbotham was out but Spafford and Don Adams singled coming all the way around to score before Keith Baldwin was retired once Fly ball to centre-field.

Glen Roy added their fourth run in the fourth when Stutter's single, two infield outs, a walk, and a single by Ronaky.

The Guards made a belated drive in the seventh frame but couldn't catch the GRAC. A walk to Sullivan, a double by pitcher Scrutton, and a single by Bentley batted home runs but the rally was choked off before further damage could be done.

Don Boyle went the route for the winners walking one, striking out five, and giving up five hits for two runs. Stan Scrutton did the chucking for the Guards walking three, striking out three, and surrendering six hits for four runs.

Against the Saints

In the second game Glen Roy took the lead in the first inning with Spafford getting to first on an error with two out, and then riding home on Don Adams' triple.

The Saints tied it up in the fourth with a walk to Clarke, two infield outs, and a single by Barringer doing the damage.

Glen Roy broke the tie in the sixth with Jack Hunter leading off with a single, and then, with two men out, scoring on Don Boyle's double. They added the insurance run in the seventh with a walk to Rowbotham and a double by Keith Baldwin producing the tally.

Marty Halloran did the flinging for the locals walking five, striking out six, and scattering four hits for one run.

Barringer did the firing for the Saints walking one, striking out five, and giving up nine hits for three runs.

Glen Roy see action again this Wednesday and Friday night when they meet Howe and Hagerman in a series to determine the OASA Intermediate A representative for the Commercial League.

Toronto Driver Wins Feature Race Breaks Track Record at Speedway

Spectacular driving, shattered records, perfect weather and a large thrill-seeking crowd featured the most successful auto race meet held this season at Speedway Parkland near Marysville Monday afternoon.

George Bowers, sensational Toronto driver not only won the feature race from a field of starters, but clipped a full second from the track record in a race against time. Bowers was clocked at 33 seconds flat, a second faster than the previous record of 36 seconds held by Wally Branston, Toronto.

Branston, who was here as an official of the Canadian Auto Racing Association attempted to retrieve his mark but failed by three-fifths of a second. Billy Wilson another crack driver also attempted to smash the new mark but could not equal the former record.

Brilliant Driving

Bowers showed brilliant form in annexing the feature event. He ripped through to take the lead and was never headed. The race had plenty of thrills as the closely-bunched field roared around the track for the first four of the ten heats before stretching out.

Bill Wilson, Stan Stevenson, Bob Scott, of Toronto and Howard Whiteside, Ancaster had the spectators agog as first one then the other ripped into second mid. It was one of the most thrilling races seen here this season.

No accidents marred the meet. Fifteen entries made the field and district drivers, gaining experience with every meet, showed to distinct advantage.

Marvin Moon, Picton, drove a grand race to win the first qualifying heat while the second brought out a field of six Toronto drivers in a thrilling six-lap event with Bill Wilson leading Bowers at al to the wire.

Clarence Johnson, Belleville, chased Stan Stevenson, Toronto to a spectacular finish in the third heat and then drove his car to victory in a matched race with Frank Andre, Kingston, a bad turn cost Andre ground and he couldn't make it up.

But he came back in the consolation event to show a clean pair of heels to three other drivers and qualify for the feature race.

Promoter Dick Burrowes had his organization nearly complete. He staged a parade of drivers prior to the racing, headed by the smart Nash Rambler pace car and a race car, furnished by the Clapp Motors, Belleville. The Bush ambulance added further color to the parade.

A dash of comedy was seen in a test-trial of an ancient Model "T" Ford complete with a fringed surrey top and balky engine. The contraption, after many mechanical mishaps, finally negotiated the half-mile in less than three minutes.

Burrowes announced that the next meet will be held at the Speedway on August 18th.

Rocky Graziano Wins Another But it 'Stinks'

Boston, Aug. 7. (AP)— Rocky Graziano, who hopes to regain the world middleweight championship, won another fight last night —from Chuck Hunter of Cleveland—but there was considerable confusion before the verdict was announced finally.

Massachusetts Boxing Commissioner announced, belatedly, "Graziano wins. Hunter is disqualified and his purse forfeited in the Commonwealth."

Graziano, who had a similar experience four weeks ago in Kansas City with Cecil Hudson of Milwaukee, appeared to have knocked out Hunter late in the second round.

Referee Ed McDonald began counting when Hunter went down after being hit on the chin by a Graziano right cross.

McDonald appeared to have counted Hunter out, but the fighters began mixing again and McDonald stopped them.

The fight was announced "No contest."

McDonald explained only, "the whole thing stunk from the start. Hunter was slapping," before Commission Chairman Peter Norton pulled him aside.

The news so went out before Norton and commissioners Tommy McFarland reappeared at ringside and told boxing writers the final decision.

They reported Hunter was disqualified by McDonald and Judges Jim Shaughnessy and Joe Santarpio and Graziano awarded the victory.

The day was sunny and warm, the play was excellent on splendid greens and in all the Corbin Gold Cup Tournament was a huge success. Belleville rinks had mixed success in the first game. Joe Black, Ab Wonnacott were the only winners of the nine rinks that were entered. A Swain, F. Drumm, Roy Grant and Ab Wonnacott defeated Keen of Mohawk 20-11. J. Ward, Gordon Vince, Doug Row and A. W. Davison defeated Downey of Peterborough 13-12. This was a real thriller, Davison scored three on the 18th with Downey getting one on the next end. In the final and Davison drew two bowls to add to Ward's bowl to win by the odd shot.

W. Anderson, "Skit" Vandervoort, Percy Graham and Wilfred Price were defeated by Hood of Ottawa 16-7, while Ernie Boulton, George Pauley, Jerry Hyde and Austin Watkin lost to Hand of Grimsby by 20-5 count. McGuire, Alf Symons and Joe Black were easy winners over Harrison of Kingston 20-7, Ken Ashley, Herb Middleton, Gordon Watkin and Fred Harper lost a heartbreaker to Jimmy Johnson of Brockville in an extra end. Orlo Smith, Gordon Edwards, Howard Ranton and L. E. McLean winners of the tournament for the past two years were taken into camp by Morley Gault of Kingston 18-11. A large gallery followed this game and some beautiful shots were made, Gault practically won his own game when he drew off Belleville's shot with his second bowl to go four up going home. This was too big a handicap to overcome in the last end as Gault played it perfectly safe.

Canada May Have Heavy Supplies Of Wheat to Sell

London, Aug. 7 (Reuters) — The Financial Times says today "there are indications" that Canada may have heavy supplies of wheat to sell on the world market.

"It is not altogether certain, however, that Canada's effective selling position will be as strong as the continuing world need for cereal cereals would suggest," it says.

"Her transport and shipping position is tight, and Canadian elevators still contain heavy quantities of Weat-damaged last wheat.

"This background may explain why the British authorities have felt justified in contesting the immediate of a six-cents a bushel carrying charge on wheat sold under the international agreement."

W. Wright, Morris Button, Mark Vanner and Cyril McBride bowed to Baker of Kingston Brighton by a 19-19 count and Wilfred Price won his game with Porter of Verdun 14-14 in an extra end. Austin Watkin lost to Keane of Montreal by 19-10. Jack Lee had an easy time of disposing of Williamson of Peterboro 18 to 8, while Fred Harper dropped a tough one to Reg Dalyn of Brockville 15-14. McLean and Kinsey of Kingston played a 15-13 tie in regulation ends but Kinsey won the extra end and completed the win. McBride was round out by Fox of Stirling 13-13 and Joe Black won his second straight with a 18-13 win over Williams of Port Hope.

Brantford Sox Cinch Top Slot In Intercounty

(By The Canadian Press)

Brantford Red Sox, who haven't lost a home game this season, clinched first place in the Intercounty Senior Baseball Race during a busy Civic Holiday weekend which saw the eleven teams play 10 games.

The Red Sox assured themselves of first place by beating Galt Terriers 3-1 in 11 innings at Galt Saturday. They added to the margin Monday by defeating Kitchener Legionnaires 3-2 in a night game at home after dropping a 5-3 decision to London Majors in an afternoon game.

The tieking Kitchener suffered at Brantford was the team's only loss during a heavy but successful weekend.

The Legionnaires played two games Saturday and two more Monday—one of them a 17-inning marathon—and the result lost to Dan Zazulinan of Chesterville 16-12.

In the second game Ab Wonnacott secured his second win when he defeated Hand of Orchard Beach Division, dropped second game to McConnell of Brighton by a 19-19 count and Wilfred Price won his game with Porter of Verdun 14-14 in an extra end. Austin Watkin lost to Keane of Montreal by 19-10. Jack Lee had an easy time of disposing of Williamson of Peterboro 18 to 8, while Fred Harper dropped a tough one to Reg Dalyn of Brockville 15-14. McLean and Kinsey of Kingston played a 15-13 tie in regulation ends but Kinsey won the extra end and completed the win. McBride was round out by Fox of Stirling 13-13 and Joe Black won his second straight with a 18-13 win over Williams of Port Hope.

Yanks Figure Canada 'Cinch' In Cup Series

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 7 (CP)— Although Canada's three-man Davis Cup squad swept through Cuba in five matches in the North American zone tie, captain Frank Shields of the United States team gives them little chance of advancing further.

Yesterday, the Canadians were at their best as Brendan Macken and Henri Rochon wrapped up the best-of-five match with the loss of only one set in 15. Macken whipped Reynaldo Garrido, a 17-year-old novice nupper, 6-2, 6-2. Little Henri Rochon trounced the stubborn Orlando Garrido, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 in the final two singles matches of the competition which started Saturday after rain washed out Friday's scheduled play.

A crowd of 1,500 saw the matches along with the U.S. team which will see action here next Friday, Saturday and Sunday against the Canadians in the North American zone final tie. The American team is made up of Budge Patty, Dick Savitt, Tony Talbert and Art Larsen.

Redmen-Royals Split; Yanks Lead Tribe By One, Red Sox By Four

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

You have to give the weather bloke credit for a great big assist for the long Civic Holiday week-end. The bloke was in his sunniest mood and sports fans as well as other members of the John Public family revelled in brilliant sunshine; in heat that could have been hotter, with nary a rain-cloud disturbed the azure blue of the heavens.

* * *

Now let's have a quick look-see what happened. The boss says this column must be cut short due to heavy sports of the weekend and more important space is needed.

The Redmen took sweet revenge down at Smiths Falls last night when they handed the Royals a fancy 11-3 shellacking in return for their 5-3 decision here Saturday evening. Johnny Hetherwood did the job of relief hurling, winning the game after Billy Strahan failed to stick.

The Red shillalaghs rapped out a merry roundalay at the expense of the Royals hurlers pounding out sixteen solid clouts to put the game in the bag. They extended to the Peterborough team, Vindsel League leaders in an exhibition tilt here tomorrow night.

Down at Marysville, George Bowers, sensational Toronto stock car driver won the feature race from a field of ten and broke the track record in a race-against-time trial. He negotiated the half-mile in 35, three-fifths seconds, two-fifths faster than the former record.

Over at Picton records went by the board. Bill Braden, Waterloo, smashed a couple of marks as did Ed. Pine driving Dr. Walter Robinson's Canadian design class. The Gold Cup was won by Jack Langmuir of Rockcliffe.

Here at home Marley Gault and his Kingston rink won the Corbin Gold Cup at the mens' rinks tournament staged at the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club's greens. Bob Hood, Ottawa won the Kings Trophy while Hally Montreuil titled copping the Ritchie Trophy. Belleville winners were the rinks of Joe Black and Fred Harper who won the two-game-high and one-game-high respectively.

Young Jackie Thompson Bantams threw a no-run, no-hit game at the Red Royals team on Saturday. The young hurler accounted for 18 of his team's 21 putouts personally, fanning twelve batters. Pal. W.

Incidentally, the Rob-Royals were the guests of sponsor Malcolm Robb at the Buffalo-Toronto double-header played in Toronto yesterday.

In the American League sizzler, the Red Sox need new garters. They slipped to four games behind the loop-leading Yanks over the weekend but the blood-thirsty Indians from Cleveland are breathing down Yankee necks. They drew on even terms with the Bombers on Sunday by splitting a twin-bill and went a half game in arrears as rookie Tom Morgan hurled a sensational five-hitter to put the Brooxmen one-half game out front.

Glen Roys took a doubleheader in a "big-house" exhibition duo of tilts yesterday defeating the Kingston "pen" guards 1-3 and the Saints, 3-2. Don Boyle and Marty Halloran did the hurling.

Speaking of softball, all Commercial League games from now on will start at 6.30 sharp instead of 6.45.

Drop Saturday Game by 5-3 Roar Back In Falls Monday To Take Free-Hitting 11-3 Win

By MAURICE H. REID

Belleville Redmen and Smiths Falls Royals split a home and home series over the holiday weekend as the Royals took a 5-3 decision in Belleville on Saturday night and the Redmen came from behind to whllop the Falls on Monday to the tune of 11-3.

Pitcher Mac White's home run, in the fourth inning, proved to be the winning run in Saturday night's contest. The blow was hit along the left field foul line and to everyone's eyes but the umpire's, it was foul. However, umpire Doyle after conferring with the base umpire called the ball fair.

A triple by Beggs in the 6th put him in position to score on a fly ball, with the insurance marker.

Bower Leaves Early

The visitors got to starter Bower early in the first inning to push three runs across before he was relieved by Willie Fordham. Desjardins opened the game with a free ticket to first. McKinney annexed a triple to centre and was followed by Legris' single. Fortin drew a base on balls and both runners scored on Clair Seeley's sacrifice. Muldoon singled to right, scoring Legris with Fortin pulling up at third.

Bower was lifted at this point for Willie Fordham to attempt to put out the fire. He forced Lisnewski to hit into a double play, Fitzpatrick to Reeves to Buchanan.

The Redmen got one of these back in the bottom half on a single by Dean, and Goyer's triple. They each scored on a fly by Buchanan who reached first on an error by Legris. Goyer forced Buchanan to second with Dean reaching third. Dean scored and Goyer raced all the way in when Fortin threw the ball into the outfield trying to pick Goyer off first. Reeves received a life when McKinney booted his grounder but was left on base as White settled down to retire the side.

Threaten in 6th

The Redmen's only serious threat after that came in the sixth when singles by Carson and Gilmour put runners on with only one man out but the inning ended with nothing scrog.

Mac White's home run was unique passing only one in a winning cause. Fordham, who relieved Bower was charged with the loss although hurling very well. Muldoon chucked the final three frames allowing one scratch hit while pushing the third one by five of the batters he faced in a standout relief effort.

Legris, Beggs and Dean each hit safely twice with Beggs, McKinney and Goyer hitting triples and Gilmour banging out a double. While hit the only home run.

Indians Breath on Yanks Necks Red Sox Fading, Chisox Win Brooks Hold 9½ Game Lead

One of the reasons some were predicting the fall of the Yankee empire last spring was because of Ford's call to the army.

"Where will the Yankees get a replacement for Ford?" they asked. "How long Casey Stengel's newcomers is going to win those nine games that Ford copped after the fourth of July?"

Early hopes that Morgan might do it looked like the young righthander was shipped to Kansas City last May after losing his first start. But Morgan came back after a month of seasoning and showed his stuff.

Stengel started him against Washington June 28, he responded by shutting out the Senators 3-0. Since then he has racked up seven more triumphs without a defeat. His eighth straight came last night—a 4-0 whitewash job against the Senators. It was his third shutout. He won a 1-0 hurling duel from Red Garver of St. Louis July 20.

The victory stretched the Yankees' American League lead over second-place Cleveland to one game and over third-place Boston to four games. Both clubs were idle.

Morgan, surrendered only five hits, all singles.

Gil McDougald accounted for the first two runs off righthander Don Johnson with his ninth home run to drive Jerry Berra in front of him. McDougald drove in the third run with a long fly and Gene Woodling's triple followed by Bobby Brown's single closed out the scoring in the seventh.

In the only other big league activity, Chicago's fourth place White Sox whipped the Tigers in Detroit 10-1. First sacker Eddie Robinson cracked two home runs, a double and single to lead the Sox attack while righthander Don Hoken, knocked the Bengals with five hits for his seventh victory.

White Sox swatted loser Hal White and two relievers for 15 hits to remain seven games behind the Yankees. It was Dobson's first victory since the all-star game July 10, Joe Gladeard's eighth home run in the sixth was the only run off the 34-year-old hurler.

Weslock Wins Kawartha Golf

Peterborough, Aug. 7 (CP) — Nick Weslock of Indoor, Monday won the Calvert Trophy by playing slow mutual golf at the seventh annual Kawartha Lakes amateur tournament.

His score of 216 was seven strokes ahead of runner-up Moe Norman of Kitchener Rockeys.

Yankee Golfers Pace Field In Ladies Open

By W. B. WHEATLEY

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Aug. 7 (CP) —The American invaders stunning for the Canadian Ladies Open golf championship took on added significance today on the basis of performance alone.

Out of more than 100 entries in yesterday's 36-hole qualifying round for the 32 places open, all six girls from the United States and their grade with ease. Four led the way into the championship round, headed by Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., with a smashing four-under-par 73. It will take an upset to halt them in today's opening round of medal play.

Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old Fonthill, Ont., girl who won the ladies open championship here last week, and two other Canadian girls cut into the American ranks to break up the solid parade. Miss Stewart came through with an 80 but that was seven strokes off the hot pace set by Miss Murray.

The Rutland girl started out as if she would rip this none-too-easy Laval course wide open.

She walloped a par five eagle and three birdies at the first four holes before a pymaic par brought the onslaught to a halt.

She lost strokes to par at the seventh and ninth to make the turn at 36, three under. Then she romped home in a one-under-par 37.

Brawl Breaks Up Soccer Game

Toronto, Aug. 7 (CP)—A brawl at half time involving some of the 3,000 fans and most of the players broke up a Canada Cup semi-final soccer match last night between St. Andrew's and Ukrainians.

Six members of the St. Andrew's team required hospital treatment and it took 30 policemen to quell the disturbance.

Tempers had been bubbling up among the fans, most of whom were supporters of the Ukranians. The final spark came when the referee awarded a penalty kick against the Ukranian goalie.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York Aug. 7 (AP) — If Arthur Mann, who used to be Branch Rickey's assistant and close confidant, has his way, the baseball hearings in Washington may yet turn into an interesting and lively production.

Arthur has appointed himself as one-man committee to persuade the House of Representatives to dig up the transcripts of those two memorable sessions at Sarasota and St. Petersburg, Fla., in which quilled in Commissioner Happy Chandler slapping a one-year suspension on manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers.

Spicy Stuff

Mann claims that the boys in Washington will gain a vivid picture of how Chandler administered his own brand of justice, without supporting evidence against a man whom he simply chanced to dislike. It cost Durocher $50,000 in salary.

Mann frankly admits to some prejudice in the matter. He loves Rickey, who was boss of Philadelphia... Johnny Saxton, 144½, New York, stopped Joey Carlido, 143½, , Youngstown, O. (5).

Also, and perhaps not incidentally, Arthur has written a book entitled "Baseball Confidential," which already has appeared serially in a number of newspapers and is due to hit the stands between hard covers a month from now.

Mann attended those two hearings in Florida as Rickey's executive assistant, took copious notes, and exhibits which tended to prove Durocher's innocence of the immediate charge against him.

O'Keefe's CANADIAN SPORTS PARADE

FOR over two decades the modest backbone of the Argonaut Football Club has been a slim, iron-grey haired trainer named George Annual Stockwell. Riding the fortunes of the Argonauts through feast and famine, Stockwell has likely tended more football immortals than any man in Canada. An expert physiotherapist, George Stockwell, perverse though he is, learned his training methods through practical experience. Although he has specialized solely in football during the last fifteen years, he received a variety education of it when he was a youngster. In 1924 George bandaged the celebrated Maitlands' lacrosse team with Lionel Conacher, Livingston and cousins Frank and Percy Nighbor. Conacher, Livingston and cousin caraman H. B. (Bobby) Pearce in their prime, and in the early thirties treated the aches and pains of the West Toronto Memorial Cup hockey winners.

The Best Argos

Having served with the Argonaut teams intermittently from 1929 to the present time, George Stockwell took time out during the "Big War" to serve with a field ambulance unit and was discharged with the rank of Sergeant-Major in 1945. That year, too, he read to name on the King's list, awarding him an M.B.E.

George Aspinal Stockwell has two favourite teams and the second one elevates above all others. First, he chooses the 1933 squad with Tommy Burns, Teddy Morris, Ab Box and the rest and the 1950 Grey Cup champions. adds the 1950 Grey Cup champions. Stockwell likes to point out the surprising coincidence about these two teams in that they both defeated Winnipeg for Dominion championship by a score of 13 to nothing.

Asked about the greatest Argonaut and Canadian players to go through his hands George picked two of the 1950 Argonauts as the best, respectively, on defense and offense — Buckets Hirsch and Ulv Curtis. And, of the scores of great Canadian players, Stockwell named two as the outstanding exponents of the game . . . Art West and Teddy Morris.

"That Morris was a terrific team player," said Stockwell. "He never weighed more than 160 pounds at any time, but if he could find even a twelve-inch hole in the enemy line he'd be through like a miniature battering ram. And, in all the games Ted Morris played he never once bothered to come to the rubbing table although sometimes, after a game, he was so shaken up he could hardly find his street clothes in the dressing room!"

The Iron Mask

In 1933, George Stockwell worked with the great Argonaut coach in perfecting a playing-mask to enable the great Argo star, Ab Box, to continue playing although Box had sustained a broken jaw against Hamilton.

"Designing that mask was quite a problem," said Stockwell. "It had to be stationary during play. It had to be made in such a way that it didn't hinder the use of the hearing and yet Ab's face had to be protected and supported. We tried several before the famous iron mask was designed. The mask has been successful for it helped Ab Box and was subsequently loaned out to many teams in Canada and even found its way over to the States several times.

Another Generation

The latest Argonaut to appear on the Argonaut training staff is young 17-year-old Bill Stockwell who was made assistant to his Dad this year. Originally, this plan had called for the appointment of Stockwell's eldest son, George Jr., but he was killed while serving with the RCAF over Singapore in 1943.

Now, with his son in tow, George Sr. presides over the 1951 Argonauts as the RSM in charge of training and injury, and the team abides by the stern rulings of this regimental gentleman.

"While he turns over the parade to Frank Clair, Stockwell's unspoken command rings across the Dominion Day training field.

"Attention! Steady in the line!"

Morley Gault, Kingston, Wins Corbin Gold Cup

Morley Gault and his rink of J. Donnelly, Keith Gibson and Art Armstrong, displaying consistent bowling in three strenuous games, won the Corbin Gold Cup trophy and the accompanying prizes of chests of silver at the Belleville Bowling Club tournament over the holiday. The Corbin cup is sponsored by the Corbin Arm Company of which L. E. McLean is resident manager and the firm also donates the prizes each year.

The day was ideal for bowling with a bright sun and cool breeze. Hundreds watched throughout the day, their favorites on the green and the clubhouse and lawns were suitably decorated adding to the festive appearance of the layout. The women's section of the club, under the direction of Mrs. Cyril McBride, their president, catered to the wants of the inner man. The tournament was run by the efficient chairman, Cliff Argue, who has held at helm during the life of this tourney. Despite the many games to be played in one day, the tournament was ended shortly before midnight but another hour was taken for the distribution of the prizes.

Greens in Fine Shape

The greens were in excellent condition and some splendid bowling was displayed. Jimmy Smith, the greenskeeper, had the greens "keen as mustard" and during a large part of the games the players had difficulty getting their weights and this fact was achieved some wonderful shots were seen during the day. The large gallery enjoyed the play from beginning to end. The bowlers were presented by Mr. Argue and Fred Harper, president of the club and both hoped that the bowlers would have a pleasant day and enjoy the hospitality that was offered them. The Belleville Club was opened to the visitors during the day.

The Biggs trophy was won by Bob Hood of Ottawa and other three game winners were Andy Hall of Montreal, Harry Baker of Kingston, Jimmy Johnston of Brockville, Ben Taylor of Campbellford, Archie Atkinson of Ottawa, E. C. Krarts of Ayr. The two-game winners were W. J. Finley of Trenton, Joe Black of Belleville, J. Hebert of Ottawa, and Charlie Smart of Kingston. Star Footballer, Talks Bitterly Of Cadet Ouster

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 4—(AP)—Bob Blaik, star quarterback on the team and son of West Point's head football coach, bitterly criticized the United States military academy today for the manner in which it ousted 90 cadets for "orthodox" examinations.

Young Blaik declined to say whether he was one of the cadets involved in the biggest academic scandal at West Point's 150 years. However, he used the pronoun "we" when discussing the ousted cadets.

Blaik is also a star of the West Point hockey team. He was a standout in last winter's annual game between West Point and the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.

Surrounded by admitted members of the 90-man ousted group, Blaik told reporters:

"We were not allowed to notify our parents all over the country in advance. I think that's why the yarn was from the newspapers and over the radio."

Coach Red Blaik dodged reporters and when finally tracked down and asked for comment said flatly:

"No."

One of the 90 cadets involved, who like the others declined to reveal his name, told reporters:

"At least 300 corps cadets did the same thing."

He said the ousted cadets admitted the cheating when questioned. He said others equally guilty denied under oath any complicity.

One cadet said the widespread academic cheating had been going on as long ago as 1947 and still another cadet estimated the scandal had its roots as far back as 12 years ago.

As reporters stepped young Blaik, a crowd of other cadets gathered and about identifying one another said most of them were among the 90 cadets involved.

Mystery Man Appears Choice For Baseball Boss

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Who is the "Mr. X" the club owners refuse to identify as their dark horse candidate for baseball commissioner?

As the 16 big league executive convened today to elect or give a closer line on their next commissioner, "Mr. X" appeared to be the possible choice over the "big five" in the form of the speculation.

The five are Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the tremendous favorite; Gen. Mark Clark; Walter Varan, Cities, the baseball men.

Others on the slate containing some 20 to 25 names include Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Sen. Edwin Johnson (D.) of Colorado, and chief justice of the Supreme Court Fred M. Vinson.

But the identity of "Mr. X" remains a deep dark secret.

One owner, who didn't want his name mentioned, agreed the big five were out front. He added however:

"But there is one other name so highly placed that it would embarrass him if it were to be known."

The general feeling is that no new commissioner will emerge from the meeting. But that was the feeling back in 1945 when A.B. (Happy) Chandler was elected.

Chandler was the dark horse who won over such candidates as Bob Hannegan, Farley, Frick and Giles.

Whoever he will be, the new commissioner is assured of receiving higher salary than either of his predecessors. Chandler's was increased after a few years to $65,000. The latter resigned last month after the owners refused to vote him a new term.

GOVT. REAL VILLAIN

Halifax, Aug. 4 — (CP) — Stuart Armour, economic adviser to the president of the Steel Company of Canada, says he believes the real villain of inflation is government spending.

In an article in the national quarterly Public Affairs, Mr. Armour says that Canada would never in the situation now prevailing be able to escape high prices until "we abandon our policy of deliberate inflation and drastically cut the level of ordinary government expenditures.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

AT THE CAPITOL — Perennial triangle — Lloyd Bridges (left) and John Ireland (right) are involved in romantic tangle with Marie Windsor in "Little Big Horn," Lippert Pictures' thrilling story of a battle between U.S. Cavalry and Sioux Indians, now showing at the Capitol Theatre today and Wednesday. On the same program, it's fun time at the "Kentucky Jubilee," with Jerry Colona. Both hits are first runs.

AT THE McCARTHY — Moviegoers who have begged Hollywood for "new faces" on the screen have their every wish answered in the release of Universal-International's Technicolor "The Prince Who Was a Thief," starring Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie in the lead roles of the Theodore Dreiser story. Everett Sloane, featured in the new film, is shown with Tony and Piper in a scene from the spectacle film. "The Prince Who Was a Thief," is now on the screen at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The first idea of a takeout double is to show partner a hand as good as the opening bidder's. Thus, as a foundation for either side, the folks are as good as the people.

After that, which pair will turn out to be the strongest? No doubt the one whose partner has the best helping hand. Thus, each partner must quickly announce his strength or weakness.

When there is an intervening pass or redouble, partner of the doubler is expected to bid. Any non-jump bid by such a partner is an admission that he does not have a strong hand.

Consequently, some other kind of a response must be used by the doubler's partner to show he has a strong hand. What other response? Either a jump bid or a pass.

In such case, a pass says the partner of double can help defeat the opponents' bid; a jump bid says he can help make a game for their own side with what the doubler has promised.

But after a takeout double, suppose there is some kind of a bid by the intervening opponent. Then, partner of the doubler may pass. And such a pass denies having a strong hand.

Consequently, when there is an intervening bid, partner of the doubler shows strength by showing-strength. His response of any kind other than a pass indicates strength.

Thus, if he bids without a jump he shows strength. If he doubles the opponent bid he shows strength. In other words, he does not need to jump in order to show strength when a bid intervenes.

South opens with one club. West doubles. North bids one heart. East bids one spade with this hand:

♠A J 10 9
♥K 7 6 5
♦K 7 6 5
♣J 8 5 4

The east bid of one spade in that spot and North is not weak. When you know how to talk, don't just sit there and gawk.

Gang Warfare Takes Live Of Two Thugs

Hollywood, Aug. 7 —(AP)— Gang warfare last night took the lives of two former Kansas City thugs.

One of them was on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of 10 most-wanted men.

Tony Trombino and Tony Brancato were shot to death in an automobile, the bullets entering the backs of their heads as they sat in the front seat. Police believed the shots were fired by someone concealed in the back seat. A witness said he saw a man run across the street after the shots and speed away in a waiting car.

Brancato, 36, and Trombino were questioned about the 1948 murder of Harry Roth—man in gambler Mickey Cohen's haberdashery here.

Brancato also was questioned after the slaying of Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel in 1947.

Brancato, a former convict, was placed on the F.B.I.'s most wanted list June 27 after a hotel holdup.

Too Much Rain Carries Away Laundry Unit

Somewhere in Korea, Aug. 7 (AP)—There was just too much water for the Canadian 25th Brigade's mobile bath and laundry unit.

Set up alongside a small stream, the unit supplied hot showers and clean clothes to grateful frontline troops. But one afternoon a few days ago it began raining.

It rained and rained. By midnight the stream had become a raging torrent. It swept away the bath-laundry unit and tents plus nearly all the personal gear of service troops.

"The water rose about three feet in half an hour inside our tent before it floated away," said Pte. Doug Boyce of Montreal.

"I was up to my chest in water in what seemed only minutes," said Pte. Melvin Morrow of Almonte.

Pte. Albert Damiano of Ottawa said the men spent the night huddled under trucks and around fires.

HEADS FOR PORT

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 7— (AP) — With two of its crew dead and a third man dying of typhoid fever, the Italian steamship Turiala today headed at full speed toward Charleston.

About 5,000,000 units of penicillin and a supply of sucrononycin were dropped aboard the Turiala by a U. S. Coast Guard plane Sunday.

The Taurinla's first distress call was Sunday. It read: "Help, help. Two dead and more dangerously ill. Danger life, high fever."

AT THE DRIVE-IN

"West Point Story"

James Cagney, unemployed Broadway musical director, and his girl friend, Virginia Mayo, accept a job offer of sorts—to assist a West Point cadet, Gordon MacRae, in staging the military academy's annual musical show. Cagney's attitude lends academy authorities to make him a plebe during the assignment; he is put through the paces but takes everything in stride. Next Cagney lures Doris Day, a movie star, to be a headliner in the revue, but complications ensue which lead to cancellation of the entire venture by academy brass. Cagney, who has a French Legion D'Honneur, persuades the French premier to ask for amnesty for the cadets being punished; the show turns out to be a smash hit, and MacRae turns rights to it over to Cagney for a Broadway production.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, Aug. 8

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—A day for sensible caution, tact, patience. Mixing, needed rebuilding, enlarging establishments, also art, music, and children's activities are among interests favored. Care in disposition.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—Work with machine shops, airplanes, all tools and machinery, also railroading and road-building favored under friendly Saturn influences. But it is not all easy day and caution is urged.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Stay down to earth in method and execution of everyday activities and you should accomplish more than you anticipate. Laborious tasks requiring stamina and endurance highly honored.

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—Similar indications to Aries and Taurus. Be sensibly careful, don't nurse "peeves" or be too genial-live and you do all right. Not all rewards forthcoming now.

July 24 to August 23—(Leo)—Keep enthusiasm high, but keep common sense to the fore, too. Favorable interests: dealing in metals, machinery, tools and vehicles among those vigorously favored.

August 23 to September 23—(Virgo)—Those in writing, journalism, all jobs requiring keen mental alertness and analysis may find tougher going now, but don't give up. Take things calmly, with more ease. Day fine otherwise.

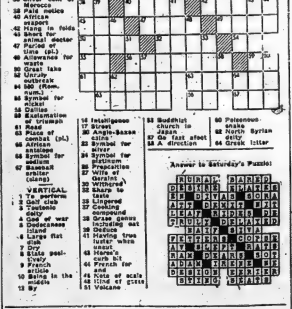
September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—Heed advice to Virgo; jog along with sufficiently aggressive pace to make the grade. No need to force hard, but do insist that right principles be followed. Do your best.

October 24 to November 22—(Scorpio)—A day for thoughtful reflection, reviewing calmly with an eye to improvement. Aim to better quality of output, increase it perhaps. You ambitious folks can do much with care.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius) —No unfriendly aspects, but investments, gains through intelligent management will need extra care. Strive against recklessness, time-wasting. Day will yield according to effort given.

December 23 to January 21—(Capricorn) — Grand indications for you Saturn natives now. Be enterprising, cheerful; watchful, too. Some influences may tend to recklessness, indifference to safety measures; counteract them.

January 22 to February 20—(Aquarius)—Day may well be a challenge, inspiring if you have right ambition and a just desire for attainment. But indications warn about laxness, indiscretion. Meet the challenge practically.



February 21 to March 20—(Pisces)— Indifferent tendencies in your immediate sector, but day on whole has interesting sports. It is pretty up to you what you do with material on hand. You can make many breaks yourself.

YOU BORN TODAY: Ingenious, clever, artistic and self confident. Guard that the latter tendency doesn't grow, cause you to be egotistical and thus lose opportunities and friends. Develop your fine qualities, study and keep improving; you can advance, no matter what your age. Sincerous ambitious ambition, capacity for learning. Seek more knowledge always; gift information well. Humility is great aid to achievement, signifies greatness of mind, soul. Pray daily for guidance and obedience to God's laws.

WHY WE SAY

FORGET ME NOTS

. . . Named By A King
When you look at these little blue flowers, you are supposed to think of a king of England. The king was Henry IV, who took the flowers as his emblem with the motto, "Remember me." From then on, the flowers became known as "forget me nots."

Passenger Train Plows Into Car, Six Injured

Malvern, Ark., Aug. 7 (AP)—The first section of the Texas-bound Missouri Pacific streamliner "Texas Eagle" was smacked up here early today when it plowed into a stalled automobile. Eight persons were hurt, none critically.

Police said that a motorist, obviously drunk, caused the wreck by mistaking the railroad's main track for a road and driving his car 234 feet down the tracks. The driver escaped injury.

The motorist was jailed, without charge, pending further investigation. His name wasn't disclosed.

The two-unit diesel engine overturned after reversing its direction and tearing up about a quarter-mile of track. At least five cars were derailed, but none overturned. Two of the cars, most of them pullmans, remained on the tracks.

The automobile driver — who wasn't identified—was taken into custody. He told police he tried to stop the train. No charges have been filed.

THIS MR. ICARUS

By Harry Meldrum Moore

II

Ian Bradley awakened to the fact that he was a part of a train that was moving at speed. But this was day, possibly noon-since everything was getting more distinct around him.

Light headed, he raised himself from a bed of straw in the corner. And then he knew where he was. This was the inside of a rather clean box-car. There was another man in the car with him, a man who stood poised with one hand on the slightly open door, the other on the jamb to keep his balance, the while he watched the country as it raced by.

The man at the door was seedy-looking, as one might look after sleeping for several nights in his clothes. He was quite stout, and middle age. A badly scuffed faded black hat covered close cropped greyish hair. As Lance watched, the man turned beady eyes on him from beneath bushy eyebrows.

"You've been dead to the world a long time, sailor," he said loud enough to be heard above the rattle above the rattle of steel car wheels as they raced over sped rails, bumped over rail joints. And then he swayed wide-legged from the door to drop on the straw beside him.

"How long?" Lance asked.

"Since the night before last. You musta been drugged."

"Yeah," Bradley agreed, "I musta been drugged. There was a fight, and a man named Louis took me for a little ride, to hide me from the cops and he produced a bottle, and—well, we—that is, I drank—" he stopped to search his pockets, to produce a small purse with nothing in it but a faded picture of the Steamer, May Queen, "a I guess I was stunned, cleaned of my last cent. Well, that's the last drink I'll ever take," so help me. But, how did I get here?"

"Two men put you aboard. They gave me a buck to look after you, to keep my mouth shut. Last night when this train stopped to change engines, I got out and I rustled some food. I saved some for you—" he unrolled a newspaper, "here's bread and meat."

Ravenously hungry now, Lance Bradley broke a chunk of the loaf, tore some meat off the bone with his teeth.

"Ah, that tastes good," he said, as he ate. "Say, who are you, and where are you going?"

"Ever hear of A No. 1?" the man asked, "Well, that's me. Perhaps you have heard of me before?"

"As a matter of fact, now that you mention it, I have." Lance said, "but I never knew until now that A No. 1 was a man's signature. Why, I've seen those chalked initials time and time again on railway cars at various ports along the sea coast, and believe it or not, I saw that same A No. 1 on the hull of a ship in a South American port. You're a famous man, A No 1."

"Yes," the hobo said proudly, "I guess I am. You'll find my sign on every important railway station and many public buildings in Canada and the United States. I have been written up in the best newspapers. Yes, I guess I'm famous all right. In my business, you could call me tops with a capital "T". I travel with the birds. Summer finds me in the north, winter I'm in the south. It's a great life, it's a life that suits me. And now, what about yourself?"

"I haven't much to say, A No. 1," Lance confessed, getting up, an uncomfortable look in his eye. "I've left the sea and it's up to me now to find some work to do ashore—"

"That dark corner over there," A No. 1 pointed, "any old port in a storm".

After a while Bradley was back to his place on the straw.

"Did I hear you say you were looking for work?" A No. 1 asked, and when Lance nodded, he went on, "Now work is something that I never think about, but if I do, it is usually in a dream and I waken up in a sweat. Why work? Why should anyone work? Do you know, sailor, our whole way of life is cock-eyed. Too few have control of the world's wealth, too many have nothing—"

"But how would you change that?" Bradley asked giving A No. 1 a curious look.

"Divide it equally, share and share alike."

"Nothing as easy as that would ever work out," Bradley argued, adding, "unless all men were physically, mentally, morally, the same."

"What have you been reading, sailor?" A No. 1 asked.

Lance kept right on. "Divide the world's wealth equally among all men and men being what they are, what would be the result? The smart man would get by hook or crook the shares of men who were not so smart, and in no time the whole thing would be out of balance again."

"You must read a lot, sailor."

"Yes, I do. Reading has been my off-duty pleasure. I like books, particularly books that make a fellow think—"

"Where did you say you were heading for?" The hobo changed the subject.

"I didn't say, because I don't know. Any small town where a man can get a job—work—" he laughed, and A No. 1 winced, "As you see, I've nothing but the clothes on my back."

"Well, the sailor, just stick around. I'll lead you to a good town. I'll even show you where you can make a touch, but don't overdo it, this man, a friend of mine, runs a newspaper, wrote me up one time. Unless, of course—"

"Unless—what?"

"Unless you care to share a side door pullman with me on train rolling south tonight. You'll see the world."

"I did see a lot of it—by tramp steamer."

"Yes, but this is a different world. The ports of call are closer. There's no danger of ship wreck. The girls are more genuine. The price is my company. I know my way around. You won't starve."

"No, A No. 1," Lance shook his head, "I must refuse your kind offer. I think I'd sooner settle for regular meals, a softer bed and—and something to do—"

"Well, don't blame me, sailor, if you don't like it. Remember, I've just asked you to come with me, no man can say he was ever offered such a chance as that before. However, I'll try to look you up some time, but like as not I'll find you with a ball and chain on your foot—a wife and half a dozen kids—"

"No, I don't think you will, A No. 1," Lance laughed.

"Nor me, either, come to think of it," the hobo said, "you strike me as a youngster with terrific will power—"

"You should see my won't power in action," Bradley laughed.

"Now, you take women," A No. 1 said, "did you ever read what a German writer said about them? He said there were all sorts, that there had been only two of that sex that were ever worth recording—one was dead and the other hadn't yet been found."

"He must of had a bad dream," Bradley observed. "Surely you don't fall for that sort of stuff, A No. 1?"

"Well, hardly, sailor, Y'see, my mother was a woman. And—yours?"

"My mother was the sweetest little woman in the world," Lance said soberly, speaking as if he knew.

After a while the train slowed to a stop. Steps of a trainman who came down from the top of the cars, sounded on the cinders beside the track. And when he was opposite the car door, he stopped to say over his shoulder, "Lay low A No. 1, the bull's on his right." Then he reached up, pulled the door aside. Presently the men in the car heard the question: "Any bums aboard?"—and the answer, "—I haven't noticed, say."

The locomotive took on water, whistled two short blasts, picked up the slack. A No. 1 and Lance got up to stretch their legs, to open the door. During the day, they cleaned up on the last of their food, talked themselves out, lay down and fell into sound sleep. The long blast of the locomotive whistle, the setting of the air brakes, the swaying of their car, and they were awake. It was night now, and A No. 1 was on his feet.

"We get off here," he said, striking for the door, Lance at his heels. This train will slow to a walk and when she's opposite the creek and the little bush at the edge of the town, we'll drop off, understand? Well, here we are. Follow me!"

The two men went over the railway embankment, climbed over a rail fence and were soon in the woods where A No. 1 located a hidden water pail.

"Now, then," A No. 1 said, "here's our program. You wait here. I'll go into town and rustle up some chuck. And when I get back, we'll put on a fire and make some tea. If I'm not back in an hour or two, you'll know I'm not coming, that my train is pulling out sooner than I expected, and then you're to do wat I told you."

"Mind if I strip and go in for a swim?" Lance laughed.

"I hate to think of all that nice clean water getting so dirty, sailor," A No. 1 chuckled. "Well goodbye for now."

Refreshed from his swim, Lance Bradley waited and waited. He had no way of telling the time, but at least two hours had passed, since the hobo had left him, and undoubtedly he was not coming back. And so Lance left the bushes and returned to the track.

Long-Term Soldiers in Korea To Get Home on Leave

Ottawa, Aug. 8 — (CP)—The government's plan to rotate home-defence paratroopers with long-term soldiers in Korea is expected to be announced within the next few days, Defence Minister Claxton is putting the finishing touches on the announcement.

First to come home will be the men of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, which reached Korea last December. They are nearly as short-term as long homeward fairly soon and the aim is believed to be to have all the long-term Patricias home by Christmas.

Men of the other units, including the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian and Royal 22nd Regiments, will come home later after serving six months or so in combat areas. They went into combat areas in late May.

Paratroopers of the home defence 32nd Airborne Brigade already have started moving to Wainwright, Alta., the reinforcement base for the 25th Brigade in Korea. There, it is ready to go to Korea on a rotation basis.

Communist Radios Silent on Demands For Guarantees

Tokyo, Aug. 8 (AP)— Communist radios remained silent tonight on the United Nations demand for fresh guarantees of neutrality at the site of Korean armistice talks.

Allied negotiators returned to Kaesong during the day, ready to resume cease-fire talks if and when communist commanders pledge the Kaesong neutral zone will be kept inviolable."

But neither the Peiping nor Pyongyang radios mentioned tonight the new demand of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. commander, first broadcast at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. (1:30 p.m. EDT Monday).

Instead—32 hours later — the Chinese red radio at Peiping featured a report the red commanders still were waiting for Ridgway's reply to a communist message dispatched Monday morning.

The Peiping broadcast said the letter, entrusted to an American liaison officer, contained assurances from North Korean Gen. Jim Il Sung and Gen. Teng Teh-Hsai that the Kaesong neutrality pledge would be observed.

This apparently was the red message which Ridgway acknowledged Tuesday in his demand for a new red pledge they would really keep their word.

The Peiping broadcast said the Chinese and North Korean cease-fire delegation waited at Kaesong Tuesday for the U.N. negotiators, "but the latter failed to arrive."

2,000 PRE-FAB HUTS WILL BE BUILT BY GOVT.

Army Will Store Huts At Strategic Points

Ottawa, Aug. 8—(CP)— The army is taking no chances on undergoing a housing crisis in the event of a Third World War.

Defence production officials disclose that 2,000 prefabricated huts will be built, at a cost of some $15,000,000 and stored at army ordnance depots at strategic points across Canada.

Contracts are understood to have been awarded, though no announcement has yet been made. Officials said that six construction companies in Nova Scotia, Quebec Saskatchewan and Alberta will share in the huts.

One of the firms is Deslauriers et Fils of Quebec City who will produce some $3,500,000 worth of the pre-fabs.

This is a new departure for the army. Previously, it has relied on wood and tar-paper barrack blocks. One of the big criticisms by troops in the last war was that because of insufficient housing they had to shiver under canvas, sometimes in tents while carpenters hammered barrack blocks together.

Permanent wooden camps sometimes took months to build. Officials said inexpensive huts now will be able to erect the prefabricated structures within hours.

One story high, the new huts will measure about 80 feet long and 20 feet wide. They will be built of a fibre board material winterized and covered with a fire-resistant paint.

Board Decides To Leave Prices At Present Levels

Toronto, Aug. 8—(CP)—Farmers who supply the Toronto area with milk will get more money under an order signed tonight by the Toronto Milk Control Board.

At the same time, prospects of lower milk prices for the city dweller when the board decided to leave prices at present levels.

The board, over the objections of Controller Allan Lamport, of Toronto, consumer representative, signed an order to give farmers an increase of 35 cents a hundred-weight, from $4.20 to $4.55.

It also announced that for the present at least there will be no reduction to 10 cents a quart in the present price of 21 cents that sale and carry price will remain at 20 cents and the delivered price at 21 cents. The board indicated that a reduction would have to await economies in distribution such as restricting deliveries.

Scientists Jubilant Over New 135 Mi. Rocket Record, Plan More Altitude

White Sands, N. M., Aug. 8—(AP)—Jubilant rocket experts, flushed with yesterday's soaring success, talked today of new assaults on the rocket altitude record.

They sent the seventh American Viking rocket ever fired swooshing 135 miles up into a hazy New Mexico sky yesterday for a world record.

Milton Rosen, head of the rocket project for the naval research laboratory, put it this way: "We've worked a long time for this and we've swiftly happy. But we're not satisfied with only altitude."

He said that Viking No. 8—the eighth of a series of 10 rockets—already is being constructed. Firing is expected early next year.

Yesterday's flight almost straight up was breathtaking to watch, but no more than the figures on what the rocket did:

It reached a top speed of 4,100 miles an hour—more than a mile a second.

It took only four minutes, 23 seconds to set the record. You could get to the moon in less than 60 hours at that speed.

The 135 miles cracked by 21 miles the previous single-stage rocket record of 114 miles, held by a rebuilt German V-2, also fired here.

It was more than 27 miles better than the American rocket record set March 29, 1946.

The two gangsters were sitting in their parked car on a quiet Hollywood Street. Trombino was killed by two shots in the back of the head, Brancato by one in the back of the head.

Forest Fires Sweep B.C. Area, Penetrate U.S. Woodlands

Danger Great in Both Areas

Grand Forks, B.C., Aug. 8 — (CP) — Forest fires which swept over an estimated 3,000 acres after bursting in south-central British Columbia have spread into woodlands in the United States.

So far the penetration has been slight. But American foresters said last night the fires present the biggest danger in years to Washington State's Colville National forest.

The danger was still great today in B.C. Harold Holmberg chief ranger for the Nelson forest district, said the two biggest fires were threatening to combine into one blaze.

These fires were in the McRae Creek and Santa Rosa creek areas near this community of 4,000, stripped of all able-bodied men for the battle.

The fires were threatening the region south of Fife on the Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle Valley line. Flames already have stopped traffic on the trans-provincial highway. Fife has a population of between 25 and 30.

1,000 Firefighters

In B.C. alone, the fires are being fought by 1,000 loggers, volunteers and conscripts.

B.C. telephone transcontinental lines run through a 50-yard cut through the heart of the Santa Rosa blaze. So far, however, the lines have remained open.

The West Kootenay Power and Light Corporation line, serving Rossland, Trail, Grand Forks, Greenwood, Oliver, Osoyoos and parts of Kelowna, also cuts through the fire area.

The fire invaded the U.S. between Northport and the boundary town of Laurier in northeastern Washington. Flames advanced about a half mile.

A plane carrying 16 smokejumpers flew to Colville, Washington yesterday from Missoula, Mont., regional headquarters for the U.S. forest service.

23 High School Grid Stars Given Free Trip to West Point

Chicago, Aug. 8 — (AP) — The Chicago Tribune said today that a Flint, Mich., high school football player told in an interview that he and 22 other high school grid stars spent a six-week, expense-paid vacation at West Point this summer.

The Tribune, in a copyright story from Flint, said the "high-pressure recruiting or football players for West Point" was revealed by Duncan MacDonald, 18-year-old quarterback. He was described by the Tribune as an outstanding athlete.

The story of the 23 pre grid stars at the academy was told, the Tribune said, "while sports, political and military circles still were buzzing with the stumbling of 90 cadets accused of cribbing — including most of the army football squad."

MacDonald was quoted by the Tribune as saying that features of the vacation were "chatty, informal talk sessions with Col. Earl (Red) Blaik, head Army football coach; reimbursed travel expenses; offers of an easy appointment to the academy, and academy instructors in passing entrance examinations. And—most important of all — draft free status while playing football at West Point."

Police Book Four Men on Suspicion Gangland Killings

Hollywood, Aug. 8 —(AP)— Moving swiftly in an effort to solve the gangland slayings of mobsters Tony Brancato and Tony Trombino, police last night booked four men on suspicion of murder.

Chief of Police William J. Parker, promising a "big break" in the case identified the suspects as James Fratianno, 37, of Hawthorne, Calif., his brother Ben, 35; Sam London, 38, in front of whose Hollywood home the men were shot to death, and Sam Lazes, 36, Los Angeles.

Parker declined to say which, if any, of the four he considered to be the "trigger man" who fired at Trombino and Brancato from point blank range with a shotgun.

Nor did he say how much knowledge of the shootings and the criminal activity perpetrated there.

Capt. James E. Hamilton, head of the police intelligence unit, told newspaper men that a witness saw the slayer and can identify him. But Hamilton didn't name the witness "for obvious reasons."

The killings of Brancato, 38, and Trombino, 31, were the latest eruption of gangland warfare in Southern California.

The two gangsters were sitting in their parked car on a quiet Hollywood Street. Trombino was killed by two shots in the back of the head, Brancato by one in the back of the head.

New Seaway Hope Contained In Foreign Aid Bill

Washington, Aug. 8—(AP)— New strategy developed today to get the controversial St. Lawrence seaway project before the House of Representatives.

Representatives Clement Zablocki (Dem. Wis.) and Franklin Knight Bailey, head Army football coach; reimbursed travel expenses; offers of an easy appointment to the academy, and academy instructors in passing entrance examinations. And—most important of all — draft free status while playing football at West Point."

Zablocki said he will ask the house rules committee tomorrow to clear a bill now before the house foreign affairs committee. Both are members of the committee.

A similar plan in the senate is being considered by Senators Wiley (Rep. Wis.) and Democrat George Aiken (Rep. Vt.).

The plans were ready with a rider which would authorize construction of the $818,000,000 water and power project. The house turned down 2 weeks ago by the house public works committee.

Zablocki told a reporter they expect to offer their proposal today or at the latest tomorrow, as an amendment to the foreign aid bill.

"I have done some nose counting in the committee and I believe it has a fair chance of acceptance," Zablocki said.

One possible stumbling block to the seaway-power project plan will be considered "germaine" to the foreign aid bill. It could be turned down on the technical point that it is not pertinent to the foreign aid measure.

"I believe the entire house membership should have the opportunity to vote on St. Lawrence Seaway," Zablocki said. "I do not believe the rider is as a rider on another bill. But there is no other way to get it before the house."

Canadians and Americans will attend the ceremony. Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario is expected to head the Canadian delegation.

IRON CURTAIN FURTHER CRACKED BY U.S. PLEAS

Time for More Truth, U.S. Senator Claims

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 8 —(AP) — Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.) said today the United States should lose no time in thrusting more truth int othe Iron Curtain, cracks made by Russian broadcast the text of a "friendship ship overtures,

The Moscow radio yesterday broadcast the text of a "friendship resolution" passed by Congress, as well as the letter accompanying it sent by President Truman to the Soviet president.

At about the same time, the United States was rejecting as "a propaganda trap" a Russian proposal for a five-power "peace" pact and accusing the Kremlin of violating obligations "to such an extent that the world has lost confidence in the Soviet's respect for treaties."

Free World Victory

McMahon, one of the authors of the resolution expressing American friendship for the Russian people, said its broadcast was a victory for the free world.

"Now that we have cracked the Iron Curtain, we must keep up efforts to tell the Russian people the truth about what is going on in the world," he declared.

McMahon has suggested that the United States and Russia exchange visits of lawmakers, with a view toward establishing a better understanding between the two countries.

McMahon criticized Soviet President Shvernik's reply to President Truman's letter.

He said it follows "the usual communist line with monotonous regularity." He added:

Filled With Evasions

"It was filled with evasions, distortions and misstatements which completely falsify the history of the past five years."

The Connecticut Senator said if the Soviet "is genuinely desirous they really want peace they could agree to the United Nations plan for control of atomic energy could "abolish the Iron Curtain and permit the Russian people to establish friendly communications with the outside world."

Until that is done, McMahon said, the Soviet's "so-called peace offensive will be nothing more than a gigantic hoax."

State department officials said today that Shvernik's proposal contained nothing new or requiring further exploration with Moscow.

FIND DIAMOND RING

Odessa, Ont., Aug. 8 — (CP)— The diamond ring was a slight compensation for Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Savage who Sunday night saw their home and adjoining general store destroyed by fire. The ring, worth $500, owned by Mrs. Savage, was found on a sidewalk only five feet from the burned building.

Military Expert Claims War Might Last For 10 Years

Says World Picture Should 'Be Clearer This Fall'

Washington, Aug. 8—(AP)— A congressional military expert today told the House of Representatives "there is only a minimum hope" that the United States can avert an all-out war that might last 10 years.

Opening debate on a $56,000,000 000 military appropriation bill, representative G. H. Mahon (Dem. Tex.) cautioned against "complacency" and sounded this warning:

"In my judgment, there is only a minimum hope that our difficulties with Russia can and will be resolved short of war. Trends from cold to hot war, from little wars to big wars, do not have a tendency to reverse themselves short of an all-out explosion.

"We are not so blind that we fail to realize that an all-out shooting war might last for a decade, and might very well destroy much of civilization as we know it on this planet."

He said the world picture should be "somewhat clearer this fall," which he referred to as "the time of decision."

Mahon in an earlier interview estimated that the Korean campaign cost the U.S. $5,000,000,000 during its first year—up to last June 30—and predicted that it would cost almost that much more up to next June 30 unless conditions change.

Mahon told a reporter that while his estimates were "not authentic," they are based on the best information available to Congress.

The pending bill does not include the cost of the Korean campaign or this fiscal year's additional measure being planned to finance that.

Mahon's statement was interpreted generally as a bid to Congress not to make any major reductions in the bill because of the gravity of the international situation and the necessity of building up American defences. The appropriations committee already has cut $1,542,000,000 from the amount requested by President Truman. A Senate appropriations sub-committee is holding hearings on a similar bill.

Mahon said that no money in the pending bill is for the purchase of so-called military hardware—planes, tanks, guns, electronics, ammunition and other weapons. Also, only $15,000,000,000 is for aircraft alone.

SECOND TIME NOT LUCKY

Ajax, Ont., Aug. 8 — (CP) — The second time wasn't lucky for thieves who took $4,000 worth of nickel from a warehouse here July 29. Three nights later police spotted three men near the warehouse. Two of them fled but a third was arrested a short time later.

Watch Skies This Week for Celestial Fireworks From Perseids Meteors

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, Aug. 8 — (AP) — Watch for meteors right overhead on the five nights starting tonight, Aug. 8 through Aug. 12. There should be about 50 each hour.

If you really want to see the celestial fireworks, go looking after midnight Aug. 11 and 12. Then the moon will be waning and these meteors will be at their greatest.

The meteors are the perseids, which have been returning faithfully in mid-August for more than 1,000 years. They have never missed putting on a good show.

They are dust-grain size, travelling around 40 miles a second. At this speed they burn hot and fast as they hit the atmosphere 60 to 70 miles overhead. Their great burning heat gives them blue-white color. Many show little trains of sparks, and that makes them look like firecrackers going off.

The origin of these perseids is unknown. They get their name from the constellation Eta Perseid, the area in the sky where they appear to originate. Actually, looking any place right overhead will get them within range of your eyes.

Occasionally the perseids have produced a real meteor storm. In 1833 and 1866 they were spectacular. Every 33 years, the earth, Dutch astronomer Schiaparelli has found, 11-12 perseid fall is not unusual for a watcher to see 50 to 100 in an hour.

These perseids circle the sun in a long orbit which is more elliptical than the orbit of the earth. This orbit is at about right angles to the earth's. That means the perseids have an orbit standing on its head in comparison to the plane of the earth's orbit.

Steel Workers Threaten Strike In Montreal

Montreal, Aug. 8 (CP) — The powerful United Steelworkers of America last night threatened a strike of 1,150 members in two Dominion Bridge Co. plants here unless they get wage increases on a par with those offered the company's employees in Ontario.

The union also hinted that about 1,170 members in the Toronto, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Winnipeg plants will strike in sympathy, tying up all but the big engineering firm's Vancouver plant.

Employees of the Montreal plants voted to strike last night to support demands for a 20-cent hourly wage boost, or at least the 15-cent increase offered by the company to its Toronto employees.

No date was set for the strike and the Quebec Labor Department said it will name a conciliator as soon as it is officially informed of the strike vote.

The vote was taken after a Quebec arbitration board recommended increases of six cents an hour for unskilled labor, seven for semi-skilled and eight for skilled. The company offered 11 cents to make the wage rates of $1.15 but union said it should get at least the 15 cents offered employees at Toronto where new contract is being negotiated.

The union also is seeking similar treatment for its 70 members in Sault Ste. Marie. Its 800 members at Winnipeg are bound by a contract signed some time ago and negotiations for a new agreement don't open until this fall.

J. T. Thompson, international president of the union, said the Montreal plant employees will bold out for the 20-cent increase they originally asked for when the previous contract expired.

Mission Accomplished

Philadelphia, Aug. 8 — (AP) A much excited woman stopped Patrolman Oliver Norris early today.

He listened to her story, then switched on the radio in his police cruiser. "Take me off this air. I gotta catch a mouse," he reported. Off the air, in police radio language, means the officer is on an assignment.

Norris walked into the house where the lady said a trap had snapped.

Five minutes later headquarters received this report from Norris:

"Put me back on the air. Everything's okay. Mouse is slaughtered."

Would Not Have Drowned if He Had Stayed in Boat

Tinagami, Aug. 8 (CP) —The body of Ernest Lavallee, 30, Sudbury, was found Tuesday.

He was identified as Tommy Shivley of Scottdale, Penn., and had been boildaying at a Lake Tinagami summer camp in Southwest Bay, about 25 miles from here.

Young Shivley and a 15-year-old companion left the camp Saturday to catch fish. On their return, the motorboat ran out of gas. While they were stopped to fill it the boat suddenly erupted in flames.

Panic stricken, the younger boy jumped from the boat. By the time his companion jumped the flaming boat had disappeared under the surface.

The fire lasted only a brief time but left Shivley itself with only minor damage to the boat. Without a life jacket, Shivley had stayed in the boat, he would probably not have been hurt.

Life in French West Africa Found Interesting by Former City Resident

"The cost of living in West Africa is almost three times that of Canada," said Mrs. J. E. Villeneuve, in comparing the two countries. She has just returned recently from a three-year sojourn in Dakar, capital city of French West Africa.

Mrs. Villeneuve is the former Miss Joyce Latta of Belleville and is currently residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Latta of 130 West Moira Street. She flew to Dakar in November, 1948, to be married to John Villeneuve of Montreal who had preceded her by several months.

"An ordinary pair of shoes costs about 4,000 francs which are equivalent to approximately 34 Canadian dollars and most other imports are comparable to this scale," she said.

"The language and the money of the colony is French although the franc of Dakar is double the value of the franc of the mother country.

"The white population," remarked Mrs. Villeneuve," numbers around 15,000 but is employed mainly in administrative government work and in the factories although a minor percentage has gone into small businesses. The native faction is controlled by the Syrian element."

Fruits, Vegetables Plentiful

"During the dry season, which ranges from November to June, we are able to grow most of our own fruits and vegetables," continued Mrs. Villeneuve. "Including such delicacies as artichokes and avocadoes. These have to be imported during the rainy season. Ice, Lobster, oyster, shrimp and fish, water like and quite plentiful and play an important part in our menu making. There is little variety in the meat supply as dairy cattle are rare. Beef herds and sheep are more common with goats being the only animal widely used meat among the natives. The animals have to be killed at most every day as there is no refrigeration and the meat will not keep for any length of time. Gazelle and snake meat are considered among the delicacies by the natives. A gazelle is an animal not unlike a deer, but the meat is tastier while snake steak is considered a delicacy."

"Most of the imported food and clothing comes from France and Denmark."

No Golf Courses

Questioned about sport of the colony, Mrs. Villeneuve said that tennis, riding, hunting and sailing were the chief recreations. "We hunt givet cats, this is the leopard, rabbit, gazelle and snakes. There are no golf courses of the area is mostly sand and a course would blow away as fast as it could be made. There are five popular night clubs in the city as well as theatres and beach parties are common in season. Natives and whites are allowed to attend the same theatres at the same time.

"July, August and September are the rainy months. From November to June, the climate is very similar to that of Ontario during the summer.

"The nearly 100,000 native population is employed chiefly as cultivators and farmers", she related, "working on the peanut, pineapple and vegetable farms. A few of them work in the factories, serve as cooks and housebovs and

21-Pound Trophy
'Dapper Dan' of Salmon Lake Falls Victim to Lure of Feminine Angler

Local No. 645 S.L.G.T.P.A.D.-I.W.D. (Salmon Lake Grey Trout Piscatorial Association, Deep Water Division) has a "beef."

Members object to women anglers using models of cat-like nature contrary to those as laid down by the male of the species, and recognized by the union.

The complaint was lodged at an indignation meeting held in the depths of the lake following the demise of 21-pound "Dapper Dan" glamor lad of the union who fell for the wiles of a feminine angler, who, not generally the case, got himself hooked, literally speaking.

"Dan" was casing himself along at cruising speed in 60 feet of water, when an eye cocked for piscatorial pulchritude, His Scaliness spied and the inch girth marked him as one of the more eligible bachelors. And as is more or less the case, there was a bit of a showoff.

He paraded his finny beauty before the eyes of a luscious Lana of the underwater, and by way of demonstrating his athletic ability turned a couple of flips and playfully snapped a passing delegate from a smelt convention.

That was Dan's downfall. He did not see the hidden hook until it was too late. He arrived upwards at a fast rate of speed. A half-hour later he was voted as the fish most likely to succeed in a frying pan fiesta, and Mrs. O. H. Scott of the city had every right to be proud for having hooked and landed such a prize fish.

But that is not the reason for the local's "beef."

They feel that anglers should show some respect for the dead. Male fishermen have a code, inside of the first thrill of conquest.

Three lady anglers, in this case, used landing methods that were unfair. They did not, the Local claims, land Dan in the proper manner. They smeared him in the drapes of a landing net. They flung his flopping body to the bottom of the boat. They placed a large box over his head and then to make sure of him not getting away, two of them promptly sat on him.

But Mrs. O. H. Scott, Mrs. A. H. Ketchenson and Mrs. Archie Wood, three members of this fishing drama, were concerned only with the size of their catch. After living with such ardent fishermen they know what is what, and more or less forced to listen to yarns of their rod-and-reel prowess, they felt that a situation called for some celebration.

But the Local felt differently. True they held a two-minute silence to the memory of Dan and a 6½ pound large-mouth bass caught by Miss Victoria Ketchenson at the same weekend, but Dan's demise has them in a fish-ltxy.

"Hells Bells", swore the president, "that guy didn't die from being hooked. Plain humiliation killed him."

Toronto, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Stock market prices continued a moderately weaker trend in early afternoon dealings.

Slow trading was relieved by spotty activity in a scattered list of base metals and western oils. Volume for the first three hours was 327,000 shares.

A SAD COMMENTARY

There are some men, willing to try anything once for the sake of notoriety and perhaps a few dollars. Such was the case of William (Red) Hill, who lost his life Sunday in an attempt to ride over Niagara Falls in a flimsy barrel which has lived beside and with the river for many years, was confident that he could make the trip safely, or he would not have attempted the stunt. And stunt it was, for had he made it, his name would have lived on the lips of the public for only a few days, and the money gained from the venture would have been a pittance.

For every man who would risk his life in such fashion, there are thousands who will not watch. Their curiosity is of the morbid type; they watch in the hope that a man will lose his life and thus award them a thrill. On Sunday, they were not satisfied with the spectacle; some muttered that Hill was not in his barrel when it went over the treacherous falls. His friends hotly refuted the chatter.

If a man wishes to gamble his life, it is his business, but only up to a point. It appears that forces of the law should have stepped into this case and stopped Hill before he ventured into the river with his crude craft, a solution which will be seized upon by many. The same people who now believe that the adventurer should have been stopped are those who would condemn such a move before the fatal ride. That is because they are the ones whose morbid curiosity carried them more than 100,000 strong, to the brink of the Niagara River Sunday.

It cannot be expected that the unfortunate end of the Hill adventure will serve as a warning to others contemplating the same trip. Daredevils will not be dissuaded easily from their desires, and only through legal action will they be stopped.

The saddest part of the Hill episode for the better part of the public is not contained in the death of the man. It is that there has been made an exacting evaluation of the minds and morals of people in these times. They came, not to see a barrel bobover a lake, but would not have come in droves if they were told that an empty barrel would make the trip. The possibility of human life being battered into non-existence, however, drew them. And even yet they will not be satisfied. If another man should try the stunt, they will come. When such things are true, they are a sad commentary on the times.

WESTERN THUMBS ARE DOWN

Rejection of a Russian bid for peace by the western nations will do much to add to communist trumpetings that they have always wanted peace, but have always been thwarted in their efforts by a militant west. Thus the rejection undoubtedly primed the Soviet with a great deal more propaganda for their mill. Yet the western world can do nothing but turn down such a proposal, for several reasons.

The primary reason, of course, is that no one in the west can believe the Russians at any time. Because of that, their bid for peace has a false ring to it, and will continue to be tinged with insincerity until they show, by concrete moves, which could include the withdrawal of satellite states, that they do intend to observe peaceful ways. The inclusion of communist China in the proposal shows the bid for what it is—a cheap, sensational attempt to mislead those whose political tendencies can be changed this way or those of the fickle-minded.

A thinking person can laugh at the Soviet proposal as sheer nonsense because of a world partially tied tight by the strings and wires of grasping Russian fingers. But those whose deadly knowledge of international intrigue is very light may be impressed by the Russian bid, and may wonder why the free nations do not accept it, thus ending strife in the world forever. For those people, the war in Korea has been a senseless waste. Those people will be determined; for them, the many hardships imposed on the crushed nations of Europe by the Russians are something far away—too far away to be worried about.

By the actions in the past, the policy makers of the U.S.S.R. are not to be trusted. They entered the United Nations in San Francisco on an equal basis with the other participating nations. All were dedicated in one to find a solution to problems of world war and peace, and all were ready to devote time, money and effort, on an equitable basis, to the problem. But such was not to be. From the very first, the Russians have demanded special privileges for their countries only. When those privileges were denied, they resorted to childish tactics to emphasize their point. They walked out of U.N. sessions, much like the boy who took his bat and ball home because he could not be captain of the team.

Because of such actions, the U.S.S.R. cannot be trusted. Its diplomats are not to be regarded in the same light as those from other countries, because they have no honour. And when a peace proposal comes from the president of the country, as it did from Nikolai Shvernik, we must read between the lines and remember. Then we have no choice but to turn it down.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE FOOLISH DRIVER

He'd the notion the cars out in front were his passes,
So he drove down the street at a speed much too fast.
From the left line to middle; from middle to right
He swerved in and out to be first through the light.
Now, his wife, as she sits by his hospital bed,
Wishes he had been late for his supper instead.

I know that she thinks, as he lies on his cot,
For two minutes longer the roast had stayed hot.
And though two minutes late when he sat down to eat,
The pie she had made would have still been as sweet.
It is much better safely at home to arrive
Than have doctors declare: "He's more dead than alive!"

His wife would have rather met him at the door
Than be rushed by police to a hospital floor.
But be cut in and out at a speed much too great,
With the foolish idea that supper can't wait.
Now if doctors can keep him from joining the dead,
He'll have all the weeks of meals, right on time, in his bed.

KNOCK'S COLLEGE

There is such a place. It has tens of thousands of alumni, in colors as black and blue. People win their diplomas from Knock's College by taking life as it comes and meeting the events of every day's life in a courageous spirit and an open mind.

There is something very suggestive in the term Commencement Day. Whoever hit on that as the designation for the exercises terminating one's academic career was a genius. For our education really begins when the high school principal, the college president, or the dean of some graduate or professional school hands us a diploma. Education is that deposit of wisdom and skill left in our lives as the result of meeting the situations of life and learning something thereby.

There are some people who cannot be educated. A few of these have letters degrees or at least so-called learned degrees, although the recipients never learned anything. There are other people who never stepped inside a high school or college who are splendidly educated. They are educated because they could be taught. Perhaps the only colleges they ever attended was Knock's College, and they came out of many an intimidating experience plenty black and blue. But they learned, and because they kept on learning they were educated.

SAME OLD OIL

For a while there—a week or two back—it was getting so much that even Premier Duplessis of Province of British Columbia that pany or Standard Oil Company was having a smidgen of labor trouble. What I was getting at was the company's propaganda or, to use the more delicate Standard term "background information."

Subsequently this trouble was cleared away. The union in question voted to accept a company offer. All was sweetness and light again. Except that all that mail was still stacked on my desk and it's been bothering me. Therefore it serves in a way, to some extent I just have to do something about it.

I suppose it was that the company got through its negotiations with the union, without more trouble than it did, if ever an outfit went out of its way to antagonize and infuriate its employees, Standard Oil of British Columbia was the perfect, horrible example.

I am thinking in particular now of two letters addressed "To All Employees."

* * *

One of the letters reprinted an advertisement by Warner and Swasey, a machine tool company in the United States. The ad was called "The People Who Suffer Most From Inflation Are Often the People Who Can't Afford It."

The advertisement would be quaint if it were not vicious. It pictures for the fifties the old salarian shorter hours and other benefits did it all, it claims.

The following paragraphs reads, "when prices go up again (as they have in the past) the union (and they will shout again for more wage raises "to pay the increase in the cost of living." The increase they and their policies caused."

In this final line: "Some so-called labor leaders may prove themselves to be the worst labor enemies."

In the letter to the employees was a term comment "It takes sense."

The ball it makes sense, Labor's losing fight, as everyone knows, is to keep up with the soaring cost of living. It is true that labor is suffering most from inflation. It is untrue that labor is the cause of inflation.

As Standard Oil must know, inflation is caused by paying for the last war and for the next, or, as we like to think, to prevent the next, because we have no charge of the traffic will bear. Goods are in short supply because the economy is geared for defense production. Eggs, when I last had the courage to look, were 83 cents a dozen. Nobody was blaming the labor.

Anyone who reads the Financial Post, knows that big business is not to blame, no job, at all. In a day when the sale of horse meat is a national joke and a national disgrace, corporation profits are soaring to fantastic heights.

I do not know what profits were made last year by Standard Oil of British Columbia. I do know that the net profits of 132 representative Canadian companies (according to the Post) had increased by 102 per cent between 1946 and 1950. Even allowing for the depreciation of the buck, the increase is 73 per cent.

I wonder if Standard Oil could work a union man's eye and tell him it's his union's demand for more money that keeps a home of his children, that, if ever an outing, thing more than a dream. Is it higher wages that has put the cost of living on such a high level in the ordinary workers? Or is it the fact that the net profit of certain companies has happened to be 67.4 percent higher in 1950 than it was in 1946?

The second of these Letters to Employees, chides the worker for spun for her by the radio and newspastimes of the day, grumbling about the high cost of living and the "fears and anxieties" of his brother, if that isn't salt in the wounds!

In this letter, union men are asked to count their blessings like good little boys and girls (presumably they do this every week) for their "benefits" (presumably if they do this they won't ask for too much).

Among these "hidden benefits" are listed group insurance, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation, annuity plans and, indeed, annual vacations.

Not so enlightened is my foot! Every union man knows that these concessions were won only after long and bitter struggle by the labor movement and by labor's friends in government. There is no paternal generosity granted by charitable corporations. They were earned by labor's own determination that the worker has the right to security and decent working conditions.

* * *

I am able now to burn these letters with a clear conscience. How long, I wonder, will they linger in the minds of the employees?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARE

A young girl in declining a fat candy from a box of them made this remark:

"It is good for me not to eat them."

The rhetoric of that sentence has more in it than meets the eye at first. Nine hundred and ninety-nine times out of a thousand, or oftener, the way it is said it:

"It is not for me that to eat them."

The power and punch of the first statement is immensely greater than the second. The first is positive and self-assertive. The second is negative and admonitory. I asked the girl where she had got her wit to express this simple thing. She said that from her mother, who had made a rule to say and to believe that it was good not to do the things that were bad for her, rather than that it was not good to do them.

At first glance it might appear that they amount to the same thing. But the more you look at it, the greater the difference grows.

Our whole society is based upon a system of don'ts and thou shalt nots. And the world calls that education. Perhaps the greatest struggle going on in the world today is not that between systems of government or warring ideologies, but the silent, bitter, wrestling match between law and education. The one admonishes and threatens, the other persuades and enlightens. They both aim at the control of the inner self, control of society, so that we all recognize the general good.

But in the world, and, in all countries, these two powers, the one old and crusted, the other new and struggling, are at war and don't know it.

Education will win, in the long run, for the reason that this young girl felt much better passing up a rich and delicious candy because it was good for her not to eat it than if she had deprived herself of it on the ground that it was not good for her. She was persuaded, not commanded. Her intellect should look to their rhetoric.

236 U.N. Planes Hammer Reds In Combat Sorties

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 8 (AP)—A lone communist plane bombed allied lines in Korea today while United Nations planes hammered back at the reds in combat sorties.

Ground action quieted so much the U.S. Eighth Army omitted its customary evening communique. The single red air raider struck shortly after midnight. Five bombs were dropped. There was no immediate announcement of casualties or damage.

Lowflying U.N. fighter pilots reported they killed or wounded at least 300 reds. The Fifth Air Force kept up a contiguous attack on red supplies and supply lines, mounting 107 sorties from sunset to dawn.

Night flying fighting red roadways with flares reported "moderately heavy traffic" moving toward the front. Strikes before last midnight knocked out 30 vehicles. In this movement, pilots reported.

THE MELANCHOLIC YEARS

Some women are sad because they have passed thirty without catching a man. Others are unhappy because they have caught at least one man before they reached thirty and he proved a bad one.

There isn't much I can do for such melancholy creatures.

But I can do a good deal for a still larger group of women in the fourth decade who are not getting much joy out of life—unmarried, married, widowed or divorced women. I can tell 'em a few things that every woman of this or that side of forty ought to know.

The first thing she ought to know is that it is high time to have a periodic medical examination—or "check-up" to you. Just what such an examination includes is for the physician to decide in each instance. If any special laboratory tests seems necessary, the physician will say so and tell the patient what it will cost, if she asks about it.

A considerable number of women in the fourth decade are unhappy because they are afraid about the possibility of having cancer. My observation has been that women who have a nervous character and sense to have a periodic medical examination are much less likely to worry about tumor or cancer than are women who haven't.

The less a woman knows about anatomy, physiology and hygiene the more susceptible she is to the fishwives' tales which are spun for her by the gossipy old women, and these stories are well calculated to create fear.

The fear generally which makes so many women unhappy not only implies health and good looks, but in times of real illness or emergency, it becomes a real handicap. A woman instructed in the way described by Dr. Grantly Dick-Read in "Childbirth Without Fear (Harpers)—a book I recommend to all women who are going to have children—speaks of the birth of her baby as a joy as well as a greater than any other experience of her life. A woman who is not so enlightened is not only likely to refer to the agony of the throes of childbirth.

It is in the melancholic thirties that ignorant women—and of course I mean ignorant of physiology and hygiene—worry so much about the "crisis" ahead of them.

Some of these poor souls have been married and divorced, and have had children, and have had their husbands die, and have had their children die, and have had their husbands die, and have had their children die, and have had their husbands die, and have had their children die

The program was prepared by the first and second vice-presidents. In the absence of the 1st vice-president, Mrs. Beauford Peck took charge of the program. Margaret Brickman gave a piano selection, and Marilyn Adams sang a solo with Mrs. MacKay at the piano.

Mrs. Peck presented each grandmother, of whom there were 13 present, with a lovely corsage, as well as four great-grandmothers. Prizes were also given to the oldest grandmother, with Mrs. E. MELROSE W.M.S.

The regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Melrose United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Grant McLaren on Wednesday last with a good attendance. Mrs. Charles MacFarlane, of Toronto, a former member, was a welcome visitor.

The president, Mrs. Russell McFarlane, conducted the worship service, the theme being, "Working Together." "Two are better than one, for if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow." Hymns were sung and the devotions for each one to do and speaks of Christian working together in the Church.

Mrs. Grant McLaren read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. John Milligan read the story of "The Palace made by Music," which related how one lesson of another could accomplish so little, but when they forget their differences and all worked together, a wonderful task was the result. No one asked or cared who had done the great deed, but all rejoiced together.

Mrs. William McMechan, group leader, gave a reading on, "How to be Happy." The shortest and surest way to all happiness and perfection is to make a rule to yourself to thank and praise God for everything that happens to you. Whatever seeming calamity happens to you, if you thank and praise God for it, you turn it into a blessing. "And how shall we show forth our praise, not with Canary yellow, a shade oft encountered of late, is the color of the silk shantung blouse. Mrs. John Reynolds read a letter from Wilna Thomas, a missionary in Tokyo, Miss Thomas' assignment is Bible and English teaching in the Tokyo Woman's Christian College, where over 500 new students are enrolled. They are a privileged group of fine looking young Japanese women and their opportunities are great.

Mrs. Pascoe gave a reading on Christie Stewardship, "Pray not for great opportunities, pray rather for willingness to do little things in a great way. The real tragedy in life is not in being limited to one talent but in the failure to use it to the maximum."

The president closed the meeting after which the ladies served dainty refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Pascoe.

The best way to cook Elberta peaches is to leave them alone.

Although you can find excellent recipes for anything from brandied peaches to peach soufflés, there is little improvement you can make upon the natural flavor of the yellow meat freestone peaches now in season.

If the peaches are to be served along with ice cream or custard, then you can add granulated sugar to the fruit about an hour before serving. The sugar draws out some of the juice to make a rich, natural peach syrup.

Don't let the peach sugar mixture stand too long, however, or the flesh of the fruit becomes soggy.

When you make a cup custard, you can add an imaginative touch with the use of rum or brandy as flavoring. Avoid overbaking the custard which causes it to separate and become watery. Spoon the sweetened peaches over the unmolded custard or leave both custard and peaches icy cold.

Rum Custard with Peaches. Serves 4.

2 cups milk
1-3 cup sugar
2 eggs
1-8 teaspoon salt
1-2 tablespoons rum or brandy
1-4 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sliced fresh peaches
1-4 cup granulated sugar

Heat the milk until bubbles appear around edge of the saucepan. Do not boil. Stir in 1-3 cup of sugar, salt, rum and vanilla. Mix well.

Beat the eggs until the whites are no longer visible. Gradually add the hot milk mixture to the eggs. Mix well. Strain the mixture.

Pour into lightly greased custard cups. Place the cups in a shallow pan containing hot water.

Preheat oven at 350 degrees. Bake the custard 30 to 40 minutes or until top is firm when lightly touched.

Remove the custards. Cool to room temperature. Place in the refrigerator to chill thoroughly.

Mix the peaches with 1-4 cup sugar or more to taste. Let peaches stand in the refrigerator at least one hour.

When ready to serve, run a paring knife around edge of custard. Invert custard onto dessert dish. Shake to unmold. Spoon peaches over custard. Top with whipped cream if desired.

Russian Papers Say U.S. Moves Bring 'Confusion'

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, Aug. 8 (AP)—Moscow newspapers gave new spread today to the exchange of friendship messages between the United States and Russia. The official government newspaper Izvestia's editorial comment: "International reaction" is striving to "confuse peoples with lies and deceive them."

Every newspaper in Moscow—even the Vechern Gazeta—gave over its whole second page to the full texts of the letter President Truman sent to Soviet President Nikolai Shvernik a month ago the accompanying U.S. Congressional "friendship resolution," along with Shvernik's reply two days ago proposing a five-power peace pact. The second page of Soviet papers is reserved for foreign news.

"International reaction, thirsting for new war, strives to push reactionary governments in order to confuse peoples with lies and deceive them," Izvestia commented in a separate editorial.

"Peaceful U.S.S.R."

"They seek to present their aggressive policy as peaceful," said Izvestia of the peaceful policy of the U.S.S.R. and other peace-loving countries as aggressive."

Publication of the exchange of messages followed broadcasts of their texts over Moscow radio last night. They were handled in much the same manner as were the critical comments by British's foreign secretary, Herbert Morrison and Pravda's rebuttal less than a week ago.

Pravda, the communist party organ, commented that the Soviet government has never placed

Will Not Attempt To Recover Bodies Buried in Crevice

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Danish Gronland administration decided today to discontinue attempts to recover the bodies of two Arctic explorers killed in a fall into a crevice on a Gleenland icecap last week-end.

Ejnke Bruun, head of the Greenland department, said he has instructed Paul-Emile Victor, French leader of the expedition, to stop further attempts to recover the bodies because the operation might cause other deaths.

The two Arctic explorers, Alain Joset of France, and Jens Jarl, Danish observer from the Greenland department, plunged into the crevice while riding a caterpillar-wheeled vehicle known as a "weasel."

No attempts have been made to descend the crevice which is more than 300 feet deep.

Bruun said there is no doubt the two explorers are dead.

say barriers on friendly relations between the Soviet people and other people."

Izvestia's comment said the "slander of the agitators for a new war is daily exposed."

In their separate editorial comments on the exchange, neither Pravda nor Izvestia mentioned Truman or Shvernik or the resolutions of the two governments by name. But they both dealt with the general subjects covered by the messages and resolutions.

No Chance Steel Supply, Demand Will Balance

New York, Aug. 8 (AP) —The Iron Age, metal-working trade weekly, reported today that "the first glimmering of inventory correction" is showing up in the steel market.

But it said cancellations of orders are the exception, not the rule, and that "there is no chance that steel supply and demand will be brought into balance this year."

"Even the 'artificial' balance which the national production authority is seeking to bring about with its controlled materials plan is not possible of attainment before the first quarter of 1952. It will take that long to unsnarl the present confusion and get C.M.P. operating on a realistic basis.

"But so far there is no guarantee that C.M.P. will be operating realistically—that steel tickets will match production — by the first quarter, or later. It is quite a paradox that N.P.A. is counting heavily on natural, free market forces to make its control over steel distribution work effectively."

Tension Between India, Pakistan Is Increasing

Calcutta, Aug. 8 — (AP) — War tension between India and Pakistan increased today with reports that cities in East Pakistan staged serious practice blackouts last night and with claims by the local Indian press that Pakistan plans joint attacks on Kashmir and India's East Bengal area.

Reports reaching here said sirens wailed and streets were quickly cleared in two-hour test alerts in the East Pakistan capital of Dacca, and at Narayanganj, nerve centre of Pakistan's vital jute industry.

Calcutta's Hindustani Standard claimed to have information from the most reliable sources that Pakistan plans to stage "aggression" against the disputed princely state of Kashmir, over which India and Pakistan are feuding.

Prime Minister Nehru said last week he had information that Pakistan was preparing for an invasion of Kashmir during the coming fighting season after the astituent Assembly elections.

The Standard claimed its information is that the attack will come earlier and will be co-ordinated with attacks from East Pakistan designed to cut off India's northern link of Assam.

Dacca newspaper also reported that Pakistani Air Force planes, infantry and artillery carried out two-day manoeuvres along a 600-mile section of the frontier which borders on Assam.

West Berlin To Hold Rally

Berlin, Aug. 8— (AP) — The west, in counter-offensive against the communist "World Youth Peace Festival" meeting in east Berlin, announced today a rally dedicated to "freedom for east Europe."

Sponsors of the rally, to be held tomorrow night in west Berlin's biggest theatre, extended special invitations to the Iron curtain youth at the communist festival across the sector border.

Tens of thousands of these youths have been defying red police road blockades and the threat of arrest, and have been visiting west Berlin. The red festival opened Sunday.

West Berlin authorities reported that 177 had formally asked for asylum in the west. Of these, 23 have been tentatively accepted. The western policy is to turn them back unless they can prove it is dangerous for them to return home.

Hambletonian Race Postponed

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 8 (AP) — The 25th running of the Hambletonian scheduled for today, was postponed until tomorrow because of an all-night rain, Twenty-one standard breds are entered.

Officials said they planned to work on the track throughout the day in hopes of getting it in shape for the trotting classic tomorrow.

There was no rain this morning but the skies were overcast and there was threat of more moisture.

This is the first postponement because of weather since 1946. Chestertown won that year.

The track is composed largely of clay and is slow drying. When slippery it presents a hazard to the horses on the turns. Owners and drivers refuse to risk valuable horses under such conditions.

Chief Negotiator Convinced Iran Wants Settlement

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 8 — (AP) — Britain's chief negotiator, Richard Stokes, said today he is convinced the Iranians want to reach a settlement with Britain on oil nationalization as soon as possible.

He said the outcome depends largely on the attitude the Iranians take at today's bargaining session, scheduled for 2:30 a. m. EDT. Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's representative is expected to put forward his country's future intentions toward the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in a formal statement then.

Stokes made the statement—the most optimistic one in months from a direct participant in the talks—upon his return this morning from a one-day inspection trip of the shut-down Abadan refinery.

Stokes, Lord Privy Seal in the British cabinet, said he hopes to get a broad general agreement as soon as possible. Details can be begun moving oil out of the jammed Abadan storage tanks and the refinery can be opened for business.

The refinery — largest in the world — closed down two weeks ago when its storage tanks were jammed. Tankers belonging to the Anglo - Iranian Oil Company refused to haul off any oil because the Iranian National Oil Company demanded receipts acknowledging its claim to the oil.

Stokes told reporters on his return from Abadan that "... there is every evidence of good will and I believe the Persians (Iranians) genuinely want a solution as soon as possible."

He said, however, that "if I find the Persians do not want to do anything reasonable and fair, I will go home."

Stokes toured Abadan yesterday with President Truman's troubleshooter, W. Averell Harriman.

Iranian officials took the rest an a tour of slum districts in the refinery town, blaming conditions on the company. British officials of Anglo - Iranian concerned with displays of what the company has done and wants to do for Iranian employees.

ALL-STAR GAMES!

While this is being milled, we presume the second seasonal all-star game of the Central Ontario Baseball League is under way at Brockville, providing ole Jupe Pluvius, who holidayed somewhere in Florida over the Civic Holiday weekend, did not get in some nefarious work.

The idea of a pair of twin all-star tilts in the COBL is a good one. It is a distinct departure from the ball-and-base ball games of the loop-and gives fandom an idea of what the buckaroos who get the tab as being tops in their respective teams can do when they get together.

But it would appear the master-minds of the loop slipped a bit when they selected the day after Civic Holiday as the date for the second clash of the scintillates of the league.

Coach Pid Wilson, of the Belleville Reds was the master-mind of the Western Stars team on Monday that he had difficulty in getting players together to make the long hop to Brockville. The league, it appears, does not make any financial remuneration to players who have to leave their places of employment, and pay through the nose for so doing. In the second place, the day after a holiday is the last day of the year when such an exhibition should be staged.

We do not know at time of writing what happened in Brockville. We are not aware whether Wilson rounded up enough players to constitute a team, let alone a galaxy of stars such as that which cavorted here during the first all-star game.

It seems to us that the time for such games is on Saturday night, or a regular holiday. Players would not be handicapped through loss of pay for absence from their jobs and the fans would turn out in greater numbers.

And a little publicity on the part of press and radio especially in the eastern centres, and that includes Kingston, would not do any harm either.

PETES HERE TONIGHT!

Tonight the league-leading Peterborough Marines of the Vindsel & Reeder Baseball Loop are the guests of the Redmen at Exhibition Park. The Petes who are playing tag with the Oshawa Merchants for the leadership of the loop while the Toronto entries look wistfully upward, are said to be a powerful aggregation, well-balanced afield with good pitching and potent hitting power.

One of their standouts is Lefty Dodson. Remember the Petes' southpaw hurler who distributed in junior ranks not so long ago? The Petes, related one of the best in the Viaduct League that established an enviable hurling record during the current season. Of course the Marines are plugged from the States. Imports, that is. But hush, hush, 'tis spoild Peterborough custom. Wow they tell it. The variets up thataway are dangling tempting offers under the noses of some of our best hockey players, so soon yet?

However that is beside the point. The Petes will be at full strength tonight and the Redmen will have to pull off another exhibition like that in Smiths Falls Monday night if they want to send the Marines home with their outboards hanging set.

The Reds looked like major leaguers down in Knotty Loe's adopted town. True, that first innings jinx was in there again and the Fullers racked up a trio of runs after the Reds had taken a breeze. But after that, Johnny Mowat who relieved Billy Strahne, settled down and with the Red bindpoons beating out a barrage of hits that ran into two figures, the Reds made right merry at the expense of the Royals. Their fielding was par excellence, the lads playing effortless baseball, and coming up with three sparkling double-killings.

WELL, LOOK WHO'S COMING!

Some time ago someone mentioned that Memorial Arena needed a new roof. Now topping an arena is like buying a new hat, or rather footing the bill for such, for the good frau. But if such is the case and the Arena Commission is thinking of re-roofing the ice igloo, it might have some expense shaved come next Friday.

For if what should happen in the main bout doesn't raise both with the topside covering then repositions are a dime a dozen, for there will be no intermission-waist exhibition when the Sharpe brothers, Mike and Ben, tangle with Fred Atkins and Lee (The Lion) Henning in a tag team match. It is intimated that a machine-gun section reporter-reader and his photographic pistol with-pestle, from the Hasty Pees has been offered the refereeing job, but has declined. Too rough, was the reported reason. Besides, when the Arrogant Aussie and the Loering Lee brother, skullduggery is afoot, but plenty.

MINORS DEVELOPING!

Interest in minor baseball ranks is reaching a new high as the playoffs loom up. Thursday night at the Fair Grounds a double-header is scheduled with Houston's and Y's Men meeting in a bantam game at 6:30 and the Canadian Legion meeting the Sidney Ito squad immediately following. These youngsters are developing into fine players and don't be surprised to see some of them rate as stars in the not-too-distant future.

Thanks to the interest of the sponsors and the outstanding work of Vic Pickerill who writes the interesting column "Diamond Dust" the young fellows are not only enjoying a fine season, but are getting the proper groundwork of good citizenship and sportsmanship.

SERIOUS BUSINESS!

The chips will be down tonight at Memrlie Field when the Glen Roy and Howe and Hagerman teams clash in the first game of the two-of-three series for the right to represent the city in the OASA Intermediate "A" playdowns. Both teams are capable of playing high-class softball and tonight's tilt should see them at their best. There is a lot at stake and you can bet the crapapple slot molars neither squad will be fooling. One slip might cost a team the game, and a game might cost a team the chance it's looking for. Both Glens and the Howkays are on edge and tonight's tilt should be a softball classic. Game at 6.30.

Tribe Boosts Players' Pay

Cleveland, Aug. 8 — (AP) — Pitcher Mike Garcia and outfielder Dale Mitchell—key men in making Cleveland the American League's hottest ball club during the last month and a half —have been given pay raises.

Garcia has won nine games against one loss since June 28, while Mitchell has boosted batting average 52 points to .290 during the same period.

Hot Tribe Faces Stiff Test, Home Stand May Decide Fate In Sizzling Stretch Drive

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland Indians, favorites in many quarters to end the two-year reign of the New York Yankees as American League champions, are nearing the make-or-break phase of the pennant race.

Following their current brief home stand the Indians embark on a short trip and then return home Aug. 30 for an 18-game stay that is likely to decide their fate.

The Indians, trailing the pace-setting New York Yankees by a half game today, must make hay on their long home stand. After that they face 10 of 14 on a 16-game swing that takes in every other American League ball park.

Mike Garcia, busy righthander pitched the Indians to victory last night as he turned back St. Louis Browns 3-1 on a four-hitter. The Yanks were idle.

Boston Loses to Phils

In other American League games, the Philadelphia Boston Red Sox bowed 7-4 to Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago White Sox nipped Detroit Tigers 15-7. In National League play, the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers were rained out.

Garcia limited the Browns on two scratch hits until the ninth when he blew his shutout. Garcia helped his own cause with a 3-run homer in the sixth.

The A's came from behind to beat the Red Sox. They scored twice in the sixth on triples by Hank Valo, Hank Majeski and a single by Wally Moses to take a 5-4 lead. The A's added single runs in the eighth and ninth to clinch it.

Reberts Wins 15

Rookie Jim Busby singled home Ed Robinson with the winning run with Chicago's winning run in the 13th at Detroit. Robinson homered for the other Chicago run in the second. Billy Pierce went all the way for Chicago to post his 11th victory.

Robin Roberts posted his 15th victory for the Phils in the opener against Boston. He allowed the Braves five hits. Dick Sisler singled home Richie Ashburn from second base with two out with the Phils winning run in the 15th inning of the nightcap.

Bob Rush checked the Reds on four hits at Chicago. The Cubs tucked it away with three runs in the first inning off Willie Ramsdell. Hank Sauer featured the rally with a two-run homer.

The Cubs pounded out five Pirate pitchers for 21 hits with Peanuts Lowrey leading the attack with five safeties.

Huge Pot o' Gold Attracts Greats To Golf Tourney

Chicago, Aug. 8 — (AP) — A bonanza of $12,500 for the winner has lured one of golf's greatest fields, headed by Ben Hogan, to promoter George S. May's "world" championships starting tomorrow at Tam O'Shanter.

A group of 64 pros, including all the leading money winners plus 10 foreign entries, aim for the game's biggest jackpot.

Stan Leonard, veteran Vancouver shotmaker, will be Canada's lone representative.

Second place is worth $5,000, third, $3,000 and the prize list which totals $50,000 scales down to $200 for 40th.

Playing along with the 64 pros for the world title will be 10 amateurs topped by Frank Stranahan.

There also is a women's 'world' section with the big-name prize led by Babe Zaharias, Patty Berg, Marlene and Alice Bauer and Louise Suggs, featured in a field of 20. The total purse is $6,100, with a $3,100 payoff to the winner.

Both men and women compete Thursday through Sunday on a 72-hole medal basis.

The first phase of the Tam O'Shanter meet — the All-American tournaments — ended Sunday with Cary Middlecoff, Mrs. Zaharias and Stranahan winning their respective divisions.

Spirited Fight For Playoff Spots In Intercounty

(By The Canadian Press)

With a week left in the regular schedule, four team are making spirited bids for the third and fourth playoff spots in the Intercounty Senior Baseball League.

Brantford Red Sox and London Majors, in first and second place are assured of places in the playoffs.

But Guelph Maple Leafs, Kitchener Legionnaires, Waterloo Tigers and Galt Terriers, bunched in that order, are separated by only a game-and-a-half and any one of the four can still get into the post-season play.

Galt picked up some ground Tuesday night, defeating Kitchener 8 to 3 to move into a fifth-place tie, a game behind the Legionnaires and 1 1-2 games back of third-place Guelph.

Majors Win

Brantford, meanwhile, scored a 6-3 victory at St. Thomas to drop the Legion deeper into the cellar. It was the seventh loss for St. Thomas now trails Brantford by 22 games.

Relief ace Don Miller hurled five hit ball for the Terriers, losing his shutout in the ninth inning. Hugh McGillivray doubled and scored on McDonald's single to capture Miller struck out nine, fanning Don Gallinger three times.

Starter Roly Larouche pitched less than two innings for Kitchener but gave up four runs and was charged with the loss. McGillivray came in from second base to finish the pitching chore for the Legionnaires.

At St. Thomas, Ted Alexandrenko hit a run-scoring ball to hand the Legion its 31st loss of the season. Alexandrenko's single got two of St. Thomas' hits, one a triple which accounted for one of the two runs in the sixth inning.

Up to Survivors To Stage Upset In Ladies Open

By W. R. WHEATLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Aug. 8 —(CP)—Those among the 16 survivors who figure they can provide a tournament-shaking upset in the Canadian ladies open golf championship better get right down to business today.

So far no one has successfully conquered the role of Giant Killer. Time, opportunities and contestants are running short.

The six American girls entered came through yesterday's first round with a great show of solidity at the expense of Canadian girls.

Marlene Stewart, the 17-year-old ladies close champion, won her match after a wobbly start and entered the second round along with nine other Canadians.

Mrs. J. C. Whiteley of Laval had a tough assignment today drawn against Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn.

The American girl, winner of the Canadian open in 1947 and 1948, was easily six and five over Mrs. J. McDougall of Toronto. Mrs. Whiteley breezed through to a one-up win over Mrs. M. M. Nader of Montreal Elm Ridge.

Mrs. J. B. Seawright, who won two and one over Mrs. N. J. Carignan, a fellow-Ontarian, was drawn against Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt. Miss Murray was medalist in the qualifying round and a seven and five winner yesterday against Clarine Wilson of St. Andrews, N.B.

Tough Assignment

Anne Sharp of Fonthill, Ont., had to go an extra hole to bypass Mrs. H. L. Mussells of Montreal Kanawaki. Today the tall, slender Ontario girl faced Mary Lena of Thomasville, Ga.

The southern girl had to step up her game to a fast pace on the back nine to get rid of Babe Davies of Vancouver Marine Drive three and two.

Marjorie Row, American girl from Windsor, Ont., shot a medal par, yesterday for the easiest victory of the round, a seven and six win over Mrs. J. Simpson of Montreal Westmount.

In the second round Miss Row was drawn against Kay Helleur of Toronto Rosedale, two and one winner over Mrs. R. H. Clest of Vancouver.

Miss Stewart, who defeated Velma Chennell of Val Morin, Que., after a close fight met Mrs. Joseph Dagenais, a veteran of the home club.

Mrs. Dagenais, runner up for the title back in 1935, played a superb irons game yesterday in eliminating Mrs. L. P. Mason of Winnipeg six and five.

After winning the first two singles matches, the Aussies won the doubles 6-2, 8-1, 6-0 over Gordon MacNeil and Edgar Lanthier, taking little more than an hour for the decisive victory.

Hambletonian, Rich Harness Stake Attracts Field of 21 Trot Stars

By [illegible] CHANDLER

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 8 (AP)—The $100,000 Hambletonian Stake, a record smasher in purse value and size of the field, is the 22-carat gold attraction at Detroit Time Park, combining all the thrills of the world's premier harness event and the color of a country fair.

With no standout contender developed, through the early tune-ups this season, a bulging field of 21 horses was entered for the event, two more than started in Titan Manover's 1948 victory.

And there will be 21 hard-hitting drivers of the Grand Circuit — three of them top-notch Canadians—aiming at the $50,-362 purse, split six ways, with the winner hauling down $31,947 or 56 per cent.

A crowd of about 23,000 is expected to jam into Bill Cane's track, with post time for the first heat of the main event set for 9 p.m. EDT. The consolation is due at 4 p.m., with third and fourth heats at 5 and 8 p.m. if needed. The first horse to take two heats is the winner but many expect trackie at least three heats will be required for the first time since Hoot Mon won in 1947 after dropping the first dash to Rodney.

Fillies Favored

The Hayes Fair Acres stable of Dr. Gordon, Ill., which sent Lusty Song out to grab the 1950 Hambletonian, is tabbed as the probable 7-2 favorite with its entry of Mighty Flea and Spanish.

Two highly-regarded fillies, Betsy Volo and Scotch Rhythm, and the cold Great Hanover remain well up in the contention.

Betsy Volo, owned by W. N. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N.C., is coupled in the betting with Scotch Rhythm. Provost's Welcha, from Pittsburgh, at the Del Miller stable entry, Miller will handle Betsy Volo, which stepped 2:02 3/5 in a workout here last week—fastest of any of the contenders.

Scotch Rhythm, a full sister to Lusty Song, is the chief hope of Ike C. McNamara's Two Gaits Farm, Carmel, Ind. Her stablemate is Prince Colby, Ralph Baldwin of Lloydminster, Sask., driven Scotch Rhythm from the No. 4 post.

"I feel I have a chance now with that position," Baldwin said.

Another Canadian, Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., who was among the first four leading money-winning drivers in 1950 with winnings of $177,-706, will drive Prince Colby, which drew No. 16.

Milky Way, Stable's Mahlon Hanover, a 10-to-1 shot, drew the No. 8 position. Dillon Lee, O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S., will be in the sulky.

Lacrosse

(By The Canadian Press)

Don McPhail of Mimico, Mountaineers have a six-point lead in the scoring race of the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior League, secretary Chuck Rowan said Tuesday night.

McPhail, rated top centre in the loop, has 38 goals and 44 assists for an 82-point total. Peterborough's Harry Wippar holds down second spot with 75 points earned with 56 goals and 19 assists. Wippar is top goal-getter but is low on assists.

In third place is Hamilton Tiger's Jack Dorney with 73 points while Al Garbutt of Brampton is fourth with 63.

Heading the penalty parade is Hamilton's Bruce Lee who has sat 61 minutes in the penalty box. Next to him for sit-outs is Toronto West York's Frank King with 56 minutes in penalties.

There was no scoring in the League last night as Brampton Rockliers meeting with West Yorks at Toronto was postponed by rain. Tonight Mimico's McPhail will get a chance to add to his lead as the mounties play St. Catharines Athletics at Mimico.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

Directors of the Canadian Standard Red Sleeve Society have written to Premier Frost suggesting that 50 per cent of harness racing taxes collected from harness racing at Thorncliffe Raceway here be devoted to the Institute of Radio Therapy in Ontario's fight against cancer.

The society also suggested that $100,000 of the tax be provided for the encouragement of harness racing at Ontario's fall fairs.

Said Society President J. W. Brown of New Liskeard Tuesday: "We feel that those funds can do some good for our province, rather than just being dumped."

Libertine, a three-year-old horse from the Medway Stables of London, Ont., captured the $5,000 Tuesday to win the Barton Plate, feature race at Hamilton Jockey Club's 13-day meet. The victory for Libertine since he triumphed in one of the divisions of the King's Plate trials at Woodbine in Toronto during the spring.

Hans A. Melgard, Mahopac, N.Y., hotel owner, used the same club, a seven iron, to score the equivalent of two holes-in-one on successive golf holes Tuesday. He sank his tee shot on the 160-yard 17th hoe and then sank a good drive on the 18th to carry out his second shot for an eagle two on the 340-yard 18th.

Right-hander George MacPhail, 25, became the first pitcher to hang up 20 victories in the Canadian-American League this year by defeating Amsterdam Rugmakers 6-4 Monday night for Pittsfield Electrics. MacPhail, who has a 20-8 record, is the property of Philadelphia Phillies.

Undefeated Gil Turner, sharp-punching Philadelphia welterweight boxing sensation, former lightweight champion, were matched Tuesday for a 10-round fight Sept. 10 at Philadelphia's Shibe Park. Turner racked up his 22nd victory after turning pro when he knocked out Charley Fusari, Irvington, N.J., at Shibe Park July 6.

Skip Alexander, whose uproarious golfing career was interrupted a year ago by a plane crash, will start his comeback at the Sioux City, Ia., $15,000 open golf tournament Aug. 15-19. Skip was burned severely and suffered a broken leg in a plane crash at Wynnville, Ind., last Sept. 24.

A French countess and golf champion, Vicomtesse De Saint Sauveur of Paris, will play in the United States Women's Amateur Tournament at St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 20-25, it was announced. The countess won both the French and British championships last year.

The death of two men in Saturday's sinking of the speedboat Quicksilver during the Gold Cup race at Seattle has prompted two changes in regulations and may bring others, the American Power Boat Association disclosed Tuesday. A committee of owners and drivers was named to make a study of safety measures.

Joey Carkido, veteran Youngstown, O., welterweight, was suspended for 60 days Tuesday by Pennsylvania Athletic Commissioner Frank (Oz) Du Green for quitting in the middle of his 10-round fight Monday night with Johnny Saxton, New York. Carkido, who took a severe battering, refused to come out for the sixth. Saxton was awarded a T.K.O. in the fifth.

Brantford, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP) —J. W. Maus, Ayr district cattle drover, no longer tramps across fields when he wants to inspect a herd. He just honks his car horn and the cattle come to him. A new horn which he received from a Winnipeg cattle association makes a sound like a bawling calf which lures the curious cattle.

Yanks Predict Clean Sweep In Cup Series

By VIC MORRIS Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 8—(CP)—Canada's hopes of an upset victory in a singles match against the United States in the North American zone final Davis Cup tie matches this week rest with Brendan Macken, a crafty customer on a tennis court.

That is the feeling among observers here as the Canadians and Americans continue to brush up on their strokes in practice sessions for the opening singles matches Friday.

The powerful American foursome, Dick Savitt, Art Larsen, Tony Trabert and Budge Patty said yesterday they expect to make a clean sweep of the matches.

Macken himself remained noncommittal on his chances against the Americans.

"They're good, very good," said the 28-year-old veteran of seven cup teams, who is certain to draw a starting singles assignment.

Macken Confident

"But I'm confident of putting up a good game and I'm going to be in there all the way no matter who I play against."

Canada's other two players, little Henri Rochon of Montreal and Vancouver's Lorne Main have been concentrating on their serves.

Rochon, a 33-year-old insurance salesman, has developed a whiplash service that has surprised even himself. After he scored two consecutive aces against Main, he remarked: "Gosh, that's the first time I ever did that to Lorne."

Captain Gordon MacNeil of the Canadians joined the American captain in keeping his starting singles players secret.

However, the rallbirds were picking Main and Macken for the Canadians and Larsen and Savitt for the U. S. In doubles, they figured Main and Macken would be the choice to meet Trabert and Patty.

Drives Speedboat To World Record

Seattle, Aug. 8 (AP) — Bud Wright of Concord, Calif., yesterday drove his outboard motorboat Ai; Express to a world record of 52.4029 miles an hour over a measured mile on Lake Washington. He hit 53.15 on his first run and 53.85 on the return trip.

The record was for class-C service outboard hydroplanes.

The old mark of 49.4471 miles an hour was set on the Salton Sea in California by Tom de Witt in 1948.

High School Cadet Wins Top Prize At Rifle Shoot

Long Branch, Ont., Aug. 8 — (CP)—A 17-year-old high school cadet was one of the winners in the second day of the Ontario Rifle Association's 70th annual matches here Tuesday.

CSM. D. P. D. Jacobson of Port Credit, Ont., won the O. R. A. silver medal when he placed first in the bankers match.

He was tied with Col. F. L. Wilson of Kingston, Ont., at the end of the match. Each had five bulls eyes for a score of 50. The winner was decided in a shoot-off in which CSM. Jacobson scored 25 out of 25 to claim the medal.

Sgt. F. H. Wallace of Toronto won the silver medal for the president's match by default, when Lieut. James Box of Toronto failed to appear for a shoot-off after a public reception in Toronto for his son, Bisley King's Medal winner Lieut. Gilmour Box. Both Sgt. Wallace and Lieut. Box had finished the match with perfect scores of 50.

Highlights of Tuesday's shooting was the Gibson match. The 216 entries took their places on the "butt"—a grass-covered mound of earth 100 yards from the targets—but instead of firing slowly and carefully as in other matches, each marksman ripped off 10 rounds in the allotted time of 45 seconds.

Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson of Calgary won the match with a score of 47 out of 50 with Sgt. R. S. Potter of Hamilton runner-up with 46.

The four-day meeting continues today with five more matches scheduled.

Four Generals In Mystery List For Baseball Job

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Aug. 8 —(AP) — Four top-ranking generals head the list of 11 mystery candidates still under the club owners' consideration for the $78,000-per-year job as commissioner of baseball, The Associated Press learned today.

High on the list although not necessarily available, are generals Dwight D. Eisenhower, Douglas A. MacArthur, Maxwell D. Taylor and Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

Ford Frick, president of the National League and Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, are the only baseball men still on the pared-down list—from 40 to 11.

The other five are industrialists whose identities cannot now be divulged.

Business man James A. Farley and George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, rated among the "big five" in the fore of the speculation, were among the 29 blacklisted at yesterday's day-long meeting of the 16 big league executives here.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and the chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover, "regretfully" declined to have their names placed for nomination.

Eisenhower is supreme commander of the North Atlantic forces in Europe. MacArthur recently commanded the United Nations armies in Korea. Taylor is deputy chief of staff for operations and administration in Washington. Vandeberg is air force chief of staff.

One of the 11 may be named the new commissioner to succeed A. B. (Happy) Chandler when the owners meet again Aug. 21 in New York. Since Chandler's resignation July 15, baseball has been governed by the executive council.

HOLD FIDDLE CONTEST

Shelburne, Aug. 8—(CP)—A "fiddle festival" to seek Ontario's best "oldtime fiddler" will be held here Aug. 10 to 11. It promises to be a contest between young people and the real oldtimers each of whom claims responsibility for the revival of interest in fiddling and square-dancing. The finals will be broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

'Yankees, Phooey, Bums Just as Good' Says Dressen

New York, Aug. 8 —(AP) — Charley Dressen, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said today he's not overrun—New York Yankees haven't a player he'd want to straighten his club.

"That's it, in a straight swap deal," he added. "I'll take the men we have at every position—and that includes shortstop.

"I have always regarded Phil Rizzuto as one of the finest shortstops in baseball. But the way Pee-wee Reese is going this year I'd have to like him over the Yankees' boy."

Dressen's comments were made after he was asked to compare his high-flying Dodgers, position by position, with the team that may oppose them in the 1951 World Series.

"The Yankees have an edge at all it's in reserve strength, especially in the pitching," Dressen said. "They have more men to throw at you and can do it without weakening themselves but man for man I think we've got a sounder club."

Yankee Import Raps Treatment In Canada

Hamilton, Aug. 8, (CP)—The vice-president of Hamilton Tigercats Tuesday night scoffed at complaints made by Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones about treatment he received when he played football in Canada last season.

Denny Whitaker was commenting on a report in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette quoting Jones as saying "any idea that Canadian football is a gold mine for Yankees players is a lot of malarkey.

"They promise jobs as they did to me and they don't produces them. I'm afraid some of those American gridders going up there are going to be out of luck."

Whitaker said "we got him a good job with a starting salary of $75 a week. He couldn't hold it. Then we had an offer of another good job for him but he didn't bother even to go for an interview."

Jones, who set a big four scoring record last season with the Big Four League Club and who played baseball in the Western Ontario Intercounty League this summer, has returned to the United States to take up a coaching position with his old Alma Mater.

Where there is double talk, a bridge player needs to know all the answers. Because the doubler's partner is expected to use the signals that show whether his hand is weak or strong.

After a double, suppose there is a bid by intervening opponent. Doubler's partner simply passes to show his hand is not strong. A bid or a double by such a partner shows a hand that is not weak.

In such a situation, which of these two kinds of responses could show a stronger hand? A bid or a double? In most cases, a double is such a hand. It will show a stronger hand than will a responding bid.

Take a case where south opens with a diamond, west doubles for takeout, and north bids one heart. East has enough for a bid of one spade or a double of one heart with this hand:

♠ Q J 7 4
♥ A 9 8 7 6 4
♦ 8 3
♣ 6 5 4 3

With such a choice, which should east select? The one that is likely to give partner the most encouragement. And, such a one here is double, a penalty double because partner has not passed.

If east bids one spade it would announce some strength. But not strength of unusual nature. It would be equivalent to the strength that a responder shows in answer to an opening one bid, but it east doubles it will tell more. Much more. It will say: "We can defeat one heart easily and for a good profit. And I have some other strength that I could have shown."

Thus, it gives more information than does a bid. Not only does it promise ability to defeat opponents. It also promises that east could have made a bid in something else as well.

This gives west a favorable advantage. He can bid some more. Or he can help keep the opponents doubled if it promises more gravy.

Always remember that your side is playing for the most points.

Movie Column

By ROB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Johnny Dexter embarked on his second movie this week but claimed if he didn't look like Valentino. He plays a dual role in "The Brigand"—as a dashing young Kind of a mythical kingdom and as a rather ineffectual commoner.

The actor is far removed from his portrayal of Rudolph Valentino, his initial film role. But he still looks like the early film idol.

Knowing how actors hate being typed, I asked him if he thought he would be able to escape being tagged as a Valentino copy.

"I think there is about a 50-50 chance," he replied. "At least I am going to try."

Dexter is far removed from the flamboyant character that brought him fame. He is quiet, unassuming and self-affacing.

"I said all along that if I could please 50 per cent of the people, I'd be lucky," he said. "And that just about what I did. About half of the critics liked the picture and the other half were against it. Fortunately, it did business, and that's what counts.

One Brother

Only one thing bothers Dexter about his success: his name. In his personal life he insists on being called Walter Craig, which was his stage name (his real name is Fleischman). He has long disputed the name change with his brother, Edward Small.

Whatever the name, Small predicts big things for his boy.

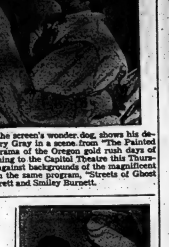
Little Benny's Note Book

Ma likes to see the wrestling on television and pop always ol-lims it's a fake, and last nite he started to read his paper and ma said. William, dont you want to see tha two ton Turk wrestle the glamorous gilder?



Not me, thanks, pop said. But go ahead and lern them on if you injoy seeing strong men suffer. be said, and me said, Oh, I dont think they really suffer, I mean there've so used to it that they practically have no sense of feeling.

My dear, they're fakes of the first water, pop said. Every groan hides a giggle, and every bite is accompanied by a loving pat, he said, and me said, William, they're the most ruthless, savage, ferocious set of men on the face of the earth. Goodness. they must of started alreddy, she said.

And she quick turned on the television just in time to see the two ton Turk throw the glamorous gilder up in the air and then jump on his stumnick with both feet, ma saying, Oh, you big brute, shame on you, why dont you wrestle fair?

Which just then the glamorous gilder grabbed the two ton terk by one ankle and upset him backwards and started to twist his leg around like a corkscrew, me saying, There, good, it just serves him rite, it helps give him a taist of his own medicine, the brute. Oh, that's what awful Terk is sticking his finger in the glider's eye again. The referee warned him about that, but he just cant restrain his primitive emotions. Look, look if you want to be convinced. Every woman I know can tell you how exciting wrestling is, she said. That's just what's wrong with it, it's too effeminate, pop said.

And he kept on reeding his paper and ma kept on calling the two ton Terk a brute and looking glad every time the glamorous glider acted just as ruff.

Prime Minister Back in Capital After West Tour

Ottawa, Aug. 8 — Prime Minister St. Laurent flew into Ottawa early today, completing a four-day tour of the west by plane and train.

Accompanied by Defence Minister Claxton, Mr. St. Laurent landed at Rockcliffe air station at 12:22 a. m. EDT after a flight from North Battleford, Sask. Yesterday he opened a park at Battleford, the old capital of the North West Territories, and then went to North Battleford to open a fair.

Mr. Claxton joined the party after a visit to the army's big training centre at Wainright, Alta.

The prime minister now will plunge into a busy round of duties, including completion or arrangements for the visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Canada in October.

During his western swing, made primarily to attend ceremonies celebrating the 50th anniversary of the arrival of the first Ukrainian immigrants in the west, he made a number of impromptu speeches and became an honorary chief of the Cree Indian tribe.

His Indian name: "Wakaskaseim," meaning sweet grass, the name of the chief who saw the first white man in the west.

Will be Called Upriver

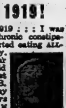
At historic Battleford yesterday he said he intends to take official steps to have the battleground actions of the rebellion late in the century referred to as an uprising rather than a rebellion.

The halfbreeds who were led by Louis Riel, said the prime minister, were not fighting against law and order but only seeking responsible government. They were fighting for what they believed to be right.

Earlier during visits to Two Hills and St. Paul, little communities northeast of Edmonton—the latter predominantly French-Canadian—the prime minister spoke of more current things.

He said the west's North Atlantic defensive alliance is the cause of high taxes and inflation in Canada. But it is necessary to offset the disruptive effect of the veto, extensively used by Russia in the United Nations organization.

He told a Two Hills audience that Canada is a great co-operative where the government is not always pushing people around. In Canada there was room for "all of us and room for lots more."



Nootka Arrives In Los Angeles From Korean War

Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (AP) — The Canadian destroyer Nootka arrived here yesterday after eight months of combat in Korean waters.

Flying the United Nations flag the destroyer has been at sea 34 to 36 days each month, blasting North Korea by day with its four-inch guns.

"The men weren't keen on the trip when we sailed, but their attitude changed after we started reaching Korean airlines from the cold waters," said Cmdr. A. B. F. Fraser-Harris, skipper of the Nootka.

Cheated Death Twelve Times, Luck Runs Out On

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 8—(AP) — Gambler Herbert Noble, who cheated death a dozen times, died in a dynamite explosion yesterday. On a 13th attempt "The Cat" ran out of luck.

The silver-haired, self-styled retired gambler was killed as he stopped his car at a rural mail box near his fortress-like ranch.

The killer—or killers—hid in a scrub oak thicket 75 yards away, then touched off a hidden land mine.

The blast underneath Noble's automobile left it a crumbled wreckage and scattered bits of the 43-year-old gambler's body over a wide area.

At least 12 times Noble had escaped death, and the city earned him the nickname of "The Cat."

$54,000 On Head

He blamed "hired killers" for the attempt and said there was an underworld price of $50,000 on his head.

There were few clues. Police sought three men in Fort Worth. They were questioned in connection with the murder of Noble. No one was held.

The blast that killed Noble was carefully planned. Wires ran from the hidden mine, through a concrete culvert, and to the thicket where the killer hid. The explosive was hidden in a spot that was directly under Noble's automobile when it stopped at the mail box.

It was at least the fourth attempt to kill Noble by explosion. The first, late in 1949, killed his wife by mistake when she started on the starter of the family automobile. A bomb exploded.

MELROSE

Mrs. Percy Ray Tills W. I. F. Guelph Trip

Melrose Women's Institute took the form of a "Sunshine Sister Tea" at its monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. C. Hagerman last Thursday with 34 members and five visitors present.

The president, Mrs. A. Keglish, opened the meeting in the usual way, after which business was discussed. Twenty-eight folding chairs have been purchased for use at social affairs in the community.

After this, the guest speaker, Mrs. Percy Ray, of Phillipston-Zion branch, was introduced and she gave an interesting and comprehensive report of her trip to the Conference of Conveners at Guelph last May. She also gave many suggestions for improving the "Tweedsmuir Village Histories" and related in detail various talks she heard at this splendid gathering. All were urged to avail themselves of the privilege of attending these conferences.

She was thanked for her splendid contribution to the report.

The leader, Miss B. McFarlane, convener of "Public Relations and Community Activities" took charge and gave a reading entitled "Art of Being Agreeable" which was followed by a poem, "Hello." Mrs. T. Leslie gave a helpful summary of the motto, "Kindness is the Oil that keeps the Hinge of Friendship from Rusting."

Each member related what her Sunshine Sister had done for her during the past year and guessed her identity which proved to be wrong in many cases. Much surprise and amusement was created when they learned who was their "Secret Pal" was.

Refreshments consisting of ice-cream, cake, coffee and sandwiches were served by the hostess and her assistants.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to all who had contributed to the successful and enjoyable meeting.

MOSQUITOES BAD

Miami, Fla., Aug. 8 — (AP) — Florida cities and counties today battled what some authorities said was the worst mosquito invasion in years. On both coasts and in the interior, the fight waged from planes, trucks, boats and even motorcycles. All sections of the state reported an unusually-heavy invasion of the pests.

Threshing Machine Spark Fires Large Frame Barn

Campbellford—A large barn on the farm of Eugene Mahoney situated four miles south of Campbellford was completely destroyed on Saturday morning, when a spark from a threshing machine set fire to a hay stack at the rear of the building. The flames quickly gained headway and the barn and its contents, including a milking machine were a total loss. The season's crop of hay stored in the barn was also lost to the flames.

There was no stock in the barn at the time and no farm implements. The alarm was sounded in Campbellford but the fire-fighting equipment could not answer the call outside the town. A bucket brigade was hastily formed and succeeded in saving a pig-pen and the farm home. It was at first feared the home would be consumed by the flames. Before this the furnishings were removed. Workmen succeeded in getting a tractor backed up to the threshing machine near the barn and some trouble was experienced in detaching a locking bolt in the drawbar, but this was finally done and the large threshing machine was hauled to safety. Another few minutes, and the machine would also have been a complete loss.

Mrs. Mahoney paid tribute to the friends and neighbors who aided in saving her home. The same barn burned in 1914 when it was struck by lightning during an electrical storm. The barn was equipped with lightning rods and ventilators when it was rebuilt, and was a modern structure up until Saturday morning.

No official estimate of the damage has yet been made, but unofficial estimates place it as high as $12,000. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

Wainwright Camp To be Enlarged

Edmonton, Aug. 7 (CP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton said last night that he intends to "do everything possible" to expedite expansion of the huge army Wainwright camp, 150 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Mr. Claxton, inspecting western Canada military installations flew to Wainwright yesterday.

More than $4,000,000 is being spent to enlarge the camp this year, Mr. Claxton said. Most of the construction is designed to fill-in the new barracks for the 4,000 members of the 25th brigade. The men, reinforcements for Canadian troops in Korea, are members of the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

MEMBERSHIP DECREASES

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 8 — (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover says Communist party membership in the United States has decreased from 52,000 last year to 37,000 at present, but the danger has not decreased. The director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said in an interview yesterday that the remaining communists in the U.S. are more intensive and fanatical.

LONE STAR STATE

Texas was an independent state for 10 years before joining the United States in 1845.

Six More Red Leaders Rounded Up by F.B.I.

Washington, Aug. 8—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation declared another batch of alleged American communists yesterday, promised more arrests, but said there would be "no hysteria, no mass raids, no roundups of thousands."

The latest roundup netted five more communist leaders in New York, Baltimore and Cleveland. A sixth person, described by the F.B.I. as a lawyer for the party, was arrested in Baltimore.

All six were charged with plotting to advocate violent overthrow of the United States government. The same accusation was levelled against 11 convicted top-run communist leaders and 24 more accused lesser reds now awaiting trial. Federal agents are pressing a hunt for four of the convicted and four of the other defendants.

Those arrested early today and yesterday were:

In Baltimore—George A. Meyers, 38, chairman and organizer in the party's district 4 (Baltimore) headquarters; Roy Wood, 36, Washington, D.C., party chairman; and the lawyer, Maurice Louis Braverman, 41, of Baltimore.

In Cleveland—Regina Frankfeld, 41, of Cleveland, a former organizer in Baltimore.

In New York—Dorothy Rose Blumberg, 47, of Brooklyn, former treasurer of the party's 4th district, and Philip Frankfeld, 44, party organizer in Cleveland.

Meanwhile, F.B. I. chief J. Edgar Hoover said in San Diego, Calif., that more arrests will follow. But he warned against hysteria.

Hoover indicated that the F.B.I. now is working on third-level communists.

Four of the latest six arrested were held in bail last night. Frankfeld's bond was set at $100,000. Bond of $75,000 each was set for Mrs. Blumberg, Meyers, Wood and Mrs. Frankfeld.

Bail was not immediately set for Braverman.

Second Tunnel May be Started On Niagara River

Toronto, Aug. 8—CP—A second tunnel may be started on the Niagara River by the Ontario Hydro Commission within three months as part of its power development project.

It would generate 300,000 horsepower in addition to that expected from the Queenston project now under way, total capacity of both tunnel developments would be close to 1,000,000 horsepower.

Hydro chairman Robert Saunders said in an interview that the commission's plans call for the building of two tunnels.

"In fact, we are doing some of the preliminary work now, so that, if we decide to go ahead soon, we will save three or four months. What we have to decide is the timing of the project. Such factors as the load, steel supplies and the St. Lawrence development are factors."

In Baltimore now under construction will carry water from the falls to Queenston, farther downstream, where maximum potential energy can be gained from the falling water.

Publisher Held On Seven Counts Of Grand Theft

Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (AP) — A grand jury today indicted Al S. Waxman, publisher of several Los Angeles community newspapers, on seven counts of grand theft involving $35,000.

Waxman, 43, previously had been arraigned on similar charges alleging a newsprint paper purchase deal in which five newspaper publishers were victimized.

Those who testified to their losses were Harlan G. Palmer, publisher of the Hollywood Citizen-News; Doyle McDonald of the Rodgers-McDonald Publishing Co., R. J. Brewer, Compton Herald-American; Charles Richardson, Pomona-Bulletin, and Maurice W. Markham, Van Nuys News Publishing Co.

Waxman, at liberty on $10,000 bail, is charged with obtaining the money on promises to buy 475 tons of newsprint from a British Columbia pulp and paper mill at $234 a ton, delivered here. The official newsprint price now recently from $110 a ton to $116.

Some of the witnesses explained their willingness to buy at inflated prices on the ground they had been squeezed by the newsprint quota, although their circulation had been rising steadily.

Waxman told investigators earlier he gave the $55,000 to an emissary he identified only as "Charles Morrison." He said the man vanished without delivering the consignment of newsprint to him in San Francisco.

THIS MR. ICARUS

By Harry Meldrum Moore

The name of the town was Orton, printed in bold letters at the end of the railway station I passed the station building, the main street, passed gaily decorated store windows and turned down a side street.

Presently he came to a stop in front of a dreary frame building with the words "The Ensign, Chas. Roberts Prop. . ." on plate glass that hadn't been cleaned for ages. He said to himself, this must be the place, but to make sure he stepped to the glass door and looked inside. He saw a thin, elderly man with glasses writing at a desk, his hat and coat, where he had thrown them on the long counter. The shelves were loaded with dust-covered newspapers.

As Lance closed the door behind him, the newspaper man raised his head and looked at him.

"You a sailor?" he asked, "you Lance Bradley?"

"Yes, Mr. Roberts," Lance said, but how did you know?"

"A friend of yours was in a few minutes ago, told me to tell you that he couldn't get back to see you because the train was due to pull out any minute and he wanted to get a reservation."

"That would be A No. 1," Lance Bradley guessed, "he's quite a character."

"Yes, he is," the editor admitted, "quite a brainy man, for a bum. Builds aeroplanes and all that sort of thing, you know, but as you say, quite a character." He stood up and went to the counter, "Is there anything I can do for you, sailor?"

"Well, yes, there is, Mr. Roberts," Lance faltered, "I'm hungry. Would you lend me four bits to buy a decent meal?"

"Lend to you, sailor!" Charles Roberts laughed, "Well, that's original, to say the least. Panhandlers I've met, don't borrow, they just take." he put his hand in his pocket and brought out a silver half dollar. "I've been hungry myself, son," he said, "I know what it feels like. You'll find a good place to eat, just around the corner, on your left."

"Thank you, Mr. Roberts," Lance said gratefully, "I'll pay it back some day with interest. See if I don't."

"I believe you mean that, sailor," Roberts said, "you don't look like a bum to me, and you certainly don't act like one—you're too soft-boiled, too amateurish."

When Lance Bradley reached the corner, he stopped in his tracks. The Salvation Army was holding a street meeting, a cornetist playing the old familiar hymn, "For Those in Peril on the Sea." That was all the words of the old hymn that Lance could recall, and he was not moved. Yes, there was peril on the sea, as William Beebe says that tropical storm off the coast of South America or that mid-Atlantic crossing when every man on the Queen Mary had expected it to be his last. Presently as the music ceased, a slight wisp of a girl stood before him with an empty tambourine in her hand. And then, his fingers sought the coin in his pocket. After she had gone, he suddenly realized what he had done, that he had given away the price of his supper. And he was so hungry, so ravenously hungry! What to do? He couldn't return to the editor and ask him for more money? What to do, where to go? Rattled, he was turning away, when a hand fell lightly on his shoulder.

"Bradley," Editor Roberts said in his ear, "I'm really proud of you. That was a magnificent thing to do. I followed you, to watch you, for you interest me more than I can say. I wanted to see if you really would spend my money on food or whether you would spend it on drink—"

"I think I've done a foolish thing, Mr. Roberts," Lance said in her puzzlement for he wasn't sure that he had.

"Nonsense, sailor," Roberts stopped him, "if it wasn't in you, you wouldn't have done it. Remember, sailor, there is no such thing as foolishness in helping a good cause."

"But I'm hungry," Lance walled. "I'm famished. I haven't had a decent meal for two, or maybe three days—"

"Then you will now", Editor Roberts decided. "You're coming home with me, and you're going to have a good bed. Then, beginning tomorrow, I'm going to see if I can rustle you up a job. I presume that's what brought you to Emerton."

"Yes, Mr. Roberts, you got me right," Lance said in a tone of relief, "I must have work, anything to do, for I'm broke—busted, and I have no place to go."

"Well, we'll see about that later," Roberts said, "Meanwhile you'll go home and ask Mary to put the kettle on. Then we'll have ten."

III

Lance Bradley spent a week with the Roberts family, it was a week that he remembered for a long time, and a week in which he was given invaluable insight into a life of public service, not aware at the time that some day in the not-distant future, the knowledge gained was to stand him in good stead. It was a week in which he learned that he had won the love and affection of a new pair of foster parents, foster parents who could not provide him with his greatest need of the moment, a good job, but who did help to find a place for him not too far away, and who in all that time were would always be a welcome for him when ever he might wing his way home.

It all began that night when tired and hungry, he accompanied Editor Roberts to his modest home and was introduced by him to his wife as "an old friend of a friend of mine."

Mrs. Roberts, a sweet, little motherly woman with snow-white hair, bade him welcome.

"Anyone who is a friend of dad's, is a friend of mine," she said, taking Lance's hand. And then, a complete stranger, Lance Bradley, he stooped and kissed her on the forehead.

"Thank you for help himself, for this woman had moved him more than any other woman had ever done before. Here in the flesh was what he had made himself believe his own mother must be like. A woman who would perhaps be younger, but still his mother, for a moment he held her, patted her gently.

"I've heard say that you sailors are fast workers with the women," Dad Roberts grinned, "and from what I've just seen, I'd say there must be a lot of truth in the report."

"Oh, I beg your pardon," Lance blushed deeply, "But, you're so sweet, mother, I just couldn't help it."

"You've done no wrong, son," Mrs. Roberts said, "It's long, long time since I've been kissed by a young man, Dad's jealous, that's all!"

"And no wonder," the editor laughed, "but, Mary, we mustn't forget that this young man is hungry, he has come a long way, and he hasn't had dinner. Would you give him a bite?"

"I certainly will" she said. "Please don't go to any bother for me, mother," Lance said.

"It will be no bother, son," she smiled.

As they sat around the supper table a few minutes later, Lance Bradley laid his cards on the table, holding back only the mystery surrounding his birth. Simply and without bragging, he led them through his home and school days, his four years at sea, his difference with the matic of the May Queen, resulting in his decision to leave the sea since promotion on that ship was impossible, the fight ashore how he had been drugged, robbed and dumped into a box car with the notorious Bobo, A. No. 1.

"And, that's about all," he concluded, "I'm twenty, in good health, and I've yet to break my word. What I need most of all right now is work, any kind of work—"

"Dad," Mother Roberts spoke up "you must do something to help him."

"That I will," the editor agreed. "That I will, but I'm not sure that there's anything for him in Emerton just now. But of that, I'll make certain, you may be sure."

"He can stay with us until he gets work, dad," Mother Roberts added. "He can make his home with us."

"Sure, sure," dad agreed, then turning to Lance. "Now this matter of getting you a job here—I know every person in town, so I think you better leave that to me. Besides, I'll give your name to a/c employment agent, and if I can't find anything for you, probably he will."

If they bade him good-night, and put him to sleep in a neat little room with a window facing the street. Mrs. Robert told him that he would find pyjamas and shirts and summer underwear in a dresser drawer, that if he would leave out his shirt and underwear, she would run them through the washer next day. He thanked her profusely, for he had always taken a pride in his appearance, even when on board a ship that was miles from port. Then, as he sank into the comforting softness of the mattress, with the smell of cleanliness and freshness all about him, he wondered if he deserved it all. But one thing was certain, however, he was not scheming to play the role of Jean Valjean in Hugo's immortal Les Miserables, the Jean Valjean who was given lodgings such as these, only to depart next morning with his benefactor's silverware. Ah, no, one thing he was not one to take anything that didn't belong to him. he had been brought up better than that. And besides, the kindnesses that this wonderful people were showering upon him was so unexpected, so genuine, that he would be a fool to long indeed who would disappoint them.

As he lay there, relaxed, Lance Bradley came to one definite conclusion; that some day he would come back to Dad and Mother Roberts if for no better purpose than just to be with them, to look after them, perhaps indeed to bury them, when life's race for them had been run.

That was a busy week for Lance Bradley. He was up at seven of day to sweep off the verandah and the front sidewalk, to get acquainted with the flowers and the vegetables in the garden to the rear of the house. After breakfast he accompanied the editor to his office, lidied up the place, washed windows that had been cleaned for years, took down bundles of papers from the shelves, dusted them. And he was an errand boy, too, that first morning. His feet carried him to the post office for the mail, to the stores to pick up copy for advertisements and commercial printing, and items of news. He became acquainted with the men who worked for editor Roberts in his printing office, gained their confidence and was told, but never repeated it, that the office was undermanned, the printing plant in a bad state of repair. In the business places, men took time from their duties to tell him that were the Editor Charles Roberts was "the salt of the earth", and the town was much indebted to him for what he had done for it in the years gone by, that he was now growing too old for a business that was increasing by leaps and bounds, that the town's greatest need at the moment was a younger man who would set out to clean up the town and most particularly that "set of grafters" entrenched at town hall.

Should a family borrow

A family should borrow only when a loss is the best solution to a money problem. For example, to pay out debts, to buy furniture, fuel, education, car or home repairs. Loans for these reasons are not inflationary, for the money is not used to buy goods in short supply or increase indebtedness.

SOLVING MONEY PROBLEMS

At HFC—Household Finance—we believe a family should borrow only when, by careful planning, the money problem can be resolved, and the loan repaid in an orderly manner. When a family borrows under these circumstances, it is simply "renting" money on terms it can afford. At HFC you may borrow $50, $250, $500 or more on your signature, without security.

ROYAL COUPLE TO VISIT TRENTON AIR STATION

Communists Ask Ridgway to Resume Cease-Fire Talks

Will Observe Agreement Neutralizing Armistice Site

QUICK TOUR

Major Martin Charteris, private secretary to Princess Elizabeth, took a quick tour of Montreal by taxi when he arrived en route to Ottawa. In Ottawa he discussed details of the Royal tour with officials. (CP Photo)

Tokyo, Aug. 10. (Friday). — (AP)—A sharp warning from the communist command last night told Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway there will be no new violations of the Korean conference site "unless you should deliberately fabricate incidents as an excuse to terminate armistice negotiations."

The armistice talks have been suspended since Saturday on Ridgway's complaint that armed Chinese communist troops entered the supposedly-neutral conference zone of Kaesong. The reds promised Sunday not to let it happen again, but the supreme United Nations commander demanded a firm guarantee before agreeing to resume the negotiations.

The reds in turn have accused the allies of violating the zone.

The latest red reply, broadcast by Peiping radio late Thursday night, said the guards again had been ordered to "adhere strictly" to the neutrality agreement around Kaesong.

Invited to Return

It invited the allied delegates to return to Kaesong.

However, it then raised the question of the allies fabricating incidents.

It added, "we believe we can definitely will not terminate the negotiations rashly and irresponsibly without going through the procedural steps of protest, investigation, consultation and settlement similar to a similar failure on your part occur."

The red reply, signed by General Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-Huai, was first broadcast in Chinese. As translated into English by hearers in Tokyo, it omitted the "deliberately fabricated" angle and sounded generally much more polite in tone than the official English version which was heard a little later.

The English version is regarded as the official one, however. The U.N. command distributed it to correspondents.

There was no immediate indication of when Ridgway would reply, nor of when armistice negotiations might be resumed.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, spokesman at the U. N. "Peace Camp" in Korea, said: "Any plans for the delegation to go to Kaesong were obviously off for the present, Gen. Ridgway's instructions."

Another Incident

A spokesman at Ridgway's headquarters said the general had given no hint when he would answer but "we wouldn't be too surprised if one came" immediately.

Red China's broadcast came a few hours after communist protested allied planes had violated a safe conduct pledge for truce conversees.

Top communist negotiator, Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, said a truce truck bearing white flags was machine-gunned Tuesday en route from Kaesong to the red capital at Pyongyang.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the U.N. truce delegation, promptly rejected the protest. He said reds had not announced the time and route the truck would travel, as required.

ATOM SCIENTISTS AT CHALK RIVER AT 'NEW' WORK

Working on Secret Defence Projects

Ottawa, Aug. 9 (CP)—Canada's big atomic plant at Chalk River, Ont., along with other laboratories of the National Research Council, is engaged in defence projects of an undisclosed nature.

This was revealed for the first time last night in the annual report of Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the government-backed scientific research agency of the government.

He said that with the growing uneasiness of the world situation, council scientists are turning more and more to new projects "arising from the requirements of the armed forces." He added:

"At the present time, in addition to the atomic energy project, which always has had a dual character, the division of electrical engineering, mechanical engineering and to some extent building research, applied physics and applied chemistry, have turned almost exclusively to war work."

It was the first official statement that the multi-million atomic plant at Chalk River, 125 miles northwest of Ottawa, might be engaged in anything but peaceful pursuits. Previous statements have said most of its work was in the field of furthering medical research.

No Specific Mention

The president's carefully-worded report made no mention of specific defence projects at Chalk River, which already has one atomic reactor and where another 200,000,000 reactor is to be constructed soon.

The section of the report given to work at Chalk River said that research chemists there have made a number of new isotopes used mainly in medical research for successive capture of neutrons. One of them was the isotope of phosphorus of mass 33.

In other phases of the work, the council reported continued cooperation with the cold research group at Fort Churchill, interest in the development of electronic computers, and new developments from a state of abnormally low body temperature.

Electronic stimulation of arterial stimulation and control of the heart action were investigated and "certain aspects of the diseased heart, and even restoration of normal action of the heart that had ceased beating, were successfully accomplished."

Other scientific strides during the year included a new marine radar set with a range down to 10 yards, along with a thermal-reaching unit in which the image of the radar echo is superimposed on the chart, enabling the operator to determine a ship's position immediately.

FOUND IN TREE

Kirkland Lake, Aug. 9 — (CP) — Herb Petrin, 24, of nearby Swastika, was found yesterday curled up in a tree after being missing since Monday night when he went to rejoin fishing companions. He was unharmed when found 20 miles southeast of Cobalt in the midst of rugged bush and rock country.

U.S. Confident Jap Treaty Will be Signed Next Month Despite Opposition by Russia

Washington, Aug. 9 — (AP) — expected to take substantially the same line which Acheson took, that is to treat it as Russian propaganda devoid of any hint of change in real Soviet policy.

Acheson said yesterday that he did not know whether the Soviets would send a delegation to San Francisco.

The treaty which would restore Japan's independence and end the occupation, is the principal pact of three international arrangements worked out by Washington in consultation with the other Pacific powers.

Two Other Agreements

The other two agreements are a security treaty among the United States, Australia and New Zealand, and a separate agreement with Japan which will permit American armed forces to remain on Japanese territory.

The state department announced last night that the treaty with Australia and New Zealand will be signed at San Francisco Sept. 1 and that the Japan pact will be signed at the same conference.

Some officials believe that out of this system there will develop eventually a single seven-or-nine-nation Pacific pact comparable to the North Atlantic Pact among the United States, Canada and the countries of western Europe.

Soviets Challenged

Acheson challenged the Soviets to back up their avowed interest in peace objectives with deeds. He suggested they might start by working for peace in the United Nations.

President Truman has an opportunity at his press conference today (4 p.m., EDT) to give his views on Shvernik's letter. He is in countries of western Europe.

Priest Admits Burning Pamphlets Sent to Baptists

Rouyn, Que., Aug. 9 (CP) —A postal inspector yesterday said Rev. Alfred Roy, a Roman Catholic priest, has admitted burning religious pamphlets mailed to Baptists.

The statement was made by postal inspector W. L. Gagne, sent to this northwestern Quebec community to investigate charges made by Baptist pastor L. G. Barnhart of nearby Noranda.

Mr. Barnhart had charged that religious pamphlets addressed to Baptists in Ste. Germaine Boule, 43 miles northwest of here, failed to reach their destination.

Postal Inspector W. L. Gagne said the postmaster in Ste. Germaine Boule, Wilfred Begin, had admitted holding up delivery of the pamphlets on orders from Father Roy.

Begin has been relieved of his office and a full report of the matter has been made to the postmaster-general at Ottawa.

Two 'Mr. Fix-Its' Involved in Race Track Inquiry

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP) — The Telegram says today in a newspage story that two "Mr. Fix-Its" are involved in the race track investigation now under way in Ontario.

In a story by Sports Editor Bobby Hewitson, the newspaper says:

"There are two such operators described as the 'chief engineers' in the bribing of jockeys to pull their horses. But a clean-up could be made on the other mouth.

"These two men are known to the Ontario Racing Commission and to the police. They are Canadians, but they suddenly have 'taken a holiday' and are in the United States. Right now, Canadian police are working with the FBI and their arrest is expected within hours.

"Besides these two key men, there are some others who have had minor roles in the race 'fixing'—one of these being the contact man who paid the money to the jockeys."

RED SPY KING, FRED ROSE GIVEN RELEASE

Ex-M. P. Freed From Penitentiary

Montreal, Aug. 9—(CP)—Fred Rose was released today from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary where he served a term for violation of the Official Secrets Act.

The former Labor-Progressive member of parliament was released from the bleak, grey stone block of buildings outside of Montreal at 10.45.

Left by Back Door

He left by a back door and avoided most of the newspaper men assigned to be on the lookout for his departure from the pile of stone which had been his home since he was sentenced to six years in prison.

He spent most of his time in prison as a library worker and had his sentence cut short through application of the time-off-for-good-behavior rule.

The 43-year-old Polish-born Rose was led out through a small out-of-the-way door by Col. George Lebel, the prison warden.

Lebel later told newspaper men that Rose had said he would meet reporters later at his Montreal home.

Two Left in Prison

The release of Rose left in prison only two of the 20 men and women accused in the sensational post-war spy probe after which nine were imprisoned, one fined and five others had charges laid against one was dropped.

Still in prison are Sam Carr and Gordon Lunan.

Rose, a wispy man of medium height with a small moustache and thinning hair, was regarded as the king-pin of an ideologically-bound network of communist espionage couriers who relayed secrets of Canada to Russia.

Photographed With Family

After Col. Lebel told reporters Rose had been released they raced away and some reached the Rose home before he did.

He put on a pair of brown slippers—"I haven't worn them for 71 years"—and then settled back on a chesterfield. He was photographed with his family.

"I will be frank with you," he said. "I have no statement to make. I will do that but I am happy to be re-united with my family. I won't say anything else except that then back east again, stopping at western centres not touched on the way west, I flitted from the west to Montreal for a stay there and then on to Washington. I was through Ottawa several times and then homeward bound from St. John's.

"Travel will be by rail, ship and plane, with the ships and planes provided by the navy and air force.

Chinese Reds Denounce R.C. Church's 'Legion of Mary', Call for Suppression

Hong Kong, Aug. 9—(AP)—The Chinese communists have officially denounced the Roman Catholic "Legion of Mary" and have called for suppression of the organization.

The Peiping People's Daily, official party organ, announced the suppression movement already has started in Tientsin, north China.

It is the first time the reds, by order, have publicly outlawed any part of the church.

Catholics say it is a short step from attacks on the church subsidiary to outlawing the church itself. Missionaries in China think the reds are quite ready for the latter step.

The People's Daily blasted the legion as "a secret, reactionary and terroristic organization in the Catholic Church."

Actually, the Legion of Mary is an organization among the laity in which seeks converts to Catholicism.

The People's Daily said the Legion must be suppressed for the "protection of the pure and lawabiding Catholics" — meaning Catholics who have swung away from the Roman church and linked themselves with a state-controlled Peiping church.

The Catholic press daily refused to instruct their flocks to join the Peiping church.

The communists accused levelled at the Catholics include charges of "murder" for operating orphanages where abandoned children were received, frequently in dying conditions.

Bishops, priests and nuns have gone to jail by the score. Perhaps hundreds are in jail now. At least seven Canadian nuns have been arrested. The whereabouts of several others is unknown.

Most Protestant faiths have ordered their foreign missionaries out of China after some had been arrested and jailed.

Schedule Belleville District For Fourth Day of Trip

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be in the Belleville district on the fourth day of their Canadian tour.

The Royal couple will pass through the city on the C.N.R. line, if they are on schedule, about 12.30 p.m. on Friday, October 5th. Their itinerary has them scheduled to leave Kingston, after visiting Royal Military College, at 11.30 a.m. They are due to arrive in Trenton, to visit the R.C.A.F. Station, at 1.00 pm.

Plans include a two-hour stop for inspection and visit at the Trenton Station, with the Royal train leaving there for Toronto at 3.00 p.m. Their immediate destination at that time will be the Queen City, where they will spend one day.

Complete itinerary for the tour extends from Tuesday, October 2, to Monday, November 5.

Thousands Expected

Thousands of people from Belleville, Trenton, Prince Edward County and all the surrounding centres are expected to greet the Royal couple when they visit the R.C.A.F. Station.

Railroad officials said this morning that it was not known whether the Royal train would stop in Belleville. Normal procedure of for the trains to stop here for orders, but this practice could be circumvented if the occasion demands it. As yet, no itinerary or instructions have been forwarded to C.N.R. officials here, and as a result, information on the stop or trip through here is sketchy.

Ottawa, Aug. 9 — (CP) — The government today issued the bare outlines of the fall chief-to-coast Royal tour of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The long-awaited official itinerary shows that the Royal couple who sail from Liverpool Sept. 25 aboard the liner Empress of France, will begin their tour at Quebec, Oct. 2 and at St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 5 when they sail for home in the empress of Canada.

Their 35-day stay on this continent includes a brief trip to Washington to visit President Truman. They will not go to New York.

Visit Each Capital

They will visit each of the 10 provincial capitals, and some of the leading cities between. They also will take in industrial and defence plants and some military camps.

In brief, their tour will follow the following pattern:

From Quebec City to Ottawa and then through some of the principal Ontario centres, on through the west to the Pacific coast and then back east again, stopping at western centres not touched on the way west. They will be the west to Montreal for a stay there and then on to Washington. They go through Ottawa and Montreal and then homeward bound from St. John's.

Travel will be by rail, ship and plane, with the ships and planes provided by the navy and air force.

'Let Them Jump Over Niagara' Is N.Y. Plea

New York, Aug. 9.—(CP)—The New York Daily News suggested editorially today that authorities should go one allowing Niagara Falls on the Canadian side.

"But let's not act similarly sticky about the U.S. side," the News says. "People who try this stunt should be fined on exhibitionists and headline hunters at heart. If they want to be fools, why try to restrain them from their folly?"

The Herald Tribune, recalling William (Red) Hill's death in last year's attempt to shoot the falls, calls Frost's action "a crackdown on perhaps the most senseless form of publicity-seeking this Muskoka community and crashed into a rock. Police said the sun blinded Mrs. McAuslan who was driving.

Letter by Field Marshal Alexander Fans Demands for General's Release

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 9 — long sought his release. Many Germans, including high government officials, dispute his guilt.

Official British sources would say nothing about the matter to-day. They said it was up to German authorities.

The letter from Lord Alexander, now Governor-General of Canada, was printed in this week's issue of Die Zeit, a Hamburg magazine weekly which has been campaigning on behalf of war-crimes prisoners.

The magazine published a facsimile photograph of the letter signed by Lord Alexander and dated Aug. 28 from Britain. He was vacationing in England at that time. It was addressed to a Britton correspondent of the magazine's London correspondent.

Lord Alexander's letter said that before opponent, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring "was an able and fine German General" who fought a "perfectly fair and straight-forward fight."

Kesselring is serving a 20-year term — reduced from death sentence — for war crimes, chiefly the shooting of 335 Italian hostages in retaliation for underground attacks against German troops.

If the town wishes to erect street markers, the mayor offered to donate the necessary posts and have them painted. He had also had the sewage disposal plant painted at his expense.

FORMAL

The itinerary includes two brief, private holidays while in Canada, one on the west coast—Oct. 15, 16, and 17—and one in the Montreal area Oct. 27 and 28. The vacation spots have not yet been chosen, but that in the east is expected to be in Quebec's Laurentian Mountains.

The tour will be shorn of formalities, Buckingham Palace in keeping with the Princess' wish. The official announcement indicated, he largely a "people's" tour.

"Their Royal Highnesses," it said, "hope their tour will enable as many as many people as possible, and to be greeted by school children."

The statement makes no mention of local receptions. These still are to be arranged by local officials in consultation with government officials handling the tour.

On this point, the announcement noted:

Hope Arrangements Simple

"In preparing programs for considered visits, local authorities will no doubt be wise to keep in mind that their Royal Highnesses expressed hope that the arrangements will be as simple as possible.

"For this reason and because the time spent in each place is so short, it is expected that formalities and ceremonial will be reduced to a minimum. The programs will not include receiving honorary degrees from universities ,the laying of corner stones and the opening of institutions."

The itinerary makes it clear the Princess will not address parliament, as had been expected unofficially. She and the Duke will be in Ottawa Oct. 3 and 4 and parliament is not scheduled to open its fall session until Oct. 9.

One Press Conference

Present plans call for the Princess to hold one press conference. This will be while she is in Ottawa, but the precise details have not been arranged.

For the flying sections of the trip, the Royal couple will use the Canadair special C-5, an aircraft especially outfitted for carrying important persons.

In west coast waters, they will travel aboard the destroyer Cruiser while, in eastern waters, they will go aboard the cruiser Ontario.

Special Cars

On land, they will use the two railroad cars provided for the disposal of the Governor-General. They will serve both as rail hotels and include Valcartier army camp near Quebec City, Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., and the RCAF's Air Training Command at Trenton.

From their arrival point at Quebec, they will go to Ottawa for two days Oct. 3-4—and then visit a number of Ontario centres, including Toronto, Kingston, Trenton, Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Windsor. Brief station stops may be made at other centres on the rail route.

Belleville Boy 'Minesweeper' In Korea

Somewhere in Korea (Delayed) (Special)—Probing for a "treasure" they hope is mostly conspicuous by its absence, are members of the 57th Independent Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, in-Korea.

In advance of their own battle line, the Engineers detect and remove ready mines buried by the enemy along roads.

Spr. A. Mitchell, 20, of Belleville, Ont., is one of those engaged in road clearing here. A sister, Mrs. J. Henderson, lives at 9 Reid Street, Belleville.

The "minesweepers'" job begins in the early hours of morning when his section moves out slowly along a road which will later carry a heavy traffic patrol. Ahead of the section, infantrymen act as a screen in case of an enemy attack.

The engineers poke into suspicious spots on the road with steel rods. Other sappers carrying mine detectors, follow along behind the tracks.

Their's is one of the most important jobs on the front. The road must be clear. Behind the engineer come the tanks, heavy artillery, jeeps and supply vans.

Despite the danger, the happiest crews are those who return to base and report: "mines located—'deloused' same."

IN MEMORIAM

BELNAP—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, David Mackenzie Belnap, who passed away Aug. 9, 1943.

The rolling stream of life goes on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the face beloved, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.

—Ever remembered by wife and family.

YOUNG—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Young, who passed away on Aug. 9, 1950.

What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
There'll be no sad farewells then
Nor death to end our life.

—Sadly missed by daughter-in-law Kay and grandchildren Douglas Harry and Carol.

YOUNG—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Young, who passed away Aug. 9, 1950.

No one knows how much we miss her
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered. Since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.

How was life at the penitentiary? "I have nothing to say against the superior officers, the officers or the guards. They showed all the kindness possible."

On the arrest of a fellow-agent, Sam Carr, had he anything to say? "No, I have no comment."

He was asked to comment on a charge by John Boyko, another inmate of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, that Rose was spreading communist doctrine behind prison bars. (Boyko claimed he murdered the convict, Nick Tedesco, whom he described as a "lieutenant" of Rose, because Tedesco was trying to make him a communist.)

Rose said: "I will say only that it was a malicious business. Everyone knows that. I wasn't called to testify, was I?"

Theft of Antique Guns Charged Against Youth

Peterborough, Aug. 9—(CP)—Calvin Morton Holland, 18, of Port Hope was arrested here Wednesday night and charged with the theft of 19 valuable antique guns from the Jacobs Gun Shop in Port Hope Tuesday night.

A companion is being sought and is expected to be picked up any time, police said.

"His confessed to the whole thing," said Police Chief Charles W. Graham of Port Hope.

Wednesday night Chief Graham received a tip that the thieves were staying at a house on Weller Avenue in Peterborough.

He phoned police here and three constables arrested the youth. His companion had left.

Holland told police he and his companion had been drinking and he had only a hazy idea of the neighborhood in which they had hidden the guns.

Chief Graham said Holland will also be charged with stealing a truck, which he reported Holland confessed taking for the breakin. The truck was abandoned near Young's Point when it ran out of gas.

Holland and his companion may also be charged with attempting to break into two stores in Peterborough.

The stolen guns were almost all rare collectors' items which Walter Jacobs, proprietor of the shop, said he would not have sold under any consideration.

WEST POINT SUFFERS ALONE

There has been a great deal said about the cribbing scandal at West Point, and not much of the criticism directed at the cadets has been of any use. As yet, no one in any high place of authority has revealed exactly what was done by the erring students, beyond the fact that they were cheating on some examinations, in some manner. Thus, their crime was not one of cheating, but of being caught at it.

There have been sentiments expressed that cribbing is an old game, and is in parallel with the actions of a country whose moral fibres have degenerated ever since prohibition went into force. It has also been said that these men should not be chastised too severely, because their example has been set by men engaging in nefarious deals high in government ranks. With such stars to follow, their crime is not a severe one, and therefore, the punishment should be light. Again, their mistake appears not to have been the cheating. It was, in fact, that they were caught at it.

Cheating on examinations is nothing new. It has been done in the United States, in Canada, and in other countries for years. If many of the high school and university graduates in several countries were to admit the truth, they would confess that part of their accomplishments were gained with the illegal help of others. Cribbing and all its attendant methods is made sure that an examination is passed with ease is a common disease of the educational system. Too rigid enforcement of rules governing the conduct of students in examination rooms cannot be made, for fear that some of these lads will become nervous and tense, thus making mistakes on their papers that they would not otherwise commit.

On the other hand, if fairly rigid enforcement is not the order, an invitation is extended to the participants to cheat and thus gain higher credits than they might have done by themselves. It hardly seems fair that these cadets should bear the brunt of a furious attack when there are many legislators within the boundaries of their own country who have committed worse crimes and have suffered no humiliation whatsoever. Thus far, the cribbing scandal is nothing more than a few boys getting caught at a game in which many participate, including the boys attended West Point, and because some of them are members of the Army's famed football team, their shame is made by some to be the shame of a nation.

If the scandal-mongers are looking for something more to talk about, they might investigate a few other universities and colleges. Until they do, West Point will suffer alone because only a few were caught.

TIME IS BEING OUTSTRIPPED

The tremendous advances made by scientists in the past few years have been nothing less than fantastic. The stories that reach the public every day now were regarded as fabrications of the mind no more than ten years ago. The war, horrible though it was, brought greater advancements than would have been accomplished during times of peace, and now, with the threat of another world battle hanging over the heads of the scientists, the developments go on.

In 1939, the flight of a rocket ship 135 miles into the air was regarded as fantasy. For the immediate period, it was a dream that only writers and editors of fantastic articles and publications dealt with. The average public could not be expected to believe that they would read reports of such a rocket within twelve short years. They could not conceive of a missile that would travel at 4,100 miles per hour, more than one mile in every second.

The particular rocket which set the new record was the seventh in a group of ten fired in a naval research project. American-built, it undoubtedly owes some of its design to the V2 rockets which Germany was preparing and firing during the last days of her glory in the early 1940's. Named the Viking, the rocket used up more than four tons of liquid oxygen and alcohol fuel in 75 seconds of flight. During those few seconds, it shot 25 miles into the air, and when the fuel was exhausted, it coasted the rest of the way to the 135-mile mark.

Still the scientists are not satisfied. Faced with a record 350-miles of ascent by a midget missile fired from the nose of a V-2 in 1949, they are planning to top that figure in the series of ten with even higher hopes. It is possible, with extra precautions to preserve the oxygen longer while the missile is being readied on the hot desert, that speeds and heights heretofore only dreamed of may be achieved.

The popular saying has it that time marches on. If developments such as have occurred in the past few years in the guided missile field continue, time will have to do more than march, if it is to keep up with the rocket ships of the future. It will need to run, because a trip to the moon is fast nearing the stage of reality.

What's ar you want some friend Ive never had to stand alone

Whate'er you seek; you seem The only heartaches I have

THE CONSECRATED LAYMAN

Some weeks ago I sat down in conference with a number of men, including a west coast business man. This businessman's personality and mental acumen soon began coming across the table in such potent quantities that I made note it a point when the meeting was over to find out who he was and what he did.

I found that he is an engineer who takes hold of businesses which are apparently down and out and turns them into paying propositions. He has learned how to extract a certain acid from seaweed, and this acid has become invaluable, particularly in the manufacture of tooth paste. He found a company which owned a great deposit of abrasive material. They were grinding it up and selling it at $20.00 a ton and by so doing just breaking even. He worked out a process of utilizing the smoke which comes from their smokestacks and from this smoke he showed them how to get a material which they could sell for $200.00 a ton. Then he showed them how to handle their abrasive in ways they had never thought of and the company has become a veritable gold mine, and both this resourceful businessman and his colleagues are becoming incalculably rich.

This marvelous businessman happens also to be a Christian layman to whom the whole church turns when it wants counsel and high-grade leadership.

Consecrated businessmen can do as much for the church as the preachers, if only they will have the preachers' consecration.

THE GLUM GUEST

Yet another macabre study in human behavior is the weekend guest, a creature we will now place under the microscope and observe, I trust, with the greatest of interest.

Probably never would have known it, but many of the guests had we not moved from the city to a place beside the sea, surrounded by tall pines and other summer campers. We were delighted to find that this retreat contained an antique pie closet which Brown Eyes—with a glad little cry—immediately identified as "the guest room."

Soon we were issuing invitations to our friends. Come, we would say, and rejuvenate that tired old city-wracked body. Come, and give that worried old brain a chance to recuperate. Come, and bring your own liquor.

So hardly a weekend has gone by that we haven't had the close or, rather, the guest room—occupied. Most of these people have arrived wearing fancy summer clothes. But they have always came in white flannels, tennis racquet under his arm. So, of course, the next thing is to get them into proper attire.

Right there you begin to see how much they hate to unbend when they say. A look of faint alarm comes on their faces.

The next thing is the world for roughing it," I tell them. "Besides, they'll give you pneumonia if you're stretched up this afternoon when we go blackberry picking over on the mountain."

"Blackberries!" they say. You'd think they never heard of them. Perhaps they say, rolling their eyes.

"Or we might want to put a little fish in the pail to keep down the dust," I tell them.

"Oh!" they say. You'd think they never heard of oil.

You know right then that you're going to have a real busy time keeping them entertained for the next 48 hours.

At The Well

I don't know what it is, but the weekend guest just seems incapable of entertaining himself.

By the time you get him back from fishing—he hasn't caught a thing—ready looks 50 percent healthier. His face has turned a fine rosy glow from the sun, which has a tendency to burn down pretty warmly on the side of the mountain, and he's been complaining that they go running to dab some feel kind of cream on their skin and before they they'll be able to get away to lie down in the shade.

Now, you must not feel your responsibility as a host.

Fortunately, it is now time to get the water. They are fascinated to discover that the water must be packed from a well because they've had this extra dry season. You'd think they'd find this pioneer-

Launch Keeping Lonely Vigil

Vancouver, Aug. 9 (CP) —An RCAF high speed launch was keeping a lonely vigil off the west coast of Vancouver Island early today. In search of a seaplane missing since Saturday with seven persons aboard.

The launch was standing by in Herbert Inlet, in the area where the plane Charlotte Ainlee was plane disappeared, to investigate a report of a "steady white light."

The report was received yesterday from a small ship but fog made thorough investigation impossible.

Meanwhile, the RCAF reported it was running short of air crews in the search and called for three missing planes.

Missing are the Q.C.A. plane, a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane with 36 aboard, lost July 21, and a privately-owned Norseman plane with three aboard.

PRIEST IS DROWNED

Smiths Falls, Ont., Aug. 8—(CP)—Rev. Bernard Cleary, 41-year-old Roman Catholic priest from Rexville, N.Y., was drowned on Wednesday while fishing at Seeley's Bay, 35 miles south of here on the Rideau River. He is believed to have fallen from his boat and struck his head on a submerged rock. An autopsy will be held at Kingston.

BAGS UNDER THE EYES

Day after day and year after year people want to know whether "bags under the eyes" do not indicate kidney trouble. Day after day and year after year I have answered this question with an unequivocal "No."

So far, so good.

But I find I can't get away with such a categorical answer. In the same letter or in one that comes immediately afterward the reader deflates my brief pretense of wisdom by asking: If not, then what does the presence of bags under the eyes indicate?

That's my cue to change the subject or maybe slip out through the rear patio and over to the bowling green.

How real doctors parry such queries is a question I have often pondered. A real doctor can push the book from his desk, leave it covered with books, letters, copy, scientific journals, manila, proofs, pamphlets, reprints etc. and his "away to Utopia" leaving his patient sitting on their hands in the waiting room. That doctor, I said, Well consider the chicanery of the trick specialist in another talk.

Now the question a doctor has submitted the query to the Oracle of North Dakota Bismarck and the oracle referred it to four authorities—it would be agreeous to ask how to find other authorities from ordinary doctors—and the four authorities offered the following explanations for bags under the eyes: (1) anemia, (2) poor muscle tone, (3) vasomotor disturbances, (4) allergic reactions, (5) familial traits, (6) atrophic changes in the epidermis or subcutaneous tissue.

Sounds like the charitan telling the poor fish his heart trouble is a cardiac condition or his stomach trouble is gastric or his nervousness is neurasthenia or "nerves."

Want to make anything of it? If you do, help yourself to whichever suggestion you like. My contribution, I suspect, is that it is a lot of hooey.

Three months after the oracle had spoken, two plastic surgeons said "Tut, Tut" or words to that effect, and explained the cause is not more than seven syllables that bags under the eyes are a family affair due to the presence of—hang onto your hats till we get past this lure—hemiencapsulated periorbital adipose tissue which has protruded through a hiatus in the tarsoorbital fascia," and that these bags under the eyes occur at any age, even in teen-agers.

BAGS UNDER THE EYES

The plastic surgeons say removal of the little bits of displaced or protruded fat completely and permanently remedies the defect. They do the operations regularly.

What will it cost?

What have you?

If the surgeon you consult is reputable, he or she will tell you exactly what the fee for the operation will be and give you an estimate of the hospital expense, if any.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Three-Year Cure

Thank you a million times for the drops for sunning ser. I had it for many years and the treatment for two years and have never...but your drops cleared it up. Have kept it clear and recurred for three years. (G. W.)

Answer—The doctors around here somehow compare favorably with the doctors far away. Here's what makes the clinic racket so remunerative, and trick specialists so thick. Inflammation for two years drops for running ser available on this request if you (1) use no clipping; (2) inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Please let me know if using a strong solution of vinegar can hurt the brain. (E. V.)

Answer—Only if you inject it into the brain. Outside the brain soaking in it over night.

To Soften Toenails

My great toe nails were so hard and thick I couldn't even cut them. Can you please tell me what you suggested softened them so I can trim them easily with scissors now. (Mrs. D.)

Answer—Thank you, Doctor. The solution is Liquor Cresaee, made by dissolving one part of potassium hydrixide in 30 parts of distilled water. It is a powerful caustic if it touches skin or mucous membrane. Apply it to nail only by painting nail with a wisp of cotton on stick. Let dry and then every day (if you like) nail is softened enough to file or trim.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

JUST TREES

I was standing with a friend before a great hemlock tree, and my friend casually remarked that there was $150 worth of lumber in the tree. Never before had I looked upon a tree pertaining to cut in lumber, though of course I know that all our lumber comes from trees.

Later I got to thinking of the great usefulness of trees of many varieties, and wondered what use to the world. We have our homes made from trees, our furniture, and this very newspaper on which this Talk is printed. In a thousand ways perhaps at this time that we look upon without thinking of its for reaching values trees are used as free gifts from the soil do.

Now our climate is affected materially by our great forests, and in many way are trees protectors and givers of themselves as they stand proudly and often majestically in forest, countryside and city. What a thing of beauty are the great elms that give shade and shelter in our many communities, especially the older ones.

To me it seems tragic to cut down those watchless trees of the Pacific coast that have been growing for centuries. I refer to the redwoods, sequoias and sequoias. I stood before many of them a few years ago in almost wonderful mystical awe, not forgetting did they appear to me, and how little I looked beside them. I have likened a tree to a lovely poem in which he stated that only God could make a tree. He did not say that the tree, however, was God's masterpiece varieties, and would say that man is the Creator of everything, and He is just as expert in creating trees as He is in the rest of us. He is making a tree. I have often wondered at the diversity of many varieties of trees. Perhaps just because God had it all figured out at the beginning of man, and wanted to set all the materials before him, so that he would have no excuse for not creating many a thing of beauty. The people who settled the western world came to fix stores in wooden ships. They cleared the forests, sawing down the big trees, then had their gardens and small communities, and later came our modern world; but what a factor have our trees been in it all?

WEDDINGS

NELSON—SANDERCOCK

Before a lovely background of white gladioli in tall standards interspersed with ferns and white cathedral candles, a marriage of wide interest was solemnized in Bridge Street United Church on Saturday, August 4th at 2.00 p.m. when Phyllis Eleanor Sandercock, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. William Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A., and Mrs. Sandercock, became the bride of Robert Earle Nelson, of Campbellford, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson. The Rev. Duncan McPherson, minister of the church, officiated.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and Miss Marion Wallace, soloist, sang "Because" ceremony, "O Perfect Love", and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a charming bridal gown of imported exquisite French lace and satin, fashioned with form-fitting bodice of lace over satin buttoned down the back, and sheath-like sleeves ending in lily-points over wrists. The bouffant skirt of satin, featuring a back-to-back lace panel at front and back, softly gathered at the waist, fell gracefully into a cathedral train, appliqued with Chantilly lace. Her full length veil of French tulle illusion, embroidered on the edge with matching lace, was caught by a halo headdress encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade hand-bouquet of pink roses, stephanotis and attention fern and wore a two-strand necklet of pearls, the gift of her bridegroom.

Mrs. Reg Edwards, of Toronto, was matron of honor, and Miss Marietta Sandercock, Belleville, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both were gowned alike in green silk marquisette over satin, fashioned with molded bodices and full skirts featuring bustle backs and inserted panels of varied shades of green. Matching floral hales and cascade hand-bouquets completed their costumes.

Mr. Gerald Nelson, of Brockville, N.Y., brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and the ushers, Mr. Reg. Edwards, of Toronto, and Mr. Jack Pearson, of Uxbridge, Ontario.

Following the reception, which was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother, in an imported, floor-length chantilly lace gown of British tan, with corsage of Talisman roses, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a floor-length gown of navy brocaded satin with rose taffeta, with corsage of red roses and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left for Western Ontario and the United States, the bride travelling in a most becoming pink wool, worsted suit with white accessories and pink feathered hat with matching brilliants. She wore a corsage of white gardenias. Upon their return they will reside in Campbellford.

HANNAH—BLACKBURN

On Saturday, August 4, at 1.00 p.m., a pretty wedding was quietly solemnized at the home of the Rev. C. Crabbe, Eldorado, when Joy Eva Blackburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blackburn, was united in marriage to Hubert John Hannah, of Ramsheburn, son of Mr. Robert Hannah, and the late Mrs. Hannah.

The bride was attractively gowned in a blue, floor-length gown with matching shoulder-length veil. She carried a hand-bouquet of pink gladioli flowers.

Miss Marguerite Hannah, of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, was her only attendant, wearing a floor-length gown and carrying a hand-bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Mr. John W. Blackburn, of Eldorado, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

After the reception, which was held at the bride's home, where the bride's mother, wearing a flowered sheer gown, received the guests, the young couple left for Ottawa and points east amid showers of confetti and good wishes. The bride travelled in a tailored, beige gabardine suit with matching accessories.

BURLEY—MILLS

Colborne United Church was the setting on Saturday last at 2.00 p.m. for the marriage of Kathryn Virginia Mills, of Colborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Mills, to Harold Croft Burley, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Burley. The

40th Anniversary of Wedding Celebrated By Sidney Couple

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hart are enjoying fair health and are looking forward to many more anniversaries.

The rooms were gaily decorated with pink and white streamers with a centre white bell. Summer flowers were in profusion consisting of sweetpeas, gladioli and zinnias. The table was tastefully set with two candelabra and flowers. Twenty-two sat down to the banquet. The toast was proposed by Rev. A. C. McCallum and responded to by the "groom". Other toasts were proposed and answered.

A wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom and during the day cards and gifts were received. A social time was spent and many good wishes taken.

The best of wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hart for many more anniversaries.

Rev. Redners Brown officiated before a background of summer flowers.

Mrs. W. Irvine presided at the organ and rendered the traditional wedding music, and accompanied Miss Shirley Irvine, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white, slipper satin with a centre white bell. Her three-quarter length veil was held by a halo of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

ADMITTED FRAUDS

Norma Mainelly, 30, was charged with five counts but admitted 139 others. Jacquelin McKendry, 20, pleaded guilty to three charges but admitted 23 others.

Both women were remanded to August 15.

Enjoys Travelling To Different Jobs

Estevan, Sask. (CP) — Yvonne LaCoste is back home for a spell after travels that began in a munitions plant at Toronto and ended in a Venezuela town where the natives are remarkably similar to people with the opposite coloring," she said. "They have chocolate-colored skins, green eyes and brown hair with red glints in it."

She liked the climate there too. It goes over 100 degrees in summer and stays in the 80's in winter. But "it isn't uncomfortably hot throughout," she explained. "The breezes are always delightfully cool."

Yvonne shortly is leaving for Miami to choose from a dress shop in Venezuela. But even if the plan works out, she doesn't think she would settle down for long. She has a hankering to see Africa and China.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Liverpool, N.S. (CP)—Liverpool fire-fighters have their own highly-trained 12-man first aid team, which jumps into action every time the firemen answer a call. The mobile first aid unit is the only one operated by a Nova Scotia fire department.

Outdoor Barbecue Meals Good for Jaded Appetites

There is nothing like the fresh outdoors to perk up wilted appetites and attitudes on a hot summer day. Many people are lucky enough to have outdoor fire places but Mrs. Homemaker should not let it worry her if she hasn't one. A portable grill is an asset for any home into the country or for a family picnic in the back yard. A strong wire rack well set on some sturdy stones will also serve the purpose. Take stock of equipment before planning the menu so that the preparation will not be too elaborate for the facilities.

The fire should be started about an hour ahead of time so that there will be a deep bed of glowing coals. Gloves and lots of pot holders help to save the cook's hands. Long handled forks and spoons are another asset. For a jaunt to the country a picnic chest filled with ice is a wonderful for carrying perishables, but, for those who haven't one the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggests that everything should be put in the refrigerator till the last minute and then wrapped in waxed paper or foil, in this way cold foods may be kept cold. Salad greens may be placed in refrigerator bags, plastic boxes, aluminum foil or a vegetable crisper. Mixed salads should be placed in covered casserols or quart jars.

Use Paper Plates, Cups

Canned foods must have been invented with an eye on picnics, they are so easy to carry. Never heat them in an unopened can, because serious burns may result.

Lots of paper plates, spoons, cups and napkins are a necessity. A colorful plastic table cloth adds a cheerful touch and it is surprising how few of things are spilled on it. No one ever remembers to take along enough pads, but they do make it so easy to scour picnic pots and pans.

Is there any music sweet as the "come and get it" melody around a barbecue grill? Whether it's an elaborate barbecue fire-place in the back yard or a camp fire in the country, everyone is sure to have a big appetite, so have plenty of good food. Once Mrs. Homemaker has taken stock of her equipment she may then plan her menu accordingly. She may plan to have chicken, which may be purchased as cut up chicken or broilers, all cleaned and ready for use, at the market. The broilers should be cut in halves or quarters for ease in grilling. Barbecued spareribs have their special barbecue tang that calls for more. To keep happy budget-wise, hamburger, wieners, bologna, luncheon meats or sausages may be used.

Too many families the favorite barbecue food is hamburgers. They can be fixed in a variety of delicious ways to suit any number of tastes. The home economists suggest that you start with good quality beef in order to have the best results. For those who like theirs plain, chape well-seasoned ground meat into patties. Place over hot coals and grill until done. Serve on toasted bun.

Other Burger Favorites

There are many other "burger favorites, Relish burgers may be made by merely mixing drained relish into the patty before cooking. A generous helping may be placed on top of the patty just before it is slipped into the bun. Mushrooms may be chopped and mixed into the ground beef for an appetizing mushroom burger. A little tangy cheese gives added flavor. Top the burgett with cheese and cook for a few minutes until the cheese melts. For devilled hamburgers lightly toss ground beef with catsup, horseradish sauce, minced onion, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Let everyone dress his own hamburger. Fut barbecue sauce, mustard, coils and pickles, minced onions, tomato' slices and relish on the picnic table and let everyone serve themselves.

Then for the vegetables, Corn is almost a "must". It may be either boiled or wrapped in foil and thrust into the coals, or everyone may roast his own over the fire using a long stick or skewer. Serve it hot and dripping with butter. Potatoes, too, may be boiled or wrapped in foil, and thrust into the coals.

Of course, no meal is complete without a salad. A crisp tossed salad will please everyone.

For dessert, pies, turnovers or fresh fruits are excellent.

Picnics are always fun but don't let your good time make you forgetful. Always check and double check the fire before you leave to see that it is out.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

H[illegible]here, you're also loyal

[illegible] Fairfax:

[illegible] married to a very wonderful husband and I am very much in love with him.

But I have a brother-in-law who is 13 years older than I am and [illegible] 30—and we care about each other very much. What I want to know is how can I stop this thing straightened out before I cause a lot of trouble with my husband and [illegible] families? I have only been married a year. Do you think I don't know what [illegible]? I would like it very much if you would tell me what to do.

P. G.

Dear P.G.:

Don't you think you are plenty old enough to know yourself what to do? A girl who admits she is married to a "very wonderful fellow" and who claims to be very much in love with him, would hardly want to be thought, for anybody else, would she?

You ask if I think you don't know what love is, and it sounds to me very much as though you didn't know what it means, if you

What I feel about you is, that you are still immature and flighty, and that you had better steady down by telling your brother-in-law to keep away from you. Then put your mind on making your husband happy, and I'm sure everything will straighten out naturally.

No 14-year-old should be engaged

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Before my boy friend and I were engaged, which was about a year ago, everything was all hearts and flowers. We would go to the dances every weekend, even though he had to come a long way to get me and then, take me home again, because we both lived out of town.

Now my mother and I have moved to the city, and he has left the farm and also come into the city to live. Lately he's been giving me the impression that he is getting tired of me, but when I speak about this to him he says he isn't. As for me, I was very sure of myself before, but now I know I'm not. We are both jealous, especially me. I don't ever like him to look at another girl. Sometimes I think this had made him feel differently toward me.

I'm only 15 and he is 18. Everybody says I am too young. I wish you could show me how to find out whether I really love him or not. I'm so mixed up I don't know what to do.

J. D.

Dear J.D.:

If you are only 15 now, and have been engaged for a year, it's no wonder you feel all mixed up and uncertain whether or not you love this boy enough to marry him. At 14, you couldn't possibly have known your feelings well enough to make such an important decision. What probably happened was that because both live far out in the country, neither of you had a chance to become well enough acquainted with other boys and girls.

I think you ought to tell this boy that you realize now you were both too young to make definite plans for the future, and that you would like to be free for a while, at least, to go out with other beaus. Give him the same privilege and agree that you will do this for at least a year and then see how you feel about each other. I'm sure that everything will be much clearer to both of you by that time—and what I hope will be particularly clear is that you should stop thinking about marriage until you are several years older. No one your age should be engaged.

Egg noodles had better contain eggs these days.

There are very few noodle makers who attempt to substitute yellow coloring for eggs. If noodles are suspected of having too much henna, government inspectors have a method of cooking the noodles, distilling the dye and then presenting the evidence in court.

The whole eggs or egg yolks in noodles are not only important in food value but give richness and body to the delicate strands of pasta.

The best noodles, like spaghetti or macaroni, should be chewable. Because of their blandness, noodles are an excellent accompaniment for tangy deviled chicken legs. The chicken legs, as sold in chicken parts stores, include the second joint along with the drumstick. The chicken should be simmered in water until very tender, spread with mustard and breadcrumbs and then broiled. Chicken wings, about a per portion, may be substituted in today's recipe.

Deviled Chicken Legs with Noodles—Serve 4.

4 chicken legs
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Salt—pepper
Bread crumbs
Salad oil
Paprika
8 ounces medium size noodles
12 ounce package frozen peas

8 ounces can tomato sauce
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Put chicken legs in cold water. Bring to a boil. Remove scum. Add 1 teaspoon salt. Simmer slowly until legs are tender.

Remove legs from both. Cool. Save broth as soup stock.

Mix the prepared and dry mustard. Brush the legs with the mustard mixture. Dip in bread crumbs. Sprinkle lightly with salad oil. Sprinkle with paprika.

Put chicken legs under a moderate broiler flame. Brown on all sides.

Plunge the noodles into boiling salted water. Boil until tender. Drain. Rinse in hot water. Cook the peas until tender. Drain. Mix peas with noodles.

Mix the tomato sauce and parsley. Heat but do not boil.

Place the chicken legs on noodles in serving plates. Pour the tomato sauce around noodles.

Wife Preservers:

If you hadn't thought of serving your chicken "each white" fight in your own cheery kitchen, maybe the idea used to make Sandwich, especially meat, loaf crumbly and unappetizing.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

What to do for dry skin

Said the fanciful operator in the beauty shop, "If you listened to the wails and blubberings of women, as I do, you would come to the conclusion that no woman has a complexion that suits her. If she's under thirty, she howls about oiliness, plies the powder pad on her beaming nose and laments because the powder is soon gone with the wind. After forty the dry skin prevails, and that is because the sebaceous glands slow up as one gets older.

"Women have better complexions than they formerly had, because they have found out that health measures are a help. But they still don't seem to know that certain cosmetics are compounded to combat certain conditions, and must be chosen carefully."

"Time usually corrects the extremely oily skin, especially if the victim of this good-looks grief cuts down on fat foods and pastries that stimulate the glands. They need less carbohydrates too. The diet should include plenty of fruit, fruit juices and vegetables. A test along these lines will show that dietary habits are responsible. To help the cause they should use plenty of cold water on the skin, slow up on creams, and apply an astringent once a day.

The dry skin is harder to bear than the oily one because it does not take kindly to make-up, often feels drawn and sensitive. The dry condition can exist all over the body surface, in which event a bath oil should be frictioned into the flesh after the daily tubbing or shower. This treatment will allay the itching that is sometimes present.

There is no such thing as using too much cream on the face, neck, hands and arms. A five-minute anointing with a soothing cream at bedtime will stop the excessive desquamation that goes on—the casting off of dead skin cells that make the surface rough and sensitive. As there is a difference in the ingredients of oily cosmetics, it is advisable to try out different ones. Don't fancy that lubricants will produce facial fuzzers. Electrolysis operators, who really love someone, you are loyal to that person, and what you are doing is certainly not loyal.

Sometimes the skin is allergic to wax

The invitation to the visitor

What guests need to know:

1. When they are expected to arrive.

Best, most convenient, way to come. If by train, timetable to be enclosed in letter; trains marked so. If by car, best route marked or most carefully described.

2. Probable Program of Activities, Social and/or Sports.

"Paying honor and tribute to a loved aunt at the wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother has not been very well for about fifteen years, and her sister has lived with us during that time, being what she calls a "co-op mother" to my sister, brother, and me. She has endeared herself to all of us. Last evening when father and I were talking over my wedding plans, he said he thought she should be "given a place" at the wedding, treated like an immediate member of the family. In what ways can we do this, Mrs. Beeckman? (My sister is to be my maid of honor, my brother is to be head usher.)

Florence N.

Your dearly-loved aunt should be seated at the left of your mother in the first pew on the left of the aisle. (Your father, after his part in the ceremony, would be on your mother's right . . . so that would mean that these three most important people would be together, the only ones in this important first pew.) Your aunt would be ceremonially escorted up the aisle by your brother, then the groom's mother would be escorted up the aisle by the usher assigned to escort her . . . and then your brother would escort your mother up the aisle.

Also I suggest you invite your aunt to stand as a member of the family in the receiving-line, perhaps next to your mother, the hostess. (Or next to your father, if he is to be a member of the receiving-line.) And if there is to be a parents' table, or a bride's table combined with the parents' table, you should invite her to sit at this table. Also I suggest that at the reception your father or your brother or your bridegroom propose a toast to "The wonderful Aunt Dorothy, beloved aunt and companion and friend of the bride!"

BANCROFT

Lions Provide Fine Program For Civic Holiday

Bancroft Civic holiday here was a [illegible] when Bancroft Lions [illegible] provided an entertaining program with morning [illegible]noon and evening sessions. There was everything from races at the swimming pool to a triple-header baseball and softball game to a dance in the community hall, along with the Havelock Pipe Band and Peterborough civic team from Toronto.

Miss Brenda Joyce, swimming instructor at the Lions playground on the York River, had a varied program of aquatic events that included water baseball, mounted wrestling, marbles baseball, tug-of-war by two swimming teams, under water swimming along with the regular races and dives. In the feature race, the open half-mile, Jack Watson outsprinted Wayne Miller to win by three and a half strokes, with George Hough coming third. The girls' quarter mile was won by Marlene Laberge, with Marilyn Hayes second and Betty Lou Ellerbeck third.

John Hawkins was the coordinator for the day, assisted by the members of the local Lions club. Helping Miss Joyce in the morning were Jack Follis at the microphone and Harold Watson acting as safety man. Judges were Ernie Thomas and Clarence Marston. In the afternoon the three ball games were handled by Rose Foster, Cecil McAlpine and Neil Martin.

With their stirring marches and slow melodies, interspersed with lively renditions of the Highland Fling and Scottish reels, the Havelock Pipe Band stole the show every time they went into action. "The Campbells Are Coming", "The Road to the Isles" or any other regimental marches would bring throngs from the ball games and games of chance to the large platform back of the grandstand. One small frame cottage on Cheumashgon Street found a buyer at $2,200, but two six-room houses, with good basements, on the same street, did not find any prospective buyers who would bid over the reserve figures of $3,500 each. Auctioneer Cecil Loney had a good crowd but bids to satisfy the executors of the estate did not materialize.

"KOREAN "HOSPITAL" — Foul-smelling rickety warehouses such as this are used as hospitals for Koreans evacuated from battle area. Military commanders evacuated at least 130,000 North Koreans and another 230,000 South Koreans from front-line areas. The United Nations Civil Assistance Command was unprepared for the influx. Hospital facilities, medicines, clothing and food were in extremely scarce supply and emergency shelter such as this has given many Koreans a poor opinion of the U.N. About 200 of them are crowded into this leaky barn, with rice-straw stacks for beds and an occasional army blanket or cotton-batting for bedding. (C.P. Photo.)

North Koreans Not Happy Over Treatment in U.N. Hospitals

By BILL BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 8 (CP) — Kan Ki-Sok sprang from the stinking straw sacking that was his bed on the "hospital" floor.

He interrupted the conversation going on with the patient in the next "bed"— Sergeant Chang Yong-Sik. Ching had been telling how he came to occupy his corner of the foul, open and-a-warehouse that had been turned into hospital.

He had been choosing his words carefully.

Infuriated by the near-double-talk, his neighbor exploded:

"What he is trying to tell you is that we hate the United Nations.

"When we were turned out of our homes and hiding places the United Nations promised us food and clothing, and medicine, and said accommodation was ready for us. Now we are treated like this. Koreans look after their animals better."

The angry Kang, once a restaurateur with his own business, and feeble Chang were among the more than 300 North Koreans in the hospital—improvised in emergency conditions by war Canadian Red Cross worker, Jack Purves of Cranbrook, B.C.

In a kidnap operation on a gigantic scale, the U.N. military command here has evacuated at least 130,000 North Koreans from their homes north of the 38th parallel, most from the Chorwon-Kum Hka-Unchon iron triangle.

Grossly Under-Equipped

A further 230,000 persons were evacuated from the front line area south of the parallel.

Military necessity was given as the reason.

The sick were sheltered in places like this barn. An estimated 90 percent of the evacuees were malnutrition cases of one degree or another.

The move was not organized. The United Nations civil assistance command was given no information on which to plan.

Rice for Seoul province's normal requirement has been running short at the rate of 5 1-2 metric tons monthly since March. Now a war-tortured population of 3,500,000 in the province has almost 1,500,000 refugees and evacuees. Medicines are portioned among the provinces at 100,000 units each. Some have static populations and settled refugees. Seoul, province with its phenomenal influx is grossly under-equipped to heal its sick.

Only Four Available

Only four regular civilian hospitals are available to UNCAC the rest are improvised in hovels like this. Yet Seoul's city's 1,200-bed city college hospital, one of the largest and best equipped in Asia, is unavailable. It was requisitioned by the military command for other purposes.

Says Purves:

"We've been driven to improvise emergency set-ups in old buildings, disused stables, bombed-out warehouses — anywhere we can get them out of sun and rain.

"The job boils down to finding these people food, clothing and shelter wherever possible.

On squares of sodden fibre, sacking on the puddle-ridden concrete floor more than 300 dirty, disheveled Koreans like Kang and Chang, in varying stages of sickness and starvation-recovery, sprawled around under blankets, squares of cotton padding or cast-off overcoats shipped from North America by volunteer relief agencies.

Rags and Dirt

Although the place had one end open the stink of pus and foul breath brought nauseating gags to visitors.

Starvation and the human body breasts wizened down to wrinkled leather pouches. . . barrel-bellies hard as rock. . . hands, legs, ankles, feet swollen.

The prescription: rest and protein diet. They get the rest—in a filthy, squalid sort of way.

The protein? Three hops of rice a day and water. A hop when cooked expands to the size of a fist. There is no allocation of vegetables or kimchi, the pickled-salad side dish traditional in Korean diet and source of their vitamin and protein nourishment.

Purves has arranged a supplementary ration of powdered milk and vitamin tablets, bolls it with the rice into a gruel and his patients get a cast-off beer-canful three times a day.

Purves in this one warehouse has put 222 moribund malnutrition cases back on their feet again. But 27 died.

Most of the North Koreans, though hungry in their houses and dugouts —in which they were hiding silks from the Chinese communists and United Nations air strikes and artillery — would rather have stayed where they were. They complied without demur on promise of good treatment.

SUMMER DAYS

These sun-filled days of summer,
Of limpid lake and stream,
When fleecy clouds are floating
In azure sky, agleam,
When softest zephyrs whisper
Among the rustling trees,
When 'mid the flowers resplendent
Are humming birds and bees.

So swift are slipping from us
Like ships on silver sea,
In vain we try to hold them
These days so glad and free;
As sands slip through the fingers
Of children on the shore,
So, into countless ages
They pass forevermore,

But oh! they leave behind them
Sweet memories and dreams,
That gild with golden sunshine
Life's turbid swelling stream;
And when my days are over,
So may there linger here
A memory like the summer days
To fill sad hearts with cheer.

Reds Charge Allied Planes Machine-Gunned Communist Truce Delegation Truck

Tokyo, Aug. 8— (AP) — The United Nations command headquarters said tonight the reds formally had charged that allied planes machine-gunned a communist truce delegation truck Tuesday.

The incident was said to have happened between Kaesong, site of cease-fire talks, and Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

Allied commanders immediately raised the question, or whether reds might be using the white flag carried by truck teams trucks for purposes "other than" intended.

There were no armistice negotiations Tuesday. But red radios have said the communist delegation went to Kaesong anyway, expecting the United Nations negotiators to arrive.

U.N. headquarters said the reds failed properly to notify the allies of the route the truck would travel and the time of its journey. Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, has informed the reds.

Under the safe-conduct guarantees for armistice delegations, opposing commander must be notified of the routes and times of travel.

The red protest, received today, said the truck was marked with a white cloth over its hood.

In his reply, the U.N. command said, Joy told the reds:

"I note that the location of the attacks you allege is considerably east of the main road between Pyongyang and Kaesong.

"This fact raises the question in my mind whether your forces are abusing the use of white markings for purposes other than serving your delegation."

Reply Handed Back

The red protest was delivered today to the U.N. command's liaison officer, Lt.-Col. C. C. Murray, by Col. Chang, communist liaison officer, at the outpost line near Pan Mun Jom.

Admiral Joy's reply presumably was handed back through the same channels.

The red message said that the attacks by two "airplanes of your side", occurred at 3 p.m. (1 a.m. EDT) Aug. 7.

"A supply truck of our delegation, with a white cloth over its hood and carrying a white flag in conformity with agreement," the red message stated, "encountered two airplanes of your side six kilometers north of Sibyon-ni, while on its way from Kaesong to Pyongyang.

"Those airplanes of your side, machine-gunned the truck twice, destroying its engine and incapacitating the truck. We have full proof to substantiate the above fact."

The communists said the United Nations command had agreed in the July 8 preliminary meeting in Kaesong that trucks of the red delegation would use the route day by allied planes if the vehicles were marked with white flags.

"On July 21", the message continued, "our liaison officer called the attention of your side to the fact that four supply trucks of our delegation carrying white flags had been attacked by airplanes of your side at Hwangju and Sariwon. Your side assured again at that time that henceforth trucks of our delegation with white flags and white cloth over their hoods would not be attacked."

Without Validity

In his reply, Admiral Joy said "your complaint is completely without validity."

The senior U.N. delegate to the truce talks explained that the red negotiations had been informed at the July 8 Kaesong meeting that all vehicles to be used by the communists to travel to Kaesong would be protected from air attack if marked properly and if the allies were notified in advance of their route and time of travel.

Joy said he noted "the location of the attacks you allege is considerably east of the main road between Pyongyang and Kaesong."

"This fact raises the question in my mind," Joy said, "whether your forces are making the use of white markings for purposes other than serving your delegation."

The senior U.N. delegate wound up his message with this statement:

Reds Abandon Iron Triangle For Second Time

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 9 — (AP) — Tank-led United Nations forces lumbered through the mud into Pyonggang yesterday and found that red troops have abandoned their former "iron triangle" stronghold for the second time.

The allied force was in the city for an hour and then withdrew. It was the first time in three weeks that U.N. forces had penetrated the town on the central front, 28 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Communists put up determined resistance against allied patrols elsewhere on the central and western fronts. There were sharp brief fights, southwest, south and southeast of Kumsong as allied patrols probed toward that new red stronghold to the east of Pyonggang.

Along the western front red troops mounted two small probing attacks west of Chorwon.

The New Zealand frigate Kaniere Bay moved into the Han River Tuesday to shell red troops. The navy said the frigate killed 100.

Rain clouds blanketing Korea held air sorties to 350 Wednesday.

But 40 B-26 bombers braved the bad weather last night to continue round-the-clock raids on Communist air fields and highways.

Lobbyists Cause Setback Says C.C.F. Leader

Ironsides, Que., Aug. 9 (CP) — Lobbyists in the United States have caused a setback to U.S. and Canadian interests by bringing about delay in starting the Rt. Hon. Lawrence Seaway, M. J. Coldwell, National CCF leader, said Wednesday.

Mr. Coldwell made the statement in an address prepared for delivery before the International Student Service at St. Alexandre College.

"Certain interests," he said, "did such an efficient job of lobbying the public works committee . . . that the national interests of both the United States and Canada have received a setback."

Elect Primate Next September.

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP) — Anglican Church officials here would hazard no guess Wednesday as to who will be elected next primate of the church in Canada in Victoria next September.

They said it was possible that one of the four metropolitans of the church might be chosen for the post but that any one of the church's 28 bishops is eligible.

Metropolitans are: Most Rev. John Lyons, Archbishop of Kingston; Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Archbishop of Quebec; Most Rev. L. R. Sherman, Archbishop of Winnipeg, and Most Rev. W. R. Adams, Archbishop of the Yukon.

Fire Destroys National Theatre And Cathedral

San Salvador, El Salvador, Aug. 9 (AP)—The metropolitan cathedral and the national theatre were destroyed by a fire yesterday that swept out of the theatre's film storages and across the main square of this Latin American capital.

First reports said 40 persons were injured in the theatre.

The fire started in late afternoon, presumably when a short-circuited wire threw sparks on a movie film.

Many dashed out of the crowds around the square and tried to rescue statues and objects from the main altar of the burning cathedral. It was the centre of ceremonies Tuesday honoring the Savious (Salvador), from whom both the country and its capital are named.

The clock in the cathedral tower struck four just before it tumbled down.

Firemen, handicapped by lack of water, controlled the blaze in the theatre and cathedral square. They saved the national university and the postoffice in the line of the flames and, also, the Bank of London branch building which at one time was surrounded by flames.

Air Force Recruit Faces New Charge

St. Thomas, Aug. 9 (CP) — Elmer A. R. Johnson, 19, of Medicine Hat, Alta., now being held in jail on a charge of assault with intent to rob, faced a new charge Wednesday. He will appear in court Friday on a charge of robbery with violence.

Police said Johnson, an RCAF recruit has been charged in connection with an attack July 14 on Sherman Rydzman, night clerk at the Empire Hotel. At the Empire Hotel, Alma line $52 was stolen from the hotel safe.

The first charge arose out of an attack Saturday on George Bardawill, elderly Belfast farmer. Police said the latter is still unconscious in hospital. His condition is said to be slightly improved.

Ald. Phillips Would Like Job As Controller

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP)— A controversy over who should be chosen to fill the vacancy on Toronto's board of control may be settled next week.

Mayor Hiram McCallum said Wednesday a special city council meeting will be held then to pick a successor to controller John Innes who died several weeks ago.

An argument has been raging in city hall about whether the successor should be selected from among members of the city council or whether Ford Brand, runner-up in last year's board of control elections, should get the job on the four-man board.

Alderman Nathan Phillips, veteran of 28 years in city politics, said Wednesday that he would be pleased to be given the job.

CALL OFF SEARCH

Riverside, Calif., Aug. 8—(AP) —The air force has called off the search for a Pasadena automobile salesman and his young woman companion, missing for three weeks in the trackless Arizona desert. Air rescue teams searched for eight days for Klaus Martin, 28, and Marijane Walker, 22, who left Los Angeles July 15 in a rented plane for Blythe, Calif. The plane was found undamaged last week in the desert about 50 miles from Yuma, Ariz.

Home-Delivered Milk in Toronto May Cost More

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP) — The price of home-delivered milk in Toronto may rise one cent above the Ontario Milk Board's 21-cent-a-quart designation, Mayor McCallum told Board of Control Wednesday.

He said the 35-cent-a-hundredweight increase in the wholesale price granted Tuesday by the board might force distributors to raise the price.

The board's order gives farmers a boost to $4.55. Cash and carry price, according to the board, will remain at 20 cents a quart and delivered price at 21 cents.

The mayor, consumer representative on the board, refused to sign the order granting an increase in the price paid to the producer.

$75,000 FIRE LOSS

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 9 (AP)— Eighty thousand gallons of gasoline, believed to have been ignited by a spark from a motor, went up in flames Wednesday when four storage tanks burned. Damage was estimated at $75,000. No one was injured in the one-hour blaze.

The tanks were owned by the Richfield Oil Company of New York and were located near Frontier Oil Refining property north of here near Grand Island.

Canadians Send Aid to Children In Many Regions

Toronto (CP) — In Ortona, Italian babies can receive medical attention at a clinic built and equipped with Canadian money. In every village in Carinthia, Austria, children are wearing Canadian clothing, and in Lebanon and Syria, Canadian supplies are the main support of child welfare clinics.

All this is the work of the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

At a recent meeting of the national executive of the fund approved a budget of $25,000 worth of food, clothing, shoes, blankets and baby powder for needy children in Italy, Greece, Austria, Syria and Lebanon. The shipment will include $2,000 worth of boys' trousers and $10,000 worth of girls'.

Mrs. R.T. Tanner, executive-secretary who has just returned from a visit to three Save the Children Funds in Europe and the Middle East, says that the character of overseas work is changing. Such funds are concentrating more on helping to raise the standard of child welfare and to give support to projects of lasting value in the countries being helped.

In Greece the government has asked the fund to save the Children Fund to open and supervise its training college for nursery school teachers. In Italy the Save the Children Fund has been asked to take charge of a preventorium near Rome and in addition is hoping to build a child welfare clinic.

Mrs. Tanner says the aim of the Fund is to help the people of needy countries to help themselves.

60 East German Communists Arrested by Reds for Deserting Festival to Visit West Berlin

Berlin, Aug. 9 (AP) — The west Berlin newspaper Telegraf reported today that more than 60 young east German communists had been arrested by red police for deserting their World Youth Festival to visit west Berlin.

The newspaper added that "several" leading officials of the Communist Youth Movement had been fired and arrested because of a breakdown in supply and organization for the festival, which has massed 500,000 youngsters in east Berlin.

West Berlin press reports also claimed that the blue-shirted east German communist youths had engaged in several flights with "People's Police" who tried to bar them from visiting west Berlin.

But as the festival went into its fifth day many communist youths still were ordering warm meals free in west Berlin youth homes on their visits across the sector borders.

Western sources estimated that about 200,000 youngsters already had come visiting. Of these, nearly 200 were reported to have asked about political asylum, but only 35 have been accepted as bona fide refugees.

Cream of Trot Stars Ready to Go For Rich Hambletonian Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. (AP) — The pick of the year-old trotting-horse battle for the riches ad ever that go with winning the Hambletonian tc. Good Time Park's triangular racing strip today with hopes the rains will stay away.

The 30th hurry whip classic was postponed yesterday when heavy rains made the track too hazardous.

But by mid-afternoon the sun had broken through and joined with the harness racing whipping the track into condition.

If there is no more rain, promoter Bill Cane expects the strip to be fast by the time starter Steve Phillips gives the 21 horses the word for the first of the best-of-three pole heats at 3 p.m. EDT.

$1,500 Expected

Upwards of 25,000 people are expected to jam the rambling grandstands along one side of the triangular track for the big race.

Veterans of the sport have decided the horse most likely to succeed and take down the major share of the $80,864 purse will come from the Du Quoin, Ill., strand Hayes Fair Acres stable. That means the winner will be either Spencin or Mighty Flea. The entry was quoted at 7 to 2 in the pre-race line.

One of Hayes' combination, Spencin, drew the favored No. 1 post position for the first heat. Mighty Flea however, starts from the 19th spot. That means he'll be in the second tier as the starting gate and width of the track permits only 11 horses to get away on the first tier.

The overnight betting odds indicate the second choice will be the Del Miller-trained entry of Betsy Volo and Watchs, owned by W. N. Reynolds, Winston-Salem, N.C., and Charles M. Provost, Pittsburgh, respectively, and Dunbar Eastwick's Great Hanover.

Precision Ramp Driving

Lucky Lott and his Hell Drivers will be the main attraction of the first day of the Fair, which opens on Monday. Here is a shot of one of his drivers tilting his car at a dangerous angle and then drive at mad rate along a ramp. At the same time another driver is making the same run on the other side of the ramp, which makes precision driving an absolute necessity. Two performances will be given on Monday.

Glen Roys Edge Howe-Hagerman 3-1 In Thrilling Play-off Series Opener

Glen Roy Athletic Club, taking advantage of every opportunity, outmanoeuvred Howe and Hagerman to snatch a 3-1 win last evening, and the first game of their best-in-five series to determine a league representative for the intermediate AOASA playdowns.

The game, a real thriller from the start, had all the scoring packed into the first two frames but the outstanding play of the game came in the top of the 7th when Glen Roy leftfielder Jack Hunter made a spectacular running shoe-string catch on Rex Young's smash with two men aboard.

The Plumbers, trailing by two runs started to rally in the seventh with Locke leading off with his second double of the night. Herb Henn filed out to left field and Harry Wardhaugh singled to centrefield. Wannamaker's relay to the plate held Locke at third with Wardhaugh taking second under the throw. Rex Young then smashed a hard hit drive to left field that looked good enough to plate Locke and Wardhaugh.

Jack Hunter, however, going hard to his left speared the ball in his shoetops and fired to the plate in time to hold the runners. This was the play that saved Glen Roy's hide and the ball game, and was easily one of the best plays seen in league competition this season.

Glen Roy opened the scoring in the bottom of the first inning with Bill Spafford lining a single into left field with two out, and then scampering home on Bill Corbett's triple to left-centre field.

Howe and Hagerman knotted the count in the second frame on singles by Locke, Henn and Rex Young.

Glen Roy came up with two tallies in the second which proved to be the winning runs.

Jack Hunter led off with a triple to left field. Sword struck out and then Wannamaker walked. On the second pitch Wannamaker stole second. Vern Goyer's toss to second base wasn't relayed back to the plate in time and Jack Hunter stole home to complete a neat double steal.

Marty Halloran then singled, moving Wannamaker to third. As Halloran attempted to steal second base Vern Goyer again threw to the bag, but the throw was bobbled by the shortstop and Wannamaker scampered home with the insurance run.

Ronsky struck out and Rowbotham went out to the infield to end the inning and the scoring. Over the rest of the route Plumber starter Rex Young faced just three more than the minimum number of batters.

Marty Halloran went all the way on the hill for Glen Roy walking one, striking out four, and giving up six hits for one run.

Rex Young tolled the route for Howe and Hagerman walking two, striking out six, and issuing five safeties, three of them triples, for three runs.

Rest at the plate for either team was Howe and Hagerman first baseman Don Locke with a single and two doubles in four tries.

The two teams go at it again Friday night at the Alemite Field at 6.30 p.m.

Lineups: Howe and Hagerman —Carson rf; D. Adams lf; Fitzpatrick 3b; W. Goyer ss; McGregor ss; Locke 1b; Henn 2b; replaced by L. Goyer in 9th; Wardhaugh cf; Young c.

FRANKFORD

Sidney-Frankford Veterans to Hold Memorial Day

Frankford—The largest Memorial Day crowd in history is expected in Frankford on Sunday, as the veterans of Frankford and Sidney township pay their respects to the comrades of two wars who paid the supreme price for freedom. This year, it is to be Sidney Day, in which the names of the Sidney heroes will be unveiled on the Frankford cenotaph.

Many outstanding representatives of the fine township of Sidney will be present to take part in ceremonies, including the Reeve of the township, and two well known gentlemen, Col. W. G. Ketcheson, and Col. Vandervaeter. The renowned Peterborough Salvation Army Band will again lead the parade, and favor with a concert in the Memorial Park.

Many Veterans Present

Veterans from a dozen neighboring Legions will be on hand to parade with the local boys. The Boy Scouts of Batawa and Frankford are expected to be on hand as well.

All in all, it promises to be even bigger and better than the fine Memorial Days held annually for the past six years.

Most of the credit for these annual events goes to comrade Arthur Southworth, of the Frankford branch of the Legion. Comrade Southworth has single handedly arranged the entire program for this annual affair, and arranged the billeting of the members of the Peterborough Band for dinner. It involved months of work long before the day itself, including motor trips to Peterborough, and many other places. To Comrade Southworth, the Frankford branch of the Legion owes a great deal of its success, for he has always been an outstanding worker.

This coming Sunday will be possible through his untiring efforts. An invitation is extended to all citizens of the district to come to Frankford on August 12th to pay respects to the boys who made it possible for us to live in a free country today.

Jockey Arrested on Fraud Charge Seven Admit Attempted Bribery

Hamilton, Aug. 8 — (CP) — Jockey Robert Wankmueller of Newark, N.J., described privately as among the best riders in Great horse racing tracks, was arrested today on a charge of defrauding the public. His arrest by Canada provincial police came moments after the Ontario Racing Commission ruled him off Ontario tracks for life.

It was the first action by police against a jockey as a result of the Racing Commission probe of suspected race-fixing in the province. The commission's ruling said:

"Jockey Wankmueller is suspended for life for offering bribes to other jockeys to induce them to interfere with the true running of horses entered in races on race tracks in the province of Ontario, effective immediately, and the subject matter of the commission shall be forwarded to the attorney-General of Ontario for such further action as he may deem fit."

Seven Appear

Seven jockeys had appeared before the commission yesterday. All testified that they had been approached by Wankmueller to accept money for holding their horses back in various races. Wankmueller denied the charges.

Before he learned of the commission's ruling, he remarked on the paddock lawn at the Hamilton Jockey Club that if he was ruled off he would take with him all persons involved.

Trooper Bigelow, chairman of the commission, said the sums of money offered to jockeys as bribes ranged from $150 to $300.

There were intimations that Wankmueller would not be the only jockey to face legal action. Commission hearing continues today and more riders are to be questioned.

Winds Up Live

Wankmueller's lifetime suspension brought to seven the number of jockeys set down thus far in the investigation which is formally during the recent race meet at Fort Erie, Ont.

Jockeys Phil Marchese of Pawtucket, R.I., and Bobby Keane of Toronto were suspended for life for actions previous to racing.

Apprentice jockey John Bromley of Toronto; jockeys Georges Thompson of Hamilton, Charles Bright of Muncie, Ind., and Robert Merchant of Toronto were suspended indefinitely for undisclosed reasons.

Three men have been arrested on charges of defrauding the public. They were picked up at Fort Erie track, while stamping in cash tickets for large sums of money on races believed to have been pre-arranged.

Jockey Marchese appeared before the commission yesterday and said he knew the names of the men behind the major betting coups. He said the commissioners asked him not to disclose the names because police wanted a chance to pick them up.

"I wouldn't tell you anyway because I want to live," Marchese told a reporter. "My life wouldn't be worth a dime if I told you his (Mr. Fix-It's) name. He is a Canadian who hangs around the tracks all the time and has operated a lot in the United States."

Sport in Brief

ThePrather soft par 3 at Islington Golf Club appears to be in for a shellacking at the 34th annual Miller Trophy professional match play championship which starts today.

Most of the entrants were out for practice rounds Wednesday, in one foursome, composed of three former winners of the title, all bettered par.

Stan Horne of Montreal Islemere had a 68, Bill Kerr of Montreal Beaconsfield and Gordon Brydson of Toronto Islington were a stroke or two behind, and Murray Tucker of London Sunningdale had a hot seven-under-par 66.

At Goshen, N.Y., the trotting horses museum was dedicated Wednesday in a colorful ceremony attended by more than 200 racing drivers attired in brilliant silk-colored silks.

R. Roland Harriman, president of the Hambletonian Society which sponsors the annual trotting classic, presided. The museum had numerous exhibits of the sport, including old saddles and other equipment.

At Kincardine, Russ Agnin advanced another notch on the comeback trail, taking all three heats in the free-for-all at Kincardien races Wednesday, and winning the Kincardine Trophy and major portion of the $600 prize money in the class.

The Leatherdale didn't set a record, but was extended to Billy Direct heir in all heats.

More than 1,500 fans watched the horses on a fast track.

At Kansas City, Jim Blair, III, husky 19-year-old amateur, shot the most phenomenal round of local golfing history Wednesday by blistering the old mission course with a 13-under-par 59.

The long hitting youngster had five Birdies on the outgoing nine of the 6,543-yard par-72 layout and on the back nine reached eight strokes off the standard 36 to finish with a 31-28.

Before the course was lengthened two years ago, Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Walter Blevins, a local professional, shared the course record with 64.

An exhibition football game at Buffalo Sunday may determine whether Buffalo will have an entry in the Canadian Big Four football league next year. Rod Hartnett, one of the promoters of Sunday's scheduled game between Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, says he may make application for a Buffalo franchise in the league if enough interest is shown by fans at Sunday's game.

The International Boxing Club said Wednesday one of the several heavyweight projects it is considering is a return bout between Joe Louis and Ezzard Charles, both former champions, in the Orange Bowl in Miami in February.

Baybrook notched a seven-length victory in the $17,750 George Woolf Memorial at Washington Park, Chicago Wednesday after the two overnight favorites Calumet Farm's Hill Gail and James H. Dunn's Oh Leo, were scratched because of the soft racing strip. The victory was worth $12,525.

The race was named in honor of Georgie Woolf, veteran Canadian jockey from Cardston, Alta., who was killed in 1946 in a California racing spill.

Macken, Main Canada's Choice Tennis Singles

By VIC MORRIS, JR.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 9 (CP)—Canada's top tennis aces, Brandan Macken of Montreal and Lorne Main of Vancouver, today received starting assignments in tomorrow's opening singles matches of the North American final Davis Cup tie against the United States.

The draw for opponents is to be held at 11 a.m., EST today at the Mount Royal Club where the three-day international competition will be staged.

Ranks Not Named

Captain Gordon MacNeil of Canada announced his singles selections early today. However, American captain Frank Shields preferred to wait until the zero hour before making his choices known. Davis Cup team captains are required to announce their first singles selections at least 24 hours before the matches.

The rainbirds have spectated since the arrival of the American squad Monday that Art Larsen, U.S. national singles champ, and Dick Savitt would be the No. 1 singles starters.

Canada is a 7-to-5 underdog to drop the best-of-five series without a match victory.

Macken and Main are the No. 1 and No. 2 men of the Canadian team. Macken, a 26-year-old veteran of six Davis Cup squads, is the only member of the three-man team given any chance of upsetting powerful Americans. In 1949 he came through with a surprising victory over Australia's Billy Sidwell.

Main, 21-year-old ambidextrous player, will be shooting for his second straight win in singles play. Last Saturday he scored a straight set victory over Cuba's Jose (Pepe) Aguero.

Schwab-Peewees Edge Lattimer's

Schwab's Pee Wee baseballers bested Lattimer's an 8-7 verdict yesterday afternoon in the first game of their best-of-three series for the city league title.

Elliott did the pitching for Schwab's while Vaughan, who was yanked in the second inning, was charged with the loss. Dickey came in with two on and one out. Two singles drove in the winning runs before the side could be retired.

Dickey led all batters at the plate with a single, double and triple in three appearances.

The two teams hook up in the second game Thursday.

Tribe Leads Yanks As Feller Wins 18th; Tigers Edge Chisox; 'Bums' Win

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

SO THEY LEAD THE LEAGUE!

The Peterborough Marines, Viaduct loop leaders called in two old baseball warhorses from the pastures here last night, tiffed harness on 'em and told 'em to get out there and stiffe these COBL upstarts from Belleville.

Cy Walley, who carried an impost of over 200 pounds and the meanless Gerome Whitehill cranked their aging bones out to the hill and plate, and despite the confident outpour of rheumatic pains did a right meaty job on our side for three innings. But there was look of Midmord, and the flesh proved weak. The Gunner who is not bothered with his hair getting in his eyes and the venerable Cy who hasn't seen the front for the past decade, suddenly folded and the Reds smashed out a barrage of clouts to send seven runners across the plate, which should have been eight, had Letty Whitman been looking at the ball and not the wheelwait at the Drive-In.

Enter Messrs. Doug. Plunkett and Al. Meanies, one of the topflight batteries of the Peter. And they did a fine job turning the Reds back with nary a run over the balance of the game while their mates pounded out sufficient hits to grab the pastime by a 9-7 count.

Yarn Grover's mighty smash in the fourth with the bases loaded had the fans on their feet, the Peter management reaching for help and a hurried SOS to Plunkett and Meanies. From where we sat the ball cleared the fence by a good margin, or as Ed Mochrie, local Whitman, after the fervore was over said "25 beamed" and Grover went back to third.

A SMART YELP!

That was a neat, nifty and eye-catching softball clash at Alemite Field last night when the Glen Rays edged the Stove-Rings 2-1 in the first game of their playoff series. The boys, with the "whips down," get down to business and with Marty Mallorun and Rex Young turning in masterful mound jobs, the game developed into one of the best seen here this season. Thus far it is anybody's series, and it should be a thriller from here in. Both teams are keyed up with plenty at stake and the remainder of the title will be classics. One win does not constitute a series and the Glens will needs be on their toes come tomorrow night when the second tilt is scheduled at 8:15. Good shall, pass sank, and well worth your while taking a passer up there and looking it over. It's worth two-bits or any man's money, and there's no extra charge for those who toss in a slug instead of a nickel.

TURK HERE TOMORROW!

Turk Broda, minus gall-stones, appendix and fifteen pounds avoirdupois will be here in person tomorrow night when his National League All-Stars revert to baseball and take on the Redmen. The last tilt was rained out with the pastimes enlarging a five-run lead after two innings of play. Cal. Gardner, 526. Smith, Harry Watson, Ray Timgren, Al Dewsbury, Maxie Quackenbush and the rest of the starry National Leaguers will be here. The game is said to be scheduled to start at 9 o'clock.

A SUGGESTION!

White-winged witches of sloop skippers of the city and district will take to the winds and waterways again on Sunday in another quest for the ubiquitous W. C. Mikel Trophy, originally given for the championship of the Bay of Quinte.

While this department is not attempting to douse cold water on the plans of the green-water boys, the "championship" that is fighting from one sloopee to another as regularly as the races take place, is now more or less of a misnomer.

Years ago, when this reporter boasted hair, a streamlined abdomen and a yen for sailing, we were a member of the crew of a dapper craft called the "Pagnart," a yawl-rigged graceful lady that often showed a towering wake to her stem-mates. In them that days around the Royal Nova Scotia Yacht Squadron, Halifax, we raced for trophies and the "championship" of the squadron, with handicaps of course.

The championship was decided on a point system. Races were run off every Saturday afternoon and at the end of the season the skipper amassing the most points was declared the champion; the sun went over the yard-arm at the presentation and a jolly old time was had by all.

While the sloop-skippers horsehoots are having a lot of fun challenging for the Mikel Trophy following each race, it is hardly cricket to associate the "championship" of the Bay of Quinte with it. It is, under these conditions, merely a race trophy.

We are not criticizing the modus operandi of the sailing ladies. Far from it. But we do suggest that if the Mikel Trophy is to be awarded as a Bay of Quinte Sailing Championship bauble, then a point system should be adopted and a champion declared and presented with it at the season's end.

RACE SUNDAY!

Three classes will go to the marital post off the Government Dock on Sunday, August 12. The sloops will vie for the Mikel Cup, now held by Group Captain Eakrey and his "Astra" of the RCAF, Trenton; the dinghys will seek the Centennial Trophy and the snipes will quest the Angus Mofae Trophy.

Interest in the race is mounting with each meet. At the last series of races a large crowd massed on the Government Dock, an ideal spot to view the boats for the entire length of the course. More and more craft are entering and the yacht racing sport is undergoing a well-deserved resurrection since Commodore P. H. Wills infected a much-needed needle in it a couple of months ago.

SOFTBALL PLAYDOWNS!

President Don Lee of the Commercial Softball League came to bat with the announcement that the Glen Ray-Stove and Hagerman tiff for the right to represent the city in the OASA playdowns will be a three-of-five instead of two-of-three as formerly held down. A winner must be declared by August 21st as the first round playdowns gets under way August 23rd against opposition as yet unnamed. In all probability the Belleville winners will meet Kingston in the initial round with Oshawa and Peterborough battling between themselves.

The team finishing atop the standing in the "AA" Section will go on into the playdowns, but all five squads will likely battle for the city title and the Lobatt Trophy. The Belleville winners have drawn a bye and will now see "outside" action until Sept. 6th. Arrangements for the five-team city title series are now under discussion.

Rapid Robert Sure for 20; Yank Cast-off Beats Mates; Chisox Trail by Seven Games

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bob Feller is the big man in Cleveland's surge to the top of the American League.

With 18 victories in the book, Feller is a sure shot for 20 or more. If he maintains his pace, he could equal his high of 27 victories in 1946. So far he's lost only four.

Feller pitched Cleveland into the league lead for the first time since May 2 when he beat St. Louis 2-1 for his 18th yesterday. Washington's Bob Porterfield opened the door by knocking his former New York Yankee teammates out of the lead with a 4-3 triumph.

Boston was rained out of its game with Philadelphia and Chicago, the other first-division club, lost ground in bowing to Detroit 6-5 in 11 innings. The White Sox now trail Cleveland by seven games.

Brooklyn opened up an 11 1-2 game lead in the National—high mark for the year—by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from runner-up New York 2-0 and 8-3 in 10 innings. Philadelphia sneaked closer to the Giants by shading Boston 3-2.

Pittsburgh bombed St. Louis 10-7 for Ralph Kiner's 15th victory and Cincinnati took a pair from Chicago 7-5 and 4-3.

Top Winner

Feller's victory made him top winner in the majors and extended the Indians' streak to seven straight. The tribe has won 31 of 40 in a drive since June 30.

Lazry Doby drove home both runs with a pop double in the fourth inning off Tommy Byrne who gave only five hits but walked nine.

Porterfield had solid hitting support from Mickey Vernon who blasted New York's Vic Raschi for two homers, each with a man on, to account for all the Washington runs.

George Kell singled home Steve Souchock with the winning run in the 11th to best Chicago's Saul Rogovin. Souchock had doubled to tie the score a moment earlier. Gil Hodges hit his 32nd homer, Duke Snider No. 33 and Carl Furillo No. 12 in the Dodgers' day victory over the Giants' Jim Hearn. Carl Erskine, who replaced Preacher Roe after two innings when his arm failed to loosen up, won his 12th.

Lots of Homers

Billy Cox singled with the bases full in the 10th for the night verdict over reliefer Dave Koslo. Snider and Furillo also homered in this game and Bobby Thomson hit his 22nd off Don Newcombe.

Eddie Waitkus tripled off Willard Marshall's glove with two on and two out in the eighth for the Phils' margin over Boston.

Pittsburgh collected 14 hits including Gus Bell's homer to nail down Dickson's 15th victory. Stan Musial hit homer No. 25 for the Cards.

Cincinnati blasted Chicago pitching for 14 hits to give Ewell Blackwell his 11th triumph in the first game.

Henry Wehmeier went all the way with a five-hitter in the second game won by Cincy with a four-run blast off Frank Hiller in the fourth inning.

Lacrosse

(By The Canadian Press)

Peterborough, Petes scored their 32nd win of the season and clinched first place in the Ontario Lacrosse Associations senior race last night defeating Toronto West Yorkz 29-13.

With a 13 point lead, the Petes can coast home in their final three games. Until last night Mimico was 12 points behind them with six games to play and so had a mathematical chance of catching up.

At Mimico the Mounties held off a last-quarter drive to defeat St. Catharines Athletics 15-13. They are in position to cop the final second-place standing although they now share that position with Hamilton Tigers who defeated Fergus Thistles 12-7 at Hamilton last night.

Mounties and Tigers have both won 16 games but the Mimico crew have two more to play than the Hamilton team.

Bisons, Leafs Split Twin Bill, Chiefs Nip Cubs

(By The Associated Press)

It didn't take Gene Markland long to make himself at home in Syracuse. He joined the club Tuesday from Kansas City. Last night he hit a 380-foot home run over the left-field fence to give Syracuse a 4-3 victory over Springfield.

Markland's first homer as a Chief came in the last meeting of Syracuse and Springfield this season. It gave Syracuse a 13-9 edge over the cellar club.

Chuck Eisenmann pitching the ninth in relief, was the winner over Alan Dick.

Buffalo held second place, 15 games behind idle Montreal, by splitting two at Toronto. Cosker Triplett's pinch-hit triple won the opener for Buffalo 8-1. Andy Anderson drove in four Toronto runs in their second-game 4-1 victory.

After Lou Possehl of Baltimore shut out Ottawa 2-0 with six hits, the Giants came back to get an even break by winning the second game 8-5. Hugh Poland sparked a four-run rally in the seventh to give Gerry Fahr his fourth win.

Montreal and Rochester were not scheduled.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
(For Hank Ballerstein, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 9 (AP) — There was an air of tranquility on the bench of New York Giants Manager Leo Durocher was saying that Willie Mays, in his opinion, is as great a fielding centrefielder now, in his freshman season, as Terry Moore was in his prime. He never saw with St. Louis Cardinals.

Leo, in other words, was on his favorite topic of the moment. He said that Willie, the 20-year-old Negro phenom, had made the greatest series of catches during the Giants' recent western trip that he had ever seen.

He had just finished describing the three-base catch that Willie made of a screaming liner out in Pittsburgh off Rocky Nelson, when one of the listeners remarked conversationally that he had read in the papers where Durocher picked Brooklyn to win the National League flag, with the Giants finishing second and St. Louis third.

Durocher jumped as though he had been prodded by a hornet.

"Who said I said any such (deleted) thing as that?" yelled Durocher. "I never said such a (deleted) thing as that to anybody. Nobody ever asked me. Who says I said it?"

Oh Leo!

None of those present would admit having been author of the statement, nor to even being a friend of the culprit, but Leo really reach, that is.

"Me, I never did pick those guys to win it and I never will. Sure, they've got themselves a nice little lead, haven't they? But I've seen too many things happen in this game to think that they've got any clinch."

was unmollified.

"Well, it's a hell of a thing," he fumed, "saying I said something I never said. What else did this story say?"

Well, another man on the bench ventured, it also said that Eddie Sawyer of the Phillies was the only National League manager who declined to predict the order of finish at this stage.

"What?" Leo snapped. "Sawyer refused to pick 'em? Why that guy was picking Brooklyn to win back there in May, right after the season started. That's

Petes Score Three in Ninth To Nose Out Redmen 9-7

By MAURICE H. REID

Peterborough [illegible] rallied for three runs in the ninth inning off relief pitcher Noakes to pull a 9-7 victory out of the fire from the Belleville Redmen at the Ille grounds on Wednesday night.

The Marines are currently pull in front of the pack in The ronto Viadux League while the leals are in third place in the Central Ontario Baseball League.

The Redmen once again [illegible] combed the early inning [illegible] and as a result the Marines plaed one in the first half three more in the second inning.

Oyver Clouts Grand-Slammer

Five successive hits in the fourth inning netted a big rally for the Redmen at Gyver, Buchanan, Dean and Reeves singled and Gilmour knocked a two-bagger. Moving results in the fifth as "Sonny" Mason's error and was followed by singles and [illegible]patrick who singled. The only out during this batting parade was Tom Bradley who struck out in the first base. "Red" Carson struck out for the second out and brought in Vern Gyver with a long base loaded. Big Vern walked for the first time and [illegible] really paled it.The ball soared well over the right field fence to drive in [illegible] six runs but was held up at third on a ground ball to shortstop Dean and inning by popping to the first baseman.

Billy Strahan coasted along from the second to the seventh without running into difficulty but three straight singles by Strahan, Milne, and Mason, driving in two runs and forcing youthful righthander from the mound. He was replaced by "Cutter" Noakes, veteran lefthand relief hurler.

Strahan walked to open the final frame for the visitors, scoring on Andy Milne's fourth single of the game. Milne flied out and Maurice Mason popped to short and the situation looked well in hand. John Wade had other ideas, however, as he connected solidly for a single to right scoring Milne who had reached second on a passed ball. Plunkett and Lowrey singled bashing in the plate another runs before Garvey popped out.

In Model Good [illegible]

Plunkett turned in the outstanding mound chore of the evening taking over from Whitehill in the fifth. He struck out Jake Redman while only issuing one base on balls. Whitehill, who had started, issued four and walked none. Strahan went very well from the start until the seventh, striking out six while passing half that number. "Cutter" Noakes pitched well and was charged with the loss.

Miller led both teams at the plate connecting for four singles in five appearances. Garvey and Golden each doubled. Gyver with a triple and two singles, Buchanan, Dean and Fitzpatrick with a pair of singles led the homsters. Gilmour hit a two-bagger for the only other extra-base hit.

Dutchies Victims Of Triple Plays

(By The Canadian Press)

Kitchener Legionnaires of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League may be wondering if triple plays are such rarities after all. Two of them have been pulled in the league this season and both times it has been the Legionnaires who watched three men called out on the same play. Centreman Ryder lined into a triple-killing last night in the first inning of a game at Kitchener won by 5-4 by Waterloo Tigers.

The first two Kitchener batters Fred Thomas and Don Gallinger, singled, leaving men on first and second, but Ryder lined a sharp line drive to Ray Borowitz at shortstop. Borowitz relayed to second baseman Jim Muldoon who doubled Thomas off and tagged Gallinger as he came in from third.

The victory moved Waterloo into a tie with Kitchener for the second and last playoff position in the seven-team league.

In other Intercounty games, Guelph Maple Leafs strengthened their hold on third place by turning back the league-leading Brantford Red Sox 5-3 at Guelph and London Majors consolidated their hold on second place by coming from behind to defeat Stratford Cubs 7-6 at London.

Fielding was major difference in the Waterloo-Kitchener game. Pitchers Joe Yonemia received less support as he pitched eight-hit ball before a season's record crowd of 4,000 at Kitchener. Legionnaires, on the other hand, made five errors which proved most of the Waterloo scoring.

Soccer Moguls Suspend Ass'n

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP) — In the aftermath of a stormy season, games brawl the Ukrainian Sports Association Wednesday night were suspended from the Toronto and District Soccer Association.

The suspension was aimed chiefly against the Ukrainian National League team— in third place in the circuit—but it means their senior league, juvenile and bantam teams will not be permitted to play in organized Toronto soccer at least until first April.

The suspension resulted from a riot Monday night when hot-tempered supporters of the Ukrainian team attacked players of the opposing St. Andrew's club at half time in a Cosmo Cup game. Seven players were treated in hospital.

R.C.A.F. Sergeant Wins Medal At Rifle Shoot

Long Branch, Ont., Aug. 9 — A sharpshooting Air Force Flight Sergeant from Ottawa Uplands R.C.A.F. station won the silver medal yesterday in the Ontario Rifle Association meet.

Flt. Sgt. J. A. Calder won the match when he scored a perfect 50 with a shoot-off with three other men. He managed to outscore CSM. N. L. Beckett of Hamilton, Sgt. W. E. Johnson of Toronto and Maj. D. T. Burks of Toronto, All four had finished the regular shooting with perfect scores of 110 but only Calder was able to maintain perfection in the shoot-off.

The team prize for the city of Toronto match went to the Queen's Own Rifles. Lieut. R. Harmer of Weston, CSMS. J. Stock, CSM. N. J. McLeod and Cpl. W. Durance, all of Toronto, produced a total of 438 of a possible 440. A team from the Toronto Scottish Regimental infantry was one point behind at 439.

The second stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match is to be held today. Three men with perfect scores of 75 headed the list of 40 competitors who returned yesterday for first round. The first stage at 200 yards eliminated 30 marksmen.

The top three are Flt. R. B. Sullivan of Toronto, Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson of Calgary and CSM. E. Stock of Toronto.

Sgt. Jim Wallace of Toronto won the Duke of Cornwall and York match with a perfect score of 75 possible 75. He had 34 out of 35 in the first stage at 300 yards and shot 19 bullseyes at 600 yards for a perfect 57 in the second stage.

Pte. L. Hamilton, and Lieut. R. G. Inch of Toronto and Sgt. Jim Reynolds of Ottawa were tied for second place with 56. The four men shot off for the match's silver and bronze medals today.

"So the pretty boys won the world's team match title and trophy, did they?" leered roughie-loughie Fred Atkins, hard-rock 'rassler from "down under" who with "The Leer", Lee Henning meets the Sharp Brothers, Mike and Ben in a team match here Friday night. "Well, you can tell 'em from us, that they've seen the last of their pretty beside, for we're going to take it from them like candy from a baby" went on the boasting Atkins. But Mike and Ben have other ideas. "We've met and beaten tougher chaps than these" smiled big Mike, "and if they think Friday's match will be a cinch — they'd better guess again." Tommy O'Toole meets Pat Flanagan, and Billy Stack stacks up against Tom Collins in the other two bouts.

Cricket Tourists Defeat Toronto

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP) — The touring Marylebone cricket club won by scores of 230 runs for seven wickets, declared, to 142 in an exhibition match with the Toronto cricket club at Armour Heights Wednesday.

Cricket weather prevailed and a good mid-week crowd was present.

Captain Robbins on the toss and elected to bat, taking M. M. Walford in with him to open the innings. McLean opened the bowling for T.C.C. from the pavilion end.

Runs came easily although the bowling and fielding was good before lunch. The 100 went up in 70 minutes, by which time three Marylebone wickets had fallen. At lunch time the score stood at 197 for five wickets.

After lunch the visiting batsmen became much more aggressive and the bowling became unsteady while the fielders lost much of their pep. The innings was declared closed with the score at 230 runs for seven wickets.

Toronto's innings opened disastrously, three wickets falling for 16 runs, Darby Loney was holding one end down confidently, but could get no one to stay until the arrival of Cayley. Together this pair added 50 runs for the seventh wicket and brought the total up to a respectable 130.

Army Coach Admits 'Imports' For West Point

West Point, N.Y., Aug. 8 — (AP) — Army football coach Earl Blaik conceded Wednesday that West Point recruited 40 of 11 high school football players a year. He defended the practice as "perfectly proper."

He defined the recruiting as inviting the athletes to the academy for a "cram course" to help them pass entrance examinations — with their expenses during the course paid by "interested civilian alumni." No government or athletic association funds were used, he added.

But we did not do that, we would be unable to have any athletes in West Point able to play a normal schedule," Blaik said.

Fifteen of the 45 players on last year's football squad entered the academy with this help, he said.

Blaik issued his statement in the midst of a country-wide controversy over the training and dismissal of 90 cadets, including a number of football stars, for cheating in classroom examinations. He said the training was given by civilian instructors, not members of the West Point faculty.

Young Canucks Provide Upsets In Ladies' Golf

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Laval-Sur-le-lac, Que., Aug. 9 — (CP) — Two young golfers from the same Ontario club formed half of Canada's surviving entrants today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian Ladies' open golf championship.

In a startling upset in yesterday's second round, Anne Sharp from the Lookout Point Club near Niagara Falls polished off Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., yesterday one up. It was the one big upset the tournament has produced so far.

Marlene Stewart, the bouncing little 17-year-old from the same club, marched confidently on her way with a 5-and-4 win over Mrs. Joseph Dagneau of the home Laval club.

Miss Stewart today was drawn against Marjorie Row, an American girl from the Beach Grove club in Tecumseh, Ont.

Miss Sharp, 23, took on Mrs. Peter Patch of Montreal Whitlock.

The other international match sent a Canadian dark horse against the most consistently low-scoring golfer the United States sector of six has produced so far.

Mrs. J. H. Todd, a striking blonde from Victoria, came from behind to defeat Quebec champion Daintry Chisholm of Royal Montreal 2 and 1. Today, she met Miss Murray, a quiet little business-golfer from Rutland, Vt.

Par-wrecking medallist in the qualifying round, the Rutland girl yesterday breezed through to a 7-and-6 win in rain and sleet of over Mrs. J. B. Seawright of Avonde Scarboro.

Grace Lenczyk of Hartford Conn., back in Canada again seeking the title she won in 1947 and 1948, defeated Mrs. J. C. Whitaker of Laval 5-and-4 and was drawn today against Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn.

Mlle O'Sullivan yesterday knocked out Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, O., on the 19th hole.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Ribbiner

A partner we sometimes cuss is Close-to-the-Button Davey. He sticks to the obvious and overplays all the gravy.

Where doubles and redoubles are concerned, most players fail to make the most of their chances. Particularly do they overlook many of the latent advantages offered by a redouble.

I am fully aware of what paloozas and other inexpert partners are up against. To them my advice is to ignore all but the normal meanings of redoubles. At least until they have more confidence.

But players who think well of their bridge ability can get out of a redouble much more than its original purpose intends. They can use it for a duel instead of a single purpose.

Suppose south opens with one diamond and west doubles for a takeout. What should north do with the hand you see here.

♠ K J 9 4
♥ A 9 7 3
♦ 10 4 3
♣ A

North has a biddable spade suit to call on showing. He also has good support for the diamond suit that his partner has bid. He also has plenty of power outside of the other virtues.

But he should not bid his spade suit. Nor should he assist at once in the diamond suit. He has a much better call in this spot. He should redouble.

The normal meaning of a redouble is that the doubled bid can be made despite what the opponents may claim. But to use it for that purpose alone is a waste of breath. It is a futile effort.

Do you know why? After a redouble, partner of the doubler is required to make a bid of some kind even if he has nothing. So, the redouble is quickly nullified by the next opponent.

Consequently, the use of a redouble should not be confined to only a temporary advantage. It must offer some additional purpose. There is such a purpose. I'll tell you about it.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 9 (AP)—It seems that every hour on the hour some film player returns from some far-off place. But here is one whose travelogue is out of the ordinary.

He is Glen Ford, whose European travels included a visit behind the iron curtain. While making "The Green Glove," Ford a native of Brentford, Ont., travelled throughout France, Spain and Italy, plus visits to Budapest and Vienna.

The trip to Budapest was brief. He arrived just as American diplomatic people were pulling out. He took the hint and left, too. But he spent a week in Vienna and he discovered first-hand the tactics of the Russians.

"It started when I was crossing the frontier from the U.S.-controlled zone to the Russian zone," he said. "The train stopped at Linnes, where the American soldiers looked at passports and visitor cards. I had made the mistake of having two names on my card—my real name, Cyrylyn Peter Newton Ford, and Glenn Ford.

"The American officer said the names would cause suspicion with the Russians, so I had to get another card. I got off the train and had to wait for the next one, which was a cattle train. When I went through, the Russians passed me all right. I learned later it was because I was travelling with the cows in third class. If I had been first class, I might still be there."

The Silent Treatment

Ford was accosted many times by Russian soldiers who demanded his credentials. "It was obvious they did it just for annoyance," he said, "because the same soldiers would ask me for my papers within a few hours. They would give you the silent treatment, never saying a word, but delaying you until some officer approved the credentials."

The actor found his own way of combatting the Russians. Foreigners are not supposed to walk on the sidewalk in front of the two big Russian hotels, but Ford did it one day. A jeep drove up beside him, bearing a Russian navy officer, an army officer and two privates. Ford trailed his steps until he wheeled around and demanded: "What do you guys want?"

The Russians were flustered and sped away.

When [illegible] came, Lance Bradley was the idolic of the rush. He was [illegible] and big then, lugging heavy mail bags up the post office. Making himself useful, always smiling, always friendly, Lance made friends everywhere he went. Followers of his age were stopping him on the street, inviting him to spend the evening with them, giving him as age or less than his age, were ogling him.

But when night came Lance Bradley wasn't out with the youth or maidens of Enerton. Closing time at the Enston office, and he would go home with Dad Roberts, tell tales and laugh with him about the day's experiences. After dinner, he would greet the evening with the people in their living room where he could have through newspapers, magazines, books, or books at will, or just sit and recall for the delectation of his hosts his experiences as he saw. He knowledge he had gained of people and things in the various ports he had visited.

But there came a day when it had to end. A place where he might work was found for him and he would leave Enerton.

"The employment agent with whom Editor Roberts had let Lance Bradley's name, phoned them to call at his office.

"It's but a job," the agent said, mockingly, when he met his ol-ol-ol-

RUSSIA TIGHTENS IRON CURTAIN AROUND POLAND

All American Cultural Activities Ended

Washington, Aug. 10—(AP)—State department officials said today Russia undoubtedly is tightening the Iron Curtain around communist Poland.

This opinion underscored a department announcement last night that the Polish government had ordered an end to all American cultural activities in Poland, and that "there was no alternative but to comply with this request."

In retaliation, after receiving word of Warsaw's action, the American government ordered the Polish research and information service at New York closed today.

In announcing these developments, state department press officer Michael J. McDermott specifically linked them with a recent visit to the Polish capital by Soviet Deputy Premier Vyacheslav Molotov (2). A message earlier this week to President Truman from the Soviet president, Nikolai Shvernik.

Molotov, in a speech, warned the Polish people against a threatened breaking away from Soviet domination in the manner of Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia.

Shvernik, in his letter to Truman, declared his government's decision to sever the cultural break with Poland, Truman had said his government would not be would answer Shvernik's letter. But he said he was not encouraged by this letter in his hopes for ultimately attaining permanent peace in the world.

State Department officials reported that the Polish shutdown of the United States information service came with surprising suddenness. They said the Poles made the complaint of a specific charge against either the U.S. information service director, Joseph Robinson, or his program.

Robinson's activities included distribution of English and Polish language books, pictures of agrarian, film showings and the operation of a library.

Fuel-Short Freighter Drifts Helplessly

Los Angeles, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Six of Capt. and Mrs. Donald F. de Mars' eight children are in general hospital isolation with polio cases, but all are critically ill and another's condition is described as "serious."

"These children are here," said Dr. Albert G. Bower, the hospital director, "because they're the easiest to get to.

"Five per cent of polio cases we find, can be traced to origins in another group, a family, a school or vacation groups."

Plan to Import 'Magic Earth' From Brittany Puzzles Officials

London, Aug. 10 (CP) —Officials of the British Board of Trade are puzzled over an application for special authority to import a hundredweight of black earth from France, to further the pursuits of witchcraft in Britain.

Cecil H. Williamson, 46-year-old film director, wants to get the earth from a spot in Brittany to complete the "magic circle of power" in the witches' den he has constructed on his farm in the Isle of Man.

The circle has been laid out in the design of Dr. Dee, Queen Elizabeth's astrologer, who is credited by devotees of the craft with having brought on the storm that wrecked the Spanish armada off the shores of Britain in the 16th century.

Mr. Williamson said there were 30 to 40 witches in Britain today, but declined to tell them his code name, "continued prejudice."

He also claimed it would be possible to endow the magic circle with power to accomplish strange things, but doubted if it would be public knowledge.

Plans he said, were being made for the first witches' convention to be held on his farm on midsummer day next year. At the same time the den, with its magic circle, would be opened to the public. However, for the protection of the over-eager it would be shown through a specially-made glass screen.

Government Scientists Soon To Produce Vaccine to Fight Newcastle Disease in Poultry

Ottawa, Aug. 10 (CP) —Government scientists are hopeful of producing a new vaccine soon to strike a blow at Newcastle disease, dreaded enemy of poultry.

The virus disease, ravaging flocks at a time when Canada is undergoing an unusual scarcity of eggs, has resulted in destruction of hundreds of thousands of eggs and birds, particularly in Western Canada.

Agriculture department spokesmen said today much study has been given to production of a reliable vaccine to protect poultry against Newcastle disease and such a vaccine will be available for general use shortly."

Cost of the new vaccine to poultrymen will be "negligible" and it will no longer be necessary to slaughter flocks to control the disease.

The Agriculture Department estimated 800,000 birds and 328,000 eggs have had to be destroyed since the disease first appeared into Canada about three years ago.

The cost to the government, through compensation to the farmers, has run to a total of almost $2 million in that period. During the four months of April to July, 371,000 birds and 328,000 eggs have had to be destroyed. Compensation ran to $232,255.

Last year greatest damage was reported in British Columbia. This year the disease appears to have spread eastward to Manitoba.

Of 386 flocks destroyed in the first year ended last March 31, 280 were in British Columbia. Another 112 flocks were destroyed in British Columbia in the four months ended last July 31. But Manitoba was harder hit, reporting 223 flocks destroyed, compared with only one the previous year.

In other provinces, Ontario reported 33 flocks destroyed, compared with only seven for the 1950-51 fiscal year; Alberta, 57, compared with only nine in last fiscal year; Saskatchewan, 86, compared with none a year ago.

No reports of the infection have come either from Quebec or the Maritime Provinces. For some unknown reason, the disease, which originated in Britain, has swept to the western side of the country.

To get the disease under control, the department started a mass vaccination in British Columbia last February. A total of 170,000 birds were vaccinated without cost to poultrymen.

But the vaccine has not been completely satisfactory for general distribution. For months the department has been trying to get improvements. Officials say they are on the right track, and will soon produce the new vaccine.

Expect Canada to Protest American Cheese Freeze

Ottawa, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Canada likely will officially protest American action in freezing cheese at current levels from Canada and other countries, trade and agricultural officials said today.

They expressed considerable surprise at a U.S. agriculture department announcement last night setting quotas on imports of cheese to prevent further expansion of some of foreign production in the U.S.

Canadian officials had hoped to widen the American market for Canadian cheese. With this in mind, Canada has negotiated a new trade agreement with the U.S. rate on cheese from 3-1-1 cents a pound to 3 cents. The advalorem rate was lowered from 17 1-3 per cent to 15 percent. Concession Destroyed

Now, with the new U.S. freeze on foreign cheese, officials said the value of the concession is partially destroyed.

Shipments of Canadian high-quality cheese to the U.S. last year were 1,000,000 pounds, almost double the 1,000,000 in 1949. Exports to the U.S. in the first month of this year totalled 1,500,000 pounds.

Under the new U.S. action, the total that can be licensed for importation for the remainder of this year will be limited to twelfths of the annual average importation during the years 1948-50.

That may cut Canada's export to the United States to the U.S. by about 1,000,000 pounds.

Canada has a substantial market for cheese under an Ontario producers' agreement with the U.K. officials said they were not "too worried" about exports this year.

Travel Minister Says Toronto Only to Blame

Toronto, Aug. 10.—(CP)—Travel Minister Cecile said Thursday that, if Toronto is not getting its full share of tourist business this year, it has only itself to blame.

In a public letter he had written to George Wilson, president of the Ontario Hotel Association, who was quoted a few days ago as saying that hotels throughout the province were feeling a slump and that tourist trade in Toronto was down 25 to 30 per cent from last year.

"The fact is that there is no 'slump' in the tourist business in Ontario," Mr. Cecile said. "The volume of the tourist business in Ontario is at an all-time peak."

If Toronto business is off, he said he can think of three reasons: The Toronto hotel association head was widely quoted recently as saying tourists would only pursue a 'get-tough' policy with tourists, some major hotels have apparently put up rates, and that or confirmed reservations, some refusals to pay exchange for United States funds have been reported, Toronto hotels charge $2 more for room accommodation than is charged by hotels outside the city, traffic congestion discourages visitors from staying long.

JUST A "WHISTLE STOP"

Brantford, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Brantford has joined the Canadian cities which are making representations to Ottawa asking changes in the itinerary of the Royal tour in October.

Mayor Howard E. Winter telegraphed Ottawa today asking that Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh make a brief visit of the city's streets instead of a "whistle stop" at the railroad station.

HIGH CANADIAN DIPLOMAT SAID LOYAL TO GOVT.

E. H. Norman Cleared Of Red Association

Washington, Aug. 10—(CP)—A high Canadian diplomat whose name was associated with a 1939 communist student group was a witness at the Senate Security hearings yesterday, has been thoroughly investigated by the Canadian government and given a "clean bill of health."

The Department of External Affairs in Ottawa issued a formal statement supporting the loyalty of E. H. Norman, acting chief of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations.

It cleared Norman of alleged past association with the communist party shortly after the Senate Internal Security Committee disclosed testimony by a witness that the Canadian expert on far east affairs belonged to a "communist party student group" at Cape Cod, (Mass), in 1939.

The committee's chief counsel, Robert Morris, said the witness was Dr. Carl August Wittfogel, a university professor who broke with the communist party in Germany in 1933. Wittfogel told the committee "it was obvious" that Norman was a communist at that time.

While the department's statement did not mention Wittfogel's allegation specifically, an official of the department said it had been ascertained that Norman never was at Cape Cod in his life.

Wittfogel has been described by the authorities as director of a Chinese history project co-sponsored by the university of Washington and Columbia university in New York.

Norman's name came up during questioning of Maj.-Gen. Charles Willoughby, former far eastern military intelligence chief of General MacArthur.

Fights for Life In Iron Lung, Baby is Born

Toronto, Aug. 10 (CP) — A baby-pound girl was born last night while her mother fought for life in an iron lung in isolation hospital.

The baby, born to Mrs. William Miller, 25, of Peterborough, Ont., appeared perfectly normal, said Dr. Frank O'Leary, head of the obstetrical department at St. Michael's Hospital.

The birth was the first, to his knowledge, in an iron lung, Canada.

Mrs. Miller was brought from Peterborough last night after being stricken with polio Tuesday. Doctors said she was given the last 17 miles of her trip by oxygen administered by a nurse.

The baby was born after Mrs. Miller was removed from the cabin of the plane and the nurse.

TRANSIENT IDENTIFIED

Brockville, Aug. 10 — (CP) — A transient killed when struck by a car on No. 2 highway a half mile east of here Tuesday night has been identified as Joseph Peterson, 71, of Red Rock, Ont., near Peterborough. Identification was obtained by police through fingerprints and a description of the elderly man.

Tens of Thousands of Iron Curtain Youths Desert World Peace Festival

Berlin, Aug. 10 (AP) —Eluding vigilant police controls, additional tens of thousands of Iron Curtain youths deserted Communist World Youth Peace Festival in East Berlin to swell the mass of youths whom the communists brought to the East Berlin festival from the surrounding Russian occupation zone. Shortages of food supplies and housing for the two week show reportedly have the delegates brought in shifts for visits about five days each.

West Berlin authorities, who have the task of interviewing and entertaining the visiting participants, reported that about 700 had inquired about asylum in the west since the festival opened last Sunday. Only a small fraction are accepted, however. Because of the already heavy financial burden of the refugee load, only those who can prove they can't safely return home. The others are given a free indoctrination course in anti-communism and advised to go back to their own land to help win even under the pressure of communist rule.

The communist leaders also were reported to be confronted with scattered protests among foreign delegations to the festival.

A group of British delegates were said to have refused to move into their quarters until pictures of Stalin were removed. This group claimed they thought they had come to a non-political world youth gathering and didn't understand why it should be festooned with communist posters and symbols.

Twelve Are Killed In Troop-Passenger Train Collision

Wreck Occurs in Desolate Swamp at Baton Rouge, La.

Simmesport, La., Aug. 10 (AP)

A head-on crash of a Kansas City Southern streamliner and a troop train carrying 30 marines today killed at least 12 persons and injured 60 or more, state police reported.

None of the dead was identified immediately, state police said.

The wreck occurred in a desolate swamp area 60 miles northwest of Baton Rouge, La.

Troop Train Derailed

State police sent 100 officers to the scene when communications lines were crippled by the wreck. Telephone lines paralleling the railroad were knocked down and only death messages could be telephoned out of the area.

Casualty reports varied widely but a Kansas City Southern official at the scene verified the state police report that the known death toll was 12.

Several of the cars and both diesel engines caught fire after the smash. A spokesman on the Southern Belle said marines told him three or four officers were trapped in a burning car.

The passenger train was southbound en route to New Orleans. The troop train was the Southern Belle operated by the Louisiana and Arkansas railway, a subsidiary of Kansas City Southern.

The Kansas City Southern office at Alexandria, La., 50 miles northwest of the scene, said at midmorning that some of the cars were still burning from the fire started by the wrecked diesel engines.

L. W. Graves, a passenger on the Southern Belle, said the first car back on the troop train engine burned completely and marines said three or four of their officers were among the dead.

Graves said the accident occurred shortly after 7 a.m. but help could not be reached until one of the passengers or trainmen walked several miles through the desolate swamp to a telephone.

Dozens of ambulances were summoned to help the injured who alongside the wreckage awaiting evacuation to hospitals.

Graves, meanwhile, said two or three cars of the troop train were derailed and several passenger cars.

Both diesel engines caught fire after the impact, he said.

State police had reports that bodies were spilled over the area.

Communications into the sparse area were limited and details were lacking on the number of dead—if any—injured.

The Southern Belle is a Kansas City Southern Railway train operating between Shreveport and Kansas City. It was enroute to New Orleans when the train crashed.

Britain, Iran Reach Agreement On Some Points

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 10—(AP)—Britain and Iran have reached their first specific step toward breaking the deadlock which has shut off the flow or oil from the world's biggest refinery at Abadan.

British and Iranian negotiators yesterday appointed a committee to work out a system of receipts to be signed by tanker captains for oil they carry away from the rich Persian Gulf oil fields.

Edouard Mathieu Martin Sanjabi of the Iranian delegation disclosed the move, which was taken after Britain's nationalization specialist, Sir Donald Ferguson, explained how the new labor government had applied the principles of nationalization.

Ferguson was appointed on the receipts board, along with Ali Shayegan of Iran and a representative of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company—the $1,400,000,000 Persian holdings Iran has nationalized.

2 Hours' Silence Features Truce Talk Meeting

U.N. Advance Headquarters, Kores, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Deadlocked United Nations and communist truce negotiating delegations sat for two hours and 11 minutes in total silence today, each waiting for the other to change its position.

The unprecedented silence was interrupted by Maj.-Gen. Paik, U.N. command said, when the communists refused to talk about anything except a buffer zone located where they want it.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, proposed several alternatives to break the deadlock. Then he waited for Communist Gen. Nam Il, to head of the red delegation to reply.

For 131 minutes, nobody spoke.

"The air was full of electricity," said Lieut.-Col. William F. Nuckols, U.N. command spokesman.

He said General Nam fidgeted nervously, smoked cigarettes, smoked cigarets incessantly and glanced repeatedly at his wrist watch.

Occasionally he received notes from staff officers behind him. But he said nothing.

Remain Impressive

Nam said nothing.

Admiral Joy and communist generals held occasional whispered conferences. Most of the time, Nuckols said, they remained impassive.

Admiral Joy sat calmly, Nuckols said, "writing notes in a bound book of blank pages."

Joy appeared patient; sometimes bored, Nuckols said.

Joy broke the silence.

The admiral asked:

"Do you have any proposal by which we could break this deadlock?"

Nam was silent for a moment. He appeared to be expecting answers from other members of the red delegation. Finally, he replied that the deadlock could be broken by using the parallel 38 as the military dividing line.

Nam then left and repeated the conference temporarily pass the buffer zone issue — then two hours, Most of the time proceed to number three: international inspection behind front lines.

Nam refused.

Anglers Turn Hunters in Wild Chase for Porker on Nigger Is.

No, dear readers, they were not men from Mars, refugees from a subterranean chain gang, or poachers from an ark as well.

The mud-encrusted quartet who staged such an impromptu fishing trip and ended up successful heroes of a wild-pig hunt could not removed crusty slime from clothes and recalled themselves for a tasty meal of succulent pork chops with no indents in the family escutcheons.

Nigger Island, off the Trenton Air Station, was the locale for the chase. It developed after a fruitless effort to land bass or pickerel from the deep in its vicinity. For hours they had angled and nary a nibble bobbled their cork.

Nearly Submerged

Now the island is having a tough job trying to keep its face above water. High winds and resultant waves have reduced its surface to a slimy quagmire, and it's quite a bit submerged.

Our heroes pinched themselves to see if they were awake when they spotted a porker, some 85-90 pounds in weight disporting itself in a slimy, muddy paradise.

With ordinary hogs holding sweaty snouts high in the air to the high prices of tenderloins, hocks and lovely bacon, the four city blokes decided to stage a wild-boar hunt on their own.

They plowed through muddy bogs. They moved through six-inch layers of slimy mud. They stalked that footloose piglet and his grunts were reduced to blasting whereoos.

They finally brought him to earth.

The pig, it appears, had heard of the rocketing prices of his hams when but a squealing youngster. So he decided to give it all up, and run away from home. For the last few months this Friday-less porcine Crusoe lived on his island, unmolested.

When the proud hunters emerged, heads muddied but unbowed, shoulders still flexing muck, and arrived at the mainland, it was almost impossible to ascertain which was the hunted and the hunters.

Finally a bright observer who saw the carnicide land, decided the inert form with the longish ears, and protruding snout was the trophy of the hunt, albeit was the same colour.

Crippled Kiddies Guests of Shrine At Fairgrounds

Shriners Paddy and Frank Conklin of the famous Conklin Shows will take time out for a special job at the Belleville Fair next Wednesday.

Like other Shriners, Paddy and Frank take a keen interest in and devote a lot of time to the welfare of crippled children and other children not so fortunate as the greater majority.

Wednesday the Conklin brothers will don their fezzes, and join Belleville Shrine Club members in a boat ride for nearly 300 youngsters from Hastings and Prince Edward counties.

It is going to be a great day for crippled and handicapped through polio and other crippling diseases. Shrine clubs have the time of their young lives if the Shriners can make that possible. And that's beyond all doubt.

Sea Sporting

Thanks to the generosity of the Conklins, there's nothing for their orchestra to do but watch the children won't see. They'll get treats and a tasty luncheon, thanks to the Belleville Shrine. They'll go on rides and take in everything at the fair, so much that the fair provides. They will join in sports of other children for a day of fun and entertainment that comes all too seldom in their crippled lives.

They will be called for by Shrine cars at 10 o'clock in the morning and they'll be back in their homes safe and sound, tired and happy, by 5 o'clock in the evening.

It's quite a job on the part of the Shrine Club. It is no easy task to look after all the details necessary in the success of the day. It means that all help available will be needed. Shrine members are requested to turn out and make Wednesday another red-letter day in the lives of their child proteges and their own as well.

Everything Ready For Opening Of Fair Monday

Arrangements were completed for what is believed to be the finest exhibition staged by the Belleville agricultural society at a special meeting held by directors last night. It was the final get-together before the fair opens on Monday, August 13th.

Representatives of the Conklin Brothers Shows, who will again provide a highly entertaining midway and tented attractions are on the city today making out the ground for the erection of tents, concessions, etc.

"The grounds" the directors said, "were in excellent condition, thanks to the fine efforts of Superintendent S. Nicholson and his staff."

Monday will be Children's Day, also Lucky Lot Day. The daredevil driver and his associates will present two thrilling performances during the afternoon and evening. All the high grade will be used by Lott and his drivers in their exhibitions.

The exhibition will be officially opened at 8 o'clock Monday evening by Warden Harry Coulter, Hastings County and Warden James Clemiason, Prince Edward County.

Secretary Erle Denyes said today the stage is all set and with fine weather prevailing records should go by the board in this year's exhibition.

Codrington Boy Dies in Hospital, Accidentally Shot

Philip Mound, 12, of Codrington, died in hospital here last night after shooting himself at home Monday.

Provincial police of Brighton, who are still investigating the case, said this morning that it was still not clear how the shooting occurred. A bullet from a .22 rifle entered the left side of the boy's throat, and left the right side at the back of his right shoulder.

Dr. H. Clarke, of Brighton, who attended the boy, said that he was conscious immediately after the accident, and remained so during the trip to Belleville hospital. Dr. G. H. Stobie, who operated on the boy here, said that the bullet from respiratory paralysis due to damage caused to nerves in the throat by the bullet.

Dr. Stobie said that a small silver tube was inserted in the throat after the boy's larynx swelled so that he could not breathe. The swelling was stimulated, he said, by the boy's respiratory muscles in the throat. He said that the boy was in good condition but was suffering from shock.

Provincial police are still at the scene and still investigating the accident, and then complications set in.

Playing With Cousins

The boy was playing with his two cousins, Robert and Albert and Ted Mound, at the provincial bird farm and fish hatchery at Codrington. Albert Mound says he's got their hands on the rifle, and it is believed that it was accidentally discharged while in the hands of one of the two cousins.

The boy was pronounced on the ground by Jack Loucks, manager of the fish hatchery. At that time, he was conscious and talking to his companions. Dr. Clarke treated the lad at the scene and sent him to hospital by ambulance.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mound. His uncle, Percy Mound, father of the companions of the shot youth, is manager of the bird farm.

Long Arm of Coincidence
Child's Toy Balloon Aids In Reunion of Friends After Separation of 30 Years

The long arm of coincidence reached out this week and will arrange a reunion in the near future for two school chums who haven't see each other for 30 years or more. What's more, the long arm was aided by a child's toy balloon.

The story has its start at the diamond anniversary celebration at Tweed last weekend. Frank Langabeer of Belleville went to Tweed to attend the celebration and while he was there, he bought one of hundreds of toy balloons that were being sold.

The balloons were filled with helium gas from a tank at the fairgrounds. Mr. Langabeer, for a joke, took an anniversary program, wrote his name and address on it and released it into the air. He thought it might be interesting to see who found it.

Mr. Langabeer found it more interesting than he thought. The balloon was found by CNR section men working near Bloomfield. They turned it over to Bloomfield office of the railroad, and there it came into the hands of one Claude B. Simmons.

And that is where coincidence comes in. Mr. Simmons had a suspicion that he knew Frank Langabeer when he attended public school at Wallbridge about 1905, so he wrote a letter. He cadet.

Mr. Langabeer, married and with four children, is still amazed that a little balloon could do all that.

"The first time I'm out for a drive," he said, "I'll go and see him."

When the balloon was found, it was still floating in the air, but its string had caught on a low bush. At the rate the balloon was travelling, it might have crossed the lake, if it hadn't come to the bush. And if it had made the lake journey, it couldn't possibly have been found in such surprising than re-unite school pals who hadn't heard from each other for more than three decades.

Chip Off the Old Block Outfishes Two Veteran Companions on Trip

Three husky adult fishermen one of them a veteran guide, trapper, hunter and angler had their confidence severely shaken today.

For it took a five-year-old fishing tyro to show them how to land the elusive black bass.

It happened at Twin Sisters Lake nine miles north of Marmora. In party were Dr. Douglas McArthur, his 5-year-old son Dougie Jr., of Toronto, and Bellevillite Lorne Peterson, woodsman of the district.

Along for the ride was five-year-old Peter Peterson, son of the sports editor of this newspaper.

The quartet fished for two hours in the lake, but nary a nibble greeted its lures. They returned home with no trophies of the water.

But Peter was not satisfied. Alone he wandered to the cottage dock and tossed out a worm-baited hook from his $1.50 pole.

Five minutes later he had caught his first fish, a 1½-pound small-mouth.

When the excitement had subsided, Peter rebaited the hook and floated it in the water.

Came another excited shout. The youngster had his second fish, this time a 1¼ pounder.

Later that evening his three sewed buttons on the front of his shirt.

COOKE—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Alice Cooke, who passed away six years ago, Aug. 9, 1945.

In the midst of our joys we are blue
Our hearts are sad and lonely
All hearts are broken,
Lonely for you, mother, for you.
—Sadly missed by husband and family.

12 Superforts Fly by Radar To Blast Yards

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 10—(AP)—Twelve superforts flew by radar today through heavy undercast to continue the blasting of major railway yards in western Korea.

Today's attack was on yards near Hwangju. Yesterday B-29s escorted by Australian Mustang jets, rained 100 tons of explosives on two yards. Flak caused some damage to the attacking planes, but all returned.

Thursday's air action was marked by the return of red jets to Korea.

Opposing jets clashed three times. One American RF-80 reconnaissance jet was slightly damaged when four red jets jumped it. No other damage was reported.

In other encounters F-86 Sabre jets turned back 34 red MIG-15s that were gunning for a flight of American B-29s and four B-26 Shooting Star jets fought a brief engagement with eight MIGs.

Rains limited ground action Thursday.

U. N. troops stormed one strategic hill in eastern Korea. But bands of long wet rain thrown off another high ridge they have fought off and on for weeks.

Seven Cadets Leave for Camp On West Coast

Trenton. (Special.)— Seven happy sea cadets left Trenton last night headed for a trip across Canada to a naval training camp on the Island of Lotzes, 16 miles out in the Pacific Ocean, off the west coast.

Six of the boys are making their longest venture away from home. One, Jim Anderson, has visited the camp before. The course lasts one month.

Cadet Jim Anderson described the camp as a fine place. His fellow cadet Gerry Crawford handled for words so express his good fortune. "Its a wonderful thing. I may never get the chance again," said the excited Crawford finally.

Lieutenant Fred Goldberg was at the station to see his boys off on the train. They pulled out at 11.00 p.m. and were scheduled to arrive at the Union Station at 8.30 p.m., where they were meeting more sea cadets to continue westward.

The seven Trenton boys were: Carl Hunt, Fred Dobson, Frank Widdick, Marvin Haynes, Gerry Crawford, Jim Anderson and Bob Burleigh.

Catches Baby Crane

A young half-grown crane that had apparently suffered a wing injury, was caught this morning by Clyde Mason on his way in from his summer cottage at Stoney Point. The wild bird resisted capture and his long razor sharp beak held his captor at bay until the idea was conceived to throw a bag over the fighting mad bird.

Mr. Mason took the bird to Dr. D. McMullen at Frankford, who will include it with his collection of tame and wild feathered birds at the rear of his home.

Three-Yolked Egg

One morning recently Art Holsey Sr., decided to have a fried egg for breakfast. Instead, he had three fried eggs out of the one shell.

When he broke the shell out rolled three perfectly formed yolks and very little white.

Commented a saving housewife: "just think, I could have baked a cake with that one egg".

Five Villages Ravaged By Italian Floods

Como, Italy, Aug. 10 (AP) — Ebbing flood waters today uncovered a dark story of death and destruction in Italy's Lake Como district where swollen mountain streams have laid waste five villages.

The Italian news agency Ansa said 36 persons have perished in the stricken area. Many others were missing, feared lost.

Two streams, swollen by heavy rains over the last week, overflowed their banks following a cloud burst Wednesday night in the five-village area.

Mud — laden waters burst through the Domaso dam and brought havoc in the hamlet of Gera Lario. Domaso and three other villages—Dongo, Sorico and Soudrio—also were hard hit.

Telegram Outlines Plans for Visit Of Royal Couple

Trenton—(Special)— Following is the text of a telegram received this morning by Mayor Couch of Trenton from the Undersecretary of State, C. Stein regarding the tour of Their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

"In regard to the Itinerary of Their Royal Highnesses tour and the press release issued here this morning, I desire to confirm that Their Royal Highnesses will be arriving by train at 1.00 p.m. at Trenton on Friday, October 5th, and leaving at 2.00 p.m. on the same day. They will be visiting Air Training Command R.C.A.F. Station. It is hoped that you will meet Their Royal Highnesses at station and accompany them to Air Training Command R.C.A.F. Station, and also that you will return to the railway depot with them and see them off.

"It will probably be possible for you to present 30 or 40 of your principal citizens to Their Royal Highnesses on their arrival and it is hoped that as many people as possible will be able to see them on their drive to and from R.C.A.F. Station.

"There is absolutely no need for an address of welcome to be presented, and in view of the shortage of time available to you we feel that it ought to be omitted. We have telegraphed to the Commanding Officer of R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton and hope you will confer with him regarding times of arrival and departure from R.C.A.F. Station. In this connection it is also possible for Their Royal Highnesses' cars to proceed at a greater speed than the eight miles per hour through crowded streets.

"Please let me know by telegram how many people you propose to present at the Station and any other arrangements you may have by 15th August."

(Signed)
C. Stein
Undersecretary of State
Chairman of Special Committee.

At my Mayor Couch has made no statement as to the persons who will be presented.

He has stated however, that he intends to work closely with Air Force officials at Trenton.

In addition he intends to have seats erected for the aged and infirm, and those who will be unable otherwise to see the royal couple.

Winnipeg Airport Will be Enlarged

Winnipeg, Aug. 10 — (CP) — A $1,000,000 expansion program for Winnipeg's Stevenson field airport will be completed before the end of the year, transport minister Chevrier said yesterday.

Accompanied by Air Transport Board members and department officials, Mr. Chevrier is on a tour of western airports.

Strengthening and lengthening of Stevenson runways, Mr. Chevrier said, will put it in the "same category as Montreal, Malton and Dorval airfields."

Speaking of the St. Lawrence seaway, he said it is essential, particularly at present to increase hydro power for Ontario and Quebec.

He declined to say whether he thought the Canadian government would proceed with the development on its own, but said the matter was "under consideration."

Railway officials, including R. C. Vaughan, former president of Canadian National Railways, and Donald Gordon, its present head, are solidly behind the St. Lawrence seaway development," he said.

"They stress that completion of the project would result in not a general expansion of industry throughout Canada, the railways would receive far more business."

FRED ROSE, EX-M.P.

So Fred Rose, one of the masterminds of Canada's greatest spy rings, is at liberty. What is more, the professed Canadian communist cannot be deported from the country, and if he so chooses, he may run for Parliament again under his greedy banners of aggression, espionage and perfidy. If Rose should elect to do so, his candidacy would be one of the greatest insults to the Canadian Parliament ever recorded in this country's history. In a backhanded fashion it would also be a tribute, for where else could a man engage in the low work in which Fred Rose prided himself, be sentenced to prison, and then return to offer himself to the people again?

Only two of the original spy ring which operated in Canada are still in prison. They are the notorious Sam Carr, former national organiser of the Labor-Progressive Party in Canada — the communists, plain and simple — and Gordon Lunan, the fellow-traveller and traitorous crowd which was enabling Rose to sell this country, along with others, to the Russians. Carr originally escaped capture along with his fellow spies, but was later apprehended in New York in 1940. Subsequently, he was sentenced to six years in penitentiary, and the big ends of the most famous Canadian espionage case were supposedly cleaned up. Now the case is becoming unravelled again, and Fred Rose is a potentially dangerous tag end.

An M.P. Fred Rose may have seen the error of his ways by this time is a vague one, and is not to be counted on at any time. Communism is a creed by which men live, as distinguished, from mere political leanings. A man may be both a Liberal supporter and a Christian, a Progressive Conservative worker and a Christian, a C.C.F. stalwart and a Christian. He may also be a member of any of the splinter parties of Canadian politics, and still be both a Christian way of life. But when a man is a communist, he cannot be a man of Christ, because his ideological beliefs preclude the existence of a God as the highest ruler.

For that reason, Fred Rose will not have changed his mind during the time he has been in penitentiary. If he says that he is reformed, and is now ready to lead his life in a manner loyal to Canada, can he be believed? If it is true, as has been rumored, that his communist friends are through with him, that is only to be expected. He cannot expect their sympathy from the people of the country which put him behind bars.

The unfortunate part of the Rose episode is that Canadian laws do not permit us to deport citizens, as they can stand. A recent amendment to the Citizenship Act provides that any such activities in the future will constitute immediate grounds for deportation from the country. The law, however, is not retroactive, and Rose will thus not be affected by it. If he lives within the security of Canada again, and is caught again, there is little doubt that his passage would be arranged to the fount of lies in Moscow.

At present, there is too little realization of the danger these men have represented. While it is true that the police forces of the country are well prepared to gather up any men and women who would be willing and ready to turn traitor if there should be another war, the Canadian public apparently refuses to become excited about these people in peacetime. There was a momentary flurry of indignation when Carr, Rose et al were revealed for what they were. When Carr was apprehended in New York in 1940, there was another small flurry of excitement. But on the whole, Canadians maintain their placid disregard of men who are eager for the chance to sell out this country.

Men and women whose instincts are the same as those of Fred Rose are in the country now, and in the very house of atom bombs. Theirs is a spiritually foul way of living, and their lot should be ejection from Canada, without any delay.

THE DISTRICT WELCOMES THE ROYAL COUPLE

Citizens of Belleville and Trenton may now keep Friday, October 5, free to welcome to Hastings County, and to the southern part of it in particular, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. For two hours, the Royal couple will be the guests at the Training Command at the R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton. Their welcome will be more than that extended to them by the air service. It will be a show of devotion by the people of many communities in this district.

The fact that Their Highnesses do not wish to be greeted by a great deal of pomp will not lessen the welcome given them by Canadians. This district will do well to remember, along with others which plan a reception for the Royal pair, that simplicity in greeting will show the greatest affection. If that is accomplished, and is combined with the natural pride that residents of Hastings and Prince Edward counties have for their districts, the welcome will be warm and gracious.

KEEP ON WEEPING

"Keep on smiling," has become a slogan for cheerful extroverted people today. It comes to us, therefore, as a shock to read the Biblical statement, "Blessed are ye that weep now for ye shall laugh."

What good is there in weeping? Plenty. In fact the people who shed tears are on a level with the animals, which, by the way, never shed tears. Only human men weep. And the reason for this is that only humans have the sense of values which cause them to be sorry for something other than their own misfortune. All those who hear his teachings Jesus was saying a kind word about the sorrowful. If He were here today He would probably make some caustic remarks about the backsliappers and the cheer-uppers who are always telling us to keep a stiff upper lip and not to let life get us down.

Jesus said, "Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted." What He meant was blessed are the people who have the capacity to be sorry—sorry for their sins, sorry for the sins of the world, sorry for the misfortune in which human life is constantly steeped. Weep over your sins. Look out over a troubled world in which men are starving, and see if you can smile about that. If you have any heart you will weep over the sufferings of mankind. And if you do weep then the day is coming when you will laugh. You will laugh with gladness when good triumphs over evil, when the sin of this world is supplanted by the perfection of another.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

An elderly lady of my acquaintance is very fond of toasted nuts, cashews especially. And her numerous children, grandchildren and friends are in the habit of bringing her gifts of them. But she has the amusing habit of carrying them off immediately like a squirrel, and secreting them in her grey room for her private consumption.

This is the subject of considerable merriment in the family circle. It is fun to watch her manoeuvres in splitting the unopened box out of sight before anybody, especially the young fry, might draw attention to it. The way she tosses the box on a table, negligently, and promptly covers it with a newspaper or a knitting bag, the way she instantly slips it away from there—all the techniques are a matter of despair to her children.

OUR TOWN

BY JACK SCOTT

LITTLE VIGNETTE

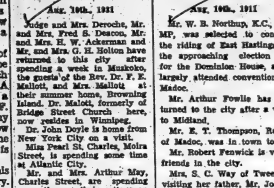
If you are going to go ahead with this idea and become a father you should know right from the beginning that children, particularly clever, never trust a man with shifty eyes or any child under the age of ten, especially girls. That's my advice to you.

Behind those baby blue orbs, nine times out of ten, a little girl is a seething mass of plots and schemes, a Mata Hari with pigtails. Any little girl over the age of one-and-a-half has mastered a big full of tricks to bewilder her new-born parents. She will torn the tears off and on, mark you, like a sprinkler system and, pressed, will employ far more devious and subtle methods of persuasion.

I should like, for my lecture today, to deal with just one aspect of this juvenile little problem, the general title, "How To Get A Little Girl To Bed," or "I Wanna Drink of Water, Daddy."

It may surprise you that I have anything at all to do with this ritual, but I have. As I told you before, I've been pretty cunning myself, in keeping a respectable distance from my children.

Whenever we have a new baby (and somehow it seems every month) I arrange to drop the wee thing on its head or to put it wrong side up in the bath-tub. My wife says, "Oh, you're so helpless," and I go back to my newspaper, with my head and ankle evily to myself.



But with Jill I got trapped somehow into the maiden child type. I fell elated that she'd selected me. It wasn't for several days that I realized that she'd picked me because I was easier to handle.

A Short Hand

It's a big kind of contest, putting a little girl to bed has certain well defined rules, different for each home, but basically the same.

The preliminaries at our house consist of placing the tot in her bed "tucking her in", as the saying goes, plus the promise of a bit of apple or chocolate as bribery, kissing her, placing her favorite teddy bear in her arms, and a goodnight and softly leaving the room.

There then ensues from two to three minutes of silence. On her side of the door a small, but active little girl is trying to keep awake a few minutes longer. Outbey are light and some pride to her family.

Now in the unforeseen circumstance of the stairs being painted, she was unable to carry her latest gift box upstairs, so she had to conceal it temporarily in a downstairs cupboard. Her son-in-law detected her in the act, and shortly after, pinched the box and ate all the contents but one.

The night of grandmaw hunting for those nuts was an unforgettable addition to the family legend, and reached its peak at which she forgets. Round and about the house went grandmaw, searching, searching, that is, expression of growing confusion on her face as she looked in bureau cupboards and drawers, going back repeatedly to the places she had originally looked.

She dared not ask anyone if they had seen the box. Hang it, she was a grown up small child-ren in the house, at the moment, that was big, but not completely in ten minutes.

She would sit and knit a few minutes, and then, on a sudden hunch, go and search in another place she might have hidden them there herself rather than bed that night and found the box under the bed. She preferred to believe she had put them there herself rather than that one of the kids had somebody was onto her.

$169 TON FOR PEARS

St. Catharines, Aug. 10 (CP)—Bartlett pears for processing purposes for 1951 will sell at $169 per ton for pears two inches and up, and at $60 a ton for pears 1½ to 2 inches to two inches, it was announced today by H. L. Craise, chairman of the Ontario Pear, Plum and Cherry Growers Marketing Board.

These prices were established by arbitration before arbitrator Judge A. B. Curry of Manitoulin.

your side of the door there is an expectant hush. Then it comes:

"Daddy, I wanna drink of water."

This takes but a minute because, of course, you already have the glass of water in your hand. You administer the water and retire. In a moment, as you know in your heart of hearts you would, voice comes again, a small and rather lost voice specially designed to pluck at your heartstrings.

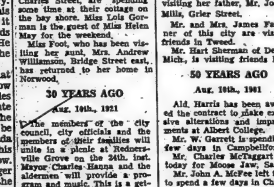
"Daddy, I'm too hot," it says, "Dr. Winter Rules, "Daddy I'm too cold."

You then add a blanket or subtract one, depending on the season, and at this point you are entitled to become stern. To do this you lower my tone and turn up the volume. It is hard to be really stern, of course, because when a little girl gets that age she generally looks like something you'd like to eat.

You are stern. You do not want to hear another peep out of her, not another peep! You tell her that you are not to be trifled with. Soon you hear another peep.

"This one may be anything," the child begins, "because to use its crafty little brain. Anyway, the matter concludes, the fainting is alarming to bystanders, perhaps, but hardly dangerous to the individual who takes the nitroglycerin.

There is one way to put this question to the test—try some tablets on the dog—I mean, sit down, Fido, take a tablet and see just how it works. A suitable dose should produce flushing of the face and head, throbbing effects are felt within two minutes when the tablet is dissolved in the mouth or swallowed. If you are unduly frightened there may be some nausea, too. All of the disagreeable effects should subside in a few minutes. Take it easy till you get your wonderful legs again.



If one tablet fails to produce any such effects, next time—at least an hour later—swallow two or three tablets. If two or three produce no characteristic effects, throw the tablets away and get Nitroglycerin tablets, which many persons subject to angina, coronary artery constriction, weakness and limping on walking a short distance or other arterial trouble carry in purse or pocketbook for emergency use, are notoriously variable in strength because nitroglycerin is so volatile, even though the tablets be kept in tightly stoppered vial.

Thus tablets labelled Nitroglycerin (or, as it is now called, Glyceryl trinitrate, Trinitrin or Glonoin) 1/100th grain may have contained 1/100th of a grain when fresh, but a week or a month or many months later most of the strength will have evaporated and little or no effect will be produced.

A medical colleague, who has a severe angina and carries around nitroglycerin tablets for emergency use, says he took a tablet labelled 1/100th grain and soon afterward fainted—he think that sometimes one tablet of nitro will upset or retain a larger amount of it. Perhaps a number of

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON OF THE WEEK

A Great World For Greatness

By ROY L. SMITH

One may be a hard world in which to become rich, but it [illegible] marvelous world in which to become a great life. Some men [illegible] of feet and it may be [illegible] castle-dwelling, but profound satisfaction stand ready to walk with us every day along the rough ways.

Little Sidney Goes For

Even a small amount of money can paint the difference between an education complete or incomplete, for a boy or girl. In Africa, every college in the land that owns boy or promise is completed to deny one of such because he cannot meet his bills. The cost of one membership in the Y guild child might be enough to keep him at his books until he becomes a profitable member of society.

For a small amount of money will keep a Scout Troop active, and with 20 growing boys off the streets and out of the hands of the police. Some men spend enough for tips and smokes in one month to buy all the equipment for such a troop for an entire year.

Even a small amount of money will provide a vacation education for a European youth who might, if he had a chance, become infatuated with the American Way to the process of getting an education and of conquering difficulties. What an investment in world peace he would make, and how good would be the reward of that one who provided the scholarship—more than the cost of an expensive car.

World Investments

A crippled woman who lived out all her days in a wheel chair managed to earn a few dollars every week by painting miniatures, baking, and other light tasks. Gradually she began sending small amounts of money to missionaries around the earth for whom she had learned to pray in her wheel chair. Having invested in her world, she watched its affairs and learned to pray intelligently. Suddenly she discovered that she had made a friend of each missionary she was living in Cuba, Korea, China, Mexico, South America and India, besides living in her humble little cottage. And in all it cost her no more than $100.

Greatness in Prison

For 20 years Mrs. A. F. Hagin, of Greenwood, N.C., had been going to the jails to conduct religious services and to visit those incarcerated. She preached to "her boys", helped them with their problems, wrote letters to their loved ones, and in a humble way proved an angel, in times of terror. There were those who complimented her on "her noble work," and let her go on doing it alone. Some of them good naturedly assured her that she would have her reward "in Heaven," but that was as far as they incorporated. Then one day the aging woman found a 19-year-old youth and listened to his story. In a hundred letters she helped and finally went into the courts and secured his parole. Today she is an evangelist of note who has never betrayed the confidences in word, thought or deed.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 30 is "The Christian's Use of Money and Goods," Matthew 6:19-24; Luke 16:1-13; Acts 2:43-47; 19:23-41.

And the good woman did it all with a dollar bill.

Those who have the most spare time that she had more spare time than other women of the community, but that she invested her few spare hours in greatness, and great satisfactions have been her reward.

All He Has Left

Dave Horst was a Kansas farmer of modest means who gave liberally to the college at the local church. Then came the depression and his money disappeared. Now he goes down and sweeps the floors of the college and watches the young people come and go. Once in a while he goes down and stands looking up at the lighted windows of the library ward. "I just dread drawing dividends on what I have left," he explains to his friends.

House Expected To Approve Bill For Defences

Washington, Aug. 10 — (AP) — The House of Representatives was expected to approve today a $5,788,000,000 military construction bill almost as a symbol United States defences here and abroad against any communist aggression.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee last night passed a $7,948,780,000 foreign aid bill to help friendly countries strengthen their military and economic muscles. The House today votes on this next week.

Both measures together would add another $13,568,000,000 to the record peacetime $50,082,405,890 military budget passed yesterday by the House, 348 votes to two. Both pending measures will require Senate approval.

The $5,062,605,890 bill to finance the armed forces requires that a cash charge of $364, or almost $1 a day, for every man, woman and child in the United States during the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Backers of the $5,788,000,000 military construction bill hope for speedy Senate approval in time to add the necessary money to the main military appropriation bill.

The House measure would include authorization to build a chain of overseas bases girdling Russia.

Bulk of the construction program is for the air forces, which would receive authority to go ahead with $1,923,000 in domestic construction, $418,430,000 outside the United States, and $1,071,638,000 for classified facilities.

Asks Denial Of N.Y. Power Plan

Washington, Aug. 10—(AP)— New York's plan to build a St. Lawrence River power plant should not be approved, Representative George Dondero (Rep. Mich.) said today.

The Federal Power Commission "very properly" rejected New York's application last year, he said in a letter to commissioner Herman Mon C. Wallgren. And he added, he hopes the commission will continue to reject it.

He said he favors instead a joint development of power and navigation facilities on the St. Lawrence, and added:

"To issue a license to New York for development of the power, without the navigation, would provoke one of the most bitter political and legal battles this nation has ever seen.

"This would be the middle western states against the empire states, New York and New England."

Yesterday Senator Irving Ives (Rep. N.Y.) introduced identical legislation to permit the state to develop the hydro-electric potential of the Niagara River, which would be part of the overall St. Lawrence project. Under their plan, the power output or [illegible] would be split.

New York now is appealing, in the United States Court of Appeals, the power commission's action in denying its application to join with the province of Ontario in building St. Lawrence River power plants.

Senator Homer D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.) and Blair Moody (Democ. Mich.) yesterday urged that authorization of the St. Lawrence project be added to the U. S. $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill.

Racing Scandal Probe Net Widens, Number Involved Steadily Rising

Hamilton, Aug. 10. (CP)—The number of persons caught in the web of Ontario's sordid racing scandal rose yesterday to 18.

The Ontario Racing Commission continued its investigation of the suspended jockeys and the hearing brought these quick-breaking developments:

1. Jockey George Thompson and Gordon Cox, both of Hamilton, and Toronto Merchant Alf Nash on a charge that bribes offered $100 for failing to report bribe offers promptly.

Thompson was the second jockey arrested as a result of the probe which has bared major betting coups.

Wednesday Jockey Robert Wankowmiller of Newark, N.J., was arrested on a charge of defrauding the public. One of three other jockeys barred from racing in Ontario for life, Wankowmiller was described by police as the payoff man in attempts to bribe jockeys at race tracks in Toronto and Fort Erie.

Other jockey previously given lifetime suspensions are Bobby Keane of Toronto and Phil Marchese of Pawtucket, R.I.

Offered $200

The whole investigation was touched off when Jockey Nash reported to a racing official that he had been offered $200 bribe by Jockey Marchese. It was because Nash didn't report the bribe until after the race that he was fined $100 along with the other riders.

A commission statement yesterday said that Thompson and Cox drew lifts suspensions for offering bribes to other jockeys. Merchant was set down for accepting a bribe from another jockey.

Thompson, 30, married with one son, is alleged to have accepted $150 to pull Parade Girl in a Fort Erie race suspected by the commission of having been prearranged. Cox was set down for offering a bribe to Merchant during the meeting at Thorncliffe track in Toronto. Merchant refused to accept the money in that instance.

Commission members would not elaborate on the suspension of Sharrard, trainer for Lansing stables. The commission ruled that all horses owned by Sharrard are barred from racing.

In addition to person directly connected with racing, several men have been arrested on charges of conspiring to defraud the public.

Henry Dunne of Toronto, Louis Albanado and Morris Michaels of Buffalo, N.Y., were picked up at Fort Erie while attempting to cash tickets for heavy wagers on races suspected of having been fixed. Michaels and Albanado are free on $2,000 bail but Dunne is in jail in Welland, unable to raise $10,000 bond.

FISHER—MACKEY

Baskets of hydrangea, phlox, snapdragon and other summer flowers formed a lovely setting for a wedding on Saturday, July 28, in Wallbridge United Church, when Elva Leona Mackey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Mackey, Boulter, Ontario, was united in marriage to Harry Burton Fisher, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher, of Belleville. The Rev. J. W. Neelands, pastor of the church, officiated.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Earl White, of Belleville. Mrs. Ross Fisher and Mrs. Albert Fisher sang before the ceremony, "O Promise Me", and during the signing of the register, "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her floor-length gown of white nylon marquisette over white satin, fashioned with molded bodice, and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Chantilly lace formed the collar and the short full peplum that topped the bouffant skirt. Her full length lace-edged veil was held in place by an upright coronet trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Orval Wannamaker, sister of the bride, as matron of honor was gowned in mauve taffeta. The bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, were Miss Lorna Mackey, wearing pink taffeta, and Mrs. Cecil Mayhew, wearing pastel green taffeta. The gowns of similar design, featured net yokes, short sleeves fitted bodices and floor-length full skirts. Each wore a matching shoulder-length veil and mitts, and carried a nosegay of roses and sweetpeas.

Little Judy Mayhew and little Linda Fisher, three-year-old nieces of the bride and bridegroom, were flower girls, wearing identical frocks of lace-trimmed yellow organdy over yellow satin with floral headdresses, and carried baskets of sweetpeas.

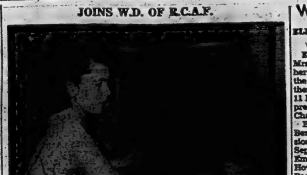
Mr. Jimmie Stapley, of Belleville, was groomsman and the ushers were, Mr. Orval Mackey and Mr. Ross Fisher.

Following the ceremony a reception for fifty guests was held in the Orange Hall, Wallbridge. The bride's mother received wearing a wine crepe dress and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted wearing a navy blue dress with corsage of carnations.

For a motor trip to Ottawa, North Bay and Algonquin Park, the bride travelled in a navy blue suit with white accessories.

Upon their return they will reside on the bridegroom's farm in Sidney township.

Dishwashing Hands Need Special Care



London—(CP)—London beauty parlors are doing good business with new courses "designed to cure what they call "housewife's hand."

A leading beauty parlor in Bond Street gives expert guidance on how to combat "washing-up dryness" and, avoid work-broken nails. "Nearly all women do housework nowadays," says publicist Rowland, chief assistant at this parlor, "and many women are worried about the effect on their hands."

"Housewife's hand" is attacked by a cream, instead of soap and water. The cream gradually eases the dirt from cracks in the fingers. Nails are strengthened by the non-use of nail varnish for at least six months and special preparations are used to guard against splitting.

Yet, it pays well in the treatment is the use of rubber gloves whenever the hands are placed in water. "I know it needs a lot of will-power," said Miss Rowland, "but it's the only way to keep hands decent."

Shoppers Approve Sea-Going Stores

Vancouver, —(CP)— Mr. and Mrs. Bill Graham are doing a flourishing business with their floating departmental store, plying between isolated communities along the British Columbia coast.

Three years ago Bill bought a rotting schooner hull that had been abandoned, half full of water, on the beach. With the aid of his father he repaired the vessel and built a plywood and cedar superstructure.

Beginning his second year afloat, he set out this summer with his wife and three children for a two-months cruise northward with $10,000 stock of goods.

Different store departments are scattered along much of the cruiser's 70-foot length. Long lines of Tartan shirts hang from a metal frame. There are racks of men's blue denims, work socks, nylon shirts, boys' and girls' shoes and lingerie.

There are also candies, watches, alarm clocks, sunburn lotion and many other items including soft drinks. The latter are especially popular in Indian settlements.

They'll see old friends like Chief Henry Speck on Turnour Island, Ole Hanson at Lagoon logging camp and Alastair and all the gang at Alert Bay.

OAKS - LAYDOWNS!

Kingston and Navy Barracks, will clash in the first round of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association Intermediate "A" zone playoffs as OASA release revealed today. Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough have drawn byes.

The winners of the Glen Rey-Hawes and Hagerman series here will meet the Kingston winners in the second round, with the first game scheduled for Kingston on Aug. 23rd and the second game here Aug. 25th. At the same time Oshawa and Peterborough meet, with the winner to tangle with Kingston or Belleville for the zone title.

Only two teams are entered from Toronto and they are New Toronto and Tyrolia. But there will be plenty of opposition in western Ontario.

Up there Simcoe meets Brantford; Welland is at Crowland; Fort Erie at Port Colborne; Niagara Falls at St. Catharines and Guelph at Galt, in Zone Two playoffs.

In Zone One, East London meets Stratford; St. Thomas and London clash and Woodstock and Chatham get together in the first round. Sarnia has drawn a bye to the second round. In Zone Five, Owen Sound has been declared the winner.

Eastern Ontario Intermediate "AA" champions will practically step into the provincial semi-finals. Belleville meets Kingston in the Fraser Trophy final with the first game at Kingston, Sept. 6 and the second here Sept. 8th. Third game, if necessary, Sept. 13th.

Zone Five has no "AA" entries. In Zone Three, Toronto has been declared the winner. Zone Two brings together Brantford and Guelph, and Hamilton and Niagara Falls; while Windsor and Stratford will battle for honors in Zone One. And that's it.

There will be plenty of activity in the Intermediate "C" circuits. Over the week Picton meets Trenton and Centre Hastings clashes with Tweed, Picton visits the OxPeliters on August 15th with the second game at Picton, Aug. 17th. Centre Hastings goes to Tweed and the rest is the same story. Other games are Brighton at Colborne and Orono; Brougham and Pickering; Portsmouth-Barriefield and South Leeds and Glasgow Station and South Carleton. Cataraqui and Hastings have drawn byes.

Junior "B" playoffs in this district see Cobourg and Trenton clash in a Zone Four final. In junior "C" Hastings meets Keene and Tweed and Madoc go at it.

In Zone Five Bobcaygeon-Minden has been declared the Zone Four winner. North York and Toronto meet in Zone Three final while in Zone Two Galt and Simcoe and Hamilton and Welland tangle for honors. Sarnia has been named Zone One winner. So it looks like plenty of travelling for the Belleville kids in their search for the provincial title.

For further information regarding zone playoffs, Harry Knott, Smith Coal Company, Pinnacle Street, convener for this district should be contacted.

Secretary Frank Feever of the OASA reminds teams, coaches and managers that all changes in dates must be made by the convener. No extensions are allowed in playoff games. Floodlight games will be played for first two games in any series where the home team makes such arrangements. Third and subsequent games will not be played under lights unless both teams agree.

All fields used in playoff games must conform to the official playing rules and be approved by the convener. Refereed games will be scheduled for the following day except under special arrangements. And, it says here, umpires for playoff games must present a registration card to the convener. The league can get them for the payment of one buck, each.

WANT AN EXHIBITION GAME?

Harry Moore, president and acting secretary of the Ottawa Valley Baseball Association writes to say that his Pembroke Little League would like to have some exhibition games with junior or intermediate squads from this neck or the woods. Anyone interested please contact Mr. Moore at 579 Isabella Street, Pembroke, Ont. And if we know Harry, and we believe we do, whatever team takes up the proposition is guaranteed not only a good game but an excellent reception otherwise.

TURK HERE TONIGHT!

Turk Broda and his merry men of the National Hockey League, most of 'em from Conny Smythe's bullwork will be here tonight for their game with the Rotham senior baseball squad. The versatile crew that's entered under the wing of the Turk are no mean shakes at feeling around with a baseball, or a softball either for that matter and they'll put up quite a scrap here against Pat Wilson's Tribesmen. They left here a few weeks ago with a sweet taste in their collective mouths because they had one side on the short end of a five - nothing count after an inning or so. But tonight it should be different. Wilson is not taking any chances on these heroes of the ice-lanes hanging a shiner on our baseball heroes and it should be quite a tilt. Let's hope, this time, the powers-that-be make arrangements for a public address system so that the fans know who's who, and why.

THIS IS IT!

The Brothers Sharpe, Hamilton's principal contribution to the world of wrestling, will lay their recently - won world team title on the line tonight in the tag team mat feature in the ring at the Memorial Arena. Mike and Ben, who brought the championship back to these parts after a two-year sojourn in the United States, will defend it against the Fred Atkins-Leon Henning duo. The latter pair aren't even slightly awed by the fact that they're challenging the world champions. In fact, they exude confidence.

"It was a sorry day for those Sharpes when they put up their title against us", Atkins affirmed. "That'll be the last they'll see of their trophy."

The semi-final will involve Pat Flanagan and Tommy O'Toole. Tom Collins and Bill Stack will clash in the first event.

Senator Errors Aid Yank Win; Tribe Idle as Red Sox Split; 'So What?' Yawns Flatbush

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"Who do we play in the world series?" that's all Brooklyn wants to know.

With a 13½-game lead in the National League, the Dodgers can start scouting the American League contenders. Unless the Brooks fold completely in their last 50 games, they're in.

A clean sweep of their three-game series with New York, capped by yesterday's 6-4 decision on Roy Campanella's two homers, just about put the clincher on it.

But in the American League New York and Cleveland rest in a 68-39 tie with 40 to play. Boston, another 4½ back, and Chicago, seven games out, remain in the picture.

New York regained a piece of the lead with the help of Washington's Gil Coan who dropped two fly balls to give the Yanks three unearned runs and a 6-4 decision. Cleveland and Chicago were idle.

Bosox Split

Boston could do no better than a doubleheader split at Fenway Park with Philadelphia's A's. The Red Sox took the second 5-3 on homers by Walt Dropo and Vern Stephens after losing the opener, 5-3 to Fred Sanford and Satch Paige teamed up with a first-hitter for St. Louis's 11-9 victory at Detroit.

Hoodoo Chet Nichols of Boston Braves beat the Phils 5-4; Chicago rallied with four in the ninth to edge Cincinnati 5-4; and Cliff Chambers of St. Louis shut out his old Pittsburgh mates on five hits, 4-0, in a night game.

Campanella's second homer for Brooklyn broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh off loser Sheldon Jones. Clyde King, fifth Dodger pitcher, won his 12th with a scoreless three-inning job. The teams set a league record of 26 walks by both clubs. The old high was 23.

Young Nichols cooled off the Phils with an eight-hitter to hand Bubba Church his seventh loss.

Ransom Jackson's two-run single climaxed the Cubs' surge to nip Cincy as Willie Fox weakened in the ninth.

Errors Help Yanks

Chambers had a no-hitter going for 5 2/3 innings until Howie Pollet, his pitching opponent, singled down the left field line. The hit didn't help Pollet, who absorbed his eighth loss.

The Yanks had Coan to thank for their win over Washington who lost a five-hitter. The left fielder dropped Yogi Berra's fly in the seventh with two on and two out and a man on third. Gene Woodling came home with the winning run and Joe DiMaggio sent in Berra with a triple.

DiMaggio hit his 349th career in the sixth. Neat shutout relief work by Joe Ostrowski over the last 6 2/3 innings gave him the victory.

Coan's three-run homer in the sixth drove Boston to their second game victory over the A's after a three-run rally in the ninth fell short in the opener. Leo Kiely was the second game loser and Manny McDermott lost the first for Boston, Bobby Shantz was the A's winner and Alex Kellner the loser.

St. Louis exploded six runs in the sixth to hand Marlin Stuart his first defeat. Sanford gave up homers to Pat Mullin and Dick Kryhoski before Paige came in to hold the fort. Satch struck out four in three innings.

Yanks vs Canucks In Semi-Finals Ladies' Golf

By W. R. WHEATLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Aug. 10 (CP)—The Canadian Ladies Open golf championship came down to a pair of international semi-finals today, leaving a sparkling trail of sensational comebacks.

The great last-chance upheavals staged by Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old Canadian girl, and Grace Lenczyk, American girl seeking her third Open title, had the galleries gasping.

Miss Stewart, from Lookout Point at Fonthill, Ont. was drawn against Mrs. Murray of Rutland Vt., and Miss Lenczyk against Mrs. Peter Patch of Montreal Westmount in the other semi-finals.

Miss Murray yesterday defeated Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria four and three and Mrs. Patch won two and two over Ann Sharp of Fonthill.

These solid unspectacular victories left almost the last sight of when little Marlene and Miss Lenczyk went on their sensational winning rampage, well along the back nine.

Canadian Champ Wins

Marlene won four successive holes to defeat Marjorie Row, American girl from the Beach Grove Club at Tecumseh, Ont., one down.

Miss Lenczyk picked the identical holes—13th through 16th—to crush rally against Pat O'Sullivan and erase a three-hole deficit.

The two Connecticut girls — Grace from Hartford and Pat from Bridgeport—halved the 18th and went on to the 19th.

Miss O'Sullivan practically lost her own match at the extra hole when she stymied herself.

She had a sizeable half and a possible win in sight but her long putt for an eagle curved off and stopped a foot behind the ninth cup's lip.

Mrs. Todd lost the first hole to Miss Murray and could never catch up. She played poorly up to the eighth, missing good opportunities to win the sixth and seventh.

Miss Murray lost the eighth when her second shot went into a trap. She also lost the ninth when her approach overshot the green and Mrs. Todd was down to stay.

But the Rutland girl got the turn holes back soon after the turn for home.

Canada Out To Break Egg In Cup Series

Montreal, Aug. 10 (CP) —Canada will be striving to end her victory drought against the United States today in opening singles play of the North American zone final Davis Cup tie.

It is the eighth meeting between the countries since Canada entered the international tennis competition in 1913. She has been beaten in every tie with the exception of 1931 when she eked out a singles match victory.

Vancouver's Lorne Main is to meet Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old newcomer to top tennis ranks in the first match and Brendan Mackey of Montreal is to face Dick Savitt of Orange, N.J., in the second.

Trabert's selection to play singles came as a surprise, as American captain Frank Shields had favored the Cincinnati youth as a partner for Budge Patty of Los Angeles in Saturday's doubles match. Shields announced Trabert also would play doubles with Patty.

Art Larsen, the current U.S. National champion, was selected for the first three matches. However, should the Americans win the three matches and clinch the victory, it would be possible to substitute Larsen for either Trabert or Savitt, in Sunday's final singles matches.

Gordon MacNeil, captain of the Canadian squad, declined to announce his doubles selections until after today's singles. The consensus was that he would pick Main and Macken and save his third man, Henri Rochon, for a substitute spot in Sunday's singles matches.

The U.S. team is favored 7 to 5 to eliminate the Canadians without the loss of a match.

Today's play is scheduled to start at 2 p.m. EDT at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

12-YEAR-OLD BOY SWIMS 300 FOOT CHANNEL TO SAVE YOUNG GIRL

George Slaunk Jr., of Welland, Ont., rescues non-swimmer Donna Cotter, 11, from Welland Canal

1. Young George, son of Captain George Slaunk of the Welland Fire Department, was approaching the west bank of the canal near the waterworks when he heard the frantic screams of a child. Running closer he saw 11-year-old Donna Cotter, struggling in the water near the opposite shore. Fortunately, George had his bathing trunks on under his clothes . . . and in no time he had stripped and was in the water . . . swimming at top speed.

2. Although the water was not over her head, little Donna was petrified with fear. She could not swim . . . and the intake for the Welland waterworks was only a few yards away. Within minutes, however, the strong strokes of George Slaunk Jr., brought him up to her. Exhausted and frightened, she followed George's instructions to climb on his back. After his 300-foot swim the boy himself was tired — but at no time did he consider relinquishing his burden.

3. Slowly but surely George brought the girl in to shore . . . at times pulling for help at the long grass where the water became shallow. The rescue was complete by the time the city police arrived. To this gallant Canadian boy we are proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award. Commenting on George's brave action, Mayor David Thomas of Welland said that the whole city was mighty proud of him.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and initiative, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

'Mainliner' Straight-Heats big Field In Hambletonian Buggy-Whip Derby

By ORLO ROBINSON

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—A horse purchased for $2,500 while his trainer was looking in boss of the [illegible] trotters of the [illegible] side after an unexpected straight heat victory in the richest of 38 Hambletonians.

Mainliner, owned by building contractor Ralph H. Kroening of Milwaukee and trained and driven by veteran Guy Crippen, stepped away from 30 other high class trotters in 2:02 3/5 and 2:06 3/5 to take down $61,347.36 winner's share of $65,350.

Good. Time Park yesterday.

For in the crowd estimated at 15,000 thought the son of Worthy Boy would quit and never leave Orange County buggy whip derby would be over in the minimum of two heats.

But Crippen, who has been riding sulky for 35 of his 39 years, knew he had a good horse and proved it.

Favorite Beaten

He beat back the challenge of Spencer Scott, one-half of the favored entry from the Hayes' Fairacre Farm of Du Quoin, Ill., in the first mile and then came from off the pace to whip a pair of outsiders in the second heat. The hunch more highly regarded trotters faded in the stretch.

Crippen making only his second appearance in trotting's Kentucky Derby finished third with Lord Steward last year, got his first glimpse of the Mainliner less than a year ago.

"Well, too, I remember that day" Crippen said. "Mr. Kroening, Wis., reinman. "It was after the meeting at Milwaukee. Mr. Kroening asked if I had been doing a good job and to take a few days off and go fishing.

"You don't have to tell me twice to go fishing.

"But, I was no more back in the house after catching a few fish when the phone rang. It was Mr. Kroening. And the news was he had purchased Mainliner for $25,000."

Paid $66.20

Mainliner was well placed in the bulky field and Crippen took full advantage of the opportunity. When Great Hanover swung out in front, Mainliner was quarter-mile of the first heat and then gave way to Spenmb at the half. Mainliner never was far out of contention.

Crippen moved the Wisconsin-owned trotter into command a quarter-mile from home and went on to win by two lengths. Spennib beat off the challenge of Mrs. L. Woolley to hold down over for second place.

Mainliner returned $56.20 for a $2 win mutuel. And even in the second heat he was not the choice, paying $26.40 to win.

The second heat was much like the first. Crippen kept Mainliner off the pace as Betsy Volo and Mighty Pine, Spennib's stablemate battled for the lead.

In the home stretch, however, it was Mainliner by two lengths with second going to Leo McNamara's Scotch Rhythm of Carmel, Ind., owned by C. Dunham, Stoutsville, Ohio. Scotch Rhythm was driven by Ralph Baldwin of Hagerstown, Ind.

In the handling of second money of $18,347 went to Spennib; third ($11,013) to Scotch Rhythm; fourth ($8,861) to Candy Man; fifth ($3,734) to Yankee Ranger and sixth ($2,800) to Bernie Hanover, fourth in the first heat.

Two other Canadian reinsmen finished out of the picture. Mahlon Hostetter, driving Lady Ester of New Glasgow, N.S., and Prince Collect driven by Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., finished far back in both heats.

See-Saw Fight For Playoffs In Intercounty

(By The Canadian Press)

The see-saw fight for playoff spots in the Intercounty Senior baseball race tilted in favor of Waterloo Tigers last night.

Playing at home, the Tigers defeated last place St. Thomas Elgins 8-3 in nine innings to take over undisputed possession of the fourth and last playoff position, one-half game ahead of Kitchener Legionnaires.

In the other Intercounty game at Brantford, the league-leading Red Sox came through with a five-run rally in the eighth inning to beat second-place London Majors 6-1.

Both London and Brantford are assured of being the playoffs as the game wasn't a critical one.

The league schedule winds up next week and at the moment six of the seven teams have chances of catching a playoff berth.

In Waterloo, the Tigers jumped on starting pitcher Bob Gordon for six runs and six hits in the first three innings. Don Doherty pitched effective relief for the winners, limiting the son up three more runs.

Bill Ross pitched only 2 1-3 innings with Waterloo. Red Talevi who took over was wild at times but got credit for the victory. Right-fielder Augie Hershenratter paced the Tigers with double and triple and a scoring in four runs.

At Brantford, the Red Sox registered their 22nd consecutive victory at home and stretched their first place lead to 5½ games.

Southpaw Johnny Moore scattered eight hits to win his eighth game of the season without a loss.

The game was a pitching duel until the eighth when Brantford rallied for five runs to break a 1-1 deadlock. Righthander Cam Church had relieved only four hits for the Majors up to that point.

Sunday Sport Or No Baseball

Future of Ottawa's participation in international League baseball may depend on whether the capital sanctions Sunday sport, Frank Shaughnessy, President of the league, said in an interview here Thursday.

The league president said Ottawa should have Sunday baseball to make the International League a certainty, and added that he talked with Mayor Grenville Goodwin about it.

There have been unconfirmed reports that New York Giants, sponsors of Ottawa Giants of the international loop, are planning to drop the Ottawa club from their farm system after this season. T. F. (Tommy) Gorman, Giants' president, has an option to purchase the club.

Blaik to Remain As Grid Coach

West Point—Earl Blaik said Thursday he will stay as Army's football coach although his son Bob and "all but a few" of the probable team he hoped to field are among the 90 cadets facing boards in an exam-cribbing scandal.

Blaik made his announcement at a press conference here. Blaik, regular quarterback, identified himself as one of the involved cadets later at West Point when told of his father's decision.

The coach said approximately half the 90 cadets were varsity athletes and that their expulsion virtually wiped out the academy's football and basketball teams for the coming year.

Meanwhile, at Washington President Truman told his press conference he is having an inquiry made into the situation.

By implication, there was a suggestion it might deal with the whole question of present-day emphasis on football as an intercollegiate sport.

Cricket Tourists Beat Hamilton

Written for The Canadian Press
By E. F. HITCHMAN

St. Catharines, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Following what has become a familiar pattern the cricket match Thursday between the visiting Marylebone Cricket Club team and a team representing Hamilton and district ended in a victory for the tourists by 122 runs. Full scores — M.C.C. 254, B. and B. 132.

M.C.C. batted first, starting at 12:30 p.m. after lunch. Walford (91) and Keighley (45) made a fine opening stand, followed by another one when Thompson (17) joined Walford. After this the innings proceeded sedately, with nothing exceptional happening.

Laughton, 5-65 and Farnsworth 4-34 bowled extremely well. The fielding of the home 11 was good and returns to the wicket were strong and accurate.

The home of Jack Humphrey of the district men was the stand made by Bruce Lockhart, (39), a Cambridge contemporary of R. Thompson—now a master at Appleby College, and Crowdy. This stand equalled anything seen during the match. Percy Barnes (27) not out) batted impressively and remained undefeated.

Thursday night the cricketers drove to Niagara Falls. They go on today to London.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 10 (AP) —It will be a long time before pro gridiron ace Army's football team listed among the country's first 10 in the Associated Press weekly poll.

Think of that a moment and you might gain a clearer appreciation of the sacrifice made by Earl (Red) Blaik in his decision to remain on at West Point and coach its shattered football forces.

No man ever liked to win better than Blaik, nor drove himself harder in an effort to attain perfection. As his with many years of coaching before him, he already has established himself as one of the genuine masters of the game. And yet, by standing by the school and "his boys" at this juncture he could well be saying goodbye to bigtime football forever.

Who's Kidding?

One of the more gruesome spectacles of the episode was that of Blaik being forced to "confess" that Army has made no practice of trying to attract young men who were smarter than average and also could play football. This created quite a stir in some quarters.

Who is kidding whom? Is there anyone who reads the sports pages who still believes that the "big" football teams just happen. It doesn't seem possible, but it is. Or we have been overcautiously mating our fellow filberts all along.

All in the Act

Sure the Army recruits football players. So does every other major university in the country. Not only football players, but basketball players and tennis players and swimmers.

Pt Anne Drubs Paintmen 11-5 In Round Robin

Point Anne Cementmen pounded out a two-run ninth attack on Thursday night to defeat the Ramsay Paintmen 11-5 in a Centennial A round-robin playoff game at Point Anne.

For five innings "Paddy" Marsole hurled no-hit ball but leadoff hitter Ed Donovan broke the ice with a single to open the sixth frame. Peters beat out a bunt, pulling two runs on base but neither of them reached pay-off dirt that inning.

Tied in the initial frame on hits by Strahan, Marsole and Elliott and a pair of boots by shortstop Scanlon, four more runs in the third gave them an eight-run lead. Elliott pushed one over first to start the inning. Lorne Marsole walked and was followed by Heywood who drove one to left field scoring Elliott. Strahan was safe on a Childers' choice and scored on Carr's, miscue of a thrown ball. A passed ball sent Heywood home and Irving to score the fourth run of the inning.

A walk and an error by Harris in the sixth plus a tong fly ball single by Strahan netted two Cementmen. Their final two runs were plated in the ninth as Peter Green, Strahan and Ray Strahan singled and the Painters kicked the ball around.

Score in Seventh

Ramsays broke the scoring column in the seventh with one run, adding a pair in the eighth and a single in the ninth before being a rout.

Strahan's single, after two men were out, drove in the first run for Ramsays while Glen Young's 2-0 advance on another Strahan eighth. He scored on an infield out. An error, Childers' fielder's choice on ball and an infield out pushed another pair across in the ninth without benefit of a hit.

Each hurler passed five of the opposing batters while Marsole fanned eight to Paintmen's three.
